THE CROWN'S WITNESS

Walter Herbert Takes the Stand at London Murder Trial.

THE KILLING OF JOSEPH SIFTON

Herbert Says He Struck the First Blow, But That Accused, Gerald Sifton, Finished His Old Father Himself by Striking Him With the Ax —Some Neighbors Testify.

London, Nov. 5. — Gerald Sifton passed through the worst ordeal of his trial yesterday, when he listened to the story of his alleged confederate in his father's murder. Without exhibiting the slightest emotion, Walter Herbert recited the frightful details of old Joseph Sifton's cruel murder. For four hours Herbert was on the stand.

"I struck Mr. Sifton with an ax in a barn on his farm the morning of June 30, 1900." began the witness in a slow, deliberate undertone, which did not change during the details of the tragedy. "I did not kill him. I struck him once, and threw the ax down. Then Gerald grabbed the ax and beat his father's brains out. I was working for Gerald. He came to me that morning and said: 'Walt, the old man's got to be fixed to-day; he's going to marry Mary Macfarlane; come over with me to be a witness for me if any questions are asked; you won't have to do it.' We then went to his father's home. His wife was crying as we left his house. Gerald told him we would fix the hay loft for him, and asked him to come with us to the barn. He said he would come directly. Gerald picked up an ax, and we went to the barn and climbed in. Gerald knocked three boards off the end of the barn upstairs, and said he would pitch the old man through the hole when he had killed him and make it appear an accident. When we got inside the stable Gerald handed me the ax and said: 'Now you hit the old man on the head as he comes through the trap door; hit him hard.' I said no, that I would not. Gerald then said I must, that I should have $1,000 for doing it, and there would be no danger. I took the axe. The old man's head showed through the trap door. I raised the axe and hit him with the side, just over the ear. He slipped back and hung, head down, on the ladder, his feet caught on the ladder. 'Quick, get down and shove him up to me,' said Gerald. I got down and pushed the body up. Gerald grabbed him by the shoulders and guided him up on the floor. The body lay face down. Gerald picked up the axe and hit him on top of the head as hard as he could. Then he pulled him over to throw the body outside, where it would appear he had fallen. The old man struggled a little, and the son took up the axe and struck his father repeatedly on the head again. Then he said: 'There, I know he's dead now. I hit him all over the head.' Then he dragged the old man to the window and threw him out. The fall was about six feet. Then he told me to go outside and put the axe under his father's head, so it would look as if he had fallen on the axe and received the wounds. The body was doubled up and Gerald came outside and pulled it around. I put the axe under the head. Gerald put three bricks near, and, dipping his fingers in the blood that had run from his father's head, smeared it on the bricks and the axe. 'There, that will do,' he said. Then he wiped his fingers on some hay, and, stooping down, wiped a little blood from the blade of the axe, which had trickled down. Gerald had hit his father with the axe about 20 times, just as hard as he could. I hit him three times.

"We saw Mary Macfarlane coming toward the barn. I ran inside and got the governor's hat, which had fallen when I struck him, and threw it by his side. 'Go and meet Mary and tell her father has fallen out of the barn and nearly killed himself,' said Gerald, and I did so."

"What did Mary say?" asked the Crown.

An objection was made and sustained.

At the previous trial the man testified that Mary said: "You two did this."

This completed the chapter of sickening details.

Then the cross-examination, as severe as E. F. B. Johnston is capable of, commenced. The stolid witness was taken back, step by step, over his bloody story.

"Why did you confess this crime?"

"Because I thought Gerald Sifton was trying to lay it all on me, and I thought it would be safest for me to confess."

John Sinker, a neighbor of Joseph Sifton, testified that he was one of the first outsiders to reach the old man. He explained the location which tallied with Herbert's statement. He added little to the information. He said that both Walter Herbert and Gerald Sifton told him that the injured man had fallen from the hole in the barn and killed himself.

Alonso Decker, another neighbor, said he met Herbert near the house of Joseph Sifton that morning and told him Mr. Sifton had fallen from the barn and killed himself.

It is a curious situation that will develop if Gerald Sifton is acquitted. The Crown representative asserts that, as Walter Herbert has pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree, he will be sentenced to be hanged. But if Sifton is acquitted a jury will have decided that no murder was done; and the death was an accident. Thus the aspect will be presented of a man being sentenced to death for a crime to which he has confessed, but which a jury has decided was never committed.

Heavy Draught Horse Show.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—At a meeting of the Canadian Horse Breeders Association held here yesterday, after a speech from Col. McCrae, of Guelph, president of the Clydesdale Horse Association, it was resolved to hold a show for the heavy breeds of horses in the early part of February and a grant of $1,000 was made thereto. The show, which will be confined to stallions only, will have its funds supplemented by the various heavy horse associations.

Napoleon and His Belief.

Napoleon, man of iron though he was, gave great credence to the tales of the supernatural and was very superstitious. He placed great faith in an amulet charm which he always carried about with him. Another of his superstitions was to hum the famous air, "Marlborough s'en va-t'-en guerre," whenever he mounted his charge for battle. Strangely enough, at the hour of his great conflict M. de Las Cases tells us that the dying man hummed the old air. The Empress Josephine shared her husband's belief in magic, all the more because the predictions made to her in her creole childhood were fulfilled to the letter in a manner calculated to impress even the most hardened skeptic.

FIVE CHARGES IN FIVE MINUTES.

Record of Corruption Proven in North Norfolk.

A FIFTEEN-MINUTE TRIAL.

Following Example of Mr. Monteith in North Perth, Dr. Snider Finds Volume of Proof Against Him too Strong and Vacates.

Simcoe, Nov. 4th. — Five charges of corrupt practices proven in five minutes was the record made by counsel for the Liberal petitioner in the North Norfolk election trial to-day, and for the second time within a week, and in two consecutive trials the Liberals had the satisfaction of seeing the Conservative member-elect throw up the sponge and resign his seat, rather than undergo the ordeal of trial.

Immediately upon the opening of the court at 1.30 Mr. Riddell asked permission to add to the records further particulars, the originals of which, he explained, were delivered on October 22nd, and on the 24th notice was served upon the respondent to add particulars No. 153 to 160.

Mr. Cassels said he would like to object, but he could not, and added that they were ready to investigate the amended charges.

RESPONDENT THROWS UP THE SPONGE.

Addressing the court, Mr. Cassels stated that as soon as the amended particulars were received the charges were investigated, and he was instructed that what the witnesses had testified to was perfectly correct in fact. There was no doubt as to that, and he was compelled to admit that Jarvis was an agent of respondent. So he had advised his client, whether rightly or wrongly, that it would be in the interests of all parties to allow the seat to be declared vacant. With regard to costs, he thought the other side should not press for them, as these were amended charges, which were only admitted to-day.

SHORTEST TRIAL ON RECORD.

Mr. Riddell, for the petitioner, in reply, said that in view of the very large number of charges investigated, which would require a number of days, and involve a very great expense, which would be saved if the election were now declared void, it would be the proper thing not to ask for costs.

The court declared the election void and the proceedings, which did not last fifteen minutes altogether, terminated. Counsel engaged in the case say this was the shortest contested election trial on record.

SOME OF THE CHARGES.

The charges of conspiracy and that Dr. Snider corruptly agreed to become a candidate for a money consideration, to be paid him by the Conservative Association of Ontario, were not, owing to the action of the respondent in throwing up the seat, gone into.

These charges were founded upon the admissions made under oath by Dr. Snider, upon his examination for discovery, as follows:—

RESPONDENT'S ADMISSION.

"The campaign cost me nothing personally; the money came from the Conservative Association. I got two checks signed by E. B. Osler in a letter written I forget by whom. Dr. McGuire told me he wrote asking for it. I looked for the letter to me after getting the subpoena, but did not find it. I kept no letter in regard to this contest. I think Dr. McGuire was in Toronto and acknowledged the money. The first check I got was $200, and the second was $300. They were both payable to my order. No other money was sent to me from Toronto. The second check was sent a week or ten days after the first. It was before the actual speaking began. I do not now remember who signed either of the letters. I signed a receipt for these checks. A typewritten receipt was enclosed. I signed and returned it, I think, to E. B. Ryckman."

Later on in his examination Dr. Snider stated that in his accounts his personal expenses were stated at $106.42. This included his expenses from the issue of the writ. Included in the amount was $2.50 per day for the use of his own horse and phaeton.

"I made a calculation of the amount after the election was over. There are no details in existence. It was a mental process down to two cents. I paid it out of the $500 I got from the Conservative Association. The unused balance is in my possession. I consider it mine. No part of it has been returned," said Dr. Snider in further examination.

ANOTHER GAIN FOR ROSS.

Score another victory for the Ross Government. That majority of one is a thing of the dim past. It is now a majority of three. The result of the North Norfolk election trial has been to unseat Dr. Snider, the supporter of Mr. Whitney, the political purist from electoral corruption. Mr. Whitney has been declaring, with pecksniffian unctuosity, that he is politically as pure as the falling snow, which has not yet been smirched by contact with the sordid earth. He has also been declaring with the roar of a Stentor that the Grits have robbed him of seats right and left, and all the time in the face of the fact, which he knew, that North Norfolk was stolen from the Grits by practices so corrupt that only five charges out of a long list of corrupt acts alleged, was needed to investigate, to void the election. Mr. Whitney knew this, for his friends were preparing a soft spot to fall upon, days before the election trial. Mr. Whitney should learn the wisdom of being consistent in his charges of wholesale corruption against his opponents, when his own skirts are reeking with corruption. The result is the increase of the Ross Government's majority, not by increase of a supporter, but by the withdrawal of one from Mr. Whitney's rapidly thinning ranks. Of course there will be a bye election, and a Liberal will be elected, for Mr. Whitney won't have so large a barrel, nor his opponents be so over-confident as they were at the general elections. They have learned the lesson that corrupt influences can be brought so strongly to bear as to overcome a large majority. North Norfolk is a Liberal riding. In the eight elections that have taken place since and including 1871, the Liberals have always carried the seat, the lowest majority having been 119, the highest 428 and the average 260. The election of 1902 won by the Conservatives by corrupt means is the only blot upon the Liberal escutcheon of North Norfolk, and that blot will be wiped off at the first opportunity the electors have of recording their votes. Those Conservatives who thought they had the Ross Government beaten counted their poultry prematurely. The Ross Government is, where it is, to stay.

TORONTO UNIVERSITY.

A western journal, a day or two ago, expressed the opinion that the Ontario Government had "done about enough for Toronto University." There is no doubt that this opinion is shared by a rather large number of persons. On the other hand, there are ardent friends of the Provincial University who hold to the opinion that the Government has not done enough. These opinions represent, perhaps, the extremes, and, as in all other things, the middle position will be the happy medium. The friends of higher education may feel justified in holding that the University, as a Provincial institution, has not received the aid it should have had, in order to do the work it should do. Yet it must be borne in mind that the Government is not only charged with responsibility in respect of the Provincial University, but with a large responsibility in regard to the Public and High Schools of the Province; and the means at the disposal of the Government, for educational purposes, must be divided with fair regard to the respective interests involved. If the University were aided at the expense of the Public and High Schools of the Province, the University itself would be adversely affected, for upon the efficiency of these latter depends the usefulness of the University. A university without students, would be Hamlet without Hamlet. To the efficiency of the Public and High Schools is due the fact, that while the attendance of students in Arts in 1882, was only 322, the number of university students has increased in less than ten years, including Medicine and Engineering, to nearly 1,500. While, in some respects, the University may feel the pinch of insufficient funds, these figures show that it exhibits at least the outward appearance of prosperity. The Ontario Government has given tangible evidence of its appreciation of the importance of the Provincial University. A few years ago the Government set apart a large area of land in New Ontario, the income from the sales of it to be devoted to the ordinary revenue of the University. The income from this source has amounted to $18,000 since 1898. At the same time as the land grant a special annual grant of $7,000 was made and the equivalent of a very large grant was represented by the action of the Government in assuming the cost of maintenance of the department of mineralogy, chemistry and physics, involving an expenditure of over $30,000 a year, and practically increasing the available resources of the University to that extent. How Liberally the Government has dealt with the Provincial Institution is shown by the fact that the additional sources of revenue it has provided the University in the past five years, capitalized on the basis of four per cent. are equivalent to over a million dollars, and this large amount will be that much increased if we take into account the $200,000 which the Government is at this moment expending upon the new Science building. It will be seen that the Government has not been unmindful of the University, and, while the latter might use to advantage much larger revenues yet there must be some limit to the Government's generosity, for the Government's resources are by no means unlimited, and like the University it might use in the public interests in the various services it has to maintain a much larger revenue than is now available. While the Government has dealt not ungenerously with the Provincial University, the latter cannot boast of munificent private benefactions such as have come to the chief University in our sister province. With proper regard for the general interests of the provincial service, it does not seem that the Government can reasonably be charged in respect of its attitude to the Provincial University, with undue paternalism or undue parsimony.

CANADIAN CHEESE EXPORTS.

According to "Commercial Intelligence," quoted by the Globe, Canada has been pouring cheese into England at a great rate ever since the season opened in May, and her total shipments are much ahead of those of last year. Yet prices have kept up all the summer and have lately commenced to rise rapidly, values now being from 6s. to 7s. more than at this time last year. An important reason for this has been the high prices of meat in the United States, which have led to a larger consumption of cheese there. The quantity of cheese in sight in England and Montreal at the beginning of this month is some 184,000 boxes less than last year. The home make has again turned out to be a small one, and its market is so high as to materially enhance the chance of the Canadian product; but, Commercial Intelligence thinks, shippers would be well advised not to push their advantage too far.

Watch the Ross Government majority grow. It actually doubled in one day, and is growing at the rate of one a week. It is three now and if this rate is kept up it will be ten by Christmas.

Although the medicine business should, above all, be carried on with the utmost conscientiousness and sense of responsibility, the unfortunate fact is that in no other is there so much humbug and deception. The anxieties of the sick and their relatives are traded upon in the most shameful manner; impossible cures are promised; many preparations are absolutely worthless, and some are positively dangerous to health.

As a consequence, all proprietary remedies are regarded with suspicion by many people, and the good suffer for the bad.

THE LAKEFIELD BANK AFFAIR

The Cheese Factories Interested Have Investigated.

They Think That Mr. Linton is Doing What he can for His Creditors.

The Examiner has received the following communication from Messrs. A. E. Kennedy, W. J. Bullock and H. Moore, who were appointed by the cheese factories interested in the recent bank failure at Lakefield to inquire into the affairs of that institution:

Being appointed by the representatives of the cheese factories interested, at a meeting of the creditors of the "Linton Bank," held on Monday evening, Oct. 27th, to examine the assets and liabilities of the said bank, we beg to say:

Everything done has been entirely without prejudice to the claims of any creditor, and with a view to obtain for the creditors all available assets without law costs.

No audit of the books has been made but from verified and accepted balances of accounts, we find the liabilities of the Lakefield branch are $24,334.31, while the assets are $1,224.63 cash, and about $12,833.20 in notes of which about $8,000.00 worth are said to be utterly worthless.

In addition to this, it is said that about $5,000.00 worth of notes which had been held by the Traders' Bank in Port Hope as collateral security was withdrawn from said Bank by Mr. Benson, the late manager, a few days before he left, and no trace of them has been found.

The books of the Orone Branch were not presented, but a statement submitted by Mr. Linton showed the liabilities at Orone to be $3,730.00, while the assets are $1,900.00 cash, and $6,151.20 in notes, said to be good.

The total liabilities are therefore $28,064.31, while the total assets supposed to be good are $16,589.13.

Mr. Linton deposited assets in the Traders' Bank, Lakefield, in trust for his creditors. The creditors receive at once 20 per cent. of their claims, and it is expected that in about three weeks they will receive a further dividend of 20 per cent. or such sum as may then be available, and the balance of assets as soon as they can be realized upon.

It will then be in order for Mr. Linton and his creditors to arrange for the balance of their claims.

We think it but fair to say, that, while we feel that Mr. Linton seriously erred in exposing his creditors to such serious loss, by not verifying his late manager's bank statements, by proper monthly audits of his books, we have neither seen nor found anything, so far, which would, in the least degree, reflect upon Mr. Linton's honour or honesty, and as he seems to be doing all in his power to satisfy his creditors, we beg to express the hope that the creditors continue to exercise patience until something may be ascertained re those missing notes, or until Mr. Linton is able to make a statement regarding his ability to meet the balance of their claims.

We desire also to say that we feel, the thanks and the gratitude of the creditors, are due to Messrs. W. H. Casement and J. M. Kilbourn, whose assistance has been of great value in the settlement of this matter, but who certainly receive neither more or less out of the concern than the rest of us.

ROMANCE OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT.

Wonderful Works Accomplished at the "Soo."

MILDIONS OF CAPITAL AT WORK

Interdependence of Industries—One Enterprise Opens way for Others—The "Soo's" Great Future.

The celebration at Sault Ste. Marie on the opening of the Power Canal of the Lake Superior Power Company, brings into prominence the wonderful industrial development with which Mr. F. H. Clergue's name is associated. The moving spirit of these enterprises has often declared that the advantages offering at the Soo cannot be duplicated in the world, and he has given many practical demonstrations that its development is in capable hands. The definite announcement that for the next ten years an average sum of $50,000 a month would be spent in the development of the Soo industries, shows a determination to take full advantage of the opportunities which nature has supplied. The general story of the Soo development has often been told but the remarkable manner in which each enterprise has opened the way for others, gives it almost the interest of a romance. A power canal was the first enterprise, and after it was developed the problem of a market led to the establishment of pulp-making industries. The requisite chemicals for producing sulphide pulp were sought in the ore deposits of the district, which resulted in extensive mining enterprises. Smelting, railway building, rolling mills, chemical works, and many industries necessary to a proper disposal of by-products followed, everything being undertaken that fully attested the confidence of the investors. The enterprises on the Canadian side, in which some $25,000,000 have been invested, are the growth of about eight years, and the site of the steel works, where some 1,200 men are now turning out steel rails and structural material, was but a year ago virgin forest. The place has grown from a town of 2000 to an industrial centre of 12,000 inhabitants, and the pay roll is now about two and a half millions a year, and rapidly growing. The allied companies have placed $117,000,000, and an increasing army of men at Mr. Clergue's disposal.

After the first power canal had been established and turbines, giving 20,000 horsepower set up, the pulp mills followed as a necessity. The mills of the Pulp and Paper Company are the largest pulpmaking plant in the world, and they are now using 300 cords of wood and turning out 170 tons of dry pulp in a day. The need of machinery for producing dry pulp led to the establishment of the machine shop, and now the output of pulp is valued at a million a year. To make sulphide pulp, a higher grade, required a supply of sulphur, and to obtain it the Gertrude nickel mine was purchased. Chemical experiemnts not only solved the sulphur problem by treating this ore, but led to the establishment of nickel-steel and chemical works. The nickel-steel product of the Gertrude mine being found too rich, the necessity for more iron arose, with the result that the Helen and Josephine mines were purchased. These are now in themselves and some of their output is finished in the works of the various allied companies, down to steel rails, structural iron and machinery of various kinds. To obtain the alkali required for refining the nickel and copper, the alkali and chemical works have been built. Railway development was necessary to keep the works supplied with pulpwood and to get out the product of the iron mines, and now the extension of a line to James Bay is regarded as a project of the near future. There are now in full blast at the "Soo" a steel works and rolling mill, mechanical and sulphide pulp mills, reduction works, iron works, machine shops, alkali works and car works, while shipbuilding and other industries are in course of preparation. It is difficult to keep pace with this development, as it is proceeding rapidly along so many lines. It was recently announced that the allied companies had $15,000,000 in their treasury to complete the Manitoulin & North Shore Railway. The steamship line has four freighters of 2,500 tons burden carrying ore between Michipicoten and Lake Erie, and three passenger and freight steamers, two of which run between Toledo, Ohio, and the "Soo." Notwithstanding this great aggregation and an equally rapid development on the American side, it is declared with the serious weight of authority that the present works are but a beginning. Tube works, veneer and other factories, saw mills, shipyards, all will find their raw material in abundance, where nature has provided perpetual and immeasurable power. Judging by what has been accomplished within a few years, it would be bold to question Mr. Clergue's prediction of the growth of a city of 200,000 inhabitants. —Globe.

Fell Exhausted and Unconscious.

Mrs. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street, Brantford, Ont., suffered for five years with nervous exhaustion and headache and dyspepsia. "The pains in the head would almost drive me crazy. I could not sleep nights, but would walk the floor in agony until I fell exhausted and unconscious. For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and from a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight until I am strong and well." It would be scarcely possible to produce stronger evidence of the wonderful powers of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Tweed, Nov. 5. — A man by the name of Thomas Kennedy of Erinsville was brought in on a stretcher here last evening, having been shot through the leg by Thomas Palmater of the same place. Maple Creek, N.W.T., Nov. 5.—J. C. Martin, rancher, accidentally shot and killed himself Monday morning, while he and a friend were at work erecting a shack on a ranch. They noticed a flock of swans flying by and deceased went to get his rifle, which was standing against a plow, and, in pulling it over, the trigger caught on some part of it, discharging its contents into Martin's body, causing instantaneous death. An inquest was held, and a verdict of accidental death given.

THE MINERS' DEMANDS

Statement Filed With the Mine Strike Commission.

BY REPRESENTATIVE MITCHELL.

Reiterates in Terse Language the Demands Made at the Shamokin Convention — Operators Will Answer in Three or Four Days—Ask For Higher Wages and Shorter Hours With Reasons.

Hazelton, Pa., Nov. 5.—The statement of the anthracite mine workers' case, which was filed with the strike commission Sunday night, was made public yesterday. Copies of the statement have been furnished to the operators, who will reply in three or four days. The miners' statement in full follows:—

"To the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission:—The mine workers make of the operators the following demands, which were formulated by the Shamokin convention, held March 18 to 24, and for the enforcement of which the strike was inaugurated:—

"First, an increase of 20 per cent. upon the prices paid during the year 1901 to employes performing contract or piece work.

"This demand is made on account of the following reasons:—

"(1) The present rate of wages is much lower than the rate of wages paid in the bituminous coal fields for substantially similar work.

"(2) The present rate of wages is lower than is paid in other occupations requiring equal skill and training.

"(3) The average annual earnings in the anthracite coal field are much less than the average annual earnings in the bituminous coal fields for substantially similar work.

"(4) The average annual earnings in the anthracite coal fields are much less than the average annual earnings for occupations requiring equal skill and training.

"(5) The rate of wages in the anthracite coal fields is insufficient to compensate the mine workers in view of the dangerous character of the occupation in relation to accidents, the liability to serious and permanent disease, the high death rate, and the short average life incident to this employment.

"(6) The annual earnings of the mine workers are insufficient to maintain the American standard of living.

"(7) The increased cost of living has made it impossible to maintain a fair standard of life upon the basis of present wages, and has not only prevented the mine workers from securing any benefit from increased prosperity, but has made their condition poorer on account of it.

"(8) The wages of anthracite mine workers are so low that their children are prematurely forced into the breakers and mills, instead of being supported and educated upon the earnings of their parents.

"(9) Wages are below the fair and just earnings of mine workers in this industry.

"Second, a reduction of 20 per cent. in hours of labor, without any reduction of earnings, for all employes paid by the hour, day or week.

"The second demand is similar to the first, in that it is designed to increase the hourly rate of wages of mine workers employed by the hour, day or week, and all the reasons applicable to the first demand are asked to be applied to the second with repetition.

"In addition thereto we submit the following:—

"(10) The ten-hour day is detrimental to the health, life, safety and well-being of the mine workers.

"(11) Shorter hours improve the physical, mental and moral conditions of the workers.

"(12) Shorter hours increase the intensity and efficiency of labor.

"(13) The tendency of national and State government of organized trade and of production generally is toward shorter hours.

"(14) A working day of eight hours is sufficiently long for the best interests of the workingmen and of the community.

"Third, the adoption of a system by which coal shall be weighed and paid for by weight wherever practicable; the minimum rate per ton to be sixty cents for a legal ton of 2,240 pounds, the differentials now existing at the various mines to be maintained.

This demand is made on account of the following reasons:

"(1) Measurement by the legal ton wherever practicable is the only honest and just system of measuring the earnings of mine workers.

"(2) When the operators sell or transport coal it is on the basis of a legal ton of 2,240 pounds.

"(3) The excessive ton was originally intended to compensate the operator for the weight of the small sizes of coal which were then discarded, but which are now utilized and sold, and therefore there is no present necessity for the use of any other than the legal ton.

"(4) The adoption of this system would remove an incentive, both to the operator and the worker, to cheating and dishonesty, and would allay jealousy among the miners and prevent unjust discrimination and favoritism.

"(5) The change of the present system to the one asked for would prove a strong factor in allaying suspicion and discontent among the mine workers.

"Fourth, the incorporation in an agreement between the United Mine Workers of America and the anthracite coal companies of the wages which shall be paid and the conditions of employment which shall obtain, together with satisfactory methods for the adjustment of grievances which may arise from time to time, to the end that strikes and lock-outs may be unnecessary.

"In support of this demand we submit the following reasons:—

"(1) The anthracite mine workers should not be compelled to make or sign individual agreements, but should have the right to form such organization, and choose such agents and officers as they desire to act collectively instead of individually when they deem that their best interests are subserved thereby.

"(2) Agreements between employers and employes through workingmen's organizations are the ordinary method of regulating production and wages in the bituminous coal fields and in other large industrials, and are beneficial, successful and in keeping with the spirit of the times.

"(3) Unions of workingmen tend to the better discipline of the men and to the improvement of their physical, moral and mental condition and to the preservation of friendly relations between employer and employe.

"(4) Experience shows that the trade agreement is the only effective method by which it is possible to regulate questions arising between employers and employes in large industries, and that a trade agreement is the only possible way to establish the relations between employers and the wage earners in the anthracite fields on a just and permanent basis, and, as far as possible, to do away with any causes for the recurrence of such difficulties as those you (the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission) have been called in to settle.

"Respectfully submitted.

"(Signed) John Mitchell.

"Representative of the Anthracite Mine Workers."

The Commission Working Hard.

Although yesterday was election day the Anthracite Strike Commissioners continued their investigations so that they can finish their tour of the mining region as soon as possible. The commission left here during the morning for Shamokin, where John Fahey, President of the United Mine Workers of the 9th District, will board the special train and accompany the arbitrators through that territory. The day will be spent in visiting the mines in and about Shamokin.

SIR WILFRID AT LAVAL.

Every Mention of His Name at Banquet Cheered to the Echo.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—The annual dinner of the law students of Laval University at the Place Viger Hotel was more than usually interesting, from the announcement that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and several of his colleagues would deliver addresses. In the present state of politics this naturally drew a large number of public men, and no less interesting was their location around the table. The Chairman, Mr. J. A. Langlois, had on his right Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. M. E. Bernier, Sir Alex. Lacoste, Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Senator Beique, Judge Desmarais, Messrs. F. D. Monk, M.P., T. Chase Casgrain, M. P., R. Prefontaine, M. P., R. Lemieux, M.P., and Hon. P. E. Leblanc. At the other end of the room, on the left of the Chairman, were Judge Mathieu, Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick, Judge Ouimet, Hon. H. G. Carroll, Senator Dandurand, Judhe Pagnuelo, Judge Lavergne, Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Rev. Abbe Bourassa, Hon. Adelard Turgeon, Hon. Lomer Gouin. Any who expected important political announcements were disappointed, but everyone was on the qui vive and the faintest allusion in that direction was sure to be applauded. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied to the toast of Canada, and every mention of his name by the proposer was loudly applauded.

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless It Is Digested.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains.

For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe outdoor manual labour can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutricious foods are difficult of digestion and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables where the digestion is too weak to assimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best results from our food that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs, and several years experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stomachs lack, pepsin diastase and by stimulating the gastric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid.

People may make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion which means perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a fifty-cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.

THE COURT OF REVISION.

A Full Account of Last Night's Meeting.

The Court of Revision met again last evening, with the following members present: Aldermen Shortly, presiding, Batten, Edgcumbe and Rush. After the minutes of the preceding meeting had been read and confirmed, appeals were considered and acted upon as follows:

The Auburn Power Company's personal assessment was reduced from $5,000 to $2,500.

Alex. and E. J. Ferguson appealed against assessment for statute labour, and their petitions were granted.

The assessment of Wm. Yelland was reduced from $600 to $400.

Mr. W. H. Moore appeared for the C. P. R., and claimed that the right of way from Dalhousie to Hunter street was assessed too high. After some deliberation the assessment was reduced from $5,000 to $3,500.

The Bank of Montreal had the assessment on several properties reduced from $2,850 to $2,450.

In the case of the appeal of the Otonabee Power Company, re overassessment, the following reductions were made: On poles and wires, from $1,000 to $500; on real estate south of Simcoe, east of Water, part 3, from $1,200 to $1,150; personal assessment from $8,000 to $300.

The appeal of B. F. Ackerman & Son was withdrawn, while that of H. Owens was received too late for action.

Miss E. Hudson and Mr. Wm. Godfrey asked for and were allowed remission of taxes for 1902.

The taxes for statute labour were remitted to Mr. A. Wills, while Mr. Thos. Kent received a reduction of $5.40

All taxes save those of the school rates were remitted to the Y.W.C.A.

The C. P. R. was not notified of an assessment of $100 and refused to pay penalty for delayed payment. In this case the percentage on the taxes was remitted.

R. J. Todd asked that taxes on property owned by the First Church of Christ Scientists be refunded, but his appeal was not entertained,

As the Peterborough Underwear Company had not, it was held, complied with the bylaw it was decided to report their application to the council for action.

It was then moved by Ald. Edgecombe, seconded by Ald. Rush, that the assessment roll for 1902 as amended and corrected, be passed and confirmed. This motion was carried, after which the court adjourned.

PROF. ROBERTSON PROBABLY COMING.

Mr. John Riddle, South Monaghan, is in communication with Prof. Robertson, the great authority on dairying, etc., with a view of his being present at the next meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board on Nov. 11th. Messrs. Wm. Needler, B. F. Reesor, Alex. Ross and H. J. Clarry — all mighty hunters and experienced woodsmen — left last week for the wilds of Longford township to enjoy two weeks' still hunting. Last year Mr. W. A. Goodwin was one of the party, but he was unable to get away from business this year..... ...Another hunting party went north yesterday, taking the 2.40 train for Dysart station, from which point they go to Cocklong Lake, between Haliburton and Irondale. The following comprised the party: Messrs. Geo. E. Ray, Reaboro; Geo. English, T. B. Laidley, Omemee; H. Henders, Yelverton; Thos. McGee, Janetville; and Wm. J. Ferguson, Lindsay. — Lindsay Post.

WANT THE FENCE DOWN.

Residents in the Vicinity of Collegiate Institute

Think the Appearance of Rear of the School not What it Should be.

At last night's meeting of the Peterborough Board of Education, the residents in the vicinity of the Collegiate Institute and the Central School sent in a petition asking that the fences and the sheds to the rear of the school be placed in a more sightly condition and in keeping with the general appearance of the neighbourhood. The petition read as follows-

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education, Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—We, the undersigned residents in the vicinity of the Central School and Collegiate Institute, respectfully call your attention to the dilapidated condition and appearance of the fences around the school property. The picket fence on College street is almost gone through age and decay, while the board fence around the rest of the grounds is not at all in keeping with the neat and trim appearance of the front lawn of the schools, or of the lawns and fences of the property in the neighborhood.

We think it is but necessary to call your attention to this matter, to have it remedied either by the removal of the old fence altogether or the erection of a new one, more suitable and sightly in character.

We would also call your attention to the unsightly appearance of the old closet building in the rear of the lot, and feel that you might easily take into consideration their removal altogether. By complying with our request you will add materially to the appearance of the school buildings, as well as make them harmonize with the better portion of the residential property in the neighborhood. We trust that you will take this matter up and grant the prayer of your petitioners, as we feel that public property should be kept in repair and in keeping with the surrounding property of private citizens.

YOUNG MEN'S GUILD.

An Enjoyable Meeting Held Last Night Rev. Mr. Potter's Address.

The regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's church, was held last night, in the Guild Rooms, with the newly-elected president. Mr. Wm. Campbell, in the chair. Although the meeting was mostly of a business nature it also had its pleasurable side. Rev. Mr. Potter read an interesting paper dealing with successful young men. Following this the Guild held an old-fashioned spelling match, in which Mr. R. Elliott captained one side and Mr. L. Thornton the other. The match resulted in a win for Mr. Thornton's side.

Since the last meeting, Mrs. Adam Gillespie, mother of Mr. Adam Gillespie, a member of the Guild, had passed away and a resolution of condolence had been sent by the officers of the Guild to their bereaved brother. The resolution was as follows:

Peterborough, Ont., Nov. 1st, '02.

Mr. Adam Gillespie;

Dear Bro. Guildsman,—We desire to extend to you, on behalf of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild, our deep sense of sympathy with you and the members of your family at the loss you have sustained by death. We want you to realize that our sympathy is all the stronger when we remember your devotion and love to the one who has been removed, while you, at the same time, were so deeply devoted to the church's interests. We sincerely hope that Divine Grace may be given you in large measure, and that in the new responsibilities that have been, in consequence, thrust upon you, you may be granted Divine Wisdom and Strength.

On behalf of the Guild,

CHAS. E. ANDERSON, Secretary.

JAMES G. POTTER, Hon. President.

Mr. Gillespie was present last evening and thanked the Guild on behalf of the family and himself.

THE ANIMALS COMBINE.

Beasts of the Field Prove That "Union is Strength."

A couple of local tonsorial artists, who are also ardent hunters, went out to search for game in the line of foxes one day recently, and by means known only to themselves, ran Reynard to the ground. There was nothing left to do but to dig him out. A couple of hours hard digging brought them close to their victim, when unexpected aid arrived for the fox in the shape of a large bull, who resented extremely the proceedings that were endangering the friend's life. The hunters made an escape and a rapid retreat that would have been worthy of De Wet, and cleared the fence a la Santos Dumont. This was enough sport for one day, and it is still a sore subject to broach in their presence.

"A WOMAN'S REVENGE."

Bill of Play at the Opera House Last Evening.

Marks Bros. Company was treated to a crowded house again last evening, when the comedy-drama, "A Woman's Revenge," was capitally presented, and the production gave genuine satisfaction to all. The play is a decidedly strong one, and every character was portrayed in a very clever manner, by the different performers. A spicy vein of humour permeated the production, and the interest of the audience was maintained until the drop of the curtain. To-night the company presents "Larry Brogan's Promotion."

Why do I wear "C. R. Co." rubbers? Because they fit properly and wear better than any other rubber shoe in the market. You cannot afford to be without a pair if you value your health.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

THE weather-wise say that the second day of the month, "rules the month," that is, the weather of the second will be a type of the weather that is to prevail the rest of the month. Sunday, the 2nd, was a beautifully bright and balmy day, and if we are to have a month of it, we shall try to stand it.

THERE is a disposition in some quarters to blame the fire brigade for tardy attendance at a fire as on Saturday night. As a matter of fact the brigade were not to blame. Among other causes over which they had no control was the reported freak of one of the fire horses going on strike the time he should have struck out at a gallop, a bit of equine eccentricity which might well justify the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee in seriously considering to what extent the animal's usefulness as a member of the fire team is past. With a first class fire brigade and a first class hydrant service it is plainly in the interests of the safety of property that the horse that wont go "must go."

HALLOWE'EN pranks which do not stop short of felony—malicious injury to property—put their perpetraters outside the pale of toleration. The action of students in Toronto on Hallowe'en, led to actions in the Police Court, and fines were inflicted. In Peterborough much malicious mischief was done. There is too much licentiousness of conduct these days among the young. The street schools of evil are too well attended and kept open too late at nights. Respect for position, age or authority, is too much lacking. One can't expect boys, or girls either, brought up without a proper reverence for law, moral or civil, to be, or become law-abiding and moral citizens.

* * *

A CASE in point to illustrate the extent of youthful moral depravity. It is reported that there are found boys depraved enough and mean enough to mislead the blind and make a mock of the most grievious of physical infirmities. It is stated that vicious boys have begun the practice of misleading an innofensive blind lad, who goes about vending a few small articles to help support himself. These bad boys it is said will maliciously lead, with the pretense of kindness, this unfortunate blind lad in the opposite direction he wishes to go and one particularly vicious scamp the other day, it is asserted, led him upon the Midland railway track and left him there. A train was coming and the poor blind boy not knowing which way to go for life, was frantic with fear till a passing citizen led him to safety. A boy with a fiendish sense of fun like that wont need much diabolic assistance to develop into a criminal of bloody dye.

* * *

AN example of modern postal proficiency. On Monday a member of the Examiner staff, who was in South Africa, received a letter with a devious travelling history. It was written here in June, went by mail to Capetown, thence to Durban, thence to England; from England to Ottawa and by the frank of Lord Aylmer, Adjutant-General, sent on to Peterborough. The letter arrived after its long journey in good condition, no more soiled than if it had gone only to Millbrook and back.

FOOTBALL — Rugby — is enough of a Spartan sport, without gratuitous slugging. Rugby, "as she is played," has enough legitimate risks; they are, however, "all in the game." but a Rugby team that will resort to personal assault to help win a game, needs a much better referee than presided at Ottawa on Saturday, when three or four Peterborough players were assaulted. The other day, in another game, a player attacked an opponent, who was about to make a "touch-down" with a knife. But that was in "the States" and the players were negroes. We expect something better of Canadians, who are "white" men, in any sense. "Professionals," that is men who play for money, are barred from amateur company. A player who will deliberately assault an opponent on the field in Rugby or any other game, should be penalized and barred from amateur company. A referee, if he has not the power now under the rules, should be empowered to rule a pugilist off the field, and be compelled to report him to the authorities, having power of suspension. With all its dangers, Rugby has its good points. It teaches the greatest of all accomplishments—self-government, and self-restraint. A well-balanced player will take all rough treatment, so long as it is in the game, with an even temper. And Rugby promotes good living. A player to hold his own must be temperate, and totally abstinent, if he would do himself, his team, and his town justice. It is to the credit of the Peterborough team that on their visit to Ottawa they did not resent assaults which, under other circumstances, would have been extremely risky to the perpetrators—they were not in the ring; they were playing Rugby; and with all the temptations with which conviviality assailed them, they shunned intoxicants, and kept, as St. Paul enjoins, their bodies in subjection. Though it may seem a small thing, self-government is better than winning championships, if indeed, it is not the sine qua non of championship winning—as of moral victory of any kind.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Ex-Reeve Hooten was in town a few days ago looking hale and hearty, and preparing for a higher position in the near future.

Neeland's sawmill has been a great boon to the farmers living east of the swamp, in the north-east part of the township of Cavan.

Robert Boyd is recovering from the injuries he received from a colt that he was working with on the farm. His escape from fatal results was almost a miracle.

Mr. T. W. McLean reports severe weather at Rat Portage last week, but the town is safe—the foundation is solid rock, and the surroundings are of a similar character. The population has increased rapidly, and the situation is such that it has become a distributing centre for those smaller towns lying adjacent to it. We expect a full account of the town since its first settlement, if Mr. McLean can find time to write it up during his leisure hours.

The Presbyterian church pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Mr. Oswald of Pontypool, last Sunday. His sermon was favourably received by those who heard him.

Our town was very quiet on Hallow-E'en, a great improvement from past years.

Mr. S. Casey will commence to make butter this week. Those requiring a superior article of butter should apply to Mount Pleasant factory, and they will be sure of getting something good.

What is the matter with our debating society? We have not heard of it since last spring. The residents should wake up and have it started earlier than last year.

The population of our village is increasing so rapidly that our village council should take steps to have some manufacturing company locate here—a bonnet factory would be a good line.

Mr. Isaac Kerr spent a few days in Norwood last week visiting friends.

Miss Lizzie Pue is home again after a two weeks' visit with her sister at Allandale.

Mr. and Mrs. Huggins have been visiting friends at Baltimore for a few days.

On Hallow'E'en some of our citizens were greatly excited by some terrific screeches. Some thought it was a wild cat, others said it was a Banshee—whatever that is. One gentleman suggested that they get a gun, but upon investigation it proved to be one of our lady citizens, who made a mistake in opening the wrong door, and walked into the lock up. However, as she was only very badly frightened, quietness was restored in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reid gave a fowl supper to a few friends on Hallow-E'en. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wood also entertained about twenty guests in a like manner the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Morrison paid a short visit to Mr. Richard Mulligan of Cavan last week.

Miss Martha Foster, of Reaboro, was renewing old acquaintances last week.

We regret to hear of the serious illness of Mr. John Brown, senior, and we hope for his speedy recovery.

Mrs. Armstrong of Garden Hill, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Robertson.

Mr. W. T. Halligan, formerly of this place, paid the village a short visit on Saturday.

On Monday evening, when Mr. and and Mrs. Robert Morrison returned, after being away for the afternoon, they were surprised to find the door of the house broken open and the house ransacked. The sum of fifty dollars was missing from a drawer where the thief had cut out the lock with a sharp knife.

Mr. George Campbell lost a valuable horse last week. It died suddenly and apparently without cause.

Mr. John Brown has has some valuable Shropshire sheep worried by some worthless cur of a dog.

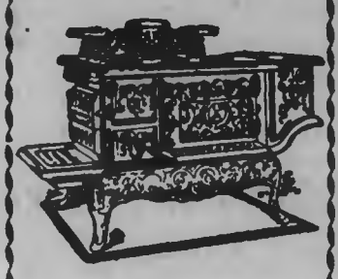
The "Happy Thought" Ranges are past the experimental stage. They are as near perfection as the best stove experts and stove builders can make them.



Ask any one of the 150,000 Canadian Cooks who are using them what they think of them. They use less coal and do better work than any other Range in the world.

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

FURTHER PECULATIONS DISCOVERED

Now Said That Treasurer Shambleau Has Gone to the States.

Chatham, Nov. 5.—Yesterday the County Council continued its special session called to deal with the defalcation of Treasurer Shambleau. The appointment of Clerk J. C. Fleming to the vacancy at a salary of $1,200 was ratified by bylaw, and the ex-county councillor, Jonas Gosnell of Highgate, appointed to the clerkship at a salary of $800. The clerk is required to furnish a $1,000 bond, a new departure.

A cursory examination of the books of the ex-Treasurer by Auditor Macpherson reveals other peculations amounting probably to $6,000. The representative of the Guarantee Bond Company, who has already seized some of Shambleau's private property, says that the defaulting Treasurer has crossed the boundary. Most of Shambleau's personal sureties live in and around Wallaceburg, Shambleau's native place.

DOUKHOBORS IN SNOWSTORM.

Pilgrims on March Seek Shelter in Bush at Stoney Creek.

Fort Warren, Nov. 5. — Although the Doukhobors have said there would be no winter while they were on their life-long journey, snow fell heavily Monday night. The pilgrims' condition is now said to be pitiful. The main body, some 450, are huddled in a willow scrub at the bottom of Stoney Creek. Fires have been lighted. Dry oatmeal is the staple article of diet with the pilgrims. Monday they had their mid-day meal at Binscarth. The donations of food made by citizens were distributed by several men. The whole concourse stood reverently bareheaded and bowed while a prayer was recited and a short chant sung. A few carried prairie roses. They were passed around and partaken of by all.

MARCONI RUSHES WORK.

Installation of Powerful Apparatus For Transoceanic Tests.

Glace Bay, N. S., Nov. 5. — The work of installing the powerful receiving and transmitting apparatus for the Cape Breton wireless telegraph station by Mr. Marconi is progressing rapidly.

The inventor stated last night that a number of days must elapse before he could make a statement regarding the manner in which the messages and signals are to be received here. He said that he would use an automatic receiver or special telephonic apparatus, whichever he deemed most advisable. He is not directing his attention to increasing the transmitting power of instruments on board ship, but will do so soon. The Italian war ship Carlo Alberto remains at port in Sydney Harbor.

AN AWFUL MISTAKE.

Physician Prescribes Nuxvomica for a Kingston Lady With the Result That She is Paralyzed.

A Thrilling Experience Resulting From a Doctor's Blunder—Fortunately She Recovered and Tells the Story of the Whole Incident.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—That Mrs. E. Lake, of 112 Clarence street, this city, is alive to-day, is a matter for wonder. She says:

"My sickness was brought about by overdose of Strychnine prescribed by a physician. It brought on Paralysis affecting my left side, brain, arm and limbs.

"I was perfectly helpless and it was impossible for me to raise my left limb or open my fingers. I got no sleep and often when I closed my eyes remained open. I had not the power to close my eyelids.

"I suffered almost continually with headache.

"My brain felt as though it was too large for the skull. My appetite failed and I became very emaciated, indeed, I was nothing but skin and bones.

"I was three years under treatment, many physicians having me under their care, but without avail. At last I became discouraged and gave up all treatment.

"While reading a paper one day I noticed a testimony of one who was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My sister procured me a box of the pills and I started on three pills three times a day. I soon began to experience a change for the better which continued until I regained the use of my arm, hand and limb. My headache also ceased and my appetite returned.

"From this I soon picked up flesh and strength until I was as well as ever.

"I thank God and Dodd's Kidney Pills for my health for by prayer and this wonderful remedy, I was cured and have remained in good health ever since, although this was over five years ago."

ALAN G. MASON ARRESTED.

Prominent Piano Manufacturer Suspected of Many Murderous Assaults.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5.—Owing to the murderous assault cases which have occurred in Cambridge, Brookline and Somerville within the past few months, two of which have resulted fatally, the state police yesterday arrested Alan G. Mason of Boston, a well-known and wealthy business man, member of the piano manufacturing firm of Mason & Hamlin, a prominent club man and a Harvard graduate. The police suspect, from evidence in their hands, that Mr. Mason has been involved in nearly all the cases referred to, because the circumstances in each has been similar. Mr. Mason, who is a middle aged man, has been a victim of mental trouble for which he was treated at the McLean Asylum at Waverly. He has been out of the institution a year.

WHEN A CEDAR OF LEBANON FALLS.

When a Lebanon cedar falls they laugh;
The basswood trees get gay,
And the news flies over the land like chaff;
Gossips are glad that day.
Ah! no tear the slanderer's eye adorns,
Each to the other calls;
The briers and thorns fling up their horns
When a cedar of Lebanon falls!

For centuries long, he stood so strong,
Majestic, calm—alone,
God's heaven above him—beneath him wrong,
Pillared to stay, the throne:
To-night he is down, and every clown
Loafs in his vacant halls;
How the sneering passes thro' weeds and grasses
When a cedar of Lebanon falls!

Lo! the poison ivy doth sit and grin,
The beggartricks are glad,
And the worthless ragweed comes slinking in
To wink and say "How sad!"
The cursed thistles lift up their bristles,
The scandal them enthralls,
And the trash wet brash when they hear the crash,
As a cedar of Lebanon falls!

Don't ask the reason—for it's almost treason:
Why did that cedar fall?
Ah! all that I know—he is lying low,
Prone on the earth, that's all!
And who's to be blamed—we are all ashamed,
We hear the wild cat calls,
The exultant voice as the shrubs rejoice,
When a cedar of Lebanon falls.
—The Khan, in Toronto Globe.

A Canadian's Find in South Africa.

An extraordinary fiddle, a relic from the front, has been brought home by a Yarmouth gunner. The body of the instrument has been fashioned from a meat tin, the fingerboard and neck from an axe handle, the bridge is a tent peg, and the tail a tent ring. Curious as is its structure, the fiddle provided merry music at many a camp fire on the veldt.

The Story of Morning Tiredness.

Is told by impure blood, poor digestion, sluggish liver and tired nerves. It is a warning of very serious trouble ahead, and should prompt sensible people to take a bracing tonic like Ferrozone, an energetic invigorant and rebuilder. Ferrozone will give you a sharp appetite, promote good digestion and sound sleep; it feed and energise the enfeebled organs, strengthen the nerve and vital forces and regulate the heart. Ferrozone changes that tired feeling into vigour, strength and ambition, and does it quickly. Remember the name, and insist on having only Ferrozone; it's the best tonic made. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50, at Druggists or Ormond & Walsh's.

Eczema and Itching Skin

Defied Many Expensive Remedies but Were Thoroughly Cured by

Dr. Chase's Ointment

It is a mistake to judge Dr. Chase's Ointment by the results obtained from the use of ordinary salves and ointments. It is not to be compared with any preparation on the market to-day.

Some of these remedies give temporary relief but they do not strike deep enough to eradicate disease. You need not be alarmed if Dr. Chase's Ointment causes a little irritation at first; this is necessary in order to root out the disease. When the cure is brought about the skin will be left smooth and clear, without scar and blemish.

Mr. Hiram Frey, Norwood, Ont., states: "I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg. The itching was terrible, and when scratched the blood would come. Fortunately I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and its persistent use has completely cured me. There is now no trace of the disease left.

"My little girl, two years old, has also been cured of Eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores and we hand to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. To-day her face is clear of even the scars which the ugly sores made, and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proved itself to us."

Miss Levina Diotte, Clarence Creek, Ont., writes: "I suffered with eczema for over a year and a half and tried all the remedies I could hear of, some of them costing considerable money, and not doing me any good. I was enduring great torture when I read an advertisement of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and resolved to give it a trial.

"I began using Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it has completely cured me. Though I do not need it any more I keep a box in the house in case of emergency. I hope that people who suffer as I did may read this testimonial and for this reason you have my permission to publish it. It is only just that such a good remedy for eczema and itching skin should be made known to those who suffer."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CANADA'S GREATNESS

LONDON TELEGRAPH CORRESPONDENT TELLS OF WHAT HE SAW.

One of the Old Country Newspaper Men Writes Interestingly of the Land of the Golden Grain—Dominion Government's Investment Beginning to Bear Fruit—What a Traveling Journalist Saw in Canada.

We are already beginning to see some of the effects of the policy of the Canadian Government is giving British journalists a free jaunt in Canada. Of course, it was a piece of pleasantry to describe these journalists as "leading British editors." They are nothing of the kind; they are normal working journalists, some of whom have access to English journals of standing. The results are already appearing. The London Telegraph's representative thus writes:

In the course of a rapid journey from Quebec to Winnipeg, the capital of the Province of Manitoba, it has become more and more difficult to absorb more than a small portion of the facts and details that have been generously offered. So great a distance—one of over 2,000 miles—must necessarily cover many new and interesting features, each with its points of particular attraction. The traveler must pass through districts, the centres of various industries, land cultivation, and commercial enterprise, and it has therefore become impossible to avoid some reference to subjects which at the time seemed put away and done with. As hundred after hundred of miles are traversed, now over great lakes, now across vast fertile plains, one great ocean of golden wheat, then through soft, pleasant country, where agricultural industry has won and is winning victories of peace and prosperity, and then again through wonderful mountain passes, the extraordinary nature and vastness of this continent become more and more evident. Few people realize that Canada comprises about 30 per cent. of the British Empire, and one-fifteenth of the total land area of the earth, a vast region bounded on three sides by three oceans, a country with a varied and romantic history, interesting social problems, infinite resources, and a people just awakening into national self-consciousness and to a sense of their responsibilities.

Quebec may be said to be the real starting point of the trip, since it was here that the party were accommodated with a special car, placed at their disposal by the management of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Such a courtesy has been much appreciated, since it leaves the party freer in its movements, and saves all the otherwise troublesome necessity of booking places by ordinary express trains. A most delightful way of breaking the monotony of the long railway journey to the west, and also serving to illustrate another side of commercial enterprise, is to cross the Great Lakes from Owen Sound at the top of the Georgian Bay, on Lake Huron, and proceed to Fort William, the other side of Lake Superior. The distance is about 600 miles, and the crossing of these vast inland seas conduces most forcibly to the understanding of the enormous size of the continent. Here, hundreds of miles from the sea borders of either coast, are the great fresh water seas, on which one may travel for hours, even days, without sighting land. Down the Georgian Bay are thousands of islets, thirty thousand of which have been placed on the ordnance maps, yet I have been assured that one may steam at a speed of ten knots for eight hours through this archipelago without seeing the shore. These immense waterways have built up great shipping interests, and to-day the canals uniting Lake Superior and Lake Huron pass through double the tonnage of shipping up the Suez Canal. The carrying trade from the west is enormous, as nearly every bushel of wheat grown in New Ontario, Manitoba and the Northwest Territories is carried via the lakes to the eastern seaboard. Several lines of passenger steamers cross the lakes, and during the summer months the trip is most agreeable. In winter it is the reverse, as the discomforts are considerably greater than crossing the Atlantic in the face of a heavy gale. Very severe storms visit these waters during the winter months, devastating the shores and greatly damaging the shipping, and the seas raised are short, choppy, and apparently come all ways at once. At the top end of Lake Huron is reached the shore line is seen to be dotted with sawmills, all of which are closed down. For once American energy had worked too fast and without looking to the morrow. The timber resources in the country at the back after a lapse of time were exhausted, and the American manufacturers at once turned their eyes to the great forests of Ontario. But the Provincial Parliament was determined that, so far as their province was concerned, an essentially Canadian trade, the lumber industry, should not fall into the hands of the invader. Unable to impose an export duty which naturally distasteful to the authorities at Washington, could be cancelled by the Dominion Government for diplomatic reasons, an order-in-council was passed meeting with severe penalties any person taking lumber out of the country, and requiring any person cutting lumber to hold a license, renewable yearly, which could be instantly taken away should any of the regulations imposed be transgressed. The result to-day is seen by the silent mills on the American shore.

The first points of more than ordinary interest on the route to the great wheat fields are the two little townships of Fort William and Port Arthur, situated at the head of Lake Superior, where the traveler rejoins the railway for the Far West. The two places, with a united population of some 10,000 souls, are separated by three miles only, and united by an electric tramway, yet their rivalry is enormous. Their position is such that a few more years must see a rapid growth on both parts. At present Fort William enjoys the more natural advantages, as it possesses a fine harbor in the River Kaministiquia. The trade and commerce is very large, and necessarily so, since the bulk of the grain from the west is shipped from these points. Last year twenty million bushels of grain, about two-fifths of the entire crop in Canada, passed through Fort William. The importance of the two towns is recognized, not only by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, which is about to spend about a million dollars on works, but also by the Dominion Government, which has given out a contract for various improvements. As for their own up-to-date methods, it is scarcely necessary to speak; it may be taken for granted. Electric lighting, cars, and telephones are at every one's disposal, the situation pictorially is very beautiful, and the country around is well adapted to prosperous farming. The Province of New Ontario offers many attractions to settlers and great inducements to new comers to settle. There is a Government agent at Fort William to advise and assist, and many instances are given of men who, beginning with next to nothing, are now in a prosperous condition. An illustration is afforded by the case of an English gardener, who arrived at the town practically penniless. But he was skilled at his work, and was accepted at the first offer. To-day, at the end of three years, he owns his own home, and has more work than he and his sons can comfortably achieve. It is true that gardening is not a strong point of Canadian life, but that is largely due to the fact that the Canadian gives little attention to it. He thinks of his grain crops.

From Fort William the traveler starts on the long journey of nearly 2,000 miles to the Pacific coast, but the greater part of the first stage to Winnipeg — nearly 500 miles — is through a country of little value as yet. But it is pretty enough to the eye, as for miles the train runs between small lakes, forming graceful scenery and offering opportunities for fishing and shooting. Winnipeg is itself an astonishing example of enterprise and push. It is the capital of Manitoba, a province equal in area to the United Kingdom, and one of the most fertile wheat-growing districts in the world. Thirty years ago the population was 200; to-day it numbers nearly 50,000, and it is no mushroom growth. The city has developed of necessity. It is a great commercial centre, although its trading is done in grain. The width of its streets, the handsome appearance and stability of its buildings, the general air of business and prosperity indicate the existence of a great community alive to its interests. Winnipeg is a remarkable city, and yet half an hour's drive will take one out into the great prairies, away, to the great wheat fields, to that land of the golden grain to which we have been speeding so hurriedly.

DECEPTION.

When the conjurer shows an empty hat, and at once begins to extract from it rabbits or cabbages, we know that we have been adroitly deceived, because we know we can't get out anything that isn't in it.

If people would only reason in that way about medicines they would be a great deal better off in health and pocket. A number of so called "blood making" and "flesh forming" "tonic" medicines are only stimulants in disguise. You can't get strength out of a stimulant because strength is not in it. All physical strength is derived from food digested and assimilated and in the form of blood nourishing the entire body. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does not make blood or make strength, no medicine can do that. But it does cure diseases of the stomach and its allied organs, and so causing the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, it enables the building of the body in sound and vigorous health.

"I can say to you one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., N.C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

those who mourned, or should have mourned, have evidently forgotten your last resting place.

A lonesome place is this quiet old cemetery, with its few forgotten, silent slumbering occupants. The majority of the graves have been disturbed, and those who dwell therein have been taken to the brand new cemetery on the hillside, half a mile away, where the monuments are white and fresh-looking, the walks are gravelled, and the grass is cut, and where the people go on Sunday to walk and gossip and criticise the architecture of the monuments and enjoy life while they live, knowing that they will be a long time dead.

They used to walk and talk in the old cemetery once just as they do now in the new; the graves used to look just as neat and trim, and flowers flourished in the soil, enriched by the costliest fertilizer we know of, human flesh, but the world wags on, and fashions change in cemeteries as they do in dress. The flowers are gone, choked by the weeds and wild grasses, only here and there you notice a patch of live forever or the trailing plants of the unkillable Wandering Jew, placed here years and years ago.

But this doesn't worry Hiram Wilson and his fellow-sleepers. Perchance they slumber all the sounder because nobody comes near them; doubtless the wind wandering through the treetops furnishes them all the noise they care for; probably they wish that red-headed woodpecker would not tap so noisily on that buttonwood stub.

Song of the Golden Sea.

Bend, ye ripling fields of wheat,
Bend to the breezes passing by;
Sing your jubilant song and sweet,
Sing to the earth, the air, the sky.

Earth that held thee and skies that kissed
Morning and noon and night for long,
Sun and rain, and the dew and mist,
All that has made you fair and strong.

Harvest fields of the far northwest
Stretch out a shimmering sea of gold;
Every ripple upon thy breast
Sings peace, and plenty, and wealth untold.

Far as the eye can reach it goes—
Farther still, till there seems no end—
Under a sky where the grey and rose
With the gold and turquoise softly blend.

Here, where sweep the prairies lone,
Broad and beautiful in God's eyes;
Here in this young land, all our own,
The granary of the old world lies.

Some remedies cure this distressing complaint in a day, some in a month, but Nerviline never fails to cure in a few minutes. Just ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water—that's enough, and away goes the dysentry, cured to stay cured. Nerviline also cures Cramps, Colic, Pain in the Stomach, and Sick Headache. It has five times the strength and curative properties of ordinary remedies, and should be in every household. Better buy a 25c. bottle and try it. Nerviline is all right.

Autumn, the Artist.

A well known and popular artist has arrived in the land. Her name, for the personification regards three of the four seasons of the year feminine classification and graces, is autumn. The evidence of her craft is on free exhibition to all who may get beyond the range of tall buildings and dirty street. No millionaire's munificence is needed to afford the boon of a glance at the splendor of her handiwork. No tariff interposes to forbid us from sharing the glories of this Ancient Mistress of Color-blending.

Already in the rural landscapes the delicate touches of autumnal contrast are to be found by the lover of nature. The prevailing tone is still the soothing green, in an infinite variety of shades, but the yellow leaves are numerous, and the beautiful reds, ranging from scarlet to crimson, compel the admiration of the most matter-of-fact observer. In the distance may be found, under favorable atmospheric conditions, the suggestions of purple, which the impressionistic school delights to represent in forest sketches.

Autumn is a versatile artist as well as a great one. She has only begun to open her color box. Each succeeding day will unfold new beauties.—Minden Echo.

The Old Cemetery.

The pickets had rotted off the fence in dozens of places, and it is no trick to get through into the old cemetery. How lonesome the few monuments look. Here is a venerable slab, which threatens to topple over one of these days when the wind catches it in the right quarter. Let us read the inscription:

"Sacred to the memory of Hiram Wilson, who departed this life June 22nd, 1854." And just below: "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes."

Well it looks as if He had, for Hiram's bones have mouldered into their original dust, and nobody weeps for him now; nobody visits his grave but the unknown and unknowing idle passerby. Sleep tight, Hiram, the world wags on without you, and

THE WALL STREET MARKET

A Decided Downward Movement To-day.

Many are Disappointed in the Slump in Prices—Our Market Letters—Quotations.

Contrary to the expectations, the stock market showed a decided decrease in quotations. This is caused, it is said, partly by the rumour that Democrats are claiming New York, and by the cessation of any bull movement. St. Pauls, Sault Ste. Marie, Sugar and Copper were the principal stocks to decline. On the Toronto market, 61 1-4 was bid for Dominion Steel, and 190 1-2 for Dominion Coal, but there were no takers. The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Nov. 5th, 10.00 a.m.—General idea on Wall street in that the elections resulted about as expected. We look for a better market to-day, as a result of elections. Prices may open higher, but on any good decline we would buy good stocks for a turn. Expected Atchison earnings for October will be the best on record. Increasing probability of gold shipments, but any movement unlikely this week. Western railroads generally disposed to concede demands for advancement of wages. Reported L. & N. earnings is about 3 1-2 per cent. on stock. 53 roads for third week in October show average gross increase of 7.81 per cent. on the stock. Ex-dividend to-day, Penna., 3 per cent. Pressed Steel Car ex-dividend is one per cent.

M. & M.

Republicans win in 26 out of 42 States. Next Senate will have twelve Republican majority, and next Congress about thirty Republican majority. Sterling exchange eased off slightly at noon on Monday. Penna. Railroad lines directly operated showed for September net increase $122,000; for nine months, $3,664,000. C.P.R. for fourth week Oct. increase $137,000. Planning at Canton, Ohio, for largest car works in the country. Pac. Mail S.S. Co. advanced flour rates to Centralia and South American ports $1. per ton. Failures in Oct. smallest in the year.

DOW, JONES & CO.

Liverpool wheat opened unchanged. Corn 1-4 higher at 1.30 p.m. Wheat unchanged. Corn 1-4 to 1-2 higher than Monday. Car lots to-day, wheat, 272, corn 252, oats 430, cotton, spot fair demand. Middlings, 480, unchanged sales, 5,000. Futures opened quiet, and at 12.30 p.m. were quiet at two and three points decline from Monday's closing.

M. & M.

We do not look for anything better than a scalpers market for some time to come, although the buying this morning looks better than the selling. Traders are short and the market should do better.

Later.—Stock market opened strong, with buying by London and some sharp bidding by cliques and brokers, while St. Paul leads the rise, helped by purchase of 5,000 shares by Amory. It is quite evident we will have a two-sided market from now on.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY

Will Have Majority of 16 in House of Representatives.

THE RESULT IN NEW YORK STATE

The Election of Governor Odell Is Conceded—At Midnight Democratic National Chairman Claimed a Majority of From 10 to 12 Votes in the House, But at the Same Time Republicans Say They Won.

New York, Nov. 6.—As a result of the elections held yesterday in forty-two States the Republican control of the House of Representatives is assured. The National Senate was not in any doubt, as there are few vacant seats this year. The majority in the House will probably be sixteen.

Rival Claims.

Washington, Nov. 5.—At midnight last night Chairman Griggs made a statement claiming the House would be Democratic from 10 to 12 votes. He added to his specifications of gains three in California, one in Wisconsin, two in Michigan, and two in Minnesota. Last House contained 199 Republicans, 150 Democrats, 7 Populists, with one vacant seat, giving the Republicans a majority of 41 over all.

New York, Nov. 5.—At midnight last night Chairman Babcock of the Republican Congressional Committee sent the following telegram to Senator Hanna, Chairman of the National Republican Committee:—"Returns coming in slowly. Very satisfactory outside New York City. Think an estimate of 204 Republican members is safe. Have elected four of the six Congressmen from Maryland."

Washington, Nov. 5.—At 2.30 a.m. the returns received here indicate the Republicans have elected 196 Representatives to the next House, the Democrats 176, and Independents 3 in Pennsylvania, leaving 11 districts in doubt.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM FIELD OF SPORT.

The Peterborough Rugby Team and the O. R. F. U. Senior Series—Notes on Hockey, Lacrosse etc.—Rugby Dance.

Many sporting editors throughout the province are figuring out all kinds of districts, on paper, as to the make up of the senior series of the O.R.F.U. for next season. Peterborough is invariably included amongst the teams that will battle for championship honours in this class, and again other papers, while not going so far as to prepare districts in which Peterborough is included, assert, however, that Peterborough is fast enough for senior company.

Meanwhile the Peterborough people have been looking on and saying nothing. A statement then as to the sentiment which prevails here, may not be out of place. The management of the Peterborough Rugby Club is, we believe, of the opinion that the local fifteen is fast enough for senior company, but they are not quite hysterical in the anxiety for senior honours. The local club cannot be placed in the Senior Series without its own consent, and this will not be easily obtained. Peterborough, we believe, will not consent to be placed in a Senior Series, with a schedule that will require their travelling to Ottawa, or Kingston; they might, perhaps, consider a proposition to enter a schedule with several Toronto teams, forming the district, thereby necessitating a smaller amount of travelling. Otherwise they will prefer to remain as shining lights in the Intermediate Series.

* * *

London has protested the game against Toronto, claiming that the latter team played Bert Morrison, who, it is alleged, received remuneration for playing hockey in Pittsburg. It might seem preposterous at the outset that London should take the initiative in such an action, in view of the rather disgraceful record it possesses. London was, however, the contesting team, and the lovers of clean sport throughout the province will be glad to see the Forest City aggregation turning right about face in such matters. It is not the intention here to deal with the circumstances of the case, but it might be said that Peteroorough people will be glad, indeed, if London Rugbyists will themselves live up to the moral doctrine they are now expounding.

* * *

Peterborough Rugbyists were not used as cordially as they might have been at Ottawa on Saturday. As a matter of fact they never saw a single Ottawa man before or after the game. However, that perhaps is a small matter and might be over-looked; but it was the least that the Ottawa management could have done to furnish officials for the match instead of allowing the Peterborough team to hustle around the Capital in search of these. Then, when, at the request of the Ottawa seniors, Capt. McPherson and Mr. Hal. Burnham of the locals consented to act as referee and umpire respectively, for the McGill-Ottawa game, they get the following acknowledgment of thanks from the sporting editor of the Journal:

"At the last moment A. W. McPherson of the Peterborough team was pressed into service as referee and his inexperience and ignorance of the rules did not help the Rough Riders a bit. What decisions he made seemed to favour the students but still one could hardly throw any aspersions upon this gentleman for this. He undoubtedly acted conscientiously and did his best. Umpire Burnham was too busily engaged and absorbed with the game to render any decisions."

Any one who has seen "Mac." engineer a game and paralyze his opponents will consider this journalistic critic's charge, that he is inexperienced, as positively funny.

* * *

From present indications it would seem that the schedule of the western section of the O.R.F.U. intermediate series would result in a tie between London, Toronto and Argonauts II. This would necessitate the drawing up of a new schedule, which, if arranged as before would run the season very late. By the time Peterborough would have to be reckoned with it would likely be mid-winter. As a matter of fact there are a number of players on the Peterborough team who are interested in hockey, and they don't care to see the two games clash here, which would be of course, an extraordinary occurrance. Peterborough would be glad if the western teams would get on a hustle, and with a view of expediating matters we would suggest that in case the western district is decided a tie between the three competing teams, by reason of the Argonauts defeating Toronto, would it not be well to draw up a new schedule with Toronto vs. Peterborough, and Argonauts vs. London. Let there be sudden death games and let the winners then play off.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club was held in the Y.M.C.A. last night. The following members were in attendance: Mr. Hal B. Burnham, and Messrs. H. R. H. Kenner, A. W. McPherson, Ed. Dillon, H. M. Morden and E. S. Clarry.

The secretary-treasurer presented a statement of the finances of the club, which were in a highly satisfactory condition.

The executive decided to engage the opera house for the evening of Tuesday, December 2nd, for the annual dance of the club.

Mr. McPherson, the local representative on the O.R.F.U. executive, was asked to attend the meeting of that body in Toronto on Wednesday night.

The next meeting of the Rugby Club will be held on Saturday night next at 7.30 o'clock, in the Oriental Hotel.

* * * *

Mr. George Revell, who has been on a visit to Quebec for several weeks, will arrive back to Peterborough on Monday morning and will be found on the wing line of the local team for the rest of the season.

* * * *

Last night's rugby practice was not very largely attended, but it is hoped that the boys will settle down again and prepare for the fray with Toronto, as that team will, in all probability be their next opponents. A good run was indulged in that took the stiffness out of those who were at practice.

Y. M. C. A. GYMNASTICS.

Those who are considering the exercise problem should just decide at once and register for some one class now in progress at the Y.M.C.A.. Last evening there were forty who took advantage of the eight o'clock class. This is the popular class of the week for young men, and none should miss it. Tuesday and Friday nights are the regular sessions. Students and business men should take advantage of the afternoon classes on Monday and Thursday. The work is recreative and hygienic. Call at the building and register.

HOCKEY.

A very enthusiastic meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms, Lindsay, on Wednesday night, when the Lindsay Junior Hockey Club was re-organized for the season of 1902-3. The following were elected:

Patron and Patroness — Mr. and Mrs. John Wardrobe.
President—Mr. A. M. Paton.
Vice-President—Mr. Claude Preston.
Treasurer and Manager — Dr. Walters.
Secretary—Robert Allan.
Captain—Carl Sylvester.
Managing Committee — Hubert Paddon, Archie Wardrobe and L. Koyl.

The Collegiate Institute Club of Lindsay, was re-organized yesterday, with the following officers elected:

Captain—Joe Duffus.
Secretary—R. Harstone.
Treasurer—J. Killen.
Managing Committe—F. McDonald, J. Ross and R. Ayers.

Bert Morrison, after a season of hockey in Pittsburg, will again turn out with the St. Georges. Morrison played with the Keystones in Pittsburg, and had a good position, but tired of the game. Local sports are wondering what the O.H.A. Executive will do with Morrison. Other players who have gone to Pittsburg have been placed under the ban, but in their cases charges of professionalism were not only laid, but proved. Morrison claims he never played hockey for gain.

* * * *

Among the new blood the Vics. have for this season is Charlie Colman, who played lacrosse with the Winnipegs. Colman was for several years the captain and star forward of the Port Hope team in the O.H.A.

Hamber, of the Toronto Argonauts, will play hockey with the Wellingtons this winter. He is a Winnipeg importation.

THE TURF.

Mr. Harry Elmhurst, of Otonabee, deserves much credit in bringing to this district such a valuable piece of horse flesh as "Black Mack." This horse was purchased from Mr. Sam Currie of Madoc, and it carried off all kinds of prizes at fall show races around here. At the Norwood fall fair "Black Mack" carried off first prize in the speeding events against such well known horses as "Mat," owned by Barnum, of Madoc, and "Village Boy," owned by Leith, of Millbrook. "Black Mack" is a great favourite and should be a valuable service horse in this district.

The salary list of next year's Pittsburg National League baseball team will total $82,000.

* * * *

There is a strong movement on foot to form a Canadian league of professional baseball players. The proposal is to exclude all players who have not resided in Canada for a year. It is proposed to have the circuit consist of two groups, so as to reduce the travelling expenses to a minimum. The towns have not yet been definitely chosen, but it has been suggested that Hamilton, London, Woodstock and Guelph form the western circuit, while Toronto, Peterborough, Gananoque, Kingston and Ottawa make up the eastern, with both divisions under a single management. The salary limit suggested is $500 or $600 a month. They would give each team eleven players—three pitchers and two catchers, one of the latter being utilized as an out-fielder. Kingston Whig.

CANADA WILLING. BRITAIN WAS NOT.

Official Statement Issued on the Colonial Conference.

EXPLOSION OF A TORY BUBBLE.

Even Mr. Chamberlain Opposed the Exemptions Canada's Representatives Desired—Position of Canada's Delegation on the Question of Defence Both Patriotic and Loyal—Text of the Official Statement.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—An official statement dealing with the Colonial Conference in London was issued here yesterday. The papers in connection with the summoning of that conference, which were published some months ago, showed that on the questions of political relations between the colonies and the mother country Canada was well satisfied, and had no schemes to propose. The despatch of the Canadian Government pointed out that the commercial question was the one that was most interesting to Canada, and they were quite prepared to discuss it. The Canadian Government did not deem it advisable to prepare formal resolutions in advance and submit them to the conference, but the papers now published made it clear that, although no such cut and dried resolutions were sent in by Canada in advance of the conference, this country took an active part in all the conference proceedings and had very decided views upon the various questions which arose. It would appear from the published papers that the commercial question was put in the foreground by the Canadian Ministers, and the documents prove that the desire of Canada for a system of mutual preferential trade was pressed very strongly upon the Imperial Government.

Tory Bubble Exploded.

The papers serve, if it were needed, to prick the bubble which Conservative orators and newspapers have been blowing for some years. They have been contending that the Imperial Government were quite ready to grant a preference to Canadian goods in the British market and that the Dominion Government were standing in the way. As a matter of fact the Government of Canada, when granting the preference to Great Britain, took the ground that the time was not favorable then for demanding a return preference from the mother country, inasmuch as Great Britain had no duties on food products which could be removed in favor of Canada, but it was pointed out that the movement for the preference would undoubtedly be strengthened by the action of Canada and that if a change should come about in the British policy as respects the duties on food the Dominion would then be in a position to urge her claim for remission. These new conditions have only arisen during the past year, when the British Government imposed duties on breadstuffs. The official papers reveal that not only at the conference, but at an earlier date when the policy of imposing duties on breadstuffs was adopted in Great Britain, the Canadian Government presented and urged the claim of Canada for exemption from these duties.

Even Chamberlain Opposed.

But instead of this claim meeting with the ready recognition which Canadian Conservatives have all along said could be so easily obtained, the British Government have emphatically declined to grant the exemption. Even Mr. Chamberlain, who from his position in the Colonial Office might be disposed to be more friendly to colonial proposals than others in the Imperial Cabinet, was obliged to state that the home authorities could not agree to the requests of the Canadian Ministry. Mr. Chamberlain, however, does not seem to have closed the door finally against any scheme of preferential trade, But in doing so he declined to treat the existing preferential of Canada as sufficient value to call for a return from Great Britain. Canadian Conservatives have always represented that this preference was a boon to Great Britain which Canada should not have granted without compensation, and quite recently announcements have virtually been made by Conservative leaders that the preference assists British manufacturers to the detriment of Canadian manufacturers, and should be withdrawn.

Canada's Preference Minimized.

Mr. Chamberlain and his colleagues, while appreciating the spirit manifested by Canada in granting the preference and warmly commending Canada for it, held that the intrinsic value of the preference to British trade was not large, and that if any general scheme of preference was to be adopted Canada must not only grant the existing concession to Great Britain, but increase its preference to the mother country. This is the important point to note, in view of the action of the Canadian Conservatives, who have constantly declared the impossibility of obtaining a preference in the British trade, but have not been willing even to allow the existing preference to Great Britain. The Canadian Ministers were able to make a very strong statement as to the value of the existing preference to Great Britain. The Canadian Ministers were able to make a very strong statement as to Great Britain, but at the same time intimating to the British Ministers that if they were prepared to grant Canada a preference in the British market by exempting her food products from duties now or hereafter to be imposed, the former were prepared to go into the question of devising measures, which, without injustice to home industries, would increase the preference to Great Britain, as compared with her foreign competitors. Several suggestions were made by the Canadian Ministers as to the lines within which this might be done; and they will afford interesting study. Canada's representatives were able to point out methods by which the British producer might receive some further advantage over his foreign competitors. In some cases this could be obtained by a further reduction of duty on British goods. In other cases it was possible that a greater preference might be obtained by an increase of duties on foreign goods. The Canadian Ministers were careful to point out that the increased preference to be brought about by an increase of duties on foreign articles could only be granted in special cases where the consumer would be supplied by the British manufacturer at the lower rates of duty.

Question of Imperial Defence.

With respect to the discussion upon Imperial defence, it appears that the British Government asked Canada not only to contribute to naval defence, but to maintain a standing army in Canada, which, while nominally Canadian, might be available for war purposes in any part of the globe wherever Imperial interests were threatened. With respect to the first proposition the Canadian representatives agreed to do what they could to preserve a naval reserve in Canada. As to the maintenance of an Imperial standing army, the Canadian representatives firmly declined to entertain it. They pointed out that such a force would not harmonize with the existing military arrangements in Canada, but that there would be a conflict of interests. They pointed out that the British proposition virtually meant the abandonment by Canada of the force raised and paid by it, and to this they could not accede. The Canadian representatives insisted that they must have full control of the military forces of this country, but they were willing to increase and perfect them as far as practicable for purposes of home defence.

The Official Statement.

The official statement handed out by the Minister of Finance yesterday follows:—

"The Blue Book issued in London contains several speeches by members of the Imperial Cabinet, introducing subjects to the conference, but the debates which followed were treated as confidential, and therefore are not included in the published report. All the resolutions adopted by the conference are published. In several matters of special importance documents were submitted by members of the conference, and those are included in the published report.

"On the subject of preferential trade the members of the Imperial Cabinet were inclined to minimize the value of the preference given by Canada. The British Board of Trade submitted elaborate statistical statements on the trade between the United Kingdom and the colonies, and also a special memorandum on the effect of the Canadian preferential tariff on trade between the United Kingdom and Canada. In this it was argued that, notwithstanding the preference, the Canadian tariff was still high, and that the preference did not very materially benefit Great Britain. This memorandum was met by another prepared by the Canadian Ministers, giving the history of the preferential tariff, showing the increase that had taken place in trade between Canada and the mother country, and contending that this increase was to a very considerable extent due to the preference. Debates on these questions took place and the matter was also considered by the committees. In the course of the negotiations suggestions were made as to further advantages that might be given to Great Britain in return for a preference in the British market.

What the Colonies Could Offer.

"The President of the Board of Trade, Right Hon. Gerald Balfour, submitted to the conference a memorandum giving the substance of what the colonies were disposed to grant in return for such a British preference. This memorandum is as follows:—

"Memorandum by the President of the Board of Trade—As a result of the communications which have taken place it is understood that the representatives of the colonies hereinafter mentioned are prepared to recommend to their respective Parliaments preferential treatment to British goods on the following lines:—

"Canada—The existing preference of thirty-three and a third per cent. and an additional preference on lists of selected articles.

"(a) By further reducing the duties in favor of the United Kingdom.

"(b) By raising the duties against foreign imports.

"(c) By imposing duties on certain foreign imports now on the free list.

"Australia—Preferential treatment not yet defined as to nature or extent.

"New Zealand—A general preference by ten per cent. all round reduction of the present duty on British manufactured goods or an equivalent in respect of lists of selected articles in the lines proposed by Canada, namely:—

"(a) By further reducing the duties in favor of the United Kingdom.

"(b) By raising the duties against foreign imports.

"(c) By imposing duties on certain imports now on the free list.

"The Cape and Natal—A preference of twenty-five per cent. or its equivalent on dutiable goods other than specially rated articles to be given by increasing the duties on foreign imports.

The Resolution Adopted.

"Ultimately, a resolution on the subject of preferential trade was adopted by the conference and the Canadian Ministers summarized the proceedings on the subject in a memorandum which is included in the blue book.

"The resolution of the conference reads as follows:—

"(1) That this conference recognizes the principle of preferential trade between the United Kingdom and his Majesty's dominions beyond the seas, would stimulate and facilitate mutual commercial intercourse, and would, by promoting the development of the resources and industries of the several parts, strengthen the Empire.

"(2) That this conference recognizes that in the present circumstances of the colonies it is not practicable to adopt a general system of free trade as between the mother country and the British dominions beyond the seas.

THE PINKHAM CURES

ATTRACTING GREAT ATTENTION AMONG THINKING WOMEN.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

Merit alone could win such fame; wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1902.

MR. WHITNEY'S MACHINE.

Mr. Whitney and his friends, have long made great outcry about the Liberal "machine," without any other grounds than their own fertile imaginations. The sworn statement, however, of a Conservative candidate, reveals the existence of a Conservative machine, well-"greased." Dr. Snider, who was unseated for corrupt practices, in North Norfolk, swore to a state of things which show that the Conservative machine paid him for running. The Conservative Association of Toronto, put up the money for his expenses, and, no doubt, furnished the money to make his election sure. The machine character of Dr. Snider's candidature is shown not only by the fact that he was put to no personal expense for the election, but pocketted the surplus of his "allowance," actually making money by the transaction. Patriotism, such as that, was basely rewarded. It is poor encouragement to a man to make such great sacrifices to purify the electoral methods of Ontario, when he is rewarded by an unsympathizing judge unseating him for corruption. The way of the transgressor is paved with velvet, compared to the hard road a Conservative patriot has to travel.

INCONSISTENCY.

The Conservative newspapers after a long course of attack on the Liberal party in respect of alleged corruption, still stick to their claims in face of the decisions of the courts. Even our local contempory declares in regard to the Lisgar election, that there was "evidently a carnival of corruption; Liberal whiskey and Liberal money flooded the constituency." This fiction is clung to even after a long and searching trial failed to reveal evidence of corrupt practices and the Liberal was confirmed in his seat for Lisgar. On the other hand the organ holds that North Perth election, where the Conservative candidate was unseated, or rather resigned the seat in preference to allowing a trial to reveal the full extent of the corruption, was pure and not obtained by questionable methods. It seems that an election which a thorough trial of charges proves, was fairly won, is corrupt and that an election which the court cancels as corruptly won, was pure. Do these Conservative journals expect the public to pay more respect to their partisan ipsidixit, than to the judgments of the courts?

The whole ale character of the corruption by which the Conservatives carried North Norfolk, may be understood, says the Hamilton Times, from the fact that when the court opened, five charges were proven in five minutes, and the Conservative counsel saved further rapid exposure by interrupting the inquiry to throw up the sponge. It was the shortest trial on record.

A CONTRAST.

In his budget speech in 1896, Hon Mr. Foster spoke practically thus regarding the estimates for the Post Office Department:

"Gentlemen, I am going to ask you to declare that the people shall put their hands in their pockets and produce $800,000 to pay the cost of the Department, which under Conservative management came last year $800,000 short of paying its own way."

In 1903, Hon. Mr. Fielding will speak practically thus regarding the estimates for the Post Office Department:

"Gentlemen, I am happy to inform you, that under Liberal management of Hon. Mr. Mulock, the Post Office Department is practically self-sustaining, and more than that. Instead of asking, as my predecessor did, in 1896, for $800,000 to help pay expenses, I have the pleasure of passing over to the people, $5,000, surplus, which Mr. Mulock has handed me. The Postal Department is not only self-sustaining, but a revenue producer, though it does more work for less money."

THE MAN WHO DOES THINGS.

Sir William Mulock has not sought to popularise himself throughout the country by the methods sometimes adopted by men in public office. Instead of handling the affairs of the Post Office Department with the object of benefitting his party, he has worked along strictly business lines to make the department self-sustaining and of the greatest possible public service possible. He has succeeded, as his speech the other evening shows, in his public efforts, and has succeeded, too, at the same time in doing very distinct service to his party, a much better service, indeed, than if he had followed the example of his predecessors in the Postal Department, who were afraid to tighten the reins, or venture off the beaten path lest they should offend somebody, and hurt party prospects here and there. Sir William Mulock did not follow the practice of those who preceded him, but made up his mind to put his department on a self-sustaining basis, relying upon the good sense of the country to approve his course. To this, he applied himself, and the result he is now able to announce has been preceded by six years of as hard work as was ever done in the same time by the administrator of any branch of Government. The first fruits of his policy and hard work have been seen in his succeeding annual reports, but few people indeed can have expected the miracle which now stands to his credit. In spite of the reduction to two cents of domestic and Imperial letter postage, the traditional deficit has been abolished, and the department, which the year before he took charge, cost the general tax-payer $781,152 more than its revenues, is self-sustaining upon a postage rate one-third less. For the year ending 30th June last he has, in fact, a surplus of $5,000 — a miracle of hard work, combined with courage. And this notwithstanding that the postal facilities of the country, meaning the number of post offices, and miles of mail carriage, have been enormously increased. The introduction of the postal note system, the extension of the money order business, and the growth and improvement of the whole service, all bear witness to the sound, progressive principles on which the Postmaster-General has conducted a department with which the convenience and business interests of the people are most intimately associated.

But not only has he managed the Postal Department with business acumen, but he has shown foresight and initative in other directions. As in the reduction of the postal rate he did what his predecessors had talked about but never attempted, so in the organization of the new Labour Department he dealt practically with a subject that had never before been treated otherwise than as a political stalking horse. Not the least interesting part of his speech last evening was his discussion of the great problem of harmonizing the relations of labour and capital. The field of work which he has opened in this comparatively new sphere of Governmental responsibility is bound to engage more and more of public attention, and it is a fortunate circumstance that its initiation and formative stage is in such capable hands.

Sir William's speech might be divided into three divisions, two of them given up to home affairs and the third devoted to issues of a broader bearing. Its concluding portion dealt with the British preference feature of the tariff. His outlook was broad and statesmanlike. He is not without hope that the example Canada has set will be followed by the other parts of the Empire, and when conditions will warrant, by the Motherland herself, so that from the seed sown by Canada the Empire will be bound together by the additional tie of common trade interests. In his remarks along this line Sir William touched the patriotic sentiment of his audience. He aroused, too, their party fighting spirit by his passing references to the Conservative attacks upon a policy which makes for the unity of the Empire and the strengthening of inter-Imperial bonds. — Toronto Star.

HAVE YOU ANY OF THESE

Symptoms of a Very Common Trouble?

There is no disease so common in the United States as Catarrh, because it appears in so many forms and attacks so many different organs.

It is a common mistake to suppose that catarrh is confined to the nose and throat. Any inflammation of the mucous membrane, wherever located accompanied by abnormal secretions, is catarrh. Catarrh of the stomach or bladder, or intestines, is nearly as common as nasal catarrh, and much more serious, although it is true that stomach catarrh and catarrh of other internal organs is the result of neglected nasal catarrh.

A new remedy has recently appeared, which, so far as tested, seems to be remarkably effective in promptly curing catarrh, wherever located. The preparation is sold by druggists generally under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and in addition to being very palatable and convenient, possesses extraordinary merit, in many cases giving immediate relief from the coughing, hawking and constant clearing of the throat and head those symptoms with which everyone is familiar who has ever suffered from colds in the head and throat.

Catarrh is simply a continuation of these symptoms until the trouble becomes chronic and grows gradually worse from year to year.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed of Hydrastin, Red Gum, and similar antiseptics and catarrh specifics, from which it will be seen that no secret is made of the ingredients and also that no mineral poisons are used, as is the case with many well-known catarrh medicines.

For catarrh of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, for catarrh of the stomach, intestines or bladder no preparation is so safe and gives such rapid and permanent results as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full sized package. You can use them with assurance that you will not contract the cocaine or morphine habit as the results from this catarrh cure are apparent from the first day's use.

NEGLECTING THE FOREIGN MARKET.

Mr. William Hutchison, Dominion Exposition Commissioner, who is endeavouring to get Canadian manufacturers to promise exhibits for the coming Japanese exposition, reports that many of them tell him that their factories are so busy at home that they have no time to push business abroad. This suggests once more that the agitation promoted by the manufacturers for a higher Canadian tariff is not because they are not getting already all of the Canadian market they can supply, being as busy as they can stand, but because a higher tariff against outside goods will enable them to raise their prices still further to their fellow-Canadians.—Ottawa Journal.

The Canadian manufacturers, the Hamilton Times says, can hardly be blamed for neglecting the export trade, when they can find a ready market for all their products at home. But it is not a bad plan to have an anchor to windward, because there may come a time when the home demand will not be so brisk. J. R. Wood, who has been in Trinidad buying hides, reports to the Maritime Merchant that the Canadians are very slow about following up trade in the West Indies. Since the visit of the president of the Manufacturers' Association last spring, not a single Canadian traveller has set foot upon the Island. A few Canadian samples have been shown by men who handle American goods, but in Mr. Woods' opinion, if Canada is to get the trade she must send down good men and keep them there all the year round. During his stay at Port of Spain he has made the acquaintance of all the business men of the island, and he says they are disposed to give Canada a good deal of the trade. The reason so many orders go to New York, is because the American drummer is constantly on the ground. He never gives the merchant a chance to get out of anything or to send a letter order if he can help it. Mr. Woods thinks that even though the Canadian traveller didn't pay expenses the first year, if he kept constantly on the ground talking to the people, and studying general conditions, the experiment would pay in the end. Pickford & Black, the Halifax steamship agents, are rather disappointed that so little interest is taken in the Trinidad field by our Canadian manufacturers. In a letter to the Times, they remark that the tremendous size of the home trade at present is probably the principal reason why our exporters are not taking more interest in the foreign field, but if they are keenly alive to the prospects of the future years they would still find time to interest themselves in the markets abroad.

Fell Exhausted and Unconscious.

Mrs. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street, Brantford, Ont., suffered for five years with nervous exhaustion and headache and dyspepsia. "The pains in the head would almost drive me crazy. I could not sleep nights, but would walk the floor in agony until I fell exhausted and unconscious. For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and from a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight until I am strong and well." It would be scarcely possible to produce stronger evidence of the wonderful powers of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

"(3) That with a view, however, of promoting the increase of trade within the Empire, it is desirable that those colonies which have not already adopted such a policy should, as far as their circumstances permit, give substantial preferential treatment to the products and manufactures of the United Kingdom.

"(4) That the Prime Ministers of the colonies respectfully urge on his Majesty's Government the expediency of granting in the United Kingdom preferential treatment to the products and manufactures of the colonies, either by exemption from, or reduction of, duties now or hereafter imposed.

"(5) The Prime Ministers present at the conference undertake to submit to their respective Governments at the earliest opportunity the principle of the resolution, and to request them to take such measures as may be necessary to give effect to it."

Canada's Final Proposal.

"The following is the Canadian Minister's final memorandum on the subject of preferential trade:—

"This subject has frequently engaged the attention of the conference. At an early stage Mr. Chamberlain suggested that the question could most conveniently be dealt with by the representatives of each colony placing themselves in communication with the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Gerald Balfour, and the officials of that department. Accordingly the Canadian Ministers had several protracted interviews with these gentlemen and discussed the whole subject very fully. Opportunity was also taken to present the Canadian view to Mr. Chamberlain. These discussions were naturally of a verbal and private character. Now that the conference is drawing to a close it is desirable that the course of the negotiations and the conclusions reached should be obtained in official form to be placed on record.

"From the beginning of the proceedings the Canadian Ministers have claimed that in consideration of a substantial preference given by Canada for some years to the products of the mother country, Canadian food products should be exempted in the United Kingdom from the duties recently imposed. Representations to this effect previously made through the High Commissioner for Canada were supplemented by the Ministers both in writing and in personal interviews with the Imperial Ministers.

"Mr. Chamberlain on behalf of the Imperial Government was unable to agree to the proposals of the Canadian Government. He represented that the Imperial Government while highly appreciating the good feeling manifested by Canada in the granting of preferential treatment, did not think its material advantages to the trade of the United Kingdom were as great as the Canadian Ministers claimed. He further said that the change desired by Canada would be an important departure from the established fiscal policy of the Kingdom, and that if the proposals could be entertained at all, as to which he was not prepared to commit himself, it would be necessary for Canada to offer some material tariff concessions beyond those which she had already voluntarily given. The Canadian Ministers, therefore, submitted a memorandum of the subject of the advantages received by Great Britain from the Canadian preferential tariff, with a view to showing that they were of much value, and entitled to weight in the consideration of the whole subject.

Question of Further Concessions.

"While urging that the benefits of the preference were such as to entitle Canada to the desired exemption from the duties on food products in the United Kingdom, the Canadian Ministers stated that within certain limitations they were prepared to consider the request of Mr. Chamberlain for further concessions. They stated, however, that it was necessary to have a clear understanding as to the relations of the preference to Canadian industries. While holding that it was not necessary to enter into questions as to the wisdom or unwisdom of the fiscal policy under which those industries had grown up in Canada, they had to recognize the fact that those industries might be seriously affected by further tariff changes. Large reductions of duties had already been made, especially in British imports, and the Ministers feared that in some lines of importance further reductions would create such a disturbance of trade as would not be conducive to the welfare of the country. Therefore, further concessions to the disadvantage of home industry could not be made. But the Canadian Ministers pointed out that the Canadian tariff was by no means prohibitive, that large quantities of goods were imported and that a great proportion of these came from foreign countries. In any lines in which there was reasonable probability that these goods could be manufactured in Great Britain it might be possible to so readjust duties as to give an additional advantage to the British manufacturer, and thus turn over to him a volume of trade the profits of which now go to foreign countries.

Methods of Readjustment.

This readjustment might be brought about in any or all of the following ways:—

"(1) In some cases by the reduction of duties now imposed on British goods, where such reduction might be made without injustice to any Canadian industry.

"(2) By the transfer of some articles from the free list to the dutiable list at such rates as would give substantial preference to the British manufacturer, instead of leaving him, as at present, on even terms with the foreign competition in respect to such articles.

"(3) By imposing a small duty as respects foreign goods on some articles now on the free list, while allowing them to continue free as respects British imports.

"(4) In some cases, possibly by an increase in the duty on foreign articles, thus increasing the amount of the preference on British goods. Such increase of duties on foreign articles could, however, only be justified where the market could be supplied by the British manufacturer at the preferential rates of duty.

The Principle Involved.

"The Canadian Ministers stated that if they could be assured that the Imperial Government would accept the principle of preferential trade generally, and particularly grant to the food products of Canada in the United Kingdom exemption from duties now levied, they, the Canadian Ministers, would be prepared to carry on the discussion on the lines above mentioned and endeavor to give to the British manufacturer an increased advantage over his foreign competitor in the markets of Canada.

"Meanwhile the Canadian Ministers determined to present to the conference a resolution affirming the principle of preferential trade, and the desirability of its adoption by the colonies generally, and also expressing the opinion of the Prime Ministers of the colonies that His Majesty's Government should reciprocate by granting preferential terms to the products of the colonies in the markets of the mother country.

"In taking this course the Ministers desired to have it understood that they did so with the strong hope and expectation that the principle of preferential trade would be more widely accepted by the colonies, and that the mother country would at no distant day see the wisdom of adopting the same principle by granting exemption in the United Kingdom to the products of the colonies from duties at present levied.

"If after using every effort to bring about such a readjustment of the fiscal policy of the Empire the Canadian Government should find that the principle of preferential trade is not acceptable to the colonies generally or the mother country, then Canada should be free to take such action as might then be deemed necessary in the presence of such conditions.

"London, August 11, 1902."

SIFTON MURDER CASE

Late "Joseph Sifton Was a Very Venturesome Man."

TESTIMONY OF CORONER M'NEILL

The Doctor Tells of Gerald Sifton's Admissions and Attempts to Bribe Him —Mary Macfarlane, the Woman Whom the Deceased Was About to Marry, Again on the Stand —Her Mother Also.

London, Ont., Nov. 6.—The court in the Sifton case resumed yesterday morning promptly at 9.30 o'clock. Ephraim Bathurst, in the employ of Canon Richardson, whose place is next that of Joseph Sifton, was first in the witness box. He had been examined by Mr. Clute Tuesday night, and Mr. Johnston yesterday morning began his cross-examination. Bathurst said that Joseph Sifton was a very venturesome man, and that the barn was a very dangerous place to enter at night. Then the witness stated that on Sunday at noon after the alleged murder, he went over to the Sifton barn and found Edgar and Martin Morden talking in a low voice. They did not appear to relish the interruption. Later on Bathurst had some conversation with the Mordens, and in consequence of what they said witness made some examinations of the barn on his own account on the Sunday and Monday, but he had found no traces of blood or a struggle in the barn. Witness also said he had known Mr. Sifton and Gerald for a long time. He had been in their company when they were together, and had never noticed anything wrong. They seemed to be on friendly terms.

Edmund Meredith, K.C., was called to give evidence regarding the will of Joseph Sifton, but Mr. Johnston objected, and the will and Mr. Meredith's evidence were not admitted.

Jacob Burgess, a traveler of Hamilton, was the next witness. He told of how he was in a cell immediately opposite Gerald Sifton's. In a conversation one day Sifton had told him (Burgess) that he had put up $375 for Herbert, and yet Herbert had "squealed" on him. That was what was grinding.

Cross-examined by Mr. Johnston, witness admitted he was a little "boozy" had had a row with a friend on the street and was put in jail to sober him up.

Dr. O'Neill, coroner at Arva, next took the stand. Gerald Sifton had run to him the morning of the alleged tragedy and said his father had met with a bad accident and asked him to hurry and attend him. Witness told of Jos. Sifton's wounds, some of which might have been done with an axe.

Dr. O'Neill said that Gerald Sifton besought him to end his father's sufferings. Sifton asked the doctor if he did not have something with him that would do this, and the doctor said, yes—morphine. Sifton then said that if the doctor had nothing, he (Sifton) had some strychnine upstairs.

Gerald then said: "If money is any consideration—." But the doctor put up his hand, and Gerald stopped speaking.

The doctor had also asked Gerald if he had given the old man anything during his (the doctor's) absence, and Gerald Sifton replied, "I may as well tell the truth. I did."

Under cross-examination the doctor admitted that it was most difficult to conceive how these wounds could have been made with the ax held in the manner described by Walter Herbert in the killing. The doctor added that a brick would more likely cause these wounds, as they were ragged and cone-shaped.

Mary Macfarlane, the "woman in the case," occupied the stand much of the afternoon. This is the girl who was engaged to be married to the victim, and the alleged plot was for the purpose of frustrating the marriage and preventing the girl from inheriting the old man's estate. She was the housekeeper for Joseph Sifton. She told Gerald Sifton of the approaching marriage between her and his father the night before the old man's death. Gerald did not object. The next morning Gerald came to his father's house with Walter Herbert. The old man was then dressing to go with the girl to be married. She said the son asked him to go to the barn and see about the hay fork. They went out together, and in a few minutes Herbert returned and said Joseph Sifton had fallen and killed himself. At the previous trial she testified that she immediately cried: "Oh, Walter, you two have killed him at last." After the death she went to live at Gerald Sifton's. He told her she would never have to work any more and he would pay all her expenses. If she should ever marry he would give her $1,000. She lived there two weeks and then left.

Mrs. Macfarlane, mother of Mary, testified briefly, verifying in minor details the testimony of her daughter.

KNIT KINDRED TIES.

Mr. Chamberlain Deprecated Pessimism Over Affairs in South Africa.

London, Nov. 6.—Generals Botha and Delarey and ex-President Schalkburgher were present last night at the debate in the House of Commons over the civil service estimate placing the additional amount required as a grant to aid the Transvaal and Orange River colonies during the present financial year at £40,000,000 which ended in an agreement to vote the sum in question.

Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, in response to criticisms of the measure from the Opposition, deprecated pessimism over South African affairs. He said the fact that the Boer prisoners would all be repatriated this year exceed the most sanguine expectations.

He declared that his sole desire in going to South Africa was to bring together a kindred people.

A great interest is being taken this year in the class, which has now a membership of 23. Owing to some confusion as to nights several were unable to attend. THIEVES AT SPRINGVILLE.

The Robbers Obtain a Small Sum of Money.

Some few days ago Mr. R. Morrison, of Springville, sold a horse for a sum of money in the neighbourhood of fifty dollars. On Monday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Morrison had occasion to leave home and fastened the door by driving in a long nail. When they returned in the evening they were surprised to find the door forced. Their first thought was for the money and hastening to the drawer in which it had been left they found that the desk above the lock had been cut and the drawer opened in this manner. As yet no trace of the thieves has been found.

MISS DEANNARD REMEMBERED

By the Pupils of Murray Street School.

An Address and Presentation Yesterday Afternoon—Miss Deannard's Reply.

On Tuesday afternoon the teachers and pupils of St. Peter's School, Murray street, assembled to say goodbye to one of their teachers, Miss Deannard, who has resigned her position on the staff.

On behalf of the teachers and pupils, Miss Deannard was presented with handsomely bound volumes of the poets together with the following address:

To Miss L. Deannard, teacher, St. Peter's School:

Dear Miss Deannard,—Having learned of your intended departure from our midst, we, the teachers and pupils of St. Peter's School, assemble here this afternoon to express to you the deep sense of regret we feel at the severance of those ties which, for so many years, have bound us in such friendly relations together.

Words are but feeble, indeed, to express the loss, which we, your pupils feel on this occasion, since we lose not only an excellent teacher, but a sincere and faithful friend—one whose daily life amongst us, has been but one continuous round of energy, self-sacrifice, and the most untiring devotion in our behalf. Willingly, cheerfully and conscientiously, have you discharged your duties towards us; and is it not just, that we, on this our last opportunity, should gather round you to pay a slight tribute of honour to one whom we have learned to love and esteem, and for whom we shall always entertain the most profound feelings of gratitude and appreciation.

The close attention, the zeal—nay, the unbounded interest, which you have unceasingly manifested in our welfare, should alone inspire us to express in our humble manner, feelings of the most sincere respect and admiration. Eagerly and most earnestly have you endeavoured to promote our every interest, and to your honour, will it ever be said that your zealous efforts have been crowned with a halo of success.

Realizing as you must, our inability to properly estimate your valuable services, we trust, that in your charity, you will forget the many acts of thoughtlessness, which have been at times, a source of annoyance to you in the past, and will remember us only as pupils, who as times rolls by, will endeavour to put into practice, the many useful lessons which your exemplary life and noble qualities have placed before us.

We wish you every success in your new sphere of life, and assure you that you will always be followed by the most heartfelt wishes of those who have assembled here to-day to say farewell.

In conclusion, dear Miss Deannard, we would ask you to accept this present as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held amongst the teachers and pupils with whom you have always laboured so faithfully and successfully.

Signed on behalf of the Teachers and Pupils.

Peterborough Nov. 4th, 1902.

After the presentation, Rev. Father McColl, local superintendent of the schools, who was also present, referred in highly creditable terms to the many noble characteristics which Miss Deannard had always displayed in the performance of her duties. He had known her for some years and had noted her energy, devotion and persistency in the profession which she had chosen. That her efforts had been successful, was evident from the excellent work being done in her department.

He was pleased to see that the pupils had given evidence of their gratitude and good will towards their teacher, and he commended the good feelings which had prompted them to testify their appreciation of her services by the presentation of such a beautiful gift and farewell address.

At the conclusion of Rev. Father McColl's remarks, Miss Deannard assured the assembly that their gift was one which she appreciated most highly and would treasure in remembrance of them.

THE SERGEANTS' MESS.

The Non-Coms. of the 57th Have New Quarters.

The non-commissioned officers of the 57th Regiment anticipate a very pleasant winter. They have fitted up a suite of rooms on Simcoe street as a Sergeant's Mess and last evening they were thrown open to the non-coms. of the regiment. Although called the Sergeant's Mess it is also open to the other non-coms. of the regiment. The earlier part of the evening was spent in smoking and reminiscences of the earlier days of the regiment and the messes then in vogue.

Later light refreshments were served, after which Col. Miller, the new Commanding Officer of the regiment addressed his non-commissioned officers, outlining the course of the regiment in the future, and expressing his hope and conviction that the coming year would be one of the most prosperous in the history of the regiment.

It is hoped that the non-coms. will avail themselves of their rooms duing the winter months and will do everything in their power to make the mess a success as by means of this social side of the regiment the men learn to know each other better and a feeling of fellowship is engendered goes a long way towards the making of a good regiment.

LARRY BROGAN'S PROMOTION.

Marks Bros. in Bradburns' Opera House Last Night.

Marks Bros. appeared in the opera house again last night, presenting "Larry Brogan's Promotion." The opera house was full to the doors, and the great applause given the various artists, shows that Marks Bros. are still great favourites in Peterborough. Mr. Ernie Marks, as "Larry," played his role in a most excellent manner, and kept the audience in roars of laughter. A feature of Marks Bros. this year is the singing of one of the company of popular airs, in which local "hits" are worked in in a surprising manner. Marks Bros. will be here until the end of the week.

REV. MR. POTTER APPEALS

To the Temperance Workers Throughout the County.

He States Where Information may be Obtained—Hopeful of Outlook.

Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, President of the Peterborough County Prohibitory Union, writes as follows:—

To the temperance workers and all interested in the forthcoming vote on the Ontario Liquor Act on Dec. 4th, I would like to say that having been honoured with the Presidency of the Peterborough County Prohibitory Union, which I appreciate very highly, I would like to engage the sympathy and support of all during the next few weeks. Chairmen and Secretaries of the various townships have been appointed and it will be their duty to call for and arrange a meeting or meetings at once.

The Executive Committee has opened an office in the Y. M. C. A. building and Mr. S. G. Cowan has been elected secretary. All literature required will be furnished promptly on application to Mr. Cowan. The secretary can also be reached by telephone from any place out of town. For convenience only during time of canvass and organization, the Village of Ashburnham and the Township of Otonabee have been included in the West Riding. Any township organization needing help of speakers ought to apply at once to the Central Executive through the secretary. Mr. Wm. Faint has been appointed treasurer. His post office address is Peterborough, and subscriptions will be appreciated from all the friends of moral reform and the suppression of the liquor traffic. Receipts will be mailed for all moneys forwarded. If more convenient to pay at the office, Mr. Cowan will furnish receipts at Y.M.C.A. building.

Sunday, Nov. 23rd, has been specially set apart as a day of prayer and consideration of duty in view of the vote on December 4th. On that day all ministers of the gospel in the county are very respectfully and cordially asked to make special mention of the matter, and that public and united prayer should also be made on that day. It will also be a day when all will have an opportunity of contributing to the funds of the Union.

There is very great need of generosity. The executive is determined to keep from debt. Save us, therefore, from crippling the work, or hampering the efforts of those who are looking for victory. Remember the secretary, Mr. S. G. Cowan, Y. M.C.A. Building.

In closing I quote you the words of a great modern preacher:

"God is waiting; the God who works through human instrumentality, waiting to see whether this nation is going to overthrow this evil; and if it refuse to do so, God will wipe out that nation, as He did Phoenicia, as He did Rome, as He did Thebes, and as He did Babylon.

"The hardest blow the temperance reformation has had in this century has been the fact that some reformers have halted under the delusion of the high license movement. You know what it is. It is the white flag of truce sent out from Alcoholism to Prohibition, to make the battle pause long enough to get the army of decanters and demijohns better organized. Away with that flag of truce or I will fire on it. Between these two armies there can be no truce.

"On the one side are God and sobriety and the best interests of the world, and on the other side is the sworn enemy of all righteousness, and either rum must be defeated or the Church of God and civilization. What are you trying to compromise with? Oh, this black, destroying archangel of diabolism, putting one wing to the Pacific, putting the other to the Atlantic coast, its filthy claws clutching into the torn and bleeding heart strings of the nation that cries out: "How long, Oh, Lord, How long?" Compromise with it? You had better compromise with the panther in his jungle, with the cyclone in its flight, with an Egyptian plague as it blotches an empire, with Apollyon for whom this evil is recruiting officer, quartermaster and commander-in-chief.

"Oh, my friends, let us fight this battle out on the old line, for victory is coming, as surely as right is right, and wrong is wrong, falsehood is false, and truth is truth, and God is God."

Yours very truly,
JAS. G. POTTER.

ENGINEER DEAD.

Leaves a Wife and Family of Seven Children.

Mr. Thomas Duboe, a well known G.T.R. engineer, died this morning at the family residence on Station road. Deceased had been ill for some months with paralysis of the throat. Mr. Duboe was about 48 years of age and was born in New Hampshire, but had spent the greater portion of his life in this city. For some 28 years he had been an engineer on the Grand Trunk and was considered one of the company's most faithful and trusted drivers. His demise is sincerely regretted amongst members of the local Lodge of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which society he was an officer and valued member. He was a member of St. Michael's Church. A wife and young family, consisting of three sons and four daughters, survive.—Belleville Intelligencer.

HASTINGS SURPRISED

By the Appearance of a Fine Large Deer Within Village Limits.

A correspondent at Hastings writes stating that quite a sensation was created in that village yesterday by the presence of a fine large deer within the town limits, on the farm of Mr. John Coughlan. It came within forty feet of a man ploughing in a field. He then threw a stone at it, and it ran away.

In view of the fact that some of the hunters from Peterborough have been shooting steers up north, instead of deer, it is quite reasonable to think that perhaps it is also a case of mistaken identity with the peaceful Hastings citizens.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Of Doukhobor Pilgrims Start for Their Swan River Homes.

THEIR VITALITY MUCH SAPPED.

Mealtime a Picturesque Spectacle—Men Reach Shoal Lake, in a Compact Square, Twenty Abreast, Chanting a Hymn—Pilgrims Quite Peaceably Disposed, Molesting No One, Civil and Courteous.

Saltcoats, N. W. T., Nov. 6.—Train bearing 393 adult women and 133 children between ages of 5 and 12 years, and 50 infants, left Yorkton yesterday morning for Swan River. They were entrained easily.

Cold Doubles Them Up.

Solsgirth, Man., Nov. 6.—It was dark when the pilgrim army camped last night a mile and a half west of this point. They covered exactly the same distance yesterday as the day before, but there is a notable difference in their condition. One night of exposure to the inclement weather has done more to weaken and sap their vitality than the whole six days of traveling and hardship. When the pilgrims started from Fort Warren yesterday morning, they were perished with the cold. Three of the pilgrims had to be supported, partially or wholly along the trail.

One of the most picturesque spectacles to be seen along the line of march is the meals of the pilgrims. Here is how they did it. They unpacked their blankets and spred them on the ground in three continuous parallel lines. The donations of food made by the Solsgirth citizens were given to several to distribute. The whole concourse stood reverently bareheaded and bowed while a prayer was recited and a short chant sung. Then the company sat on the prairie facing one another. Dry oatmeal was the staple article of diet. When hunger had been practically satisfied, the whole concourse repaired to the back yards of the residences, and the pumps were kept busy for fifteen minutes quenching their thirst.

Men Reach Shoal Lake.

Shoal Lake, Man., Nov. 6.—The Doukhobors reached here yesterday. The first of the advance guard came in at 1 o'clock, and the others followed in twos and threes, in close succession, until 3.30, when the main body of about four or five hundred, in a compact square, about 20 abreast, slowly marched in, chanting a hymn.

They were received in the middle of the town by the townspeople, who nearly all turned out to see them.

The pilgrims seem quite peaceably disposed, molesting no one, and are civil and courteous in their demeanor. Their countenances show determination, peace and good will towards all men. After their arrival, they moved to a vacant piece of land at the skating rink at the east of the town, where, about 5 o'clock, all took a hearty supper of bread, oatmeal, apples and onions. The pilgrims camped at the east end of the town, and continue their mearch eastward to-day.

THE ELECTION TRIALS.

New Changes Have Been Made in the North Grey Case.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Nineteen additional charges yesterday were added to the 128 already made by the Conservatives against A. G. McKay in North Grey. The principal charge is that the respondent through the late Dr. Horsey, W. J. Halton and G. A. Ross, advanced money to John McCullough to buy votes in Owen Sound. Other charges are made, of giving "valuable consideration," hiring rigs, treating, etc. The trial will be held at Owen Sound on Nov. 11 at 2 p.m.

The date for the trial of the Halton petition, where the election of Mr. John R. Barber is protested, has been changed from Nov. 18 to Nov. 22, at Toronto, the court opening at 11 a.m. The date has also been arranged for the East Wellington protest, against the return of Hon. J. M. Gibson. It will be held at Toronto on Saturday, Nov. 22, at 10.30 a.m.

CONTINUAL MISERY.

At Times the Pain was so Great That the Sufferer Would Faint.

Maurice Best, of Southern Harbour, Newfoundland, has committed to paper a tale of sickness and suffering which is almost beyond belief. He says:

"In 1892 I was attacked with Dyspepsia which gradually grew worse and worse. For eight years afterward I was in continual misery. At times the pains were so great that I would go off into a faint for ten or fifteen minutes and at the last I was more dead than alive.

"I called in a doctor and he gave me relief, but I soon was worse than ever. I tried everything I could hear of, but nothing seemed to cure me.

"I was at last reduced to a very weakened condition, and not till then did I hear of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I immediately sent away and got a box. The very first dose helped me a little, and I kept on getting better till I was completely cured. They gave me a new life, and in a short time I felt like a new man.

"I confess I owe my life to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I am like a great many others. I cannot speak enough in their favour. No one can speak too highly of them.

"I am glad to have the pleasure of recommending them to all sufferers, for they have my most grateful thanks for the wonderful cure they brought to me."

Mr. Best says that he finds it impossible to describe the pain and distress he had to suffer before using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

If this remedy can cure such extreme cases it is but fair to presume that there is no case of Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Palpitation of the Heart, or Chronic Dyspepsia, that they will not cure.

A ZAMBESI TALE.

How the Tortoise Got Even With a Baboon Who Had Insulted Him—A Missionary's Story.

On the wide open veranda of our mission house—a rude enough structure of bamboo and mud—I induced the natives, among whom I was working, to tell me their tales, writes a missionary to a London newspaper on his return from the Zambesi country. He proceeds: Of course, they had no means of conveying their thoughts other than orally, and their traditions must have been handed down from father to son for untold generations. It is for some other mind than mine to conjecture the common origin which seems to underlie many of these simple African tales with some of our own countryside fables. I have been surprised again and again at the similarity of thought between the tales of a people which has roamed for generations the plains and jungles of Central Africa with some of the English folklore. Can there be anything in the theory that African civilization was once on a par with that around the shores of the Mediterranean? Was the cradle of the human race, as some surmise, in the Abyssinian valleys?

Let me, then, recount one of these tales, that the reader may judge for himself. I narrate it, with but little variation.

In the time long ago a Baboon, swinging from bough to bough in the great forest, espied on the ground a Tortoise. "Good morning, friend Tortoise," said the Baboon; "for a long time I have been wishing to make friends with you—will you come and have dinner with me to-day?" "With pleasure," replied the Tortoise, as his fishlike eyes blinked up at the great Baboon; "I shall be very glad to make your acquaintance." When the Tortoise arrived at the Baboon's house, he found the food spread out upon a bamboo platform, raised some two feet above the ground. "Just help yourself to whatever you like," said the Baboon, who commenced at once to eat up the good things spread before him. But the poor little Portoise was unable to reach the food as the platform was far above his head. The greedy Baboon was not long before he had eaten up all the food there was. Then he turned to the Tortoise with a grin, and said: "I hope you have enjoyed your dinner, friend Tortoise? You do not seem to have a very large appetite." "Thank you," replied the Tortoise, "I am satisfied. Pray come and dine with me to-morrow, and give me an opportunity of repaying your kindness." The greedy Baboon, allured with the hope of another meal, said he would come. Soon the Tortoise took his departure, and on the way home revolved in his mind a plan of revenge for the insult the Baboon had put upon him. Now, the home of the Tortoise was near the river, and the first thing he did when he got to his house was to set fire to the grass growing along the bank, so that when the fire had spent itself, there was a long stretch of blackened stubble. On the morrow, when the Baboon arrived, he found a mat spread on the ground, on which were savory articles of food. "I am so glad to see you," said the Tortoise, "dinner is quite ready, as you see. Will you just run down to the river and wash your hands before we begin to eat?"

Away ran the Baboon, his mouth watering at the thought of the good things which he had just seen. When he had washed his hands he started back again across the patch of burned grass. But as he ran along on all fours he soon found that the burned grass made his hands as dirty as they were before. "I cannot go to dinner with black hands like these," he thought, so he returned to wash them a second time. Then again he attempted to cross the burned grass, but with no better success than before. After washing his hands for the third time he sat down to consider how he was to return to the Tortoise's house without getting his hands black. The only way seemed to be to follow the bank of the river until he reached the end of the burned patch. This he set out to do, and at last, tired and hungry, reached the home of the Tortoise. When he got there he found, to his astonishment, that the Tortoise was just eating the last piece of food. "Hullo!" exclaimed the host, "where have you been all this time? I waited a long while for you, but, as you did not return, I thought that you must have been dissatisfied with the food that you saw, and so had gone back to your home again. Now I have eaten it all myself, and have nothing left in the house to offer you. I hope you will not feel any more hungry when you get home than I did when I returned from your home yesterday." Then the Baboon went off, much annoyed that the tables had been so cleverly turned on himself.

OLD KING COAL.

Old King Coal was a chary old soul,
And a chary old soul was he,
No fume from his pipe, no warmth in his bowl,
No mirth from his fiddlers three.

All undismayed, his orchestra played,
And their hearts were as cruel as could be,
And the chords they struck in their serenade
Were Famine and Misery.

And they whetted their bow on a grim morceau
Adagio, Death and Cold,
But the movement quickens, and the measures glow,
As they chant the power of Gold.

Power to keep in a frozen sleep
Two-thirds of a continent,
To make a ruler truckle and creep
As he begs it to relent.

But now and again comes a vagrant strain,
A note 'twixt a curse and a moan,
And it warns King Coal of the end of his reign
When the people come to their own.
—H. F. G., in Toronto Star.

Daylight and Dan.

A young lady of Toronto made us puzzle our brains over the following the other morning:

"Why are King and Queen streets like day and night?"

Of course we had to give it up; then we were informed that it was "because they come together at both ends and meet at the Don (dawn."—Toronto Star.

COME INTO THE GARDEN, MAUDE.

Come into the garden, Maude,
Shake off that effeminate smile,
Those ivory hands of yours,
Which have done nothing all this while,
Are going to be utilized now,
In a somewhat different style.

Come into the garden, Maude,
Roll up your shirt sleeves high,
There's no time now to bill and coo,
Nor time to loll and sigh.
You must slave like a nigger, Maude,
Or else we will freeze and die.

Come into the garden, Maude,
And pick up each grain of coal,
That the coalman dropped last winter,
And place each one in this bowl;
Search like the mischief, Maude,
As you value your very soul.

Come back to the garden, Maude,
And pick up each chip of wood;
Here you may find a toothpick,
Each little sliver is good,
This year we face Economy,
As she's never been understood.

Come back to the garden, Maude,
And sift those ashes well;
For ashes were made to sift,
And coal—this year—to sell;
"Dig in," like a Trojan, Maude,
And make your slavery tell.

Come, answer the door-bell, Maude,
For our maid has lately gone;
She couldn't work "for nothing,"
And said she wouldn't "stay on";
So you must grow fat on the work, Maude,
Which made the girl pale and wan.

Come down to the laundry, Maude,
And wash this lot of clothes;
And do not grumble so, Maude,
Nor use such piebby oaths;
For we must fire up this winter,
On the work aristocracy loathes.

Come into the kitchen, Maude,
And eat your frugal fare;
Just "dig into" the crackers and cheese,
By the cook stove's horrid glare;
But chew more than passing slow, Maude,
For there isn't a bit to spare.
—F. Bruce Carey, in Toronto Mail.

The Story of Morning Tiredness.

Is told by impure blood, poor digestion, sluggish liver and tired nerves. It is a warning of very serious trouble ahead, and should prompt sensible people to take a bracing tonic like Ferrozone, an energetic invigorant and rebuilder. Ferrozone will give you a sharp appetite, promote good digestion and sound sleep; it feed and energize the enfeebled organs, strengthen the nerve and vital forces and regulate the heart. Ferrozone changes that tired feeling into vigour, strength and ambition, and does it quickly. Remember the name, and insist on having only Ferrozone; it's the best tonic made. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50, at Druggists or Ormond & Walsh's.

Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation.

Prince Among the Colliers.

Miss Marie Belloc in an illustrated article in Cassell's Magazine on the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, says of His Royal Highness as a sailor:

There are many stories of the years when the Duke of York was in naval service, one of which at least, has the merit of being absolutely true, for it was told at a public dinner by Admiral Sir Frederick Bedford, who took an actual part in the incident. Sir Frederick was at the time in command of the ship in which the Duke was serving as lieutenant, and as the vessel was coaling in Turkish waters the Sultan sent a representative to greet the grandson of the British sovereign.

The Pasha was naturally received by the Admiral, then a captain, to whom he showed but scant courtesy. "I am come to greet the Prince who is in command," he observed. "I am in command," replied Captain Bedford; "the Prince is one of my lieutenants, but if you will wait a minute you will see him."

And just then Prince George, who had been in command of the coaling party, and who had in the exercise of his duties become smothered in coal dust appeared. The spectacle of Queen Victoria's grandson so engaged apparently inspired the Turkish official with mingled surprise and horror.

Do You Look on the Dark Side?

Are You Blue, Discouraged Irritable and Depressed?—It may be Your Nerves are Exhausted and You Need

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Irritability and mental depression, sometimes amounting to melancholy and despondency, are marked symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

In the beginning you feel languid and tired, find it impossible to concentrate your thoughts. The tasks of the day are put off till the morrow, little things worry you, you forget your blessings and look on the dark side of things.

At times there may be nervous headaches, spells of dizziness, indigestion, sleeplessness and general weakness of the body. You dread what the future may bring to you and feel the work and responsibilities of life more than you can bear.

Mrs. M. A. Sharp, 346 Dublin street, Peterborough, Ont., states:

"For some years I was troubled with indigestion which developed into nervous dyspepsia and besides suffering from nervousness, strange, dizzy spells would come over me. Hearing of the good results obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I decided to try it. After a pretty thorough test of this medicine I can say that I never used anything that did me so much good. It seemed to be the very treatment that I needed and as a result of its use I am quite restored to health."

The wonderful medicinal power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been demonstrated in thousands of cases. Gradually and certainly it creates new nerve cells, builds up the system, and overcomes the weakness which gives rise to nervous ailments and feelings of depression and despondency. New hopes, new confidence, new vitality are instilled into the body and health and strength take the place of disease.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

THE PLUNGER'S WOES.

Stock Market Victims—Recent Depreciations Wrought Will Spread Misery in Toronto—Wild Hunts for Margins.

Tragedies of the stock market would form the subject of a woeful narrative if only the operations of the past two weeks were recorded, says The Toronto Telegram. There have been some fatal finishes to these short cuts to wealth.

A man is suddenly transferred to an institution where they curb violent citizens, and it requires no wise physician to diagnose the cause. A lifeless body is discovered in the neighborhood of escaping gas or contiguous to an able-bodied Smith & Weston, and the coroner's mind is pretty nearly made up before he arrives on the scene. Insanity and death are extreme resorts of despairing speculators, but the city of Toronto can vouch for these methods of escape from relentlessly pursuing margins.

Months ago Toronto knew that she was stock mad. Investments in margins totalled such an enormous sum that the Queen City took rank among the first half-dozen cities of America as a speculative centre. All classes of citizens sowed the wind and most of them have reaped the whirlwind. Of course it is those who can least afford to lose who have been engulfed in the rapid depreciation of stocks. The man with wealth behind his margins may hold out until the panic subsides, and serenely await the recovery of the market. For those who rashly risked their all—and they are legion—there is not one break in the clouds. Their investments disappeared in an hour, a day or a week, according to the stock they held and their ability to support their margins.

As for the patrons of bucket shops, they had hardly time to realize what hit the. Their little margins were swept away with the first bear blast, and many there be who lament their adventurous investments. Among the brokers the wreck, if not quite as sudden, was almost as complete. Small holders, who should have been at their office desks, were rushing about besieging friends to "carry" them. No large number of reliefs are recorded, for as a rule the "friends" had also pressing engagements with their brokers, and were themselves gasping.

The past few days must have shown any man who walks about with his eyes open that the city is honeycombed with stock speculators. Beardless youth and venerable age are intermingled in frantic efforts to cover their margins. Institutions which would gasp at the thought of speculating clerks did not lack for representation in the maelstrom of misery that the collapse of the market provoked. Families living happily and comfortably on the income from small but securely invested funds caught the stock fever, and in many a pretty residential Toronto street there are dismal fires to-night. An old gentleman who has been living on one of the best uptown streets for twenty years described his woes thus:—

"It is hard on the young chap, but see what it means to men like me. The young man is knocked down, but he has vitality enough to pick himself up and tackle life a wiser man. The old man falls and he has neither the strength nor the spirit to rise."

What the stock market will do now is a subject of keen interest to many Toronto speculators, but the great majority have passed over to that stage of dejection where they talk of quotations and margins only in their dreams. They have left the market behind, or rather the market has left them behind. Castles in the air have faded before practical obligations which seemed mere trifles in the days of buoyant markets.

The number who have lost their all is a more uncertain quantity than the number who have lost heavily. The truth is that nine out of ten stock speculators have lost money since the market broke. How far they may be able to redeem themselves is a question for those who know what the stock market proposes to do.

While the small speculators were being stripped of their investments excitement found its way in large chunks into the offices of numerous brokers. The brokers saw visions of panics, of crumbling securities, and many of them made demands for margins that simply staggered their patrons. Speculators with ten and fifteen points to the good could not understand why they should be squeezed. But squeezed they were in numerous instances, and for the reason that New York averages every broker's business and when the average was weak the broker did not mince matters in his efforts to restore it. On the street you will hear brokers cursed up hill and down dale, as a disgusted "wiped out" phrased it. There will be a new alignment of customers and brokers when the market settles again, and the gentlemen who lost their heads will miss some familiar faces for more reasons than one.

As the tumult subsides and dejected victims calmly view their losses they will come to conclusions which older heads sought to impress upon them in vain. They will reflect that speculation on small margins or stock speculation of any kind without substantial support is a mere game of chance, more perilous than poker and hardly less disastrous than the roulette machine. Successful operators represent but a small fraction of those who strand themselves upon the rocks of their unreasoning credulity. A final analysis will convince the thoughtful and observant that the shortest cut to wealth is the longest way round—the road which is traveled by faithful labor, by the accumulation of savings, and by the exercise of sound business judgment when a business opportunity presents itself.

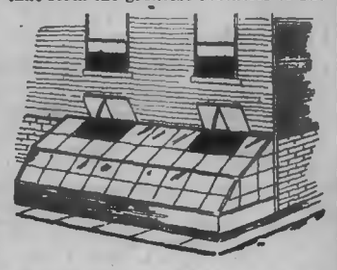
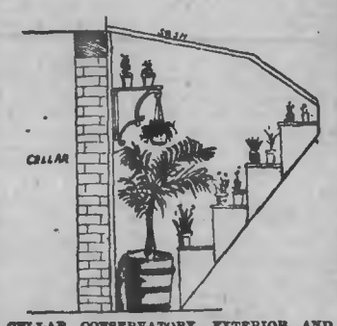
PLANT QUARTERS.

SIMPLE BUT SATISFACTORY ARRANGEMENTS FOR WINTER.

A Conservatory With the Entrance Through the Cellar and Little Artificial Heat—A Neat Plantroom Added to a House.

There is scarcely a lover of plants who has not felt the need of some place other than the ordinary window for plant growing—a place secure from the dust, dry air and excessive heat that form the greatest obstacles to success. The Delineator is the source of some plans and suggestions on this line, as follows:





CELLAR CONSERVATORY, EXTERIOR AND INTERIOR.

The first cut illustrates a pretty form of cellar conservatory, a decided improvement upon the severely plain single slant sash. It is self explanatory as regards outside construction, and a carpenter of ordinary ability can do the work. Two sections of sash are hinged for ventilating purposes, a long armed hook and eye serving to adjust them. The conservatory is entered through a door in the cellar wall. This door should be a double one for the purpose of keeping the cellar cool in summer. With the aid of a window on a warm side of the cellar the door serves for ventilation when the weather is too severe to permit opening the ventilators.

A southeast corner is an ideal place for a conservatory. Here, warmed by the sun and tempered by the cellar and with the sash well covered by straw mats or heavy carpet at night, very little artificial heat will be required; in many localities none at all. Often the heat from a large lamp on coldest nights is all sufficient. In coldest sections a very small oil heater in the cellar will answer. In furnace heated houses a hot water pipe in connection will serve the purpose, when moisture must also be provided. The lower figure explains the interior arrangement, the tiers of shelves being adapted to a great variety of plants, the upper one especially to starting cuttings and seedlings in the early spring.

A very neat and substantial plantroom is shown in the second cut providing for a large collection of plants and at a comparatively small cost since it forms an addition to the dwelling. A south exposure should be chosen, giving the plants the benefits of a greenhouse. The next best place for it is an east side, with one end even with the south line of the dwelling or, better still, projecting the width of a sash. With a glass roof it would still be well lighted. Its sills should be placed on the foundation, well imbedded in a layer of cement to prevent the cold air from getting under the floor, and it is wise to lay a double floor.

Let the broad boarding below the sash be double, with sheathing paper between. Use large sized glass for the better admission of light and have a sash in each end and one in the roof, provided with hinges and hooks for ventilation purposes. Provide double sashes for winter—that is, storm sashes—for both the side and ends, and if all joints and corners are perfectly tight no chilling drafts can enter. The storm sashes are simply fastened in with heavy screws, this making them easy to remove in the spring. Hot water pipes, in connection with the dwelling system, provide a good means of heating. Such a room may also be perfectly heated by a good sized oil heater.

Broiled Young Rabbit.

Open a rabbit right down. Remove the head and well wash and dry the carcass. Flatten it out, season lightly with salt and freshly ground black pepper, pour a little oiled butter over it, fold it up in a buttered paper and broil it over a clear fire. When cooked, remove the paper and dish the rabbit on a little anchovy or maitre d'hotel butter and serve garnished with broiled mushrooms. For this dish the rabbit must be a young one.

A Sure Cure for Constipation.

Some remedies cure this distressing complaint in a day, some in a month, but Nerviline never fails to cure in a few minutes. Just ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water—that's enough, and away goes the dysentry, cured to stay cured. Nerviline also cures Cramps, Colic, Pain in the Stomach, and Sick Headache. It has five times the strength and curative properties of ordinary remedies, and should be in every household. Better buy a 25c. bottle and try it. Nerviline is all right.

Hamilton's Pills for the Liver.

The Movement of Population.

If the progress of population had been continuous from the remote periods of antiquity, it is evident that the numbers of mankind would be much greater than they are, and the globe would be already overstocked with human beings. But other causes not less mysterious in their operation have checked that progress. Many of the populous countries of antiquity have become depopulated and apparently unable to support life. It is uncertain whether at the present moment the population of the globe is greater than it was 2,000 or 3,000 years ago. There is congestion in Europe, in India and in China. There are innumerable tribes in central Africa on whom even the slave trade makes no perceptible impression.

But the vast plains of Asia, which swarmed with men under the Assyrian, Babylonian and Persian empires, are deserted. The civilization of Europe is no longer threatened by the eastern hordes which swept over the Roman empire in the earlier centuries of the Christian era. But that prodigious migration laid the foundation of the states of modern Europe.—Edinburgh Review.

Jewelry Notes.

The oval form seems to predominate in latest sleeve links, and some very beautifully wrought gold ones are set with mismated gems.

The latest fob fashion for ladies is to wear a tiny watch as a pendant, with the upper end of the fob hooked into the belt in chatelaine style.

Turquoise, topaz and amethyst are favorite jewels for umbrella handles.

Shallow, wide crescents of pearls in many shades form uncommon pins.

A revived feeling for the monogram seems to manifest itself.

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Nov. 6th, 1902.—Cotton.—Prices easier, mild. 453, off 8 points. Sales, 8,000. Futures opened easier—3 to 5 points lower at 12.30, quiet, one point up to one point down.

Indications are that while speculation will continue narrow, we will have good trading markets and there will be two sides instead of market being all in favour of bears. While there was a great deal of scattered liquidation by tired holders yesterday, the principal selling was by Gates following, and trading element increased its shorts. While there in nothing new this morning general idea is that market has been sold quite heavily, and it will go down with more resistance from this level, and many are inclined to cover shorts on any further slump, and play long side for moderate turn, but there is nothing in general situation to warant bullishness.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 6th, 10.00 a.m.—Reported St. L. control taken over Saligman holdings of San Francisco. Norfolk report will probably show seven per cent. earned on common. Indications point to increase in St. Paul capital. Increasing competition in iron. 28 roads 4th week of October show average gross increase 7.52 per cent. American Sugar cutting prices to meet the beet competition. Some demand for L & N., At., St.P., C.P.R. in loan crowd. Texas Pacific 4th week in October shows $454,000, an increase of 19,000.

DOW, JONES & CO.

Grain.—Wheat and corn unchanged in Liverpool. Wheat receipts, says William Warren, Pres. Board of Trade, are certainly remarkable, but millers say they are paying full prices for all the grain they get, and are all making flour to the top of their capacity. From my view the market is on a sound supply and demand basis and I can see no good reasons to expect a lower range.

DENISON.

Prices Current says—Growing wheat in fine condition, with more scattered reports of fly. Partial returns indicate an acreage slightly less than last year. No material change in corn situation. Most reports reflect much soft corn. Packing hogs 45,000 against 49,000 last year. Liverpool, 1.30, wheat unchanged. Corn 1-8 lower.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 6th, 10.30 a.m.—Stocks have been active all around the room, with good class of selling, and also a good class of buying. The main feature has been the over throwing of a large line of stocks by several large commission houses, and good buying by two or three others. Gates people trading both ways. Honsman bought 4,000 U. P., and considerable B. & O. and U.S.O. Professionals continue bearish.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 6th, 12.00 p.m.—Stocks—Foreign exchange steady demand sterling, 486 7-8. Market quiet. Buying in U.P., St. P., Man. and B. & O. has been better than the selling.

M. & M.

Liverpool wheat and corn unchanged at close. Wheat started about unchanged, without any important or steady cables; weather has improved a little. Small local receipts due to several roads not working yesterday. Pacific coast shipments from Dakota have been partly confirmed. Minn. messages say 20,000 bush. sold for shipment to Seattle, and outlook good for more.

DENISON.

A.C.O. has declared six per cent. dividend on common stock and semi-annual three per cent. on preferred. Amount paid common last year two per cent. Four per cent. on common will be paid Dec. 1st, and two per cent. will be paid July 1st, 1903. Brokers are buying cotton oil now. Content bidding 35 5-8 for 5,000 U.P.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 5th, 1902.—If earnings are any indication of the future of prices the outlook for the future is decidedly encouraging. It has been the history of speculation that earnings ultimately fixed prices. Manipulation only makes them for the time being. We last week called your attention to the magnificient figures presented by Southern Railway Union—Pac., T.C.I., B.R.T., U. S.S., and P. R. S. These were all taken at random, representing diverse interests, situated in various parts of our country. They all reflected one story—the continuance and breadth of prosperity. We notate more to-day equally calculated to afford encouragement and confidence in the future. For September L. & N. reports a gain in gross earnings of $441,701, and in net $158,155, showing a gain in operating expenses of $283,546, operating 149 miles more road than in 1901. The operating ratio is, however, 67.56 per cent., against 68.17 per cent. last year. For the year ending June 30th last L. & N. official earned 7.97 per cent. upon its capitalization. The statement for the quarter ending September 30th indicates net earnings for the twelve months of 3 3-4 per cent. If the succeeding quarters equal the last one, and indications are that they will excel it, the company will show net earnings of over 11 per cent. The American Car and Foundry statement for the period ending Aug. 31st reflects the activity of the summer business of the company. Operations of the current quarter will show even better results, so say the company's officials. The company is earning over fifteen per cent. upon its common stock, which fact makes it one of the cheapest industrials in Wall street. The B.R.T. system at present shows a daily gross increase of $14.52. To come down to Oct. as late as is reported, fifty three roads for the 3rd week in Oct. report a total increase in earnings of $795,039, or 7.81 per cent. Of these, forty one show increases of $920,297, while the other twelve report decreases aggregating $125,208. The indications for the coming three months warrant the predictions that all records for high water mark earnings will be broken. Excess in many instances will prove simply astounding. The conclusion to be drawn from these facts indicates the uselessness of anticipating any material or permanent further set back in the average of prices of stocks, at least for some time yet to come.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM FIELD OF SPORT.

Executive Meeting of O. R. F. U.—Professional Baseball in Peterborough—Notes on Hockey, Golf etc.

As will be noticed by readers of athletic news throughout the province a movement is on foot to form a professional baseball league which will be purely Canadian. The idea as figured out appears quite feasable as far as most towns are concerned. Peterborough is included in the list of places that might control a franchise in the new league. Under ordinary circumstances Peterborough could maintain a team in a professional league, but not under circumstances as they exist at the present time. The lack of proper athletic grounds, which even now hampers the growth of amateur sport in town, would at the outset prevent local promoters from undertaking any such responsibility. Apart from this, however, Many Peterborough people are of the belief that professional sport is not true sport, and the suggestion to organize a strong amatuer league would meet with as much, if not more favour.

RUGBY.

Mr. A. W. McPherson, captain of the Peterborough team, was in Toronto last night attending a meeting of the O.R.F.U. executive. The protest of the London club, against Bert Morrison, who played in the Toronto game against London last Saturday was taken up. Messrs. W. R. Meredith, C. H. Christie, and Gordon Crawford, were present representing the London club, while the Toronto club was represented by Messrs. J. A. Macfadden and Frank Coffee. The London club alleged that Morrison was an amateur under suspension by the O.H.A., when he played in this match; also that he received money, directly or indirectly for playing hockey last year in Pittsburg, adn competed with and against Peel and Hearn, who have been professionalized by the O.H.A.

W. R. Meredith said that it was a known fact that Morrison had played hockey in Pittsburg with Peel and Hearn, who, it is alleged, received money for their services. A declaration was produced by the London representatives, purporting to be signed by Harry Peel, but which was not sworn to before a commissioner, and the signature was in lead pencil. The executive decided that the declaration was of no value as evidence, on account of it not being properly executed.

Jas. A. Macfadden stated that Morrison was not under suspension by the O.H.A., but had only been suspended for that season in which he which he played for Tilbury. A declaration was also filed for Morrison, denying the charges of professionalism arising out of his sojourn in Pittsburg. Mr. Coffee and Mr. Christie also spoke on the same subject.

The executive unanimously decided that there was sufficient suspicion of professionalism to suspend Morrison, pending his taking a satisfactory declaration, stating that he did not receive money, and that he did not play with or against Peel or Hearn in Pittsburg, or did not play with or against any person, knowing such person to be receiving money for his services as a hockey player. The London-Toronto game stands until this declaration is made or refused to be made, and the matter will be further considered at a meeting of the executive to be held next Wednesday night.

The Toronto Telegram thinks that it is pretty nearly a case of snapback or quit snapping altogether with the O.R.F.U. Rugby series. Hardisty, one of the mainstays of the Argonauts, is going to quit, "because a fellow has too many chances of getting mauled the way we play the game now-a-days." With Hardisty out of the way, the Telegram thinks the Rough Riders would have practically no opposition, the more so that advancing years are liable to drive Joe Wright out of the game almost any old time.

Is Asselstine a rover? Here is what the Ottawa Journal says:—"Asselstine, formerly of the Kingston Granites, and now with Peterough, will reside in this city next year."

The wish may be father to the thought.

HOCKEY.

A largely attended meeting of those interested in hockey was held Tuesday evening, and from the spirit displayed it is evident that every effort will be made to have a team which will not only reflect credit upon the city, but will try their best to bring the championship here. It is to be called the Belleville Hockey Club. The officers elected were as follows:

Hon. President—Mr. H. Corby.
President—Ald. Sulman.
Vice-President—Mr. J. A. McFee.
Manager—Mr. H. Burrell.
Secretary—Mr. W. Burke.
Treasurer—Mr. W. B. Deacon.
Board of Management—Messrs. L. S. Marsh, W. D. Chisholm, F. Burrows, H. McGinnis and Dr. P. G. Goldsmith.

It was unanimously decided to enter a team in the intermediate series of the O.H.A.—Belleville Intelligencer.

Port Hope Guide: All doubt of Port Hope having a new rink is now swept away. Every day you pass down Queen street you notice a difference in the building. The curling rink is now ready for the sheeting, and this will be started at once. sides of the curling rink are nearly completed, and five of the rafters are up. There are five more to be up, and this will be done before the end of the week. It is stated that the whole thing will be completed by the first of December.

GOLF.

Golf is beginning to be classed among the dangerous games. At Brookline, Mass., the other day a "gowfer" lost an eye through being struck with the ball and only recently a similar accident was reported. If this sort oft hing continues the authorities may decided that the game is dangerous enough to be amusing and cut it out of the Sunday curriculum.

MORDEN'S EVIDENCE.

That Given at Previous Sifton Trial Read at London.

BROTHERS REFUSED TO RETURN

They Are in Iowa at the Present Time—James Morden's Evidence Was to Effect That Prisoner Had Tried to Get Him to Smash the Old Man's Head In For $1,000—Martin Also Was Offered Money.

London, Nov. 7.—In the absence of the two Morden brothers, James and Martin, who are said to be in Davenport, Iowa, and who refused to return to the city to give evidence in the Sifton murder trial, their evidence as given at the last trial, was read at yesterday morning's session of the trial.

J. B. McKillop, Assistant County Crown Attorney, began the evidence of James Morden, who resided on the Seventh Concession of the township of London at the time of the murder. Gerald Sifton had approached Morden with an offer of $1,000 to help him "smash the old man's head in," or, failing in this, to choke him and hang the body from a beam in the barn to give the impression of suicide. Morden refused to do this, and Sifton then inquired for the address of the brother of the witness, saying he would get the brother to do it. Morden then told the prisoner how to reach Martin Morden, in this city. Witness admitted to Mr. Johnston that he believed prisoner to be a murderer. Witness also thought the old man was going to be killed, but said nothing to either Joseph Sifton of his (witness') sister, not wishing to expose himself to danger from a man who would kill his father.

Martin Morden's evidence was then read. Witness had been approached with an offer of money for his assistance in getting "the old man" out of the way. Gerald Sifton had proposed setting a trap for his father, and in case that would not work, a couple of blows would do it, prisoner had said. Another proposition was to use the contents of a small glass phial, produced by the prisoner, and containing a light-colored crystalized substance. Witness refused absolutely to go, and prisoner then declared he must do it himself, though it was a risky job for any man.

Gerald Sifton saw witness the following Sunday afternoon, and told him the old man had been knocking boards off the barn, and had flew into a rage and fallen out, with the axe in his hand, and had fractured his skull. Prisoner had offered the two brothers $1,000 to be divided between them if they would keep quiet about what had happened.

The cross-examination of the two witnesses by Mr. Johnston was then read, as given at the last trial.

The first witness examined yesterday afternoon was ex-Policeman Robert Robertson. He identified Gerald Sifton as the man he had accompanied on the night of June 29th in an effort to locate the lodging place of Martin Morden on Dundas street.

Mrs. Phoebe Whitehead was then called, and testified to Gerald Sifton's calling at her home on the night of June 29th, and inquiring for James Morden. James was not at home, but Martin was, and a few minutes later Martin went out with Gerald, but returned in a few minutes.

Andrew Gardiner, a neighbor of Joseph Sifton, was next put on the stand. He considered it a venturesome thing for Joseph Sifton to climb up to knock boards off the barn. He also said it would not be a difficult task for a man to slip from the footing he could get under the prevailing circumstances.

Court then adjourned until this morning.

Wanted a Common Language.

London, Nov. 7.—In a despatch from Brussels, the correspondent of The Standard says the powers are at present negotiating with a view to the reorganization of the international arbitration court at The Hague. France and Belgium propose that French be the official language of the court in order to avoid the difficulties arising from the use of languages not understood by all the members of the tribunal. This difficulty was exemplified during the recent controversy between the United States and Mexico heard before the court, when the lawyers spoke in English, French and Spanish.

1,450 Miles in an Open Boat.

New York, Nov. 7.—Capt. Kay and wife and nine seamen, a crew of the British barque Florence B. Edgett, which they abandoned in mid-ocean Oct. 15, after she was dismantled by a hurricane and water-logged, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Grenada, from Trinidad. The vessel left Bear River, N.S., about Aug. 13 for Buenos Ayres, with a cargo of lumber. On Sept. 18 she encountered the hurricane. The crew left in the long boat and reached Grenada, 1,450 miles away.

Alfred McDougall Arrested.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—A sensation was sprung by the police between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning, when Acting-Inspector Reburn of the Detective Department and Detective William Black brought to the Court street Station, Alfred McDougall, until Sept. 30 last solicitor to the Treasury of the province. Mr. McDougall was arrested for theft, two specific charges being laid by Detective Black, who was acting at the instance of the Ontario Government. Alfred McDougall was suspended by the Ontario Cabinet on Tuesday, Sept. 30, pending an investigation of the books of his department.

Death of Judge Jones.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—At the residence of his son, S. Alfred Jones, chairman of the Public School Board, Stephen James Jones, late Judge of the County Court of Brant, passed away last night, in his 81st year. Judge Jones was born in Stony Creek, Wentworth County, Nov. 21, 1821, and he was the son of an United Empire Loyalist.

Ten Years of Murder.

Nice, Nov. 7.—Henri Vidal, who has been sentenced to the guillotine, is believed to be responsible for a ten years' series of murders. They have made him one of the notorious murderers of France. Many mysterious assassinations of which the perpetrator was undiscovered are laid at his door at Nice and in the neighborhood.

Children Burn Up Father.

Columbus, Neb., Nov. 7.—Gerhard Borchers, a farmer, was killed on Friday by Herman, his 14-year-old son, who bought a shotgun for the purpose. With the help of two brothers—August, aged 10, and John, aged 8—Herman dragged the body to a straw stack and set fire to t.

THE LIBERALS' FIGHT.

Great Battle Put Up in Two English Constituencies.

RESULTS IN TWO BYE-ELECTIONS

Big Reduction of Former Conservative Majority in Toxteth—Unionists Wins Over Liberal by Only 397 Instead of Former Conservative Majority of 2,922—A Sweeping Liberal Victory in Cleveland.

London, Nov. 7.—The bye-election in the Toxteth Division of Liverpool for a member of Parliament in succession to Augustus F. Ware, Conservative, who has resigned the Parliamentary representation of the division, resulted in the election of Austin Taylor, Unionist, with a majority of 397 over Herbert R. Rathbone, the Liberal candidate.

In the general elections of 1895 Baron de Worms, Conservative, defeated the Liberal candidate by 2,922, and in a bye-election following his death (in the same year) Mr. Ware was returned unopposed.

Big Liberal Victory.

The election in the Cleveland division of Yorkshire Wednesday for a member of Parliament to succeed A. E. Pease (Liberal), who recently resigned the seat, resulted as follows:—Herbert Samuel (Liberal), 5,834; Geoffrey Drage (Unionist), 3,798. Liberal majority, 2,036. The Government's education bill, eight hours work for miners and temperance were the principal issues. At the last election Mr. Pease was elected without opposition. The constituency has been held by the Liberals since 1885.

KAISER LEAVES FOR ENGLAND.

Left Kiel Wednesday Night on Board the Imperial Yacht.

Kiel, Nov. 7. — Emperor William left here last night at 10 o'clock on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern for England, where he will visit King Edward. A fleet of British torpedo boats will meet the Hohenzollern in British waters and escort her to Sheerness.

It is expected that the Emperor will remain at Sandringham as the guest of the British sovereign until November 16, when he will go to Lowther Castle to visit Lord Lonsdale.

To Meet the Kaiser.

London, Nov. 7. — King Edward's guests at Sandringham to meet Emperor William, who was expected to leave Kiel for England yesterday, will include Premier Balfour and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, Lord and Lady Lansdowne, Mr. Brodrick and other Ministers.

BRITAIN MAGNANIMOUS.

Colonial Secretary Chamberlain in Unusually Conciliatory Mood.

London, Nov. 7.—In his speech in the Commons Wednesday night, Mr. Chamberlain displayed an unusually conciliatory spirit. He said the Imperial Government would compensate liberally the loyalist residents of Natal and Cape Colony, who had suffered by the war quite independently of the present vote, and that if the $15,000,000 voted for the Boers proved insufficient for this purpose he would not hesitate to ask Parliament for more money.

The defeated party in a war could not expect to be replaced in the same position as before hostilities, but the Government desired to set a new precedent of magnaminity in the history of the world. The Colonial Secretary would not commit himself to the principles of the settlement. He said he wanted to go to South Africa with an entirely open mind, and that his earnest desire was to get free from old animosities.

Gales on North Sea.

Brussels, Nov. 7.—Numerous wrecks occurred in a fierce gale which swept the North Sea Wednesday and Thursday night. While no loss of life is reported, it is feared that many went down in the gale. At Great Yarmouth the crew of fifteen of one ship were brought safely ashore during the storm. Yesterday morning the Belgian coast was strewn with wreckage.

Does Not Practice It.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 7.—Apostle Smoot of the Mormon Church, a candidate for the United States Senate, to succeed Senator Rawlins, says he never practised polygamy, though he believes in it.

For Great Britain.

Halifax, Nov. 7.—Admiral Douglas and Lieut. Foster are at Glace Bay, watching the Marconi tests in the interest of the British Admiralty. The Table Head station will be completed in a few days.

How to Get Rich.

Take a quantity of silica costing one-fourth the price of oil; mix it with oil, and sell the compound to the public at the price of pure oil; offer "prizes" with the compound to make it sell. It is such a compound the public get when they buy common soaps. In Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—the public buy a pure and well-made soap. Sunlight Soap reduces expense by prolonging the life of the articles washed with it, which is much more profitable to the public, than common soaps with "prizes." 204

BUSINESS ADMINISITRATION.

The Toronto Telegram, (Independent Conservative) says:—

"Canada's Post Office Department since 1896 is perhaps the one department of Government which has been stimulated by something of that spirit of efficiency and progress which controls and extends every great private business.

"The Laurier Government has been enormously strengthened by the work of Sir William Mulock in the Post Office Department. That work on the whole is infinitely superior to the best efforts of any previous Postmaster-General Grit or Tory.

"Sir William Mulock has disclosed more merit as an administrator than any predecessor in past Governments or any colleague in the present Government. If administrative merit and nothing else counted Sir William Mulock would be his leader's first and only possible choice for the Ministry of Public Works."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Ross' majority is a type of the spirit of his Government—it is progressive. While Mr. Whitney's following is typical of his policy—retrograde.

Mr. Whitney is getting a cold blast from the north these days which makes the "cold shades" chillier than ever—North Perth, North Simcoe and North Renfrew—cold prospects.

Prophecy is unprofitable work, but those who foretold that the majority of the Ross Government would grow, have been justified in their hopefulness. And it is easy to see how the present majority of three can be increased to six. If the Liberals win out in their fighting chance in North Perth, which was Liberal in the last House, and with North Norfolk redeemed and carried by the Liberals, as it is sure to be, and with the Liberal majority of 400 odd of last May repeated in North Renfrew, Mr. Ross will meet the House next January with a majority of six at his back.

A REMARKABLE RECORD.

British railroads had a clear sheet last year as far as fatal accidents were concerned. Not a passenger, employee, or anyone else, was killed on any line in the United Kingdom. The record is a wonderful one, especially when we remember that the speed of trains on British roads is as great as on those in Canada and the United States. Care in construction, caution in running, and the absence of level crossings are primary causes of the immunity from accident on British railways.

Compared with that of American railways, where eight thousand persons were killed in 1901, the record of the British roads is most remarkable, and the means by which this pleasing result has been attained might well be investigated by railway managers on this continent.

Full Exhausted and Unconscious.

Mrs. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street, Brantford, Ont., suffered for five years with nervous exhaustion and headache and dyspepsia. "The pains in the head would almost drive me crazy. I could not sleep nights, but would walk the floor in agony until I fell exhausted and unconscious. For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and from a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight until I am strong and well." It would be scarcely possible to produce stronger evidence of the wonderful powers of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

CONDENSED POSTAL HISTORY.

Deficits From Confederation up to 1901 When the Surplus Corner was Turned.

For the first time in the history of the Dominion, a surplus is announced by the Post Office department. The report just published, giving the figures for the fiscal year ended June 30, presents a credit balance of $5,109.

The deficits in the department began with $28,859 in the first year of Confederation, $106,772 the second year, and on up to the enormous sum of $911,050 in 1886, the largest deficit recorded. In 1897, the highest deficit under Liberal rule was announced, namely $580,540.

The change to a surplus, however small, is a very notable fact, especially when it is remembered that letter postage to Britain was reduced in 1899 to 2 cents, from 5. On the other hand postage in the cities was increased previously to 2 cents from one, and a postage rate on newspapers introduced.

While the revenue showed a great increase last year the fact exists that the expenditure of the department has been kept at almost the same figure since 1896. To this remarkable achievement in a "growing time" the present surplus is undoubtedly due more than to increased revenue, and Mr. Mulock must be conceded the proportionate credit. A careful and successful administration of this kind should lend weight to what is known to be Mr. Mulock's conviction that the telegraph service of the country, as well as the postal service, might well be taken over by the Government. The nature and management of the two services are not radically different. No reason seems to protrude why Government control of the telegraph would be less satisfactory than Government control of the post office. And the postal service under Government control has been admirable. The only complaint was that it was expensive, a complaint which must become somewhat attenuated in view of the past year's balance sheet.—Ottawa Journal.

MANITOBA WHEAT AND CARS.

The scarcity of cars in Manitoba at this season last year led the Canadian Pacific Railway greatly to increase their rolling stock for this year and to send every available car to the North West. So far there has happily been no grain blockade this year in the North-West, but the danger of it has not yet passed away. On the other hand there is such a scarcity of cars in the east as seriously to affect some lines of business. A large firm of lumber manufacturers writes us that they can only get one car a day, instead of the six they require,, and that their business naturally suffers from this cause. They complain, with some reason, that it does not seem right for the railways to withhold accommodation from regular customers at a busy season of the year, so that they may be able to deal with a business that only lasts a few months in the year. At the same time, a grain bloackade is a serious thing for the country at large, and without doubt the company is fulfilling, as well as possible, its many engagements. The trade of the country is increasing by leaps and bounds, and this seems likely to last indefinitely. The Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk Railways will have to build more and more cars, so as to be able to keep up with the enormous demand. One effect of the shortage of cars in the east is the seeming difficulty of getting enough firewood into the cities. If the car famine and the wood famine both last it may affect somewhat the hauling of Cape Breton coal from Portland. In the United States the bituminous coal carrying trade is badly congested. Added to the abnormal and excited demand, there is a curious complaint of a dearth of engines caused by the Grand Army of the Republic encampment at Washington having commandered more engines than the roads could really spare. On this scarcity of engines is laid the responsibility of having forced the price of bituminous coal up to nine and ten dollars a ton in New York recently, which is an advance of from five to six dollars a ton above the normal price.—Montreal Witness.

LIFE ANNUITIES FOR WIDOWS.

At the meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada, held at St. John, a paper on the need for a system of Government annuities was read. It set forth that there exists at present no safe and immediately available form of investment for money that has been specially saved, through life insurance or otherwise, for the maintenance of those persons who, from old age or other cause, are unable to maintain and protect themselves. Vast sums of money arising from insurance and bequests, and intended for the benefit and life protection of widows and minor children, are absolutely lost through the absence of this species of annuity. To give life insurance money to a widow is one thing; to safely invest it so that she may have an assured income for the remainder of her life is quite another. It is the latter that the Government annuity gives, and thus completes the aim of her benefactor.

Women from their peculiar circumstances have not the same opportunities of making judicious commercial investments as men have. The domestic life of women debars them from the knowledge which would enable them to handle capital profitably. Probably one-third of the money paid over to widows from life insurance disappears within a few years after the husband's death, and they are, with age and infirmity daily increasing, left in distress and poverty. At no period in a woman's life is she more unfit to deal with business matters, or to calmly think about money investments, than at the period of bereavement. That is the moment for her when she is more likely to become the prey of the smooth-tongued speculator. With Government annuities always available for purchase, there would be no necessity to search for private investments.

At the age of 50, on a 3 per cent. basis, $1,000 would purchase a life annuity of $78.78; on a 6 per cent. basis $99.49. At the age of 70, the annuity on a 3 per cent. basis would be $152.18, and on a 6 per cent. basis, $174.86.—Times.

WAS A SUCCESS.

Brockville People Satisfied in Matter of Bonusing.

Regarding the bonusing of manufactories, the Canadian Engineer says:

Ten years ago Brockville gave a bonus of $50,000 to the Canada Carriage Company, which removed from Gananoque, $40,000 cash, and $1,000 a year for ten years. The company agreed to spend not less than $50,000 a year for wages. The ten year agreement expired on October 1st. In 1892 there were 125 hands employed; now there are over 250. In the ten years $784,300 has been paid out for wages. Large additions have been made to the works, consisting of a workshop, 60x185 feet, two stories high, new boiler and engine room, dry kiln, etc., which will increase the capacity fully 50 per cent.

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless It Is Digested.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains.

For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe outdoor manual labour can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutricious foods are difficult of digestion and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables where the digestion is too weak to assimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best results from our food that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs, and several years experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stomachs lack, pepsin diastase and by stimulating the gastric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid.

People may make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion which means perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.

LATE LITERARY NEWS.

Can one woman give to another woman the unswerving loyalty which an ideal friendship should exact? Will a woman be faithful to her friend not merely while she is her friend, but after? If for any reason, jealousy or envy or the poison of suspicion part the two, will each be loyal to the past, keep its secrets and respect its obligations? If ever two men who have once been friends wear out their friendship and perhaps exchange it for open enmity, they still respect the tie that has been broken. For the future, they will strike as hard as they are able, but in doing so they will not violate their old friendship, nor use the opportunities which it gives them for inflicting pain—but is this the case with women? Does honour mean the same to a man as to a woman? These are some of the questions which Rafford Pyke asks in the article he contributes to the November Cosmopolitan on "What Women Like in Women."

Mr. John Soucee, of Detroit, Mich., is home to visit his mother.

Street lamps are very much needed in our village. A move is on foot to secure them and should be encouraged by everyone in the community. Country folk would be benefited by them during the dark fall and winter evenings.

Mrs. T. J. Wallace has returned after a two weeks' visit with friends in Peterborough.

The fishery department, it is stated, has issued license to Messrs. Scriver, of Hastings, to place nets in Rice Lake to weed out suckers and mud cats, so as to preserve the spawn of game fish. This is, it is alleged, the reason they advance. Some years ago Messrs. Dillon and Stapelton, of Prince Edward, obtained a license to do the same. It is claimed by those who assume to know that as a result hundreds of bass and maskinonge were killed and shipped, and fishing in Rice Lake was ruined for two or three years. These nets are placed on the hard bottom, in channels between rice beds and all places where game fish run this time of the year. If each barrel of fish were shipped under Government inspection things might be all right. As it is lovers of the rod and reel do not much like the posibility of fish being fast slaughtered by nets.

Public School Concert will be held as usual on the Friday evening before Christmas, Dec. 19th, when an excellent programme will be presented.

Mr. John McFee has sold his farm stock and rented his farm.

Mr. E. Howson has sold his farm and will move to Peterborough.

What Scott's Emulsion Really Is.

The essence of nourishment—a predigested food. A condensed fat made palatable and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. The first food a baby receives, mother's milk, is an emulsion. Scott's Emulsion is the milk or cream of cod liver oil, and contains the elements needed to supply the nourishment that may be lacking in a mother's milk.

If a baby is fat it is comfortable and happy; a thin, scrawny baby is never quite well, never thoroughly comfortable. Its ordinary food may not contain the right nourishment.

For such a baby Scott's Emulsion is intended. It supplies the needed nourishment as well as heat and fat; it makes babies comfortable. Why? Because Scott's Emulsion contains the elements that possess in the highest degree the principles of nourishment.

Cod liver oil has for years been known as one of the greatest foods in the world. It stands at the head of the list as containing, in a given quantity, the most nourishment of any food. But cod liver oil in its raw state is repulsive. Weak stomachs cannot retain it; delicate tastes rebel against it.

It was to overcome these objections and still retain the full value of the oil that Scott's Emulsion was introduced. But it does more than offer the full strength of cod liver oil in a palatable form. It combines with the oil other splendid ingredients—hypophosphites of lime and soda and glycerine. The proper and perfect combination of these, found only in Scott's Emulsion, represents a most valuable food-medicine.

The mission of the oil is to stop waste, supply the loss of flesh and furnish nourishment; the hypophosphites feed and sustain the nerve tissues and nerve centers besides stimulating the action of the blood; the glycerine furnishes bone material and marrow, upon which latter the blood depends.

How are these results secured? By the easy action and mild progress of Scott's Emulsion through the body. Being partly digested it does not tax the stomach; being perfectly blended it is quickly and easily assimilated, that is, distributed with exact regard for the particular need of each part of the body.

On every package of the genuine Scott's Emulsion there is a trade mark label of a man with a fish on his back.

We will send a sample free to anyone on request.

THE PILGRIM ARMY.

Marching Doukhobors Camped at Strathclair on Thursday.

MOST OF THEM FIRM IN CRAZE

Colonization Agent Speers Hopes That the Influence of the Women Will Yet Cause the March to Be Abandoned —He Is Conferring With Mr. Pedley, Who Has Arrived at Winnipeg From Ottawa.

Shoal Lake, Man., Nov. 7. — The Doukhobors left here early yesterday morning, after having breakfast by daylight, on their march eastward. There were about fifteen deserters from their ranks, besides a few who had to stay behind through sickness. They were all comfortable housed during the night by the residents of the village. The main portion of them still are firm in their craze, and seem perfectly satisfied with the progress they are making. Strathclair was reached at noon, and the pilgrims spent the night at Newdale.

Winnipeg, Nov. 7.—Mr. C. W. Speers, colonization agent, who has been in charge of the Government arrangement for the care of the women and children of the Doukhobors, has arrived in the city, to meet Mr. Frank Pedley, who has also reached the city from Ottawa. Mr. Speers saw the Doukhobor women safely on the way home by train, and now takes a very hopeful view of a near approach of a collapse of the religious mania that has taken hold of the Doukhobors.

"Sixteen of the pilgrims," said Mr. Speers, "joined the women on the trail, and for a time it appeared as if they all would turn about and go back to their villages. The women at Yorkton are all anxious to go back to their homes, and it will not take long, I am convinced for their influence to bring their husbands back to a proper way of thinking. I have left written instructions to have the greatest care taken of the misguided people, and the squad of Mounted Police will see that no harm comes to them."

GRANT CONVOCATION HALL.

Corner Stone Laid at Kingston by Sir Sandford Fleming.

Kingston, Nov. 7. — The corner stone of Grant Convocation Hall was laid at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Sir Sandforh Fleming, in the presence of a large assembly. At 3.30 o'clock a service in memory of the late principal was held in old Convocation Hall, the addresses being delivered by Hon. G. W. Ross and Rev. Prof. Ross of the Presbyterian College, Montreal. The brass tablet erected by the students was also unveiled.

After laying the stone Sir Sandford Fleming made reference to the labors of the late Dr. Grant, whose methods and plans would long remain an inspiration to the students at the University.

Rev. Prof. Ross, at the memorial service, reviewed the career of the late principal, chiefly as a teacher, preacher and principal.

Hon. Geo. W. Ross eloquently dwelt on Principal Grant as an educationalist; his views of the kind of education best suited for Canadian people, and his aim to give it to them. The eminence of Dr. Grant as a great Canadian was expatiated upon. Unity and equality were the two purposes most striking in his career as a Canadian.

The address dwelt also upon the optimism of the deceased as to the future possibilities of Canada. The imperialistic outlook of the principal was also mentioned. He concluded that the principal's character will bear imitation in its breadth, its toleration and its enthusiasm in all that pertains to the honor and glory of the nation.

Socialists Masters of Vienna.

Vienna, Nov. 7.—Elections of members to the Diet of Lower Austria, in which the anti-Semite Burgomaster of Vienna, Dr. Luger, is supreme, have resulted in a complete victory for the Christian Socialists, or clerical Anti-Semite party, which captured all but one of the seats for Vienna, and which will command 50 out of the 78 seats in the Legislative Assembly.

The increased majority gives Dr. Luger complete control of both the lower Austrain Diet and the Vienna Town Council for the next six years.

Mascagni Stops in Boston.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—Signor Mascagni and his Italian opera company have landed upon the rocks in Boston, and Italy's great composer is here without a manager, with a company of 160 people, many of whom claim they have not enough money to buy breakfast in the morning. The end came last night after a series of disasters since the arrival of the company in this city last Sunday evening. The Mascagni venture has been a failure, and the managers declare they have lost $60,000.

Scarlet Fever Serum.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Dr. G. A. Charlton of McGill says he has discovered a serum that will successfully combat scarlet fever. He claims that he has treated patients at the Civic Hospital, saving 13 out of 15 cases.

Revolver "Lay Around."

Belleville, Nov. 7. — A six-year-old son of Wm. Haggerty of Crookston gained possession of his father's revolver and shot himself through the fleshy part of the left arm, just below the shoulder. He will recover.

The Policeman's Evidence.

Policeman Peter Morris, of Toronto, says that for years he was troubled with habitual constipation, and though he spent much money for medicine was only disappointed with the results. He now recommends Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills to his friends because it cured him of his ailments. You can be cured of constipation by this treatment. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box.

ENLARGED FOR A WEEK.

Alfred McDougall, Accused Government Official in Court—Big Bail Asked.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—$30,000 is the security demanded as bail for the release of Alfred McDougall, now in jail, charged with misappropriating funds as solicitor to the Ontario Treasury Department. This is the largest bail bond ever required in the Province. Twenty-five thousand dollars was previously the largest amount required. The prisoner's friends have not yet furnished the security. The amount was fixed by Hon. S. C. Biggs, specially employed to represent the Crown.

In the Police Court yesterday morning McDougall was arraigned on two charges. The first was to the effect that, being in the employ of the Ontario Government, and being entrusted with the receipt, custody and management of certain valuable securities and moneys, he stole on Nov. 16, 1900, a cheque dated October 25, 1900, for the amount of $390, issued by Messrs. Chisholm & Logie on the Hamilton branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and also the sum of $390, which the bank paid on the presentation of the cheque. The other charge says that on December 20, 1897, he stole a cheque for $6,564.88, dated November 29, of the same year, which had been issued by William Mortimer Clarke on the Standard Bank of Canada, and that he presented the cheque and stole the money which was paid upon it. These two cheques covered succession duties on the Leslie and Hunter estates. Mr. McDougall, who was not admitted to bail, asked that his case be remanded for a week, without his pleading or electing, as his solicitor was not present. This was done, and the prisoner retired to Mr. Curry's room, where he had been until called.

The amount of his alleged peculations is now estimated at from $30,000 to $35,000.

Mr. McDougall, who is about 64 years of age, was arrested at his home, 44 Charles street. He comes of a highly-respected Canadian family, and was formerly a member of the Toronto City Council. Speculation on the stock exchange is stated by his friends to be the cause of Mr. McDougall's downfall. He was suspended by the Government on September 30, pending an investigation into his accounts.

ABSORBING PROBLEM

Of the Present Day.

The absorbing problem of to-day is, how to expend one's income so as to attain the best results; that is, get full value for one's money.

It may truthfully be said that this has been, is, and always will be an absorbing problem to those with limited means; but the fact remains that, with the price of living necessities constantly rising one must husband one's resources more carefully than ever before if he would live within his income. In saying that prices are rising, we except one article which has come to occupy a prominent place in the family medicine closet, and that is the specific for piles or hemorrhoids known as Pyramid Pile Cure; this remedy is still sold by druggists at the old prices of fifty cents, and one dollar, and these prices will remain unchanged. Those to whom this preparation has brought relief and a cure after years of suffering do not need to be told of its merits; others are advised that it is the greatest boon ever discovered, to all those afflicted with any form of piles; it is in suppository form, is easily applied, reaches the seat of the complaint, and gives immediate relief and a lasting cure.

The reader may have tried salves, ointments and lotions without benefit, and feeling that his money has been wasted, resolves to suffer on rather than experiment farther. The reason for the failure of these treatments is, that they do not reach the seat of the trouble, and hence do not remove the cause, as does Pyramid Pile Cure. A little book describing piles, their cause and cure, is published by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and anyone may procure a copy by sending name and address to above firm. As showing the estimation in which this remedy is held by the public it may interest the reader to know that its sales now exceed those of all other pile remedies combined.

EIGHT MEN DROWNED.

Great Gale Off Shore Causes Death and Destruction.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 7.—No less than eight men were drowned, three vessels driven ashore, and practically every lighter on the Nome Beach was wrecked in a storm that commenced on Tuesday, Oct. 14, and continued throughout the day. The facts are supplied by Purser Robertson of the Ohio, who arrived here yesterday. The known dead are: Frank Kelly, George Robertson, George Fleuth, Samuel Josephson.

A dozen or more people thrown into the surf were rescued by the lifesaving crews. The schooner Louise, the steamer Elk, and the launch Fleetwing were among the larger craft left on the beach.

Pacific Cable Rates.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Sir William Mulock has been notified by the Pacific Cable Board that the rate per word between points in Canada and all points in Australia or New Zealand is two shillings and fourpence per word. Every word will be counted. The present rate from Ottawa to Australia is 90 cents per word. The old rate before the cut was made was $1.50 per word.

Fell to His Death.

Foxhaven, Man., Nov. 7.—Arthur Pizzey, employed on the farm of Geo. Dunlop, was working in the upper storey of a granary Wednesday when the door gave way and fell to the ground, carrying Pizzey with it, and the wheat pouring through the opening covered the man to a depth of several feet. He was quite dead when dug out about an hour later.

U.S. Gunboat to Argue.

Port of Spain, Nov. 7.—The United States gunboat Marietta arrived yesterday at Barcelona, in order to compel the revolutionists there to release the United States Consular Agent, Ignacio H. Baiz, who was arrested for refusing to subscribe to a forced loan.

COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED.

Alleged Makers and Utterers of Dominion $1 and $2 Bills in Custody.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Arrests in connection with the wholesale circulation in this city of thousands of counterfeit $1 and $2 Dominion of Canada bills were made last night. At the same time a complete plant for turning out the spurious bills was unearthed and is now in possession of the police. The plant includes presses, rollers, plates, inks, acids and an almost inexhaustible supply of paper. With the plant was seized a roll of bad bills of the same series that were put in circulation here and subsequently found their way into banks and afterwards into the hands of the police. The notes are all cleverly executed and not easily detected.

The prisoners are William Stuart, a lithographer, aged 70 years; Anson Raymond, aged 54, proprietor of the Raymond House, 355 Wilton avenue, and Raymond's wife, Elizabeth, aged 44. Stuart is believed to be the leader of the gang which made their headquarters at Raymond's hotel, and put their bad bills in circulation here and in Montreal. It was at Raymond's hotel that the plant was found. Stuart admitted his guilt, but Raymond and his wife made no statement to the police.

The prisoners will be arraigned in the police court this morning.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

A SHOOTING FATALITY AT KETCHECUM.

Wm. H. Hall, Formerly of Peterborough.

A WELL-KNOWN SPORTSMAN.

The Son was Alighting From the Canoe When the Gun was Accidently Discharged—Body Brought to Town.

News was received in town last night of a shooting accident which occurred at Ketchecum Lake, on Wednesday night, resulting in the death of William H. Hall, a gentleman who was well known to the residents of the back country, and to the people of Peterborough.

From the particulars already to hand, it would appear that on Wednesday afternoon the late Mr. Hall and his son were returning from their day's outing on the lake. They had arrived at their destination, and the son was alighting from the bow of the canoe, when his gun in some manner was accidentally exploded, the charge entering the abdomen of his father. Death did not immediately follow. Some gentlemen who were deer hunting in the vicinity, came to the assistance of Mr. Hall, whilst the son canoed seven miles to the nearest point of communication and summoned a physician from Lakefield. Dr. Fraser left at once for the scene of the accident, but Mr. Hall had expired long before he arrived, having died about four hours after the unfortunate accident occurred. The remains were taken in a canoe to Buckhorn, where a conveyance was procured, and the son, accompanied by Mr. T. Eastwood, started for Peterborough with the body, arriving here last night. The remains were first taken to Mr. A. Comstock's undertaking establishment, where they were prepared for interment, and then to the home of deceased's, Reid street, from where the funeral will take place to-morrow.

Mr. William Hawkins Hall was a son of the late Dr. Wm. Hall, a surgeon in the British army, who had seen service in India, and was with his regiment in Montreal, when he met his death by drowning many years ago. The deceased was about 66 years of age, and came to Peterborough about the year '46, and was a member of the household of the late Judge Hall. He married a sister of the late Judge Hall, and of the late Mr. J. J. Hall, Inspector of Inland Revenue, for Peterborough. The late Mr. Hall engaged extensively in the lumbering business, and was a member of the firm of Messrs. Tait & Hall, Buckhorn, for a number of years. After retiring from business he took up residence on the shores of Lake Ketchecum. His change of residence was no doubt influenced by his fondness for outdoor sports, of hunting and fishing, and also no doubt by consideration for his health. This rugged life agreed with him to such an extent that he permanently resided in the north country, paying frequent visits, however, to his family who reside in town. He was a well known gentleman, particularly to visitors to Ketchecum Lake and many Peterborough people can testify to the hospitality they received in his solitary and secluded, though comfortable and neatly kept home in the north. He was a splendid hunter, a good shot and a skillful canoeist. He was a gentleman of kindly disposition and of more than ordinary intelligence. For some years past he has been accompanied by his son, Mr. Wesley Hall, a young man of about 25 years of age, who also thoroughly enjoyed the vigourous pleasure of hunting in the back country. The young man feels very keenly the sad accident which occurred and has as yet given but little information regarding the matter.

The late Mr. Hall leaves to mourn his demise, besides a wife and son, three daughters. They are Misses Madeline, Emma and Janie.

The funeral will leave the family residence, No. 387 Reid street, at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

THE TRENT CANAL.

Report of the Chairman of the Trent Canal Committee.

The following report was presented at the October meeting of the Orillia Board of Trade, by Mr. J. P. Secord, chairman of the Trent Canal Committee:

"Your Committee on the Trent Valley Canal beg to report that the work on the various sections under contract, and in course of construction, is progressing in a moderately satisfactory manner, and it is expected that their work will be completed in about three years. This will open the canal between Lake Simcoe and Healey Falls, about 168 miles. There are 45 steamers already plying the now navigable portions of the route. The Dominion Government is also doing some dredging at the Narrows, between Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching, which may be said to form a part of the canal, besides being a work highly appreciated by the navigators of the lakes. When these sections under contract are completed, there will only remain a couple of short sections at the extreme east end to be undertaken in order to open up communication between Orillia and Lake Ontario. We regret to inform you that a controversy has arisen on the part of the people of Port Hope, Cobourg and Trenton as to where the canal will enter Lake Ontario, each of these towns having set up claims thereto. The town of Orillia is not especially interested in the controversy, except that we hope it will not be allowed to delay the work of the canal, and we suggest that the Government be urged to select the terminal, and push the work with all possible vigour."

Why do I wear "C. R. Co." rubbers? Because they fit properly and wear better than any other rubber shoe in the market. You cannot afford to be without a pair if you value your health.

"PORT HOPE CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST CASE."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In connection with a report published recently in your paper regarding the action of a coroner's jury in Port Hope, in recommending the Legislature to enact a law to prevent a Christian Scientist from treating any case that is not at the same time being treated by a medical doctor, permit me to point out a few facts overlooked by the jury.

Such a law as they recommend would be most unjust and unconstitutional, as well as absurd, for it would prevent persons from praying for the recovery of a patient from headaches, toothaches and such things, unless attended by a physician, and would, if consistently carried out, prohibit ministers from praying for the recovery of the sick unless an M.D. were attending the case. Such a law would be class legislation of the worst kind, because we believe an impartial investigation would show that the percentage of failures in Christian Science is much smaller than under medical treatment.

The jury based their decision on a single failure, overlooking entirely the immense number of successful cases healed through Christian Science, compared with a very small number of failures. They ignored the fact that this same child had been previously treated and healed by Christian Science. Further, they ignored the vast number of cases lost by the medical men every day. When medical science becomes so perfect that the doctors never lose a case, then it will be time to legislate against Christian Scientists in favour of the M.D's.

Though the Christian Science churches are made up largely of persons who have been sick and despondent many of them having been pronounced hopeless cases, yet the clerk of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, was able to report last June that the mortality rate of that church for 1901 was only 2.82 per thousand, being 17.38 per thousand less than the rate for the City of Boston for the same year. Can a system producing such results be a "danger to the public?" It is only just that a system be judged by its successes, rather than by the occasional failures of some of its exponents.

Thanking you for space for this reply, I am,

Yours respectfully,
C. R. MUNRO.

REV. MR. CROSSLEY'S SERVICES.

Bowmanville Papers Speak Highly of Former Peterborough Pastor.

The Bowmanville News contains the following reference to a song sermon given by Rev. D. O. Crossley, in that town on Sunday evening last, and will be read with pleasure by many in Peterborough:

"The song sermon in the Methodist church on Sunday evening last, was a delightful one. Over a thousand people were not only attracted to it, but came away benefitted and profitted by it. 'Save the Boy,' was the topic, and Rev. D. O. Crossley, dealt with it ably, both in song and sermon, being assisted in song by Mr. H. J. Knight leading the choir in two solos, 'Will He Ever Come Back?' and 'Have Courage My Boy, to Say, No;' Rev. Mr. Crossley and Mr. Bragg also leading them in 'Save the Boy,' and 'Hold the Light up Higher, Higher.'"

The Statesman also spoke of the service as follows:

"Rev. D. O. Crossley's song sermon on Sunday night on the subject of 'Save the Boy,' was heard by a large audience from town and country. The discourse had a wholesome ring and was equally helpful to parents and children. We believe every boy who heard the preacher's earnest appeal to young men to live clean, godly and useful lives, must have been inspired to follow the advice, in a measure at least. We wish every boy in town had heard it."

"THE PARSON'S NEPHEW"

Was Presented at the Opera House Last Evening.

Marks Bros. scored another success last evening when they presented "The Parson's Nephew." The Opera House was crowded and everyone seemed to enjoy the play. The specialties were good, and the singing of a parody on "A Hot Time" brought down the house.

A matinee will be held to-morrow afternoon when a boy's suit and a pair of girl's shoes will be given away. To-morrow night a special prize of a set of dishes, now on exhibition in China Hall window, will be given away.

THE NEW NORTHLAND.

How Settlers Make a Living in the Temiskaming District—Work for Everybody Who Deserves It at Good Wages.

The New Liskeard correspondent of The Toronto Globe writes: What is a settler without capital to do to make a living for himself and family during the first couple of years of settlement? is a question asked naturally by every seeker after land who comes into the Temiskaming country. "Go lumbering" is, perhaps, the shortest answer to such a question, but the man on the outside will have a better idea of what he may expect if he is told what the settlers are at present doing, and have been doing for some seasons. It is impossible, of course, for a man without capital to go in and make a living off his farm at once, and it is the amount of outside work offering that ensures him a safe and steady income while clearing up his land. In this country the man who wants to work need not remain a day idle. There is an instant demand for his services, and for hundreds more like him if only they were here. The settler as an outside source of income can either clear his own land of the timber and sell it to the lumberman, or work for jobbers who are cutting for the lumbermen. He can go into the lumber camps, or obtain steady employment on the Government roads. Wages last winter in the camps ran from $28 to $30 a month, with board, while the Government is paying on the roads $1.25 a day with board, and $1.75 without board. In the camps this winter the rate will run from $25 to $30 a month.

When the settler takes up his land he has to do his clearance duties and erect a shanty on it in order to fulfill the Government regulations. After that he is at liberty to work any place he likes. Where the land is close to water or a good road he can haul his timber to the banks of the river and be paid for it there by the lumbermen. If the river or road is not accessible he will have to wait till he obtains the road to make his timber valuable, and in the meantime he works for some of the jobbers. The latter make contracts with the lumbermen to bring out pulpwood, boom sticks, cedar ties and telegraph posts, engage a number of the settlers and put in small camps for the winter. By this means the settler obtains steady work, even where he cannot profitably handle the timber on his own lot. A farmer with several sons working this way is reasonably sure of a nice little sum when the spring comes and his accounts are settled with the lumberman.

The operations of the latter are extending every year now, and this winter will be heavier than ever. By this is meant their operations with the settlers, and exclusive of what they are doing on their regular limits. The growth of the lumber business with the settlers may be judged by the statement that while five years ago the Eddy Company could purchase only 500 cords of pulpwood in this district, they took from the settlers last year 12,000 cords, paying $2.25 a cord. The settler, too, has the satisfaction of knowing that while he is selling his timber to the lumberman he is at the same time clearing his farm and getting it in shape for cultivation.

It is estimated also that J. R. Booth last year paid out nearly $100,000 to settlers for their timber, so that between these two firms there was expended last winter somewhere around $125,000, nearly all of which went into the hands of the settlers.

There are probably very few settlers in the district to-day who are able to live entirely off their farms. The country is too young for that, and there is besides so much outside work going that not as much attention is given to the cultivation of the farms as under different circumstances there would be. It is the exception to see a thoroughly cleared field with all the stumps taken out. Most of the settlers content themselves with taking out the smaller stumps, and in the meantime sowing among the larger ones. The necessity of earning money to support their families prevents many from working their land, while there are others whose sole business is lumbering, and who only sow enough roots to keep the family through the winter. The genuine settler, however, gives all the attention he can to his farm, and these are making good progress.

As yet the settler has to purchase nearly all he consumes, and with the prices prevailing this is no inconsiderable tax on him. Where he has any farm stuff to sell, however, his lot is a happy one. Hay last winter ran as high as $16 to $18 a ton, and for oats 65c. to $1 was paid early, and later on from $1.10 to $1.25 a bushel. Potatoes were $1.15 per bag, and peas $1.25 a bushel for seed. All roots and coarse grains bring a high price, and while in some lines prices were higher than usual last winter, there is abundant reason to believe that everything that can be grown will for some years to come bring what would be considered in old Ontario big prices. The demand from the lumbermen, from the new railroad while that is in course of construction, and from the farmers themselves as they gather more stock about them, will always insure a sale at remunerative figures for everything produced, and the farmer with cleared land cannot but be prosperous.

The Cause of Deafness.

Deafness and impaired hearing are due almost entirely to catarrhal inflammation of the eustachian tubes. Permanent cure is guaranteed to all who inhale Catarrhozone as directed. The British as Shipbuilders.

Great Britain, says a writer in "Britain at Work," builds in a year about double the tonnage produced by the rest of the world. One Britiso river—the Clyde—excels the output, including warships, of the United States, and almost equals the total production of both Germany and France.

The British continue to be the world's shipbuilders in the face even of subsidized opposition. The value of the shipping launched in Great Britain in a fairly prosperous year is, roughly, £27,000,000, and no less than £9,000,000 of that sum is expended in wages Machinery is included in the estimate of the value, and engine-shop pay-rolls in the wages bill. The figures refer to the finished ship.

The number of men employed in ship-yards and engine-shops is, off and on, about 130,000, and nearly a score of trades go to make the muster.

CANADA'S DRINK BILL.

Steady Increase Since 1868—Beer Bill Over Five Gallons Per Head.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—During the fiscal year ending June 30th last the consumption of spirits per head was .796 gallon, or the largest amount since 1885, when the per capita consumption was 1,126 gallons. In 1869 the people consumed 1.124 gallons. Beef, however, appears to be the popular beverage. According to the statistics, the consumption this year was at the rate of 5.102 gallons, which is altogether unprecedented in our history.

Beer drinking seems to have been rising steadily since 1898, in that year 3.808 gallons went to each Canadian's credit. The following year 3.995 gallons, in 1900 4.864 gallons, and in 1901 4.787 gallons. The consumption of wine is small, and fluctuates greatly. Last year it was .09 gallons.

The consumption of tobacco was equal to 2.401 pounds, which was the same as in 1901. This rate was exceeded in 1874, 1875, 1884 and 1885. The rates of duty per head were: Spirits, $1,148; beer, $1,133; wine, $0.063; tobacco, $0.55.

The quantity of spirits produced during the year was 8,234,147 proof gallons an increase of 581,439 gallons. The quantity consumed was 2,933,183, as against 2,707,919 gallons for the year previous. There were exported 151,799 proof gallons, being an increase of 3,645 gallons.

The total amount of tobacco taken for consumption was 22,677,302 pounds, of which 72,286 pounds were Canadian twist. The raw leaf consumed totalled 10,704,962 pounds.

The cigars of all kinds produced last year numbered 156,686,795, a gain of 15,256,341 as compared with 1901. The total production of cigarettes was 138,214,384, a gain of 14,623,350. The manufacture of snuff is falling off. Last year 173,188 pounds were produced, a decrease of 26,007 compared with the previous year.

ELECTION TRIALS.

Two More Petitions Fixed to Be Tried in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Two more election trials are to be transferred to Toronto, which is taken to mean that they will not be proceeded with, but dismissed here.

In the Glengarry petition against the return of W. D. McLeod, Conservative, the trial was fixed for the 11th at Cornwall, but it has been transferred to Toronto for Saturday the 22nd.

It is understood also, that the trial in the North Waterloo petition against Dr. Lackner will be transferred to Toronto.

A special election court will be held at Osgoode Hall on Saturday when the dates of trial for North Waterloo, Sault Ste. Marie, North Ontario and North York will be arranged.

There is some talk that the petition against the return of Miscampbell in Sault Ste. Marie will not be proceeded with. There is a motion to have it set aside, and this may be argued on Saturday.

CONTINUAL MISERY.

At Times the Pain was so Great That the Sufferer Would Faint.

Maurice Best, of Southern Harbour, Newfoundland, has committed to paper a tale of sickness and suffering which is almost beyond belief. He says:

"In 1892 I was attacked with Dyspepsia which gradually grew worse and worse. For eight years afterward I was in continual misery. At times the pains were so great that I would go off into a faint for ten or fifteen minutes and at the last I was more dead than alive.

"I called in a doctor and he gave me relief, but I soon was worse than ever. I tried everything I could hear of, but nothing seemed to cure me.

"I was at last reduced to a very weakened condition, and not till then did I hear of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I immediately sent away and got a box. The very first dose helped me a little, and I kept on getting better till I was completely cured. They gave me a new life, and in a short time I felt like a new man.

"I confess I owe my life to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I am like a great many others, I cannot speak enough in their favour. No one can speak too highly of them.

"I am glad to have the pleasure of recommending them to all sufferers, for they have my most grateful thanks for the wonderful cure they brought to me."

Mr. Best says that he finds it impossible to describe the pain and distress he had to suffer before using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

If this remedy can cure such extreme cases it is but fair to presume that there is no case of Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Palpitation of the Heart, or Chronic Dyspepsia, that they will not cure.

Sketch of Duncan Campbell Scott.

Mr. Scott's poetry is distinguished by marked beauty of diction, elevated imagery and a rare tranquility of thought. But moral passion stirs strongly within him, as witness that fine effort, "The Harvest," and the lines of "The Dame Reguant." He is an idealist, and implicity acknowledges a transcendent source for the profound effect the contemplation of nature makes upon him. Mr. Scott is a native of Ottawa, where he first saw the light in 1862. He was educated at the public schools of the city and at Stanstead Wesleyan College. He entered the Canadian civil service in a minor capacity and has risen to the position of chief clerk and accountant in the Department of Indian Affairs, a position he still retains. He has long had a connection with American periodicals, and a recognized place among the younger poets of his time. In 1893 he published his first volume of verse, entitled "The Magic House and Other Poems." Five years later a second volume appeared from the press of Copeland & Day, Boston. The lines above are extracted from this collection, which is named from the initial poem, "Labor and the Angel."

Mats For Piano Keys.

Mats for piano keys are used in some houses to keep the dust away. They are made of a long strip of white cloth or Roman satin, with a musical staff worked all along in black filoselle, with a few bars of a tune worked with black velvet notes.

Apples for Sleeplessness.

The apple is such a common fruit that very few persons are familiar with its remarkably efficacious medicinal properties. Everybody ought to know that the very best thing he can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night. Persons uninitiated in the mysteries of the fruit are liable to throw up their hands in horror at the visions of dyspepsia which such a suggestion may summon up, but no harm can come even to a delicate system by the eating of ripe and juicy apples before going to bed. The Canadian apple is excellent brain food because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other fruit. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and thoroughly disinfects the mouth. This is not all—the apple prevents indigestion and throat diseases.—Popular Science News.

This yoke lining keeps the shirt straight and shipshape.

The Story of Morning Tiredness.

Is told by impure blood, poor digestion, sluggish liver and tired nerves. It is a warning of very serious trouble ahead, and should prompt sensible people to take a bracing tonic like Ferrozone, an energetic invigorant and rebuilder. Ferrozone will give you a sharp appetite, promote good digestion and sound sleep; it feed and energize the enfeebled organs, strengthen the nerve and vital forces and regulate the heart. Ferrozone changes that tired feeling into vigour, strength and ambition, and does it quickly. Remember the name, and insist on having only Ferrozone; it's the best tonic made. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50, at Druggists or Ormond & Walsh's.

Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation.

A Well Filled Duster Drawer.

Have a duster drawer and keep it well filled. Mrs. Smith makes all of her flour sacks up into these useful articles and says she never has less than a dozen at a time and many times has double the number. She hems them nicely. They are washed and ironed with the rest of the laundry work, and when she wants to dust the furniture, wash and wipe the lamp chimneys and globes she opens the drawer and feels an added respect for herself every time she shakes out a nice, clean duster. With many housekeepers "any old thing" will do to dust with.

Utilizing a Turtle.

Tradition says that the Queen of Sheba asked Solomon to thread an intricately pierced stone and that he did so by means of a hair tied to a living worm. A long sewer in a London factory recently became clogged, and a son of Solomon came to the rescue. Tying a long ball of twine to the shell of a mud turtle, he put the animal into the entrance of the sewer and turned on a stream of water. The turtle burrowed his way through the refuse, was "watered on" at each manhole and emerged victorious at the outlet. A rope attached to the twine, a swab and strong arms accomplished the rest swiftly and economically.

"Exactly Suited To My Case"

Says Mr. Baker, and He Voices the Opinion of Hosts of Kidney Sufferers Regarding

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It frequently happens that people who are cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have previously experimented with other medicines without obtaining the desired results, and consequently a great many make use of this expression, "exactly suited to my case."

The action of this great medicine is so wonderfully prompt and direct, and the effects so marked that people naturally feel that it is particularly suited to their case. Time has proven the merits of this preparation, and consequently it has attained an enormous sale.

Mr. John Baker, Deseronto, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and can truthfully say that they are perfect in their work. I was subject to pain in my sides and back. At times I had to lay off work, and feared that I would never get rid of the ailment which was causing my sufferings. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended to me, and I found them to be exactly suited to my case. Since using them I have never had a return of my old troubles."

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab with a knife and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

THE HOPE of the HEART

BY BALDWIN SEARS

Copyright, 1901, by Baldwin Sears

The scuttle in the roof of the farmhouse opened slowly, and a girl's head appeared. As she held up her face to the evening breeze, her fair skin, yellow hair and delicate features made her appear like some faint star just glancing above the horizon.

A young man with a scythe over his shoulder crossing the lane below the barn looked up toward the house. Seeing the girl, he stopped, straightened his shoulders as though he half expected her to speak and to speak himself, then walked on with lagging steps and disappeared below the orchard where the brook flows into the woods.

Mary leaned her arms on the edge of the scuttle and looked out. The hot air from the garret blowing in gusts past her face was like a twitch at her sleeves reminding her of the household she had left below.

She was the only one who had not already gone to bed. It was harvest time. They were cutting the wheat in the meadows, and all day the hum of the reaper had come up from the broad, white fields where the men were at work. Since dawn the house had been buzzing with lively toil, but now the day's work was ended.

In the front room off the porch the farmer and his wife were asleep. They had gone to bed immediately after supper, and while Mary had sat in the porch she heard their low voices talking over the potato crop and the grain, their drowsy words growing fewer, slower, until at length they sank away and ceased, while yet the bobolinks were skimming over the meadow and the red of the sunset lingered.

Across the gate her married brother and a neighbor had talked politics. Mary had heard their nasal voices alternating like the wooden balls tossed by a juggler. In the south chamber just under the attic her sister-in-law had been putting her children to bed, the creak, creak of the rocking chair as it swayed over an uneven board dimly audible through the silent house. In the attic under the roof slept her little brother Bob, dreamless, tired and contented at the end of his long summer day.

Down in the kitchen yard the turkeys and chickens had gone to roost in the apple trees and the grape arbor, clucking and twittering in sleepy protest against the awkward ones as they settled themselves together.

In a few moments it had grown very still and dark.

The girl on the house top drew a long breath and leaned her head back against the edge of the roof. It was only 8 o'clock, and the faint yellow twilight lingered on the border of the summer night. A new moon hung low over the crest of the woods. The west wind brought up the hot smell of ripening cornfields, and a bat darted out of the orchard in swooping circles against the clear night.

From her eyrie above the treetops the farm buildings, the neighboring houses, the fields and lanes, even the wide post road, looked quite small and cheap, like a toy village. The countryside in its irregular checkerboard of pasture, corn and woodland, pale yellow with the wheat stubble, somber green where half ripened orchards spread, marked here and there by a cluster of roofs, a spire that told a hamlet in the hills, became significant only in the mystery of distance as it mounted toward the hills and ended at last in one vast, gray, sealike level against the trackless sky. Mary looked at it all as one upon whose mind the meaning of these familiar scenes had just begun to dawn—these fields, the chickens she must pluck, the bread she must make, the raspberries she must preserve, all grouped themselves before her in a coherent scheme of life. From dawn till dark, each day alike, cooking, washing, preserving, holding the babies—the burdens of each side were hers. So far she had carried them unthinkingly, unquestionably. It was only the lot of every farmer's life.

Tonight she was unusually tired. To escape a feeling of restlessness she had determined to go to bed. It was refreshing to lie in the cool darkness. But before she reached the top of the attic stairs she felt the dry heat of the sun baked roof. The great, timbered space, dark with its age blackened beams and scantly windowed twilight, held a strange odor of cedar shingles, of ancient leather trunks, of musty papers. In the solemn dusk the candle lost its bold glare and drooped to a wavering spark, eyed by the glimmering gray panes of the gable windows high under the ridge.

The two chimneys, like huge stone giants whom she had been feeding all day, stooped over her as they towered toward the roof, reminding her of tomorrow's kitchen work.

As Mary sat on the edge of her cot, thinking of these things, she looked up vaguely. A star, the first in the pale night, shone through the window upon her, clear, unwinking, pensive, holy.

A lock of hair loosened by the wind floated softly across her cheek like the kiss of unseen lips. For the first time in her life she felt the restless longing for some good of which she was ignorant. What was it her simple, sweet existence lacked? Had she not everything that a girl could ask—father, mother, food and shelter, a place in the world? What else had any one? The aged farmer and his wife—those two good people fast asleep without a thought in their nightcaps beyond the potato crop; their daughter-in-law, the men at work in the fields, all those dependent on the great harvests, on the bountiful farm; were they not happy, contented, unquestioning? Was she not happy too? Had she anything to complain of, to regret, to wish for?

Suddenly out of the hush came the cry of the whippoorwill, that piercing, mournful voice of the vacant, windblown fields, of meadows flowering unseen and far away. It thrilled her like a pain. It stabbed her through and through and cut her to the heart with its questioning, solitary call, hidden in the twilight of the woods.

She had heard it so often, year after year, like the robin and the lark. Never had it sounded so lonely, so friendless and apart. A strange longing swelled up in her breast; tears filled her eyes. The years of her life, with their simple tasks, their ambitions, hopes and dreams, came to her like some vast tidal wave upon a sunny shore, withdrawing in a long resounding sigh at the absence of some unknown joy. She stared through the warm darkness toward the edge of the woods outlined against the evening as though one should try to read the soul of a silhouette. Then she dropped her face in her hands for a single minute.

At 6 o'clock in the morning Mary was in the garden picking the vegetables for dinner. The sunshiny, dew fresh day, the beans and cabbages in their prim symmetry, the tall scarlet hollyhocks nodding against the fence, made the experiences of the night before very remote and visionary.

As Mary reached the end of the row of peas she pushed back her sunbonnet and looked up; then her song stopped and she knelt silently.

A young man was standing on the other side of the garden wall looking at her. He blushed as he met her steady, smiling gaze. "Picking peas?" he asked. "You've got a lot, haven't you?"

"Yes, indeed; plenty this year. Have you?"

"All we can eat and more too. Getting old, though. How are these?" He crossed the wall and stood beside her. "Yours are pretty tender yet." He tore off another pod. "Shan't I help you? Two can work better than one."

"Oh, thank you; you needn't bother." Yet she smiled at him.

"Oh, I like to do this. I'll take the inside of the row."

"It's very kind of you," she answered, looking up at him sweetly.

How brown and strong and sinewy he had grown since he had begun to work in the harvest fields. She had not seen him for a long while, not since they were in school together. She was looking at him again when he glanced up and caught her eyes. This time they both blushed. They said nothing for some time. Mary picked busily, and the boy whistled half to himself. They were beside each other, with nothing between them but the slender trellis of pea vines, enough to give the boy courage to say, "Did you hear the whippoorwill last night?"

Mary felt a flash that made her nerves tingle.

"Oh, did you, too?" she exclaimed, then stopped, abashed at her own eagerness. How could Alvy understand the confession she had made to a whippoorwill just because it was unseen? "Where was it?" she asked, with all the carelessness she could summon.

"Down in the wood lot about half past 8. I was coming home 'cross lots back of your barn; been up at the other farm all day."

They were picking slowly now. How pretty Mary was with her braided yellow hair, her rose pink ears, her smooth lidded, down drooping eyes! The ruffle of her apron, with its crisp curves, seemed meant to hedge her cheeks from kisses.

Alvy felt his heart throb dizzily. So many words and thoughts went round and round in his head that he could not say one. And there was the screen of brush and vines between them. The delicate film of green was strong as a prison grille through which the serene face of the girl glowed upon him. Somehow their hands met upon the same pods. Mary's trembled, then lay still in his.

"I saw you up on the roof," whispered the boy. "You were listening, weren't you?"

Mary nodded.

"Do you—do you like to hear it, Mary? Do you like the whippoorwill?"

Mary's lip trembled. "I don't know. I guess so."

"Because he—he loves you, Mary."

"Mary, Mary, where are you?"

The two in the garden sprang up as the shrill voice called from the kitchen. As the boy leaped over the fence into his own orchard Mary looked after him. From the trees among which he disappeared came clear, low and sweet the call of the whippoorwill.

Men who look much older than they are never appear to such disadvantage as with the wife who keeps her matronly beauty. The secret of health and the manly vigor which goes with health is nutrition. When the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased there is loss of nutrition, and corresponding physical weakness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its allied organs, which prevent nutrition, and makes men healthy and vigorous.

"I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia for over two years, and was a complete physical wreck," writes Mr. Preston E. Fenstermacher, of Egypt, Lehigh Co., Pa. "I also suffered much with constipation. I tried many different medicines which were recommended to cure the trouble but these only made me worse. I had such a weak and debilitated appearance that it seemed as if I had hardly any blood in my whole body. At last I came across a advertisement of Dr. Pierce's. I at once tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I used about eight vials of the 'Pellets' and ten bottles of the 'Discovery' which brought me back to my former state of health."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation.

The Model Army of the World.

What army was the strongest of its time? Judging by results, the Roman army was so from the fifth century B. C. onward until the division of the empire. Its fighting organization was as complete as and possibly more practical than that of any army of today. It was based on a territorial system which maintained the comradeship of locality without bringing it into antagonism with that of the corps, for each of the thirty-five Roman "tribes" was required to furnish to each legion four "centuries" of 120 men, each of which worked together as a local unit. The legion was divided into five cohorts or battalions, of which three were troops of the line, two were a kind of militia and the fifth was a depot battalion. For almost eight centuries the army thus constituted not only conquered the then known world, but acted as explorers beyond its limits, and at the same time made and unmade kings and emperors in Rome itself. In modern times the Prussian army, which won Sadowa and Sedan and overran both Austria and France, was the strongest the world has known.—London Answers.

A Sure Cure for Constipation.

Some remedies cure this distressing complaint in a day, some in a month, but Nerviline never fails to cure in a few minutes. Just ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water—that's enough, and away goes the dysentry, cured to stay cured. Nerviline also cures Cramps, Colic, Pain in the Stomach, and Sick Headache. It has five times the strength and curative properties of ordinary remedies, and should be in every household. Better buy a 25c. bottle and try it. Nerviline is all right.

Hamilton's Pills for the Liver.

For the Hostess.

There is a charm about a cut glass ice bowl that other material seems to lack. China tubs are handsome, but cut glass appears to be pre-eminently beautiful in this instance. The example shown in the illustration has two handles and sits in a saucer. It is unusually handsome and is superbly cut. A less elaborate style, with the handles but without the saucer, terminating in a low standard, may be had, as well as bowl shaped jars.

BOWL AND KNIFE REST IN CUT GLASS.

Another useful article is a cut glass carver's rest, as seen in the illustration. These rests are heavy, large and superbly cut.—Vogue.

Quotations More Encouraging To-day.

The Market To-day was Fairly Active —The Daily Letters—Some Quotations.

The opening quotations of this morning's market were very encouraging. Nearly all the stocks opened up at prices slightly in advance of those of last night's closing, and although the advance was not continued, there were very slight declines of any, with the exception of Sugar, which fell from 118 1-2 to 117 1-4. Manhattan was very active and gained a full point above last night's close. Appended is a list of the more important stocks with their quotations:

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

London, Nov. 7, 2 p.m. — Americans steady. Good quarterly statement on Manhattan expected. American Cotton Oil reports surplus increase $412,000 this year; earnings reported about 8 per cent. Sugar trade authorities deny cut in refined; has any reference to beet competition. Coming U.P. report will make very good showing. Barling buying back C.P.R. Reported Hawley interest now hold majority Clover Leaf common. Better borrowing demand for A.C.P., At., Sugar and Eries.

New York, Nov. 7. — The Sun this morning prints an important despatch from Scranton, announcing on the authority of a prominent D. and H. stockholder, the sale of that company to the N.Y.C. and Penn., the latter taking coal and part of system, and N.Y.C. taking upper railroad portion. It is said that this deal has been consummated through J. P. Morgan's firm. No terms are given or when property is to be turned over. We cannot confirm this story.

The gold exporting point is slightly further away to-day, as result of advance in Paris exchange on London to 25 francs 14 centimes, and demand sterling here ruling 486 7-8. On this higher Paris exchange foreign exchange brokers say demand sterling here would have to advance to over 487 1-4 before engagements for export could be considered. We look for trading market to-day. There is quite a short interest in market, and this may give us occasional rallies, but we do not expect anything like a bull market.

New York, Nov. 6th.—There was considerable irregularity in the market today from the start, with occasional advances from time to time, and prices showing sharper fluctuations. It was undoubtedly due to some of more prominent operators taking different sides on the market. There was evidence of this conflicting trading, immediately after opening, and it continued in evidence up to the close, with the result that the market's position was severally tested. Brokers who watched carefully report most traders bearish, and many of them inclined to be aggressive on evidence of straggling liquidation, and belief that one large operator who had been persistently bullish and a very large holder of stocks for some time, had thrown over about 5,000 shares. One firm alone sold 25,000 shares, and other brokers supposed to act for this interest as much more, with the sales including about five to 10,000 each. B.O., S.P., M.O.P., S.P., R.G. and N.O.R. There was other large selling from other sources. Heavy pressure necessitated support. It was most pronounced in M.O.P., U.P., S.P., B.O., and S.P. and sufficiently strong to absorb all offerings, and to cause frequent rallies, which induced shorts to cover in some quarters. Call money ruled about five per cent., and sterling exchange was quiet but steady at 486 7-8. Sugar and the coal stocks were the weak features, and were most pressed for sale, and there was considerable liquidation in Nor. and other specialties. We look for good trading market with occasional rallies on shorts covering, but nothing like a bull movement may be expected at the present.

McINTYRE & MARSHALL.

New York, Nov. 6th. — The election, and its uncertainties, is now out of the way. The party of business has held its own, electing the major Governors, and, what is more to the point, controlling Congress, which will insure harmonious action there, and proper legislation for the further facilitation of business. No "hold up," fencing for position in 1904, can now take place. Interests will again revert to business, and Wall street will come in for its share. The removal of uncertainty is a lot; indeed, uncertainty is usually worse than actual adverse reality. It won't be sixty days before the facilities of the railways will be taxed to their utmost capacity to handle the moving crops, together with the general regular business that is offering. The reports for September, as we have shown in those letters during the past week, are most glowing. They are yet to be greatly exceeded, and it will be strange indeed if they do not have an important and bullish bearing upon the share markets. The cotton situation is most bullish also, owing to the low price level. We are strongly of the opinion that before Christmas cotton will be selling by many points higher than it is at present. It is in our opinion, one of the very best purchases in Wall street at present. It costs no interest for carrying, being dealt in in future options. For the benefit of those of our readers, and those who are unfamiliar with the fluctations of cotton, we will briefly explain it. Cotton can be purchased upon margin speculation in 100 bale lots. A proper and acceptable margin upon one hundred bales is $100; larger amounts in proportion. The recorded prices of cotton quote the cent price per pound, and the decimal thereof. These decimals are termed points. A point on 100 bales of cotton amounts to 65 consequently $100 as margin upon 100 bales amounts to 20 points margin. Cotton is, say, $8.50. If you bought 100 bales at that price with $100 margin thereon you would have 20 points margin, less your commission of one point each way for buying and selling, leaving you a net margin of 18 points, which would mark your cotton down to $8.32. Each point advance means five dollars profit upon each 100 bales you are carrying. It always has an excellent market, and is exceedingly active, making it attractive to speculators. If you become interested in cotton, it would be advisable to send for our weekly letter, which is devoted to that staple exclusively. It is ably edited by an expert cotton man and will keep you posted as to the trend of the cotton market.

Summary. — Failure to shake out any great quantity of stocks at yesterday's decline caused the bearish fraternity today to cease their vigorous pounding of values. Stocks generally improved, except sugar, which was heavy upon the announcement of cut in sugar prices. Good support was forthcoming in the railway list, though the buying at no time during the day assumed aggressiveness. Stocks however that were bought to day went largely into hands where they will stay unless again brought into the market for sharp bidding. The standard issues all ought to do to buy moderately. If they go off a point to a point and a half we suggest doubling your holdings. Money closed last loan 5 per cent.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM FIELD OF SPORT.

The Annual Dance of the Peterborough Rugby Club--Prospects for a City Hockey League--Notes on Curling etc.

The announcement that the annual dance of the Peterborough Rugby Club would be held on Tuesday, December 2nd, will bee received with much favour by the citizens generally. Whilst no athletic organization can, to a very great extent, be popular unless they are "winners," still, it is doubtful even with the championship honours the local club has won in recent years, that they would be so popular with the people of the town, were it not for the annual dance. This has become one of the established social events of the year, and besides being an occasion of social enjoyment to all it has proved to be a source of material financial assistance to the club. There is reason to believe that this year's dance, which will be the fourth annual affair of the kind, will be carried out in a similarly successful manner as the preceeding assemblies of the club.

It is understood that the management of the new rink will cater more to the hockey spirit of the town than to that of general skating. It is street talk that there will be, at the most, only three nights for skating while the ice may be used for hockey exclusively on the remaining three evenings, and besides, during certain hours on the nights on which there is skating—no doubt from 7 until 8 o'clock, such as was the case with the old rink. Whilst it must be understood that the rink directorate has made no announcement to the public in this regard, we state that it is believed that the directors are favourable to a policy such as above intimated. The arrangement appears to meet with general approval as it is a well known fact that the old rink saw but very few skaters on ordinary week nights, and it was only on band nights that the ice was anyway crowded. In view then of the probability of there being so much additional time alloted to hockey there is no apparent reason why a good strong city league could not be formed such as is being done in London and other cities. To develop new blood and to find new stars, there is nothing that can surpass a city league.

RUGBY.

The Executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club will be held in the Oriental Hotel on Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Speaking of the referee and umpire at last Saturday's Rough Rider-McGill match, the Ottawa Free Press says:—"The referee and umpire, both of whom were from Peterborough, gave satisfaction and were eminently fair."

* * * *

In the account of the game at Ottawa on Saturday last between the Rough Riders and Peterborough, the Ottawa papers give Hal. Burnham the credit of a touch-down, and state that Deannard was ruled off. As a matter of fact it was Crowley who got the touch-down and it was Ed. Dillon who adorned the fence.

At a meeting of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association Football Club last evening, there was a very interesting discussion on the use of electric light for practice. Secretary T. Y. Foster had written to an ex-member of the Montreal club, who is at present in Toronto, and is out with the Argonauts. He asked him how the electric light practices there worked out. The general opinion was that the system was all right.

Rev. Mr. Bushell, who was a few years ago one of the most prominent players on the Peterborough team, on hearing the result at Ottawa, sent his hearty congratulations to the members of the present team, and also expressed his best wishes for the future.

The football season now is here,
And the class cry cuts the air,
As football warriors appear
With pigskin, pads and hair.
But stop! Alas! alack!
That trivial things should game delay,
As some guard's broken back.

In slick, swift science now the sides
Are plunging right and left.
They stop—an ambulance provides
For man of ear bereft.
The game is on! Don't halt for breaks,
The precious moments fly;
Don't stop as some brave spirit takes
Its flight up to the sky.

Now Simpson, half-back, snaps the ball
To carry to the goal,
The players jump him, one and all—
Kind Heaven, rest his soul.
The game is stopped, not by police
Nor by the bloody rout.
The reason why the struggles cease—
Lint, arnica's run out.

LACROSSE.

HOCKEY.

A meeting of the Norwood Hockey Club will be held on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock at the McGregor House.

Referring to the Examiner's item on the O.H.A. a few days ago, the Port Hope Guide says:—"We quite agree with the Examiner in what it has said about the O.H.A. It is, without a doubt, the best Association in Ontario, but the northern town has yet to prove that they have a championship seven. We do not wish to insinuate that Port Hope will defeat Peterborough, but with the hockey material that is in town at the present time and the bright prospects for the covered rink, we think that the "Ontarios" will have a little to say about who shall carry off the honours."

Clifford, of last year's junior Alliston team, has secured a position in Stratford, and will be here this winter. He is a forward man, and if as speedy as reputed he will be readily given a place on the Indians' line up. He will have to go a few to travel with Hern, Fraser and Edmunds. — Stratford Beacon.

* * * *

A Cornwall despatch says: One thing is certain. Cornwall will have the best hockey team this winter that ever wore the blue and grey, and if they stay in the O.H.A. they will make a strong bid for the championship. Meanwhile, however, many of their supporters are hopeful that they will apply for admission and get into the big Eastern League.

CRICKET.

Canada is to see something of Lord Hawke's cricket team on their return from Australia. They leave England on November 12th, and proceed to the Antipodes by way of San Francisco. Quitting Australia in March, they will return to England by way of Vancouver and the Canadian Pacific route.

GOLF.

Ocean golf is one of the novelties of the transatlantic season. It was first introduced on the boats of the Atlantic Transport Company, and has been taken up enthusiastically on the largest steamers of all lines. Mr. Frank M. Morris returned on the Minnetonka, 14,000 tons burden, 600 feet from stem to stern, and with an afterdeck 200 feet long, and 40 feet in beam. Golf links had been laid out on this deck in the lee of the cabin.

* * * *

Alas! how easily scores go wrong!
An approach too short or a putt too strong,
And there comes an oath;
But the cursing's vain,
For the score is never the same again,
Is never the same again.
Ah me, ah me!

Alas! how rarely strokes go right!
'Tis hard to tell where a ball will 'light,
For we slice, and top, and pull away,
And will lower our score—some other day,
Will lower our score some other day,
Maybe! maybe! —Golf.

CURLING.

The curlers of the town are asked to meet in the rink parlours at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening next.

* * * *

A meeting for the purpose of reorganizing the Curling Club for the coming season was held on Friday evening last, when the following officers were elected:

Patron and Patroness—Mr. and Mrs. James Cumming.
Hon. President—Rev. R. Taylor.
President—Mr. T. E. Finlay.
Vice President—Mr. L. H. Kirkpatrick.
Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. P. E. Graham.

The treasurer's report showed the finances to be in a healthy condition, there being a small balance on hand from last year.—Norwood Register.

PUSHBALL.

It would cause no surprise should pushball become much more popular in the land of its adoption, England, than it has proved on this side of the water. Though an American game it has been extremely slow to gain popularity here, possibly because of the lack of the spectacular element, which is supplied in baseball, football and the other diversions that hold American sports lovers. In England the game has created a furore, and large numbers of spectators attend the Crystal Palace contests, while the London newspapers devote considerable space to accounts of the tournaments. The rules of the game are more closely related to those of football than to any other game. The object is the same—to advance the ball but the end must be attained by different processes.

THE RING.

A woman at a prize fight is like a diamond in an ash heap. Yet there are women who have seen big fights and who want to see more of them. It was not until Mrs. Robert Fitzsimmons set the fashion by attending her husband's battle with Jim Corbett at Carson City, that women thought of such things, but since that time many of them have persistently tried to be at the ringside, and many have succeeded.

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvellous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c., at Ormond & Walsh's.

ADMITS THE CHARGE.

William Stuart Pleaded Guilty of Counterfeiting.

A DOMINION NOTE TO WATCH FOR

Two Charges Were Made Against Him in Toronto Police Court and the Aged Criminal Said Both Were True—Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Declined to Plead and Were Remanded For a Week.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Dominion of Canada bills of the denomination of one dollar, bearing the pictures of Lord and Lady Aberdeen on either side of a logging scene, and bearing the number 553,846, are in general circulation, and are all forgeries but one. The genuine bills are of the issue of March 31st, 1898, which date also appears on the counterfeit bill. Dominion of Canada two-dollar bills and Dominion of Canada five-dollar bills of the same issue, but with varying numbers printed on private presses, are also in the pockets of many people, and are as worthless as those of the smaller denominations. The man who made the one-dollar bills, arrested by Detective Forrest Thursday night, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday morning.

William Stuart is a short, stout man of venerable appearance, being about 70 years of age. He has been kept separate from Anson Raymond and his wife, at whose hotel he had made his home for some time past, and where he manufactured the "queer" money.

Stuart was charged first with having, in October and November, forged a one-dollar bank bill of the Dominion of Canada. He elected for a summary trial, and when asked to plead, said:

"Well, I plead guilty of making the things."

The next charge was that, on Nov. 6, he did knowingly have in his possession a glass plate, upon which had been engraved, photographed or transferred something purporting to be, and intending to represent a whole Dominion of Canada one-dollar bill.

"I plead guilty," he said. He was remanded till Tuesday.

The two Raymonds were charged with knowingly having the plate in their possession. They pleaded not guilty through their counsel, T. C. Robinette, K.C., and were remanded for a week, without electing. No application for bail for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond will be considered, at least for a few days.

Business was carried on as usual at Raymond's Hotel yesterday. The place is in control of a bartender and the five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond.

The police say that during all the time the forged bills have been making their appearance they have noticed from time to time an improvement in workmanship. The plate which was discovered on Stuart when he was arrested was his latest production, and was much nearer perfection than the others. It would have been difficult to distinguish between the bills made from this plate and the genuine.

THE M'DOUGALL CASE.

Securities For $21,000 Received by the Government For Protection.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—It is learned on good authority that Alfred McDougall, who is held on charges of misappropriating Provincial Government funds, in his efforts to make restitution before his arrest, transferred for the benefit of the Government three insurance policies on his life, one for $10,000 and two for $5,000 each, and also an equity of redemption which he had in a lot in Rosedale, of the value perhaps of $1,000 or $1,500. These securities are now held by the Government, without reference to the prosecution of Mr. McDougall, which will go on, and will be used to cover the deficiencies as far as they will go.

Alfred McDougall, now in jail charged with misappropriating funds as solicitor to the Ontario Treasury Department, has not yet been released on bail, although his friends were confident last night that the $30,000 security demanded by the Crown would be forthcoming to-day.

Ontario Alliance Officers.

Toronto, Nov. 8. — Officers of the Ontario Branch of the Lord's Day Alliance were yesterday elected as follows: President, Rev. Principal Caven; vice-presidents, Right Rev. Bishop Mills (Kingston), Rev. Dr. Thomas, Rev. Dr. Johnston (London), Messrs. A. O. Rutherford, J. K. Macdonald, Hon. E. H. Bronson, Hon. Senator Vidal; treasurer, John C. Copp; secretary, Rev. J. G. Shearer, who will occupy that position until a successor is appointed.

Chairman of Committees—Organization, Rev. T. A. Moore, Hamilton; Finance, John E. Brown, Hamilton; Legal, John A. Patterson, K.C.; Legislation, J. K. Macdonald.

KING TO VISIT IRELAND.

Correspondent Expects Him in Emerald Isle in the Spring.

Dublin, Nov. 8.—The correspondent of the Irish Independent, who last week asserted that King Edward would visit Ireland in April, yesterday repeats his statement, and adds: "I am given to understand that Ireland is at the dawn of a new era, and new spirit will be introduced into the administration of the country. King Edward is now displaying personal interest in Irish affairs."

NOW NEAR BOHOTLE.

Mad Mullah Within a Few Miles of Well Garrisoned Town.

Berbera, East Africa, Nov. 8.—Col. Swayne, formerly British commander in Somaliland, who has been recalled to England, started for home yesterday. He is ill.

Gen. Manning, who succeeds Col. Swayne, is pushing the preparations for an advance against the Mullah, but he is hampered in his efforts by the fact that the country has so few resources and the necessity of waiting supplies.

The Mullah is profiting by the delay in the start of the British expedition. He has advanced to within a few miles of Bohotle. He is known to have 2,000 rifles, one Maxim gun, much ammunition, 15,000 spearmen and immense reserves of camel and sheep at his command. Bohotle is well garrisoned and has ample defences.

It is impossible to prevent the running of guns to the Mullah through French territory, which is in constant progress.

Sir Oliver Will Continue.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Numerous reports are in circulation with respect to the appointment of a Governor to succeed Sir Oliver Mowat. There is good reason to believe that Sir Oliver will continue, for the present at least, to act in his present capacity.

Hon. Geo. W. Ross was in the city yesterday and had interviews with a number of Cabinet Ministers. He went west again last night. The Premier was accompanied by his messenger, Mr. Chase.

British Opium Seized.

Hong Kong, Nov. 7.—Armed runners of the new Kwonghing Opium Company of Swatow seized two chests of opium belonging to the English firm of Bradley & Co. last Monday. The affair was reported to Mr. Scott, the British Consul General, who interviewed the officers of the Kwonghing Company and demanded the return of the opium by 4 o'clock. The company defied the Consul and retained the goods.

Count Boni Forced Out.

Paris, Nov. 8.—After an exciting debate yesterday, the Chamber of Deputies, by 278 to 235 votes, invalidated the election of Count Boni de Castellane as a member of the House.

FRENCH STRIKE COMMISSION.

Thirty-Three Members to Be Appointed by Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday took up a resolution moved by M. Rouanet (Radical Socialist), for the appointment of a commission of 33 members to investigate the conditions of the miners, and report upon means to prevent economic conflicts. Premier Combes said the Government had no objection to the appointment of such a commission, and the resolution was adopted by 367 votes to 148.

Six thousand striking coal miners held a meeting at Lievin (Department of Pas de Calais) yesterday They decided not to accept the decision of the arbitrators against an increase of present rate of wages, and to continue the strike.

Three Arrests Made.

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Government arbitrators announced their decision yesterday against increasing the wages of the striking miners in the Department Du Nord. The grounds of the decision are similar to those in the Pas de Calais arbitration, namely, that the rates are proportionate to the selling price of coal. The large companies in the Nord have agreed to establish pensions for a term of five years.

At Lens (Pas de Calais) there was a clash yesterday between strikers and cavalry, the former throwing bricks at the latter. Gendarmes who intervened were also assaulted with bricks. One soldier was injured and three arrests were made. Throughout the Pas de Calais coal district the strikers are making noisy demonstrations.

Coal Famine Worse.

New York, Nov. 8. — The Journal says: It is believed on every hand that the price of coal was put down for political reasons only, and that, now the elections are over, the real facts regarding the coal famine will become public.

On the other hand, the representatives of the operators and the railroads declare that between thirty and thirty-five thousand tons are arriving daily. This is about nine-tenths of the amount that usually arrives. Where this disappears to no one seems to know.

There will not be a time this winter when a man can fill his cellar with coal. The man who wants ten tons will probably get a ton. Those that want a ton will have to take their turn before being supplied.

Coal is up at $6.50, but you can't eat it.

RAILWAY MAN LOST IN STORM.

Supt. Egan of Great Northern Missing Since Last Tuesday.

Kalispell, Mont., Nov. 8.—Supt. E. F. Egan of this division of the Great Northern Railroad was lost in the mountains on Tuesday night from a party with which he had been hunting.

Supt. Egan left his private car at Essex, Mont., with the intention of hunting as far as Belton. The other members of the party got to their destination safe, but Mr. Egan failed to appear. His absence was kept quiet, and little alarm was felt until yesterday morning.

A heavy snow has fallen, and if the railroad official was injured in any manner, or exhausted, doubtless by this time he has frozen to death. Large searching parties are now out in the hope of finding him.

To Check Emigration.

Vienna, Nov. 8. — The Hungarian Government has introduced in the Reichstag an emigration reform bill of sweeping character. The Hungarian bill specifically prohibits the emigration of certain classes of people, including men who have not performed military service, parents who leave behind their children under 15 years of age, and persons without adequate traveling money, or whose expenses are paid by foreign states or colonization societies. Under the bill, the Government can forbid emigration to certain countries.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 8.—Frederick Otto was killed in Joyfield Township, near Thompsonville, yesterday, by a tree falling on him while at work. He was married but two months ago to the widow of Edward Crandall, who was drowned a little more than a year ago. Otto was her third husband, the first husband also having been killed by a falling tree.

DOUKHOBOR PILGRIMS

Three or Four, Being Hungry and Cold, Start for Home.

OTHERS MARCH TO MINNEDOSA

They Were Orderly and Started From Newdale Friday Morning Praying and Singing—Twenty Mounted Police Under an Inspector Sent to Portage La Prairie to Await Their Arrival.

Winnipeg, Nov. 8. — A Newdale Man., despatch reads: The Doukhobor pilgrims arrived here Thursday night about 8 o'clock, some of them being weary and footsore, while others were looking fresh and in good spirits.

At about 7.30 yesterday morning they started their march again, but the weather being cold and snow falling fast from 7.30 until 9 o'clock, four or five of their number expressed themselves as being hungry and cold and started homeward at about 9 o'clock.

They were all comfortably housed here Thursday night, and were very orderly, praying and singing as they started out of town in the morning. They expected to reach Minnedosa by last night. The weather has now cleared and is fine.

Twenty Mounted Police Waiting.

Portage la Prairie, Nov. 8. — The squad of twenty Northwest Mounted Police, with Inspector Wilson in charge, arrived here and proceeded to Island Park, and pitched their tents. The police have their horses with them and are well prepared for the exigencies of camp life. They were very reticent when questioned as to what they proposed doing with the Doukhobors when they arrive here, and state that they have orders from headquarters to give no information.

SIFTON MURDER TRIAL.

Only One Witness For the Defence to Be Heard—Doctor's Evidence.

London, Nov. 8. — The defence in the Sifton murder trial began and practically ended yesterday. The prisoner's wife alone remains to be called, and a verdict may be expected to-night. The defence was not in any respect new or of a sensational character. The full limit of medical experts were: Drs. A. H. McCallum and Shaw of this city; Drs. A. J. Johnston and Irving Cameron of Toronto, and Dr. McWilliams of Thamesford.

They strongly inclined to the theory of defence that the deceased sustained his fatal injuries by falling from the opening of the barn to the ground, a distance of 24 feet. They would not accept the repeated blows with an ax described by Walter Herbert as possible, in view of the injuries found. They would expect the skull to be smashed.

Counsel obtained an admission from Dr. Cameron that he would be amazed to find a man of Herbert's intelligence able to accurately describe the blows and position of the deceased when he received them.

The most important witness for the defence aside from the experts was Ernest Scrimshaw, a junk dealer, who said he called at deceased's place for junk on the fatal morning, just as deceased was leaving for the barn. He saw no one else at the house or barn, but swore he saw Sifton enter the barn by climbing over a hay rack, in place of going through the cow stable and up through the trapped door, where, according to Herbert, he received the first of the fatal ax blows.

H. L. Smith testified to having thrown sheep skins with blood through the trap door five days before the tragedy.

Andrew Rogers, a hired boy, at Sifton's, was with Herbert on the morning in question, and did not see him talking to Gerald Sifton, except about the hay fork.

Another Hunter May Die.

Another Went Aground.

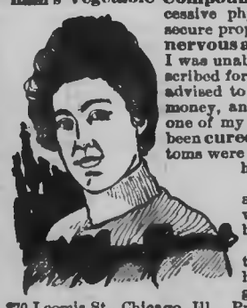
Health of Women

Health and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood. Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removes such troubles.

Case of this Prominent Chicago Woman Should Give Everyone Confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to add my testimonial to the great number who are today praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Three years ago I broke down from excessive physical and mental strain. I was unable to secure proper rest, also lost my appetite, and I became so nervous and irritable too that my friends trembled, and I was unable to attend to my work. Our physician prescribed for me, but as I did not seem to improve, I was advised to go away. I could neither spare the time nor money, and was very much worried when, fortunately, one of my club friends called. She told me how she had been cured of ovarian troubles, and how like my symptoms were to hers, seven bottles of your medicine cured her, and she insisted that I take some.



"I did so, and am glad that I followed her advice. Within six weeks I was a different woman, strong and robust in health, and have been so ever since.

"A number of my friends who have been troubled with ailments peculiar to our sex have taken your compound, and have also been greatly benefited." — MISS ELIZABETH DALEY, 370 Loomis St., Chicago, Ill. President of the St. Ruth's Court, Order of Foresters, Catholic.

What is left for the women of America, after reading such letters as we publish, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends, when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely the experience of hundreds of thousands of women, whom the Compound has cured, should convince all women.

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these cures of thousands of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—stick to the medicine that you know is the Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Dr. Snider's temporary election for North Norfolk was a put-up job. The Conservative machine put up the money before Dr. Snider would become a candidate.

If Sir Wilfrid Laurier does not soon appoint a Minister of Public Works he will subject himself to a charge of manslaughter. The Mail and Empire will certainly burst a blood vessel in its frantic efforts to "boss the job."

The Canadian manufacturers of woollen underwear are so far behind in orders, says the Hamilton Times, that some of them are running their mills night and day, and "are still unable to meet the increased demand for the goods which in recent years, owing to good value and superior quality, have so much increased in popular favour." That was not the exact nature of the trouble in the old N.P. days. Instead of working night and day to meet the demand, they were glad when there was demand enough to keep the mills moving in the daytime.

TESTING THE HEARING.

"The Journal for the Deaf" contains in the July number a description of the proper way to test the hearing, written in such clear language as to be of the utmost value to those who suspect that their hearing power is diminishing. There are also a series of plain talks on the prevention of ear diseases, the care of the ears, and a description of the new treatment for deafness, the Drouet Method, which is obtaining a great reputation for restoring the hearing in cases where other forms of treatment have failed. A free copy of the "Journal" may be obtained by addressing the Secretary, Drouet Institute, Regent's Park Road, London, England. A special feature of this "Journal" is the enclosure of a Patient's Report Form, by means of which anyone can obtain full particulars and free advice as to the use of the treatment in their own case.

BEET SUGAR NOW MADE IN ONTARIO.

The Fine Berlin Factory in Full Operation.

A MAGNIFICENT FACTORY.

Interesting Description of the Process of Manufacture—From the Beet Field to the Sugar Bowl—An Example and Incentive to Peterborough.

Berlin, November 3rd. — The Ontario Sugar Company's factory has been completed, and is now in full operation, turning out its share of the 1,000,000 lbs. of sugar that Canada consumes every day in the year. Six months ago the foundation was commenced; to-day the factory stands as a masterpiece of industrial skill. Less than four months ago the first piece of steel was put up; to-day 250 carsloads of material, averaging 50,000 lbs. to the car, a dead weight of 12,500,000 lbs. of material, is incorporated in a $600,000 plant that is apparently faultless in construction. Every possible labour-saving device seems to have been installed. The farmer unloads his two ton waggon load of beets in a bin, and they are not again touched by hand until the barrel of sugar is rolled to the storage room.

It is difficult to comprehend the magnitude of the industry or the intricacy of the process. The factory is built of white brick, on a beautiful site, overlooking the Grand River. At one end of the factory are the beet storage bins, each 350 feet in length, and capable of storing 8,000 tons of beet. These bins have sloping bottoms, with a sluice running beneath about a foot wide, and two feet deep, covered with short planks. To convey beets to the factory a plank is removed; the beets, with a little persuasion, drop through the hole, and are carried quickly forward by a rushing stream, which partly cleanses them. The arrangement of sluices is said to be the most perfect on the continent.

CUTTING THE BEETS.

The beets are automatically picked out of the water and forced through a washing machine, which drops them into an immense wheel, with buckets on the inside of its perforated rim. This drains them and dumps them into an endless chain of buckets, which carries them to the automatic scale in the third story, a beautiful piece of mechanism, that dumps them when it contains 1,000 lbs. With a roar the 1,000 lbs. of beets fall into the cutting machine, where they are sliced into V-shaped pieces about the thickness of large macaroni. The outlet from the cutter is a great pipe revolving in the ceiling below, of which the lower end connects in turn with each of the fourteen cells of a "diffusion" battery. These "cells," which lie in a circle, hold each 2 1-4 tons of the sliced beets, and it takes 6 1-10 minutes to charge one with that quantity. In the cells the beets are subjected to a water pressure of 15 pounds to the inch, and 2,400 litres of juice is thus extracted, the litre being a little over a quart. The juice from the diffusion battery flows to the measuring tanks and thence to the carbonators, square tanks of moderate size, in which it is saturated with carbonic acid gas, generated by the burning of lime in the company's kiln, and with slaked lime. From the carbonators it is forced by powerful pumps through a filter press, of which there are thirteen, each containing eighty layers of heavy filter canvas. The juice flows from the presses in a clear stream, and is carried off to go through a somewhat similar saturation with sulphuric acid gas made by burning sulphur. Then it goes through a bag filter, and thence to the evaporators. four huge square boiling tanks of most ingenious construction.

IN THE EVAPORATORS.

The first evaporator is heated by waste steam from the factory, passing through coils beneath the tank. The air in this tank is exhausted to a vacuum of about five or six, so that the juice in it boils at about 96 deg. centigrade. The steam from this boiler is drawn off by suction at the top, and is utilized to boil the contents of the next tank, by means of coils similar to those beneath the first tank. In this tank there is a greater vacuum and a lower boiling point, and so on, until in the fourth evaporator the temperature is only 68 degrees centigrade, the vacuum being from 22 to 26. The juice is boiled down to about 1-75th of its original volume. From the evaporator it goes to the "strike pan" where it is grained into sugar. It flows from the strike pan in a great heavy mass, which lies in a trough with a series of propelling screws agitating it, called the mixer. From the mixer it drops through the floor to the centrifugals, where the molasses is thrown off on the same principle as the cream separator. The molasses returns to be treated again, and the sugar is washed with pure water before it is sent to the dryer, an immense revolving tank, which emits the pure white sugar into barrels, ready for shipment or storage in the great warehouse at the end of the building remote from the beet bins. The whole process occupies about forty hours. The molasses thrown off by the centrifugals is placed in what are called crystallizers, great tanks kept at a certain temperature, in which it is agitated for sixty hours. Then it returns to the centrifugals, and more first-class sugar is obtained. This refuse molasses is taken to another part of the building, and put through what is called the osmos process, which depends on the use of a prepared paper, and still more sugar is obtained.

NOTHING WASTED.

Then there remains the final refuse molasses, which is used for the manufacture of alchol, vinegar or compressed yeast. It is also used by the makers of cattle feeds, who cake it with corn stalks, etc., and make a palatable and nutritious feed.

All of the refuse from the factory is of use in some form. The pulp from the diffusion cells is said to have a feeding value about equal to turnips, and farmers are permitted to have it free of charge, either as it comes from the cells or from the company's "silo," which is really a fair-sized field, surrounded by wood-faced embankments. The pulp has also been used successfully as a filling for sausages, and in New York it is being used in the manufacture of breakfast foods. The lime from the carbonator presses is of manurial value.

In addition to the main building of the factory, there is a magnificent boiler house and a modern steel lime kiln, which are separated from the main building by a railway line, and a very complete pumping station on the river that supplies the 4,000,000 gallons of water used daily in the factory.

LABOUR SCARCE.

The factory opens under most favourable conditions. The experts who have seen the beets as delivered say that they have never handled better roots, both in regard to purity and percentage. The farmers of the neighbourhood who have contracted for the delivery of 4,800 acres of beets that should yield 60,000 tons are men of exceptional skill in this class of work, thrifty, hard-working and intelligent. The procuring of labour is of course sometimes difficult, as very large numbers of hands are required at certain times. Just now, for instance, it is vitally important to harvest the remaining beets as quickly as possible. All of the local help available is employed, but the company have been obliged to import over a hundred Indians from the Brantford reserves, and now they are bringing some Chinamen from Montreal. Over 60 per cent. of the crop has been cared for, and the company has apparently solved the problem for this year. Next year it is thought that more farmers will have hired men, and the difficulties will not be so great.

PULLING BEETS.

It is interesting in this connection to notice the manner in which the beets are pulled. A man with two horses runs a root digger along each row, loosening the ground on each side and below the beet. Then boys or men pull up the roots, otherwise almost immovable, and with heavy knives, most of them curved, cut off the tops of the beets, cutting off all that has not been covered by the earth, as there is no sugar in the exposed part of the root. The tops are left on the field and ploughed under on account of their manurial value.

There is no temptation to leave too much of the exposed part or to take too much earth on a load of beets, as by a very simple method a record is kept, not of the gross, but of the tare weight and of the "brix," or sugar value of each load delivered.

The bins of the company are now well filled, but roots are coming in very rapidly. Three carloads came in to-day, for instance, and many farmers' wagons, but as 600 tons are used per day in making the sugar there is no danger of any congestion.

The Berlin sugar factory is undoubtedly one of the great industrial establishments of the Province, and the citizens are justly proud that it has been built in this district. On Saturday Mr. Hugh Blain, President; Mr. Robert Jaffray and Mr. John Flett, directors, and Mr. G. G. S. Lindsey made a thorough examination of the plant, and said they were delighted with the solidity and compactness of the entire factory and with the prospects of its success. The entire plant was erected by the E. H. Dyer Company of Cleveland, Mr. H. D. Broderick being in charge of the engineering staff.

There are many who think that a ball under the auspices of the non-commissioned officers and men of the 57th would be a good means of awakening enthusiasm amongst the men of the Regiment.

Many enquiries are being made at this office regarding the veterans' claims. It is likely that a meeting of the local Veterans' Association will be held in the course of a week or two, when a couple of men will be selected to stake out the claims of the Peterborough veterans.

Major Neill, formerly of the 45th Victoria Regiment of Infantry, writes to his mother in Omemee, from Johannesburg, as follows:

"I am glad things are going on so well in Canada, for after all it is the best country under the sun, and wherever I go I am proud that I am a Canadian. The Canadians get along very well out here. They seem to be quite capable of taking care of themselves, and go ahead with whatever they take in hand. The English are jealous of us. They say that whenever there is an extra good job going that a Canadian always gets it. I think this is going to be a great country, but like all new countries there are difficulties in getting the people settled down to work. They seem now to be trying to make money as fast as possible and then get out and take their wealth with them. Unless they settle and make this country their home it will never be a colony anything like Canada. It is the place for a young man. Lots of land and gold. Two thousand women are coming out in a month's time. I am arranging for transports for them. I hope that I am not sent to Cape Town to meet them. They will get a cheap passage out and free from Cape Town to here or any other place they want to go. I have met a number of fellows who knew Capt. McCrea, and belonged to the same regiment."

At the dinner given in his honour by the officers of the Ottawa Brigade on Monday night the Earl of Dundonald expressed the opinion that nowhere was theoretical training of the soldier developed to the highest point possible. For example, in barrack rooms, drill sheds and other places in which soldiers meet there should be instructional placards dealing with every duty of the soldier in large type, and illustrated by diagrams. Then, again, photography might be called in to help in instruction. There was no reason why every movement and every position of the soldier's training, from that of the recruit up to the advanced training of the soldier, should not be shown by the process of photography.

He was in favour also of having movable canvas war maps on the floor of a drill hall with the configuration of the country painted on them, showing roads, villages, woods, etc. The various units should be shown by means of small blocks, which could be worked on the maps by the men in their socks or in list slippers. What he suggested was, in fact, a war game played on a gigantic scale, a war game, moreover, which would teach every arm to know its place and every commander how to give orders and what orders to give. He suggested, further, that department b. ttalions could be formed in the training camps for rural infantry and that officers and men of city corps should be encouraged to train there, and there was no reason why a couple of friends could not use a small shelter tent by themselves if they preferred it to being with a lot of other men they did not know.

It is understood that Lieut.-Col. B. H. Vidal, deputy adjutant general, Ottawa, and Surgeon Lieut.-Col. G. S. Ryerson, Toronto, have been promoted to the full rank of Colonel. Colonel Vidal entered the Canadian militia at the age of 16, and received a commission in the 4th Regiment of Foot in 1866. He served in the Abyssinian campaign, and was present at the action at Arozhie, and the capture of Magdala. In 1898 he was appointed commandant of the Royal School of Infantry, St. John's, and the following year became D.O.C. of No. 8 military district. He was appointed deputy adjutant-general at headquarters on July 1st, 1901. Col. Ryerson served in the Fenian Raid of 1870 and the North-west Rebellion in 1885. He holds a medal for each campaign. During the South African war of 1899-1900 he served as Red Cross commissioner.

DIED ON THE STREET.

Alas, for the rarity,
Of Christian charity.

It was a pool of blood last week, a pool of blood fresh from the heart of a woman. But as I stood looking at the spot yesterday I saw nothing except a dark stain, and the world hurried by, wondering why I locked, for they did not know the story.

This is the story:

Listen!

In a Terauley street home a woman lay coughing. Through the busy hours of the day she coughed alone, for they were poor, and her husband worked, for business is business, and the rent must be paid in advance. But at night, in the quiet hour he was with her, and helped her, and she felt braver and stronger as she coughed. Through the open window the passing policeman heard that cough, and the late pedestrian heard it too.

They knew what it meant.

So do you.

The husband endeavoured to have his wife admitted to some institution where the pillow would be easier than the one at home, and where skilled hands would lift the burden and light the darkness just a little. He appealed, as only a man can appeal who loves his wife, and knows she is dying. But, no, he was refused, for business is business, and rules are rules. And so on through the day and night the emaciated creature coughed herself gravewards. The neighbours did what they could, for the poor are always kind to those poorer than themselves. But they lacked the open sesame to the hospitals, and the hoofbeats of the pale horse echoed in the distance.

But Mercy rode faster!

The authorities of St. Michael's Hospital, warmed by that touch that makes the whole world kin, opened its doors, and he was told that she could come on the morrow. But, how? Those limbs could not support her frail form, and they have no money for a cab. Well, what of the ambulance? Ah, yes; but business is business, and there are rules governing the use of the ambulances in Toronto, and it costs money to turn their wheels in a case like this. The drivers are not to blame, for, don't forget that rules are rules; and they are only part of the machinery. Yet they are happy in this little home that night, and she reflects his smile as she coughs, for Hope comes and sits, a watcher. The morning breaks, and they are getting ready, and in the afternoon of Wednesday they two, he and his sick wife, start from Terauley street on foot for St. Michael's, and rest.

That stain on the pavement?

Yes, we are coming to that.

Just beneath the great grey shadows of the City Hall on Albert street, just opposite the part where the offices of justice are, she staggered, and would have fallen but for the strong arm that is by her side.

A bright red stream runs from her mouth and nostrils. A doctor? There is none at hand, but Staff Captain Archibald of the Salvation Army, who is near, runs for Dr. Sheard in the hall, and he is out.

She clings to a post until too weak, and he lays her head upon the walk.

There is a pool of blood there now, and a body beside it, for it is only a body that a moaning husband and the policemen lift and carry slowly off.

Two blocks away is Yonge street, crowded with life, with the rank and file and with the friends of fashion. But here is a husband carrying the body of one who, because she was poor, died on the sidewalk of Christian Toronto; died beneath the shadow of our $3,000,000 City Hall.

"My God!" he moans; "she died on the street! She died on the street!"—Charles F. Raymond, in Toronto Star.

Pay a Penny

To Aid a Sick Friend, and I Will Risk $5.50.

I ask only a postal card—just the name of someone who needs help. Tell me the book to send. 'Tis a trifle to do for a friend—don't neglect it. I will gladly do all the rest.

I will even do this:—I will mail the sick one an order—good at any drug store—for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And the sick one's mere word shall decide it.

I do that so that those who need help will accept it. I have what those sick ones must have to get well, and I want them to have it. I make my offer so fair that no sick one can neglect it.

I do just as I say, and trust the cured ones to be fair with me. I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands on those terms, and 19 out of each 40 have paid gladly, because they were cured. I want not a penny otherwise.

My Restorative is my discovery, the result of my lifetime's work. I have personally tested it in thousands of cases as difficult as physicians ever meet. In my vast experience I have so perfected it that it does not fail, save when a cause—like cancer—makes a cure impossible.

My success comes from strengthening the inside nerves. Common treatments merely doctor the organs, and the best results are but temporary. My treatment restores the nerve power, which alone makes those organs act. It is like giving a weak engine more steam. Any weak vital organ does its duty when given the power to act, and there is no other way to make weak organs well.

No other remedy strengthens weak inside nerves, and for this reason there is no other treatment for chronic diseases which any man will offer on a plan like mine.

Please tell me who needs a remedy like that.

Simply state which book you want, and address to Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Canada's Revenue and Expenditure Shown to Be Better For the Country Than Ever by the Latest Financial Statement—Ordinary Receipts Show a Surplus of $6,509,567—The Expenditures Decreasing.

Ottawa, Nov. 8. — Mr. Raymond Prefontaine, M. P., was here yesterday, and it is currently reported that he is to become Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Mr. Prefontaine arrived from Montreal at 11.30 o'clock and immediately went to the Premier's residence, where he remained for luncheon. In the afternoon he saw Hon. James Sutherland at the Department of Marine and Fisheries, and at 4 o'clock returned to Montreal. He will be back in Ottawa on Monday, when an official announcement is looked for.

Revenue and Expenditure.

Every successive statement of Canada's revenue and expenditure reveals a better showing than its predecessor. The first four months of the present fiscal year, which closed on October 31, disclosed the important fact that the ordinary receipts exceeded expenditures of all kinds by $6,509,567. Of receipts over disbursements on consolidated fund account there was a surplus of $9,489,874. To put it in another way, there is a betterment of $4,000,000 in the country's financial condition as compared with a year ago. While the revenue was increased by $2,488,243, the expenditure has been reduced by $180,514 and the public debt by $1,475,763, making an aggregate improvement of $4,094,520. The total revenue on consolidated account was $20,944,733, and the expenditure $11,451,859. For the first four months of 1901 the revenue was $18,506,490, and the expenditure $11,635,373. The capital expenditure was $2,980,307 as against $4,456,0?? in 1901. The following were the increases from the several sources of revenue:—Customs, $1,616,015; excise, $248,096; postoffice, $145,000; public works and railways, $251,375; miscellaneous, $177,727.

Resolved, that we view with alarm the present effort of the manufacturing classes to obtain a further rise in import duties on agricultural implements, and we pledge ourselves to oppose any candidate for Parliament who is in favor of such an increase.

Another resolution that carried said:

"That, in the opinion of the farmers here assembled, the Government of Canada should assume control of all lines of transportation, and until this is accomplished we demand that the Parliament of Canada establish a railway commission with power to stop all discrimination in freight rates and reduce passenger rates to two cents a mile."

All the patients operated upon by Dr. Lorenz are reported to be doing splendidly.

HAVE YOU ANY OF THESE

Symptoms of a Very Common Trouble?

There is no disease so common in the United States as Catarrh, because it appears in so many forms and attacks so many different organs.

It is a common mistake to suppose that catarrh is confined to the nose and throat. Any inflammation of the mucous membrane, wherever located accompanied by abnormal secretions, is catarrh. Catarrh of the stomach or bladder, or intestines, is nearly as common as nasal catarrh, and much more serious, although it is true that stomach catarrh and catarrh of other internal organs is the result of neglected nasal catarrh.

A new remedy has recently appeared, which, so far as tested, seems to be remarkably effective in promptly curing catarrh, wherever located. The preparation is sold by druggists generally under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and in addition to being very palatable and convenient, possesses extraordinary merit, in many cases giving immediate relief from the coughing, hawking and constant clearing of the throat and head those symptoms with which everyone is familiar who has ever suffered from colds in the head and throat.

Catarrh is simply a continuation of these symptoms until the trouble becomes chronic and grows gradually worse from year to year.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed of Hydrastin, Red Gum, and similar antiseptics and catarrh specifics, from which it will be seen that no secret is made of the ingredients and also that no mineral poisons are used, as is the case with many well-known catarrh medicines.

For catarrh of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, for catarrh of the stomach, intestines or bladder no preparation is so safe and gives such rapid and permanent results as Stuart's Catarrhy Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full sized package. You can use them with assurance that you will not contract the cocaine or morphine habit as the results from this catarrh cure are apparent from the first day's use.

COMMISSION AT NORTH BAY.

Will Decide Whether or Not That Town Will Be a Terminus.

North Bay, Nov. 8.—The Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission arrived here yesterday morning for the purpose of deciding on the terminus of the abovenamed railway, whether it should be North Bay or Nipissing Junction, the latter point being the terminus of the Grand Trunk, and is four miles east of here.

Immediately upon the arrival of the commissioners they boarded the private car of Mr. G. J. Bury, general superintendent of the Lake Superior Division of the Canadian Pacific, and were taken over the C. P. R. to Nipissing Junction, accompanied by Mr. Bury, Assistant Superintendent C. Murphy, and W. B. Russell, chief engineer of the new road. After inspecting the point at Nipissing Junction, they returned to North Bay and were driven over the line of the new railway to the Trout Lake, five miles out.

At 4 o'clock a meeeing was held in the office of Chief Engineer Russell, attended by a deputation from the Town Council, and a deputation from the North Bay Board of Trade. Three locations for the terminus were discussed. North Bay was given good encouragement, although it will not be definitely known where the terminus will be until after the C.P.R. and G.T.R. companies are interviewed to see what terms can be made with them. The commission in discussing the matter, it might be said, indirectly asked the town for something in the way of a bonus.

MR. PARKIN INTERROGATES.

Wants to Know How Rhodes' Scholars Will Be Received.

London, Nov. 8.—G. R. Parkin of Toronto, who has charge of the arrangements connected with the Cecil Rhodes' scholarships in Canada and the United States, has made inquiries at Oxford University as to how the Rhodes' scholars will be received.

He has ascertained that everyone concerned in the matter is ready to co-operate heartily. Each college at Oxford is prepared to take from two to five scholars a year, according to its size.

The Daily Chronicle this morning expresses gratification that there is no tendency on the part of the exclusive colleges to raise objections to being "Americanized."

THIS MORNING'S MARKET.

The Fine Weather Draws a Large Crowd Some of the Prices.

Many people from the country took advantage of the splendid weather to bring their farm produce in to the market to-day. A large number came in by train, but the majority drove in. The butter market in the market hall, was pretty well filled up. Although there seemed to be more than enough fowl to supply the demand, the prices kept pretty high. Last year's chickens brought from 55 to 65 cents, while this year's were sold at 60 to 75c per pair. A large number of geese were offered for sale at 75 to 90c., while turkeys sold 90c. to $1.25, according to size; ducks sold for 85 to 90c per pair; eggs, at 20c. per dozen. On the outside market there seemed to be an abundance of everything but at high prices. Potatoes went at $1.25 per bag, while apples by the barrel sold for $1.75. Roots of all kinds were fairly cheap. Should the weather hold fair there should be good markets from now till after New Year's.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. William Laing.

Early this morning, Mrs. Laing, widow of the late William Laing, died after a very brief illness, at the residence of her son, Robert, Water street. Deceased, who was in her 79th year, had for a little time been troubled with a heart affection. Friday night she retired about 9.30 in apparently her usual health. In about an hour she was seized with illness, and medical aid was powerless to avert death, which came shortly after 12 o'clock. Mrs. Laing was a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, and came to Canada in early youth, settling in North Monaghan, where she was married to Mr. Laing about 60 years ago, where she resided over half a century, and till the death of her husband, seven years ago, when she came to town, and took residence with her son. Mrs. Laing, whose maiden name was Savigny, was the mother of fifteen children, all of whom are living excepting Mrs. John McGee, who died several years ago. Mrs. Laing was a member of the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and will be remembered by many, especially in North Monaghan, where she passed so many years of her active life.

The funeral will take place from the residence of Mr. Robert Laing, 502 Water street, on Monday, at 2 o'clock p.m., to the Little Lake cemetery.

Addressed by Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's.

St. Andrew's Junior Boys' Guild held their regular meeting last night. The Rev. Mr. Potter gave an address on "The Burning Bush." Then followed an interesting debate on the following proposition:—"Resolved—that Winter is of greater importance than Summer." Masters Fred Richardson, Ernest Reid and Stewart Laing took the affirmative and Masters Robt. Reid, Arthur Van Every and Murray Miller the negative. The arguments advanced were well put and proved quite convincing and forcible. Mr. John Laing, critic, congratulated the debaters on their excellent work and criticized in a very profitable way the different points advanced, which were worthy of note. The evening was a most interesting one for the boys. By ballots cast the palm was awarded "Winter."

Every effort is being made at the Cereal Company's new dam to have the concrete above the water line before the frost sets in. Great progress has been made, and the work is at present one of the busiest places in Peterborough. These days the workmen start at a quarter to seven and stop at half past five, taking only forty-five minutes for dinner.

On Thursday evening a blast was touched off which loosened an immense quantity of rock. The amount was reckoned to be close on to fifteen tons, and is supposed to be a record. So great was the havoc wrought that a large party of workmen were unable to remove the debris in a day.

Anyone who takes the trouble to go over to the London street bridge will be amply rewarded by the picture of industry and engineering skill there to be seen.

"LONGFELLOW."

An Excellent Paper Read by Miss O'Connell Last Evening.

The Ladies' Reading Circle of St. Peter's T.A.S. held a literary evening last night when a paper on "Longfellow" was read by Miss O'Connell, of the teaching staff of the Murray street Separate School, and the essay proved to be a literary treat of the highest order. Miss O'Connell traced the career of the poet from his boyhood days and brought out in chaste diction the many noble qualities of the grand old man, and his love for the beauties of nature, and the wonderful descriptive powers he possessed; which were manifest in nearly all his productions, some of which were referred to and dilated upon by Miss O'Connell in an exceptionally able manner. The essay was punctuated at intervals by quotations from some of the celebrated writer's poems, which added in no small measure to the excellence of the paper.

During the evening short addresses were given, bearing on the essay, and the Reading Circle was congratulated on the good work it was doing.

The musical programme presented is also worthy of mention. Misses M. McCabe and M. Doherty contributed a beautiful pianoforte duet; and little Miss Genevieve Dunn followed in a sweetly rendered vocal number. Miss Nellie McCabe recited with excellent taste Longfellow's "Bridge," and Miss Annie Simons, by special request, rendered "The Holy City" in splendid voice. The programme closed with a vocal solo, very acceptably sung, by Mr. John King.

The next literary evening will be in two weeks time, when Miss Hickey will read a paper on "John Boyle O'Rielly."

ACROSS THE RIVER.

Some Notes From Ashburnham—Merchants Report Business Brisk.

Everything in Ashburnham was fairly quiet this week, although merchants report trade flourishing. Nearly all are busy preparing for winter. Double windows and storm doors are being put on and, where necessary, the houses banked. The Town Council met last week and a large amount of business was transacted. In the building trade all is fairly quiet, although Mr. Conroy is building a fine new barn on his lot at the corner of Elizabeth and Lake streets. The Ultimator Factory is coming along splendidly and they are applying for exemption from taxation. In the flour mill a quantity of machinery is being installed. Large quantities of gravel are being taken from the river bank near the dam for use in concrete work. It was feared that the dredge operating in the river might stop our water supply, but the Trent Valley engineer has assured the council that every precaution will be taken to prevent such an accident. The old Mowry foundry is now gone and a beginning has been made on the old implement building just at the end of the bridge—the beginning of the end.

A LARGE HOUSE

The company closes its present engagement here this evening.

THEIR FIRST MEETING.

The Young Men's Guild of Charlotte Street Church Met Last Night.

Last evening the Young Mens Guild of Charlotte street church held their first annual meeting. There were over 30 in attendance, and present indications are that the society will be a splendid success and a benefit not only to the young men associated with it but to the church, with which it is connected.

Mr. M. A. Sorsoleil gave a splendid talk on the educational part of the Guild work and presented some excellent deas as to the line of work that would be taken up.

Rev. J. G. Potter gave a profitable address in which he referred to the manner in which St. Andrew's Guild had organized and the work it was doing. He said he was glad to see that Charlotte street young men were forming a Guild and wished them every success. Those present were very grateful to Mr. Potter for his interesting and instructive address.

The pastor was called on for a few words and he dealt upon the social side of the Guild.

Mr. Robinson gave a couple of recitations which were given in his usual good style. After the speeches, those present partook of a supper, prepared, and spent a pleasant social time together. It was decided that the Guild should meet on the second Tuesday of each month. A number of committees were appointed last evening and everything will be in perfect running order by next meeting.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

TO-MORROW is the anniversary of the birth of King Edward—the first since his accession and coronation. God Save the King, and send him a long life and glorious reign.

• • •

A WEATHER bulletin reads to-day, "stationery" temperature. That is, probs. on paper—sometimes a good deal like great projects, as the project for reviving our street railway.

• • •

THE Light and Power Company are becoming public-spirited and "sporty" — they are encouraging the manly game of football, for everybody is kicking—against the wretched quality of the electric light furnished these nights. And, with reason, for sometimes the light is practically useless, very often merely furnishing a contrast between light and darkness. Either the electricity is being adulterated as to quality, or scamped as to quantity.

• • •

THE opening of the mess rooms of the non-coms. of the 57th is an important feature of the military year. Though the 57th boys might rather fight than eat, yet the social side of military life has an important effect in developing the esprit du corps upon which the all-'round efficiency of a military body depends. Some social reunion, entertainment or concert, which would bring the whole regiment together several times during the winter would have an additional consolidating effect.

• • •

A TORONTO judge fainted while hearing assessment appeals. In Peterborough the fainting is apt to come to the taxpayers.

• • •

TO-MORROW is Sunday and promises to be a glorious day, and the livery horses will suffer. By the way, there is room here for a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The livery horses need protection—for it is undeniable that they are seriously abused, especially by youths and young men. These latter have a practice of pooling and hiring a horse, especially on Sunday afternoons and evenings, then three or four young cubs will pile into the buggy and the poor horse will be driven and lashed about the streets for hours, brutally overworked; worse than that; sometimes and often young girls will be picked up and packed in amongst the boys and the gang drive out to the outskirts. A certain street seems to be a redezvous where young girls will wait till the vehicles come along then away, and away on the downward path. These are crying evils which the philanthropic should look after to—protect the abused beast and save the falling girls.

• • •

HOW is the Peterborough beet root sugar enterprise getting on? It behooves the promoters to bestir themselves. Peterborough is not accustomed to lagging behind. It will not do to have Lindsay get the start of us as she seems likely to do if the report is correct that a Toronto Syndicate is about to establish a beet sugar factory in Lindsay. Of course it needs "sugar" to produce sugar, and there should be little trouble with energetic effort to get, farmers especially to underwrite stock. In addition to the profits in the investment would be the profit in the production of a new crop. There are thousands of acres of farm lands around Peterborough which would produce 12 to 14 tons of beets to the acre, these sold at even the lowest price, would yield a return of from 848 to 856 per acre, a large proportion of which would be profit.

• • •

WE don't wish the Colonial Typewriter Company any harm but every degree of success, yet we should like to see the fine legend of its business products, blazoned on the eastern wall of its buildings on Hunter street, put out of business by the erection of another manufacturing building or a business block along side. We welcome another new industry even if it is smudged with inks and we hope the ink it makes may long be made to spread throughout the country the story of its own success and the story of the business progress of Peterborough.

• • •

FEW of us realize how this town is growing. A few years ago the older citizens knew by name, or face, every other citizen; now they might go through the streets not knowing, perhaps, one out of every hundred they meet—so much has the town grown and changed. This change has come gradually upon us older citizens, and almost insensibly, as we see the baby expand into knickerbockers, and then into trousers, till, before we realize it the baby's a man, and able to put daddy on his back, we see the village become a town, and the town a city, in everything but name. Some of us don't, perhaps, yet realize how much we have grown, and how important we have become. Figures won't lie, and a few figures will indicate how we are spreading out.

• • •

LOOK at the business we are doing — and the volume of business is the test of prosperity and progress —especially in comparison with other towns and so-called cities, which were important places before Peterborough got out of swaddling bands. Take the total customs collections for September and October this year —$18,788.74 and $16,698.62 respectively, a total for these two months of $35,487.36. Reference to the blue book shows that the total collections for the year 1901 were, for Belleville —a city—in round numbers, $88,000; for Cobourg, $20,000; for Port Hope, $12,000; and for Lindsay, $8,000, a total of $128,000. That is, the customs collections in Peterborough in two months are one-third of the customs collections of these four places for a whole twelvemonth; nearly twice as much as those of Cobourg in a year, three times as great as those of Port Hope; and the collections in Peterborough in one month, October—and that $2,000 less than September — are twice as large as those of Lindsay for a whole year. More. The total customs collections at Peterborough for the last fiscal year were $147,393.44—$21,000 in excess of the total collections for the same period of one city and four towns. We do not cite these figures because we love these places less, but Peterborough more, and to show by comparison, what many do not realize, how important an industrial and commercial centre Peterborough is.

• • •

THERE is considerable complaint about the absence of signs designating the names of some of the streets of the town. A gentleman remarked this morning that many citizens did not know what street they live on. Proper designation of streets would be a great convenience, especially when so many new citizens are coming in.

• • •

THE fine hand of Mr. S. R. Armstrong, town clerk, is seen in the manning of the Young Men's Guild of the George street Methodist church He is an old newspaper man, and recognizes that no staff of officers is complete without a reporter for the press—which is second only to the pulpit as an agent of moral reform.

• • •

A GREAT many hard-headed business citizens do not take much stock in athletics, but all the same, there is a business side to them. Peterborough athletic organizations have done much to advertise the town. In the good old days, when there were accessible grounds, the lacrosse and baseball championships came to town. The Rugby Intermediate championship of the Province and Dominion has been twice brought to Peterborough in three years, and last year the local fifteen were the runners-up. The junior championship in hockey has several times slid into Peterborough, and the intermediate team has also a good record.

• • •

WHEN we consider how these victories make Peterborough to be talked about from the Gulf to the "Coast" we can form some idea of their advertising value. "What is this town that turns out such players—must be a great place." Inquiry is made, and Peterborough's importance and facilities as a manufacturing centre, are spread abroad. Anyone can understand the process.

• • •

IN view of facts like these there's business in providing suitable and accessible athletic grounds. Nicholls oval is perfect, with one exception, there is no means of collecting a gate, and it takes a good deal of money to move a Rugby fifteen from one end of the province to another two or three times in a season. If we had enclosed grounds, the public in attending matches would be glad to help pay the expenses. A grandstand on the Nicholls oval, for whose use a fee could be charged, would be the next best thing to a gate. Business men are behind the new hockey rink. Who will help on a grand stand, or athletic grounds?

WEDDING BELLS.

Lindsay Post: A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ayers, No. 16 Kent street, when his eldest daughter, Bertha May, was united in marriage to Mr. John Cain, of Lakefield. Rev. Mr. Henderson, of the Cambridge street church, performed the ceremony. Miss Lillie Mark played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride looked charming in a suit of blue broadcloth and white silk waist and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Gertie McGinnis, was attired in white organdie; she also carried a bouquet of carnations. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. D. Cain, of Bobcaygeon. The happy couple left on the 8 o'clock train points east, after which they will reside in Peterborough.

LEONARD-ERSKINE NUPTIALS.

Lakefield News: An interesting although quiet wedding took place on Tuesday last at the residence of Mrs. W. Leonard, when her daughter, Mary Anna, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick George Erskine, of Lakefield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. W. Leggett, in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Wesley Leonard. After the wedding dinner the happy couple drove to Peterborough en route to Port Hope and other places, to spend their honeymoon. They will take up their residence in Lakefield on their return, and have the best wishes of a large number of friends for their future prosperity and happiness.

ANECDOTES OF COL. STEELE.

His Unique and Pointed Reply to a Complaining British Officer.

Since the khaki fellows came back the anecdotes are beginning to thicken around the head of Col. Sam Steele of the Strathconas. This dashing regiment was a complete puzzle to the routinary British officer. They fought brilliantly, rode like Centaurs, and shot like Wimbledon prize men. They were as brave as lions and as cunning as serpents. They could beat the Boer at his own game of stalking the foe, killing from cover, inflicting the maximum of damage on the enemy at the minimum of cost to themselves. The Boers early learned to recognize the Strathconas as more than their match. They feared them mortally, and particularly disliked a little Strathcona pastime known as lassoing the Dutchies. The Strathconas all had the cowboy knack of the lariat, and liked nothing better than to ride down a Boer commando and rope them off their horses. It was a bumpy way of dying, and the Boers openly preferred a Lee-Metford bullet. The Strathconas were acknowledged to be the finest body of irregular cavalry ever gotten together, as gallant in the open as they were deadly behind a ridge, and as scouts giving the Boers cards and spades. But they had the western breeziness of manner and the democratic instincts of the great plains. They obeyed orders and respected their officers, but they didn't deal in outward forms and ceremonies. Their gallant colonel was spoken of behind his back and to his face as "Sam." There was no insult in it, just an intimation that he was one of themselves who had risen by his superior merits.

Colonel Steele was sitting one afternoon on the stoop of the village hotel, at one of the innumerable "fonteins" captured in Roberts' advance. His Stetson hat was slouched over his eyes, his heels were at an angle of ninety degrees, and he was sucking soulerly at a strong briar-root pipe. A fussy little red-faced British major came up and said:

"Colonel Steele, I presume?"

"That's me."

"Well, Colonel, I encountered a patrol of your men down the line, and, blawst me, they didn't salute."

The colonel drew his pipe from his mouth for a minute. Six feet two, big hearted, good natured, man's-a-man-for-a'-that, looked down quizzically at five foot eight, angry, perspiring, and consequental, and drawled:

"Didn't salute you, eh? Why, the confounded rogues won't salute ME."

An Unbiased Impression.

In The Leeds Mercury another of the traveling journalists in Canada goes into raptures over prairie flowers and the beauties of prairie life. The correspondent of The Manchester Guardian devotes special attention to the delights of French Canada, and it is useful to note the impression which this unbiased Englishman carries away from a survey of the relations between the two races of the Province. "It is only safe to say," he remarks, "that the racial feeling is pretty strong on the part of the French; that there is almost no intermarriage, even among the upper circles of society. At the same time animosity would be far too strong a word, while political contentment is ensured by the fact that independence is a recognized absurdity, and annexation to the States an obvious change for the worse in nearly all respects. That but a very small fraction of the French show the gratitude which is our due for a treatment unparalleled in the history of the world towards a conquered by a conquering race—taking the period and the circumstances into consideration—would raise some just resentment in any but such a generous and easy-going race as ours. As things are, it is better for the peace of Canada that we are so constituted, since we can afford to be."

No Time to Lose.

A merchant in Yonge street has become very fond of an office boy he engaged last June, says a Toronto paper. The boy entered very early in the morning, when the merchant was reading the paper. The latter glanced up and went on reading without speaking. After three minutes the boy said:

"Excuse me—but I'm in a hurry."

"What do you want?" he was asked.

"A job."

"You do? Well," snorted the man of business, "why are you in such a hurry?"

"Got to hurry," replied the boy. "Left school yesterday to go to work, and haven't struck anything yet. I can't waste time. If you've got nothing for me, say so, and I'll look elsewhere. The only place I can stop long is where they pay me for it."

"When can you come?" asked the surprised merchant.

"Don't have to come," he was told. "I'm here now, and would have been to work before this, if you'd said so."

The Policeman's Evidence.

Policeman Peter Morris, of Toronto, says that for years he was troubled with habitual constipation, and though he spent much money for medicine was only disappointed with the results. He now recommends Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills to his friends because it cured him of his ailments. You can be cured of constipation by this treatment. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box.

A Dickens Fellowship.

There is a Dickens Fellowship in London, and Mr. Percy Fitzgerald, who knew Dickens well, and has written so much about him and his works, is to be the first president. It will seek to extend the power and influence of his writings in the English-speaking world. To that end it will meet once a month, from October to April, for the reading and discussion of papers on subjects relating to Dickens, his teachings, and writings.

Dean Gregory.

Dean Gregory, of St. Paul's, London, is said to be the only surviving schoolfellow of the late Philip James Bailey, the author of "Festus." The two studied together at the private school of the late Rev. Benjamin Carpenter, minister of the High Pavement Unitarian Chapel. Dean Gregory has recently denounced Board schools as the nurseries of vice and crime.

BUNYAN'S CHAPEL.

Place Where He Preached to Be Destroyed—An Interesting Building in Slum District of Southwark.

Among the historic London buildings now marked out for destruction in consequence either of their ramshackle condition or the fact that their sites are coveted, there are few more interesting than a dingy, dilapidated little double house hidden away in a narrow street in the centre of the slum district of Southwark.

The place differs little in appearance from the other dingy, dilapidated little houses around it, except in having an old-fashioned street lamp overhanging one of its two doors, but it differs from them in its history through having been the chapel where John Bunyan, author of "Pilgrim's Progress," preached.

That is, one-half of the building is given up to Bunyan's old chapel. The other is the place where the preacher and his followers hid when either the representatives of the crown or that part of the public with whom the Baptists were unpopular were engaged in hunting them.

To visit this historic little structure involves a long ride on an omnibus down into the East End of London and a good deal of poking about in search of Great Suffolk street—which isn't great in any sense—where the former chapel stands. It is locked with a padlock, the key of which is in the keeping of an old woman who lives in the little shanty opposite.

Long after John Bunyan's time his chapel was turned into a poor mission room, and its walls are now covered with religious texts and faded pictures of Bible scenes. It is all grimy and dingy now, and the floor is covered with litter.

In the centre yawns the old baptistery, where once the converts were immersed, and a sort of gallery stretches all round. It is quite evidently in the last stages of decay, and will not give the "house-breakers" much trouble, but it is rather interesting to stand inside and think how often the author of "The Holy War" and "The Life of Mr. Badman" must have looked on these same walls two and a quarter centuries ago.

Bunyan's connection with the Great Suffolk street chapel began when, after his 12 years' imprisonment for expounding the doctrines of another than the established church, the writer became a licensed preacher. He had been released under the "Declaration of Indulgence," and for a time was unmolested, except for the animosity of the anti-Baptists, who frequently descended upon their chapel in force.

At such times the supporters of the new faith, headed by their Bunyan himself, used to scuttle into the adjoining house and wait until the coast was clear.

Three years after the issuance of "declaration of indulgence," however, it was revoked, and the licenses of all Nonconformist ministers recalled. Bunyan was one of the undaunted preachers who went on holding meetings, and on March 4, 1672, a warrant signed by 13 magistrates and sealed by 10 of them, was issued for his arrest.

He was taken, tried under the Conventicle Act, and sent to prison for six months. It was during this imprisonment, and not, as is generally said, during his previous one of 12 years, that Bunyan wrote the first part of the "Pilgrim's Progress."

The work, when it first appeared, was much shorter than it became afterward, when Bunyan had time to add Mr. Worldly Wiseman, the second meeting with the Evangelist, the talk with Charity at the Palace Beautiful, and the story of Diffidence, the wife of Giant Despair.

CONTINUAL MISERY.

At Times the Pain was so Great That the Sufferer Would Faint.

Maurice Best, of Southern Harbour, Newfoundland, has committed to paper a tale of sickness and suffering which is almost beyond belief. He says:

"In 1892 I was attacked with Dyspepsia which gradually grew worse and worse. For eight years afterward I was in continual misery. At times the pains were so great that I would go off into a faint for ten or fifteen minutes and at the last I was more dead than alive.

"I called in a doctor and he gave me relief, but I soon was worse than ever. I tried everything I could hear of, but nothing seemed to cure me.

"I was at last reduced to a very weakened condition and not till then did I hear of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I immediately sent away and got a box. The very first dose helped me a little, and I kept on getting better till I was completely cured. They gave me a new life, and in a short time I felt like a new man.

"I confess I owe my life to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I am like a great many others, I cannot speak enough in their favour. No one can speak too highly of them.

"I am glad to have the pleasure of recommending them to all sufferers, for they have my most grateful thanks for the wonderful cure they brought to me."

Mr. Best says that he finds it impossible to describe the pain and distress he had to suffer before using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

If this remedy can cure such extreme cases it is but fair to presume that there is no case of Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Palpitation of the Heart, or Chronic Dyspepsia, that they will not cure.

Found Only by London Merchants.

Etiquette is the religion of Japan. No people in the world are as polite as the Japanese. As a nation the Japanese are more cleanly than any other people. In nearly every way they are superior to the Chinese, but they lack the Chinese conscience and the doctrine of commercial honor. London merchants sell many Chinese merchants goods on credit, but they have learned by bitter experience that the Japanese merchants frequently fail to pay their debts.

From Messina to England.

A considerable trade in live quails takes place yearly from Messina to the United Kingdom. The birds are caught in the neighborhood of Messina. They are kept from three to four days in cages before being shipped, and are fed on hemp seed and ground corn, and are watered freely every day. It is estimated that from 90,000 to 100,000 are caught annually.

AFTER THREE YEARS

Mr. Joseph Rochette Released From Rheumatism.

Suffered Much Agony, his Appetite Failed, and His Strength Left Him—Hope for Similar Sufferers.

Only those who have suffered from the pangs of rheumatism know how much agony the sufferer has at times to endure. The symptoms often vary, but among them will be found acute pains in the muscles and joints, the latter sometimes much swollen. At times the patient is unable to dress himself, and the slightest jarring sound aggravates the pain. Liniments and outward applications cannot possibly cure rheumatism; it must be treated through the blood, and for this purpose there is no medicine yet discovered can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When given a fair trial, these pills never fail to cure even the most stubborn cases of rheumatism. Mr. Jos. Rochette, a well known resident of St. Jerome, Que., in an interview with a reporter of L'Avenir du Nord, offers strong proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mr. Rochette says:—"For nearly three years I was a great sufferer from rheumatism. The pains seemed at times to affect every joint, and the agony I endured was terrible. Sometimes I could scarcely move about, and was unfitted for work. The trouble affected my appetite, and in this way my weakness increased and my condition became more deplorable. I tried a number of remedies, but nothing helped me until I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and then relief came. Gradually the pains left me, my appetite improved and I became greatly strengthened. Before I had taken a dozen boxes my health and vigor was such that I felt better than I did before the trouble began. I have not since had an ache or pain, and I feel convinced that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine in the world for rheumatism."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold in every civilized land, and their enormous sale is due entirely to their great merit as a medicine. They cure all such troubles as rheumatism, sciatica, locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, nervous headache, kidney ailments, neuralgia and the weaknesses that afflict so many women. Do not let any dealer persuade you to try something else which he may say is "just as good." See that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on the wrapper around every box. If in doubt, send direct to The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be mailed post paid, at 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Pantomime.

Certain gestures are absolutely identified with certain feelings. To shake one's fist is to threaten; to hold up one's finger is to warn. To indicate thought we place the tips of the fingers on the forehead; to show concentrated attention we apply the whole hand. To rub the hands is everywhere a sign of joy, and to clap them a sign of enthusiasm. It would be easy to multiply examples. Affirmation, negation, repulsion are all indicated by motions that everyone understands.

It is the same, in quite as great a degree, with nationalities, in spite of the original diversity of the races that make them up. The mimetic character results at once from race, from history and from climate.

The gesture of the Englishman is fierce and harsh; he speaks briefly, brusquely; he is cold, positive, forceful. His salutation is cold and accentuated, but his handshake is loyal. The gesture of Germany is heavy, good-humored and always graceful. Many of the Slav people are unwilling to look one in the face, and they have a false gesture.

The Spaniard and the Portuguese, although dwelling in a southern land, gesticulate little; their language is rhythmic, slow, solemn; they are grave, their salutation is a little theatrical.

The Italian is lively, mobile, intelligent, gay; his language is harmonious, sonorous, warm and luminous like his country's sky. The salutation of the Italian is quick and full of feeling, his gesture colored and exaggerated.—London Answers.

Why Mr. Healy Was Tired.

One day toward the close of a long sitting in the assize courts, when another case was called on, says Pearson's Weekly, the leading counsel rose and huskily requested that the cause might be postponed till the next morning. "On what ground?" asked the judge snappishly. "Me lud, I have been arguing a case all day in court B and am completely exhausted. "Very well," said the judge. "We'll take the next." Timothy Healy, K.C., M.P., rose and also pleaded for adjournment. "What! Are you exhausted, too?" said the judge, with a snap of the eyelids. "What have you been doing?" "Me lud," said the Irish wit in a wearied voice, "I have been listening to my learned brother."

A Newgate Incident.

While seeing over Newgate Prison before its demolition, I went through the usual performance of holding out my wrists to have Jack Sheppard's handcuffs put on me. I did not suffer the misfortune of another woman. Jack Sheppard's handcuffs closed on a little piece of her skin and nipped it. Afterwards acute symptoms of blood-poisoning set in, and only gave way to clever treatment.—Violet Hunt, in Madame

A Parable.

"Farmer Greggs just passed through the field this morning," said Mr. Cucumber to old Fodder Corn, "and he said that all the corn (here the members of the Corn family were all ears) was blighted with the smut. I heard him tell the hired man to come and cut every bit of it out or the whole field would be spoiled."

The Corn was shocked. Old Fodder Corn and Pop Corn looked at their respective families, and said in concert with husky voices, "Mr. Cucumber, no more of your cutting remarks, if you please. Cool as you are, you'll find yourself in a pickle before night."

That night Mrs. Gregg made pickles, and it was so.

THE WEAVER BOTANIST.

How His Knowledge Discomfited Some of His Tormentors.

John Duncan, the weaver botanist of Scotland, was regarded as daft by most of his acquaintances. The country folk ridiculed and tormented him whenever they discovered him with his bundle of "weeds." On one occasion, relates his biographer, Mr. Jolly, John Duncan used his knowledge of a simple botanical fact to win the respect of his would-be tormentors.

Duncan was returning from a walk, laden with plants, when he was met by a number of farm servants, who thought to have some fun with the weaver and his weeds. He took their remarks in good part and then showed them a sprig of juniper, asking if they knew what it was. Yes, they had seen it; it bore berries. One of them knew where there was one big bush near by, but "nae leevin' ever saw a single berry on't." There was no other bush for miles around. John saw his opportunity if, as he surmised, it was a female plant.

All set off to see this bush. They soon found it, a solitary female plant in full bloom.

"Nae doot ye think yoursel's clever chiels," said John, "but could ony o' ye make the bush bear berries?"

They laughed him to scorn, but the weaver asserted that he could and would make it bear berries. Then, stretching out his hands over the bush, he murmured some long botanical terms in the manner of a magician and ended, "Thou shalt bear berries for once!" He then told them that he would remind them in the fall to come to see the juniper bearing fruit.

Next day the weaver went to a place miles away, where the staminate plants were in full bloom, broke branches, and with the greatest care brought them to the solitary pistillate plant, and shook the pollen over the blossoms. Then from time to time he watched the plant and saw the berries growing. The experiment was a success.

In the fall he summoned the party to see the plant loaded with berries. They were amazed, the more so when John concluded the drama by saying that the bush would never again bear berries; and sure enough, it never did.

Speaking afterward of the subject in the society at Auchleven, Duncan said that when he saw the successful action of the pollen it gave him more happiness than would have been his had he fallen heir to a kingdom.

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvellous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c., at Ormond & Walsh's.

Hamilton's Pills are Effective.

Col. H. P. Leader.

Lieut.-Col. Henry P. Leader, who on the recommendation of Lord Kitchener has been appointed to command the military forces of Natal, is a Canadian. He is a grandson of the late Rev. M. A. Farrar, incumbent of Norwood and Westwood, Ont., and is still remembered by many as a genial schoolboy of Norwood High School, a bright scholar and first-class cricketer at Trinity College School, Port Hope, and an athlete and studious cadet of the Royal Military College, Kingston. He went out to South Africa as Captain in the 6th Dragoon Guards ("The Carbineers"), and served throughout the war, receiving promotion steadily until he was placed in command of the Duke of Athol's regiment—the Scottish Horse. He was twice mentioned in Lord Kitchener's despatches for meritorious services. His many friends in Canada will be glad to hear of his latest promotion and wish him continued success in his profession.

"Exactly Suited To My Case"

Says Mr. Baker, and He Voices the Opinion of Hosts of Kidney Sufferers Regarding

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It frequently happens that people who are cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have previously experimented with other medicines without obtaining the desired results, and consequently a great many make use of this expression, "exactly suited to my case."

The action of this great medicine is so wonderfully prompt and direct, and the effects so marked that people naturally feel that it is particularly suited to their case. Time has proven the merits of this preparation, and consequently it has attained an enormous sale.

Mr. John Baker, Deseronto, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and can truthfully say that they are perfect in their work. I was subject to pain in my sides and back. At times I had to lay off work, and feared that I would never get rid of the ailment which was causing my sufferings. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended to me, and I found them to be exactly suited to my case. Since using them I have never had a return of my old troubles."

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab with a knife and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

THE DAWSON WOMEN

BRIGHT ARTICLE ON THEIR EVOLUTION BY ALICE RAWLINS CRANE.

Ladies Now Frequent the Streets of the Yukon Capital and Are Not Insulted—Means of Recreation for Ladies—How They Spend Their Time in Social Affairs—No Hardships Now.

Much has been said and written about the average woman of Dawson, and it is just about these same women that I am going to write a little more, and as it is my fortune to be among the first arrivals in this newly settled town, and to have resided here during the past four years of its growth from a few wretched cabins and tents erected on a fever-stricken stretch of undrained swamp to a well-drained, well-built town of handsome buildings, containing most of the comforts to be met with on the "outside," it will be my endeavor to write what observation has taught me concerning the changes which have gradually been brought about in most things pertaining to my sex.

In the days of 1896 and 1897 there were, of course, no female population in Dawson to speak of, for only prospectors were here in those early days and a few who had managed to hear of the extraordinary richness of Eldorado and Bonanza, and who had rushed headlong to the Klondike, hardly daring to believe a half of what they heard. Such men did not dream of bringing wives or other female relatives with them on that hard and hazardous journey, and Dawson was essentially at that time a bachelor camp.

But towards the end of '97 all the civilized world was thrilled with news of the Klondike's richness, and then it was that women as well as men were enthused with a burning desire to struggle into the Klondike over the Chilcoot and White passes, and to risk the terrors of dangerous rapids in home-made boats, in order to obtain a share of the precious metal which would, perchance, drive from many a home the gaunt wolf which had long threatened it.

In that wild rush in the spring of '98 there were probably two women to a thousand men, and while many of the latter behaved gallantly and obligingly, there were thousands who acted like selfish brutes, and were totally indifferent to the trials, troubles, and dangers which befell others.

Among the heterogenous mass of perhaps 60,000 men of all nationalities, and many of the lowest grades of desperados, the women who came to Dawson in '97 had to live.

The state of the so-called roads and trails, even in Dawson, necessitated the wearing of short skirts and masculine looking boots; consequently the women who come to Dawson to earn an outdoor living or whose occupation took them abroad on the streets or creeks were not dressed in a manner which added any outside charm to female attire. Labor was excessively dear, and women had to either pay extravagant prices to carpenters, paperhangers, and dressmakers, or be content to live in a very rough cabin, rudely furnished, with no more pretence to "show" than the plain, useful dresses they donned.

The few lady clerks, typewriters, and cashiers required were small in number compared with cooks and housekeepers. All were well paid, but few could save, owing to the high price of living.

The means of recreation were limited. The theatres were quite unfit for women to attend, both on account of the low standard of vulgar plays put on the stage and of the almost universal custom of drinking and smoking indulged in by the spectators. The actors appeared to look upon a Dawson audience as devoid of taste or education, and consequently gave a performance which would disgrace a third-rate dime museum.

Social gatherings were rare, as few possessed the means of entertaining their friends; the roads were in such deplorable condition that driving was out of the question even if there had been conveyances and hacks in the town—but the dog then held supreme sway, and was sold at a price which one would hesitate to pay for a good horse elsewhere.

There were few women to be seen: the streets were choked with men sitting along on the sidewalks, smoking and lounging about, so that women were almost compelled to either stay indoors or walk in the middle of the muddy roads.

The "lords of creation" did not appreciate a good woman, but lavished their time and money on the most lawless and vacillating of the weaker sex; many good and virtuous girls who came to Dawson to seek honest work in order to improve their impoverished condition from the slavish position they held elsewhere, braved to little purpose the heart-rending dangers which they nobly conquered along the trails, for, unable to obtain employment, they drifted into one of the too numerous dance halls, and thence to ruin and disgrace.

But under what altered conditions do we now live!

In a few short years the tent and barren cabin have given place to cosy buildings, comfortably and sometimes richly furnished; the man no longer cooks his own meals after a hard day's work, or complains of chronic indigestion, but he goes to his well-ordered home, welcomed by his wife and perhaps little children who have just returned from the public school which is now a credit to Dawson, and finds a vast difference in the year of 1902 from 1898.

Women have come to Dawson in large numbers lately; their journey here involved no hardships; fine steamers and a good railroad have brought them rapidly to their destination, which their sisters only reached after months of weary and dangerous plodding. They have brought their children with them, and the little ones brighten the streets and homes by their happy faces. They find the streets are no longer the trysting place of loafers and other pests, but are flanked with up-to-date stores, filled with goods from which it is easy to choose any article of food, dress or furniture needed.

In passing up and down the new well-ordered sidewalks—thanks to the deservedly popular Northwest Mounted Police—one will not see a poorly or peculiarly dressed woman; in fact, women in Dawson dress with as much style and richness as the women of any "outside" town.

If there has been a revolution in woman's dress, how much more has her presence been the means of modifying the dress of the male sex! The man who would now appear at a party dressed in a yellow Mackinaw suit or other equally ugly costume would be a rara avis, and the woman who in '98 could be seen laboriously plodding over the heavy trails on her way to the creeks, looking like a dilapidated rag doll, would be a much rarer sight. Neither does one see women shoveling into the sluice boxes alongside of men, nor working rockers in order to add to their scanty earnings.

Women are now in evidence at our many churches, libraries, social gatherings, concerts, and balls, and can also venture to a theatre at times.

Dawson is well provided with livery stables, and women are often seen comfortably riding to and from the creeks in well-appointed stages, which travel with ease and comparative comfort over the newly-made Government roads.

It is said that "experience is the most effective teacher of the race," and it has played no unimportant part in the history of Dawson and the evolution of its women.

I claim that the women have been greatly instrumental in helping to purify the immoral atmosphere which for a time hung over the town: by their influence they have elevated the tone of the men, and are gradually winning for the place a name which will no longer be synonymous with everything which a woman should detest, but one which shall be on a par with that of any city in Canada.

The critical years of hardships, trials, and stormy scenes which tended to cripple the morals and dwarf the aspirations are happily past, and Dawson women can now step out and take their places without a blush. They can look back on their checkered days as one remembers a bad dream, and they can appreciate themselves, no doubt, more than others can appreciate them, knowing what they have borne.

To many these bitter experiences have brought out in their lives all that is best and noblest in women: let us hope that the same may be said of our men in Dawson.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is

SNAKE CHARMING

Is not a popular occupation. Most women shrink from the sight of a snake and would faint at the touch of one. But these same women run greater risks than the snake charmer. How many women allow disease to fasten on them and slowly to crush out their strength.

Womanly diseases should never be allowed to undermine the health. Female weakness, bearing-down pains, inflammation, ulceration, backache, headache, nervousness, and other womanly ailments, curable by medicine, are promptly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I deem it my duty to express my deep, heartfelt gratitude to you for having been the means under providence of restoring me to health," writes Mrs. Oscar Brown, of Oxford, Granville Co., N. C. "For two years I suffered with female weakness, headache, neuralgia in various parts of the system, and after using four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of 'Pleasant Pellets,' also 'Lotion Tablets,' and one box of 'Antiseptic and Healing Suppositories,' I am cured."

If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures of other women, do not accept a substitute.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 31 one-cent stamps the expense of customs and mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CANADA AT EXHIBITIONS.

Government Will Have Exhibits in Japan and St. Louis.

Exhibition Commissioner Hutchison has sent out a communication from Ottawa giving information regarding foreign exhibitions. No decisions has been reached as yet as to whether the Dominion will take official part in the two South African exhibitions to be held next year and in 1904, but Lord Strathcona has been communicated with and asked to send information.

The Government will be represented at Osaka, Japan, exhibition in 1903, and will have its own building. Suggestions are asked as to exhibits which will be most useful in helping trade with that country.

At the St. Louis exhibition the Government will make exhibits in agriculture, horticulture, forestry and mineralogy. Manufacturers and others will show separately.

TWO MEN WE MET.

A Bit of Local Life That Is Very Like the Greater Thing.

Yesterday morning our belt line car carried two conductors, says The Toronto Star. One had an old cap, with the gilt braid well worn, and his coat was frayed. The other had a cap on which the braid was bright and shining, his transfer punch was new, and reflected as a mirror. His coat and suit were fresh from the tailor.

He was the new man.

The other man was the experienced one.

And, as I saw the old cap and frayed coat and the trousers that had seen better days, I knew that the lustre of the clothes and the freshness of the gilt upon the cap had gone in exchange for experience, for the knowledge how to be a good conductor. He did not pull the bell strap uncertainly. The other fellow did. He did not have to look for the streets before he called them; the other fellow did. He did not have any difficulty in spotting the new passenger to collect the fare. The other fellow did. The other fellow had the new clothes, but he was inexperienced. And so you and I exchange an unwrinkled brow for a wrinkled one, and we gain a bit of experience; a grey hair creeps in, and we know just a little more than we did; our shoulders stoop, for experience weighs. So, seeing the two conductors, I understood better why the bloom of youth could not have the experience of old age, and I fancied I saw why the roses grew among the thorns. Life is but a journey, a little coming and going; we have reached our street the end has come, and yesterday I received a new lesson to respect the old coat and the grey hair, for often they have the secret, and they alone.

First Wheat Sent Out of Manitoba.

C. J. Brown the Winnipeg city clerk, has in his office in the City Hall hanging on the wall in a frame a certified copy of the invoice (which accompanied the first wheat ever exported from Manitoba.

It is dated Oct. 12, 1876, or over 26 years ago. The invoice is from Higgins & Young to Steele Bros., the seedsmen, of Toronto.

The consignment was 857 1-6 bushels, at 85c. per bushel, and 26c. for each of the sacks. The wheat was purchased for seed.

The exports of grain have gradually increased since the date mentioned. Ten years later they totalled 4,000,000 bushels, and the year following the crop was a remarkable one, and 10,5000,000 bushels of grain was exported. In 1888 the crop was a poor one, and only 4,000,000 was exported. There was a similar quantity sent out in 1889, but in 1890 the figures rose to 11,500,000 bushels, and then the increase was gradual, with one or two exceptions, until last year, when the export was 50,000,000.

A Question That Bored Her.

King Edward VII. when Prince of Wales was conversing with a pretty woman at an entertainment some years ago. "Be sure to tell me if I bore you," said the Prince, and the lady loyally replied that it was her pleasure to be told when she was to go. They talked on for some minutes, and the lady spoke casually of something which had happened when she was ten years of age. "How long ago did you say it was?" asked the Prince. "I am bored," replied the lady.

The Asbestos Deposit.

Mr. Wellington Mackenzie, Toronto, who discovered the asbestos deposit on the shore of Lake Temiskaming on October 5, has arrived home. He brings with him a sample which shows the fibre to be unusually long and clean. This is the only known deposit of asbestos in Ontario, he says, so far as the Bureau of Mines is aware. Mr. Mackenzie has filed his claim and intends to develop it at an early date.

ENGLAND.

By Mrs. S. Frances Harrison.

"The Lark at dawn, the Nightingale at eve,
Conspire to make it beautiful. I had dreamed
Of some such beauty—lo! it rose around me
More exquisite than any dream, more fair
Than even the favorite dreams of cherished children,
And what those are—how strange, how sweet, how rare,
We all remember—when a touch, or sound,
Startles us, and we look
Backwards—ten, twenty, thirty, forty years.
Yet fairer even than those
Cloud-visions capped with rose,
My England—with her abbeys framed in green;
Grey Tintern set not too far from the sea
By subtle monks, safe in its rim of hills,
And gayer Furness, clad in mellow reds
That glimmer warm through many an ivy-mat,
And tall cathedral tripped with shimmering spires,
That hang over hut and hall,
And satin poppies, scarlet, wild,
Clasped in the hands of the laborer's child,
And tangled cottage gardens gaily dress
In all their rustic Sunday summer best.
O blame them not who evermore
Upon a cold colonial shore
Feel their hearts burn within them at the thought
Of all that beauty! Let it be said of such—
Not that they loved their Canada the less,
But only—England—the more. Let it be said
Of them that nature did so feed their souls
With all that was grand, illimitable, potent, fresh,
That poesy failed them. Nature was all in all;
Too self-sufficing, strong, relentless, masterful,
To aid the human spirit. Then there stole
From English valleys, leafy lanes, high hills,
From sloping uplands, farms and lichened towers,
From roofless ruins gracious in decay—
Something—a sentiment, aspiration, wish—
That soothed, inspired at once, that gave for wild
Dissatisfaction, peace. Dear England! I—
I have not—yet I fain had been—a child!"
—From "Pine, Rose and Fleur de Lis."

Sketch of "Seranus."

Mrs. Harrison, who is better known by her pen-name, "Seranus," is a native of Toronto, and is still resident of that city. She is active in art circles, but her literary output has not been large. She began to write at an early age, however, and published in 1888 a small volume of sketches, entitled "Crowded Out," dealing with French-Canadian life and character, and notable for their local coloring and fidelity to Provincial types. The following year "The Canadian Birthday Book" came from her pen, and in 1891 she published a volume of verse under the title of "Pine, Rose and Fleur de Lis." Fully a third of this is occupied with a poetic sequence called "Down the River," a work descriptive of the picturesque villages and the people of Quebec. This is a field Mrs. Harrison has carefully studied, and here she has cast the scene of her novel, "The Forest of Bourg-Marie," which appeared in 1898, and has attained to considerable popularity. In it she confirms her gift for picturesque and vivid portrayal. She is, indeed, far more effective as a prose writer than as a poet, and has an intellectual rather than imaginative vision. But in either sphere she is a literary artist. The influence of Browning is, Pharos in The Globe thinks, perceptible in her verse.

A Sure Cure for Constipation.

Some remedies cure this distressing complaint in a day, some in a month, but Nerviline never fails to cure in a few minutes. Just ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water—that's enough, and away goes the dysentry, cured to stay cured. Nerviline also cures Cramps, Colic, Pain in the Stomach, and Sick Headache. It has five times the strength and curative properties of ordinary remedies, and should be in every household. Better buy a 25c. bottle and try it. Nerviline is all right.

Stocks Take a Downward Movement.

To-day's Statement the Worst for Some Time—Daily Letters—Quotations.

The market to-day was decidedly bearish, and to-day's quotations were a heavy blow to those who bought in the expectations of a rise after the election. There was a slight drop on Wednesday, but to-day's was much heavier. Nearly every stock fell, with the exception of Dominion Coal, which closed four points over its opening quotation. Sales to noon, 642,300.

New York, Nov. 7th.—Surprising indefiniteness of purpose appears to remain as the characteristic feature of the stock market. Wednesday following election day concentrated energetic efforts were brought to bear against quotations under leadership of the Waldorff Astoria clique, followed by the stock exchange. Floor trading fraternity stocks were sold merrily and indiscriminately, while the selling was accompanied by all kinds of direful stories. House with western connections were given selling orders also. Thursday it looked as if the market had been sold to a stand still, and stocks began to recuperate. Great stress was laid upon the uncertain position of the Empire state for 1904, demonstrated by Colers large vote, while ultra bears even had him elected on Wednesday. Little if any attention is being given to the important and numerous facts favourable to the market's future. Southern Railway has reported an increase for the third week in Oct. amounting to $69,936. Louisville for the same week improved $93,000. Penna. and M. K. & T. also made extremely favourable showings, for the same period. Too much company on either side of an extremely dull market is dangerous. There is rapidly becoming too much company on the bear side at present. The little bears and traders, as well as sold out share holders, will probably in a very few days' time awaken to the fact that they have supplied the stocks with which the larger fellows covered their present short committments. Timely warning is therefore advisable. A dull period cannot be pushed in either direction. The preponderance of factors upon either side will eventually govern prices. They always do, and at present writing the preponderance leans strongly to the bull side of the account. Stocks are now at a low level compared to very recent prices, consequently with no impairment of earnings, a large crop ahead to be marketed with good prices ruling for same, it would appear extremely injudicious to sell anything at present. The change from inactivity and indecisiveness of market movement to activity will more than likely be as sudden as marked. Put yourself speculatively in shape therefore for the impending change.

HAIGHT & FREEZE COY.

New York, Nov. 8th.—The market was yesterday disappointing, and closed heavy. The Keene and Gates following both appear to have adopted a waiting policy. The bear movement in sugar is attributed to Boston interests, and lower prices are talked for the stock on pretext of renewed war in the trade, but short interest in it is very heavy, and we would advise caution. We would likewise rest from the stock market for the present, as everything possible is being done to prevent gold exports, until the money sent west for the movement of crops is returned. The bank statement is expected to be unfavourable.

M. & M.

Gold exports expected next week, but advancing Paris exchange helping the situation. Great Western ordered all improvement work suspended. There is a great scarcity of cars at all points. Probably D. & H. reduced to five per cent. Considerable loss in cash indicated. Bank statement may be unfavourable. Norfolk dividend last week of this month or first of next, will be 1 1-2 semi-annual.

The Amenities of Politics.

Mr. Balfour's remarks at Haddington on the good feeling really existing between members of the rival political parties in this country may not altogether have been to the liking of the thoughtless, out and out party man in the provinces, who hugs the delusion that the rival leaders mean what they say in another's dispraise in Parliament. These do not understand that the leaders have often to do this sort of thing to keep honest dunderheaded supporters in good humor. Disraeli, when leading the House, used on principle to level a few sarcasms at the leaders opposite to keep up the heart of his followers. Good Conservatives and good Liberals, who take their party politics very seriously, were astounded to see the announcement that Mr. Chamberlain was spending a few days with Sir William Harcourt at Malwood in the week following the former's "Why you and Lord Rosebery weren't on talking terms with one another!" by way of retort to Sir William's banter about the relations of Lord Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain. It is merely a part of the game. No; the real opponents do by no means necessarily sit opposite one another.—London Saturday Review.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM FIELD OF SPORT.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams Opposes the Snap-back Play—London and Their Protest—Some Notes of Interest to Rugbyists.

The action of the London Rugby Club in protesting the Toronto game of last Saturday is rather amusing. Perhaps we should say it is particularly amusing in view of the fact that it is the London Club that is the complainent in the action. What are the circumstances? Last fall the London Club played Harry Peel, a professional. It is alleged they knew him to be a professional, and it is a fact that they played him in a defiance of a telegram from the O.R.F.U. stating that they were not to do so. They played Peel then in direct disobedience to the O.R.F.U., who knew only too well that gentleman's "amat u." standing. The result was that the entire London Club was suspended. However, it was at the end of the season and it mattered very little to London from a competitive standpoint, and of course it would never make them blush, as it might another Club, viewing the circumstances in a moral sense. The O.R.F.U. who have stood a good deal from the London Club in matters of the kind, very kindly raised the suspension at the beginning of the present season and the London players were all reinstated. Now, this same man Peel was at one time a resident of Pittsburg, the Mecca of professional hockey players and the centre where the most brilliant of hockeyists lose their virgin amateur standing. It was at the Smokey City that Peel fell from grace, but this was previous to his playing on the London team against the authority of the O.R.F.U. Bert Morrison, it is alleged, happened to play against Peel's team in Pittsburg and now London asks that the Toronto team be thrown out because he played against them, those great models of propriety and athletic purity. The least we can say is that London doesn't need nerve food.

SNAP-BACK SYSTEM OPPOSED.

To the Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In several recent issues you have in your football column urged the adoption of the snap-back system of scrimmaging, and many other newspapers have taken the same line. As one who has had a good many years of experience in Rugby both as player and as spectator, I wish to express a different opinion on this question and to oppose a change in our rules, which would in my opinion aggravate the worst features of our present style of game and be injurious to the best.

Briefly my position is that while recognizing the objectionable features of the game, as now played, I think that the snap-back would aggravate instead of curing the trouble. My reason is this: In fine weather our game has a great deal of kicking and running and passing even when the teams are not evenly matched, as was seen on Thanksgiving Day in the game with Ottawa, but in windy or wet weather there is a constant scrimmaging and close line-bucking, which it will be admitted by all is neither interesting to the ordinary spectator nor particularly skilful play. The essential difference lies in the absolute importance of possession of the ball under the latter conditions, for as long as one side can retain the ball they can, at least, prevent their opponents making any gains, and the fine open running, passing or kicking plays are too dangerous to be risked on this account. In our present style of scrimmaging the side having the ball has the better chance, but has not any certainty of retaining it. In the snap-back style it is an absolute certainty, and therefore scrimmaging and line bucking could be kept up indefinitely. It may be said that this can be prevented by the rule of the American game, that a team having the ball must make ten yards in three scrimmages or downs, or lose the ball. But why not introduce this rule into our present game, to which it is equally applicable. I agree with those who say that there ought to be something to prevent constant scrimmaging, and I would strongly favour the adoption of this rule as to downs.

In the snap-back style of scrimmaging lies the essential difference between our game and that played in the United States, and the long roll of serious accidents and deaths every season is not a very strong recommendation for their style of play. The open running, passing, which is the finest feature of our game, is never seen in their game, simply because the risk of losing possession of the ball is too great and instead there is a succession of combined rushes at the line, relieved only by the kicking made necessary by the downs rule. It seems to me that the change is a move in the directly opposite direction to that which its advocates desire.

One other remark about this proposed change. It has been advocated for years by newspaper writers, not one-fourth of whom are experts in the game. It has as constantly been condemned by nearly all the most experienced managers and players, some of whom have have taken the trouble to study the American game as seen at its best in the great college contests.

I have suggested above one change in our rules to meet the recognized defect—the adoption of the downs rule. I wish to suggest another—the reduction of the team to 13 by taking off two wings. Players who have had experience in practice games with 12 or 13 a side know that the result is to greatly increase the amount of running and passing by the halves, the reason being that the field is more open and that there are fewer men to interfere with them. I believe that such a reduction in the number of the wings would result in a great development of the combined running and passing game, which both players and spectators like above everything else.

I suggest these two changes for the consideration of the Peterborough Rugbyists and I would like to see our club advocate them at the next annual meeting of the Ontario Union.

Yours very truly,
R. F. McWILLIAMS.

RUGBY.

Concerning the Peel affidavits, the London News says:—

"As to the affidavit submitted by the London representatives, Mr. Crawford stated that it had been placed before the executive under a misunderstanding. Mr. Crawford says that the affidavit was drawn up by Mr. O'Neil, lawyer, of this city, to be submitted to Mr. Peel for his signature. The pencilled signature was placed in by the lawyer himself as a guide where Peel should place his name. When the affidavit was presented to Mr. Peel it is claimed that he refused to affix his name stating that he was not going to throw Morrison down. Hearn, also, to whom an affidavit was sent is alleged to have refused to sign the document, he making a similar excuse. It is further alleged by the locals that Morrison was in communication with Peel and Hearn over the telephone and by this means made himself solid in these quarters. The affidavit was submitted to the meeting purely in an error. Mr. Crawford notified the secretary of the O.R.F.U. to that effect to-day."

FLOWER LEGENDS AND OTHER POEMS.

The following favourable criticism of Miss Alma McCollum's "Flower Legends" appeared in the Markdale Standard, written by Rev. J. R. Newell, a poet of merit, who received honourable mention for his contribution to the "Good Words" Coronation ode competition—

This is a dainty volume of poetry by a young Canadian writer, whose first venture into the realms of Bookland assures us in believing that still better things may be expected from her pen hereafter. Aside from its intrinsic merits, the first publication of a young author naturally arouses a certain curiosity; and in the subject of the present volume such curiosity does not end in disappointment. Miss McCollum writes pleasantly and thoughtfully, and is proficient in the art of conveying her ideas in easy flowing verse. Her poetry has, among other excellencies, three distinguishing characteristics, viz., quantity, rhyme and harmony. In the volume under view, a modern abomination is studiously avoided—we refer to the reckless disregard to the number of feet in similarly recuring lines. Miss McCollum adheres to the old classic canons, and, in our estimation, she deserves critical commendation in this respect. Her rhyme is always good, and the right word seems to come spontaneously, as if no exigency required it. The writer of this review was waited on some time ago by a poetical writer of much experience and considerable distinction, who confessed that in the writing of a sonnet the first combination, requiring two sets of four words rhyming together, was a constant difficulty with him, and it required his utmost skill to find words which would rhyme perfectly and at the same time convey the ideas which he desired to express. In mastering this difficulty Miss McCollum has achieved no little victory; and that she has achieved it the most exacting critic cannot deny. As to harmony, there is a chastened musical rhythm in many of her poems whose cadence falls upon the ear in pleasing modulations like the subdued breathings of an Aeolian harp. Making a general selection, the following pieces are gems of rare beauty: "Pretty Miss Spring," "Beyond the Hill," "Her Fingers White," "The Wooing of the Wave," "You are You," and "The Kissing Gate." In the serio-comic vein there are some poems of much excellence. One of these is entitled "Farewell to Jack." Until we come to the last stanza we feel that we are reading a doleful good-bye to a lost or discarded lover; but in due time dear Jack is revealed in his true personality—

"And Jack, dear Jack, is not a lover bold,
He only is the best card I could hold;
For euchre is the game, but I forgot,
And played my Right instead of just a Spot."

As a whole Miss McCollum's book is a welcome addition to Canadian poetic literature. In another column we print "The Wooing of the Wave" as a specimen selection; and the heart which does not respond to the chaste beauty of such poetry must indeed be callous and incapable of appreciating that which rises very high in the realms of the beautiful and the sublime. The book, as a product of the printer's and book-binder's art is an attractive volume, and does credit to the publishing house of William Briggs, Toronto.

MISERABLE NIGHTS.

What to do When Baby is Fretful and Sleepless.

It is wrong to take up a wakeful baby from the cradle, and walk it up and down the floor all night. It demoralizes the infant and enslaves the parent. Baby does not cry for the fun of the thing; it cries because it is not well—generally because its stomach is sour, its little bowels congested, its skin hot and feverish. Relieve it, and it will sleep all night, every night growing stronger in proportion. Just what mothers need is told in a letter from Mrs. E. J. Flanders, Marbleton, Que., who says, "I cannot say too much in favour of Baby's Own Tablets. They have worked like a charm with my baby, who was restless at night, but Baby's Own Tablets soon brought quiet sleep and rest. I shall never be without a box while I have a baby." Baby's Own Tablets cure all minor ailments of little ones, and are guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. They are sold at 25 cents a box by all dealers, or you can get them by mail, postpaid by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schnectady, N.Y.

MURDER TRIAL ENDED

Gerald Sifton Acquitted by Jury at London on Saturday.

JURY OUT FOR OVER 3 HOURS.

Reported a Disagreement and Were Sent Back—In Short Time, However, They Returned With a Verdict of "Not Guilty"—What Will Be Done With Herbert, Who Pleaded Guilty?—Sifton Discharged.

London, Nov. 10.—"Not guilty" was the verdict in the Sifton murder case Saturday evening. It was the result of a week's trial. This was practically the third trial of the case. At 5 o'clock the jury were given the final instructions and retired. Three hours later they returned and Foreman Gillies reported to Judge Britton that an agreement was impossible. At that hour two stood out for conviction and the balance for acquittal. The judge sent the jury back to see if an agreement was not possible. In 20 minutes they reported an agreement, "Not guilty."

The young wife of the prisoner rushed wildly to him and threw her arms around him. She manifested the greatest joy. The crowd in the court-room cheered, and many women rushed forward and grasped the prisoner's hands.

Judge Britton discharged the prisoner. Sifton left the court-room after shaking hands with the members of the jury.

This is one of the most remarkable criminal trials in the history of Canadian jurisprudence. It has cost the Crown more than $25,000, and Gerald Sifton has been fighting for his life since June 30, 1900.

When the foreman's report was announced Gerald Sifton stood up and hugged his wife, but in no other way indicated his pleasure. Then he was handed his hat and left the court-room with his wife, after an imprisonment of more than two years, most of the time in the shadow of the scaffold.

The jury was composed of William Tilwood, Andrew Gardner, D. K. McKee, Robert Patterson, Dougald Gillies, J. E. Thomas, F. A. Ryan, William Sutherland, Henry Rismele, George I. Stephenson, W. T. Howlett, David Wood.

What will the Crown do in the case of Walter Herbert, who voluntarily confessed that he was a party to the murder of old Mr. Sifton? Herbert swore that Gerald Sifton was a murderer, but the jury says he is not. If Herbert is sentenced to death it will be upon his own statements, which are discredited by the acquittal of Sifton. Inspector Murray says he does not know what action will be taken by the authorities. He is of the opinion that the young man will be brought before the judge and remanded for sentence. This will practically mean that the prisoner will be set at liberty. In view of the verdict in the Sifton case, the inspector hardly sees what other step can be taken.

The death of Joseph Sifton, a well-known and wealthy farmer of this county, on the morning of June 30, 1900, was the cause of the charge of murder against Gerald Sifton, his son. Joseph Sifton was 70 years old. He was to have been married the day of his death to Mary Macfarlane, his young housekeeper. The old man went to the barn early that morning with his son and Walter Herbert, a hired man. A few minutes later Herbert ran to the house and told Mary the old man had fallen from the barn and killed himself.

Ugly rumors were circulated until July 26, when Provincial Chief of Detectives John Murray caused the arrest of Sifton and Herbert, on the charge of the deliberate murder of the old man. The motive was believed to have been the estate, as far as the son was concerned, and $1,000 as far as the hired man was interested.

Both men were indicted, and at the first trial Walter Herbert pleaded guilty. He was accepted as a Crown witness and detailed the entire affair. He said that Gerald Sifton came to him the night before the old man was killed, and offered him $1,000 to help kill his father. At the preliminary hearing the two men pleaded not guilty. At the first regular hearing, after both men were indicted, Herbert pleaded guilty, and so continued to plead till the end.

MAY OPEN NORTH GREY

Parties May Agree to Have the Seat Declared Vacant.

A NEW RAILWAY IN OLD ONTARIO

Line to Be Extended From Port Burwell via. Tilsonburg to Collingwood—Important Link Between Lake Erie Car Ferries and Georgian Bay Counties—A Portion Already Constructed.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—It is probable that when the North Grey election trial is called at Owen Sound tomorrow the constituency will be declared vacant. Mr. A. G. McKay, the Liberal candidate, was elected there by a majority of five over his opponent, Mr. George M. Boyd. There are four ballots that were in dispute, and it is felt by both sides that the least expensive course to pursue would be to throw open the seat.

In anticipation of a trial a notice of motion was filed through Bristol, Bayly & Armour at Osgoode Hall to the effect that at the trial at Owen Sound an order would be asked for the production of four ballots which were disallowed by the County Judge. In polling subdivision No. 9, Township of St. Vincent, there were 40 votes cast for McKay and 29 votes for Boyd. Of the latter, however, four votes had two crosses, a large one opposite Boyd and a smaller one opposite McKay. These were the votes disallowed, the numbers being 6418, 6421, 6427 and 6429. In support of the application there are submitted affidavits from 25 voters in that subdivision, who make oath that they voted for Boyd.

NEW RAILWAY IN ONTARIO.

Line to Be Extended From Port Burwell to Collingwood.

An important railway extension is under contemplation affecting western Ontario. It is no less than the construction of a railway from Tilsonburg to Collingwood, an extension of the line between Port Burwell and Tilsonburg, which is now being built to Ingersoll. President Teal was in the city on his way to Collingwood and conferred with the Public Works Department respecting plans and surveys of the country to be traversed. This line would be an important link between the Lake Erie car ferries and the Georgeian Bay Counties for the shipment of coal and for general communication between the northern and southern sections of western Ontario. The distance from Port Burwell to Collingwood is about 135 miles.

That Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, has recently made a number of analyses of soaps, and reports that "Sunlight Soap contains that high "percentage of oils or fats necessary "to a good laundry soap."

What every woman does not know is that in common soaps she frequently pays for adulterations at the price of oils and fats. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. He should know. 306

WAR IN EAST AFRICA.

(Scottish American.)

The war in South Africa is no sooner over than Britain finds herself at war in East Africa, but it is a small affair. It just shows the world-wide extent of the British Empire. In the midst of universal peace elsewhere that Empire is always fighting for its life in some obscure corner or other, but its fighting is for the peace, order and civilization of the whole world. The Roman Empire never was at peace any more than the British Empire is, and the fruitage of the former's war was the peace of the Romans, while the latter's wars are for the peace of Britons. While Rome policed the whole world to protect civilization from an irruption of warring barbarians and the social chaos which followed its downfall, Britain polices the greatest commercial empire of history to avert the chaos that would follow its break-up and the wild struggle of all Christendom over the fragments. No event would be so likely to turn civilization back into the barbarian channels of universal war as the throwing of the British Empire into the arena to be the prize of the strongest. Napoleon dreamed of universal dominion. That would be the surest guaranty of peace to the world, but such a thing is beyond probability. The nearest approach to it, however, is the world-wide extent of the British Empire, and its preservation is the surest guaranty of the modern world from a temporary relapse into the barbarism of almost universal war. It may be rightly said that the price of this preservation is the perpetual little wars on some fringe of the Empire. Britain's enemies are not barbarians like those of Rome, but civilized rivals for trade and political influence, and the weapons they use are the devoted tribes that are always coming to grief by denying her power. Wherever there is a buffer State, or an ill-defined frontier, it is a weak point in Britain's defence, and one which foreign intrigue and diplomacy are always trying to undermine. For instance, it is said that the Somalis were trained and led by an Austrian officer, and nearly all the armies of the world were represented in the Boer forces, while Russian drill-masters muster the billmen of India, and those of France attend to the tribes of the desert.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Instances in the New World of successful operation of municipal ownership of public utilities are not sufficiently numerous—probably owing to attempts having been so few—that one can afford to pass over the recent report of the town of Santa Clara, Cal. The town has a population of 3,650 persons. While it will be noticed that the experiment is not exactly a huge one, perhaps it is harder to handle such things in small towns than in big cities. Its tax rate is only $3.50 on the thousand dollars. Last year the receipts from taxes were a little less than $5,000, and those from licenses were $1,600, or about $6,600 in all. Yet the town expended $10,850, and has to its credit $3,100 as a result of the last year. That is to say, the expenses and the balance are $7,350 more than the receipts from taxes and licenses. The amount was earned by the public utilities of the town operated by the municipality. Under the old way of letting a few people enjoy these profits accruing from the great natural monopolies, the taxes would have been almost double what they are.

PRAISED BY RIVALS.

The completion of the Pacific cable from Canada to Australia is regarded by the United States press as an achievement upon which we might well be congratulated. The Detroit News for instance, says, "While we have been making a great noise over a Pacific cable from the United States coast to the Philippines, the British Government has gone ahead quietly and has laid a line that reached from Vancouver to Brisbane, Queensland. The British colonists of Canada and Australia are to be congratulated upon the accomplishment of this great undertaking. Their Imperial Government has had more experience than we have had in laying cables, and it is not harassed and hampered by grasping corporations who have influential representatives in the Government. We shall accomplish a few things in the course of time."

THE LATE MR. SAILSBURY.

His Funeral Took Place in Cobourg Last Week—Well Known Gentleman.

(Cobourg World.)

The funeral of a former much respected resident, Mr. Jonathan Sailsbury, took place on Monday morning from the G.T.R. station upon arrival of the mail express from Toronto. Mr. Sailsbury was a resident Cobourg for many years. He was in the stationery business here and for years Sailsbury's bookstore was well and popularly known throughout the counties. After giving up business here and removing to another place deceased was a casual visitor and always seemed glad to come back to his home town. He was here this summer visiting his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kershaw, and enjoyed his stay in Cobourg very much. Deep regret was felt here when it was known that Mr. Sailsbury was dead for he was a man who was highly respected and esteemed. At one time he was prominently identified with the cricket and curling clubs of this town. He died at the General Hospital on Friday and a funeral service was held at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Churchill Thompson, 27 Bright street, Toronto, Rev. M. L. Pearson officiating.

On Monday the remains were brought to Cobourg and interred in the Union cemetery. Service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Saunders.

Deceased was united in marriage to Miss Emily Hewitt, who predeceased him about 22 years.

He leaves three sons and four daughters, viz.—Robert, of Winnipeg; William and Edward, of Peterborough; Mrs. Bean, Minneapolis; Mrs. Chas. Turner, Peterborough; Mrs. Churchill Thompson, Toronto; Mrs. Armstrong, Regina.

Among the relatives from a distance who attended the funeral were William and Edward Sailsbury, Peterborough, sons of deceased; Mr. Frank Turner, Peterborough, grandson; Dr. Harrison, Keene, nephew.

DIED IN TORONTO.

Widow of the Late Rev. James Carmichael.

The widow of the late Rev. James Carmichael, formerly of Norwood, died at her home in Toronto on Tuesday, after an illness of four days. The deceased came of a prominent East York family, being the daughter of the late Andrew Barker of Markham. Mr. J. A. O. Carmichael of the Bank of Commerce, Skaguay, is her son, as was also the late W. B. Carmichael, formerly of the Bank of Toronto. The funeral will await the arrival of Mr. Carmichael from Skaguay.

MARRIED AT CAMPBELLFORD.

Mr. Nelson King, of Stanwood, to Miss Beatrice Petefer, of Campbellford.

It was a happy party that assembled before the chancel of Christ Church, Campbellford, at four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, November 4th, at which hour Mr. Nelson King, of Stanwood, and Miss Beatrice Petefer, daughter of Mr. John Petefer, Campbellford, gave the pledges and registered the vows which made them man and wife. Rev. A. J. Reid, rector, of the parish, officiated, while Miss Ethel Maynard, played the wedding march. Miss May Whitehead acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. George Partridge of Warkworth, performed the duties of groomsman. The bridal gown was a beautiful combination of grey cashmere and white applique. Miss Whitehead wore a becoming costume of white organdie with white picture hat to match. An elaborate wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, after which the young couple took the evening train for Peterborough, where they will reside in future.

Mr. King has a remunerative situation with the Canadian General Electric Company, and is a young man of ability. Miss Petefer was a member of Christ church, and was respected by a wide circle of friends. We extend our congratulations, and trust that they will meet with the best of success in their new home.

ATHLETICS AND RELIGION.

He Thinks That They Should go Hand in Hand—He Mentions "Tom" Dodds as an Instance of This.

There was a large congregation at St. Paul's church last night, and the service throughout was very interesting, and heartily entered into by those present. The music was of a special nature, and was marked by the rendering of a solo entitled "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," by Mrs. McIntyre. In the anthem, "The Palms," Mr. Harry Milne, of Toronto, who was in town over Sunday, took the solo in a very pleasing manner. Mr. Crane presided at the organ at both services.

The sermon by Rev. J. A. Wilson, the Assistant Pastor of the church, to young people, was taken from the words: "Ephraim is a cake not turned." These words are to be found in the seventh verse of the eighth chapter of the Book of Hosea. Mr. Wilson first explained the meaning of the words, and the circumstances under which they were used. Ephriam in this case meant Israel. This was owing to the fact that Ephriam was the greatest chief of the ten tribes of that time. The people of that country had forsaken the God of their fathers; they had continued to go through certain forms of worship but in their political and social life they were corrupt. As Hosea saw the germs of wickedness about them his heart was broken, and he cried out: "Ephriam is a cake not turned." The prophet meant that one side was over done in this case with wickedness, while the other side was half done. Continuing, the assistant pastor said that he was not going to apply the text to-night in a national sense, but he would ask them to take it with him as applied to individuals. Then the preacher described the young man, who when he leaves home, can not find time for good reading, fails to go to church, participating only in matters worldly, week in and week out, whilst not thinking of the religious side of life. Such a young man is a cake unturned. He has developed only one side. Again the preacher drew the picture of the young man just reaching manhood, who used to be the joy of his parents' hearts, but who had now become too much interested in the things of the world. His reading matter consisted almost entirely of the sporting columns of the daily paper; he enters college and continues his worldly life. Finally through the influence of his relatives is placed in an office or some other responsible position. He cannot, however, keep his mind on his work, he must give his thoughts to his sporting life, he developed only one side of his life and is finally discharged. Such a man is a cake unturned.

Rev. Mr. Wilson said that he was not speaking of young men alone and he dilated upon the characteristics of some of the young women of to-day—the members of the do-nothing club—the butterfly of fashion, etc. She is generally told by the character of the books she reads, and the amount of trouble she causes her parents. She enjoys life in her own estimation, but when there is anything to do in a Godly cause she is not to be found. She never assists in Christian Endeavour or takes part in Y.W.C.A. work. She has treasures laid up here but thinks nothing of the treasures she should lay up, in Heaven. Such a young woman has her day, and she will find herself left alone in the cold, cold world, and find that she has been a cake unturned.

However, Rev. Mr. Wilson believes in athletic exercise. He thinks that it helps to brighten the eye and make strong men, but he sees no reason why athletics and religion cannot go hand in hand. As an instance of this the preacher quoted John Taylor, now in far off India preaching the gospel to the natives of that land. John Taylor was one of the best halfbacks in rugby of his time. "Many of you know Tom Dodds, who was raised near Peterborough," continued Rev. Mr. Wilson. Tom Dodds was one of the best known athletes at Knox College, and was one of the best rugbyists of his time. Now Tom Dodds is working the hardest district that there is in the Presbyterian church, and the verdict of his people is, that the grass grows greener where Tom Dodds walks. Tom Dodds the athlete was Tom Dodds the Christian.

The future depends upon the young men and women of to-day and the preacher appealed to them to develop not only their physical life but their religious life as well, so that it cannot be said as of Ephraim that they are cakes unturned.

PRESENTATION AT NORWOOD.

Rev. J. F. Somerville, of Norwood, Presented With an Address.

On Tuesday night last about 120 friends of Rev. J. F. Somerville, who has resigned his position as pastor of the Presbyterian church, at Norwood, met at the manse to bid him farewell. A lengthy address was read by Mr. Jas. Meikle, in behalf of the congregation, thanking Mr. Somerville for the many benefits they had received from him, and for the plain, straightforward way in which the Gospel truth was constantly laid before them. Miss Morrison, on behalf of his friends, also presented him with a welll-filled purse. Mr. Somerville, who was taken entirely by surprise, thanked his friends for the many kindnesses shown him during the eight years he had laboured among them as pastor, and exhorted them to be true to the faith and the church. After singing the doxology the party broke up.

THE MARCH STOPPED.

Doukhobor Army Placed on a Train by Force at Minnedosa.

RESISTED WITH LOCKED ARMS.

Conference Between Messrs. Pedley and Speers and Five Doukhobors—What the Interview Revealed—Decided That They Are to Be Returned Home and the Fight Took Place After the Conference.

Minnedosa, Man., Nov. 10.—Another chapter in the history of the Doukhobors' pilgrimage to convert the world has closed, but with the end, "to be continued." On the arrival of the Doukhobor army here they were met by Mr. Pedley and Mr. Speers, who led toem to the skating rink.

They formed outside and sang a Psalm, then were led in prayer by one of their number, who addressed the citizens, asking them to do something for Jesus by helping them along with food.

They then went inside and were interviewed by Mr. Pedley, who tried to find out the leaders. Many schemes were tried, but the Doukhobors were cunning and would not bite. At last Mr. Pedley persuaded them to pick out one man from each village to meet him and talk over the situation.

About 2 o'clock Mr. Pedley, Mr. Speers and five Doukhobors held a conference in the balcony of the rink, one of the Doukhobors acting as interpreter. Mr. Pedley tried every means to find out the real object of their pilgrimage, and many and amusing were the evasive answers given by the Doukhobors.

They showed that they were well posted on current events, saying they wanted to go south to convert the miners in the recent coal strike. From this interview it was most apparent that religion was not their only object, but that they were going to force the Government to give them their own laws or they would tramp to some other country, but as after this showing, no other country would have them, Mr. Pedley decided they must be put back in the villages and kept there.

Mr. Pedley told them they must prepare to return next day, and that he would go back with them, which seemed to satisfy them temporarily. Saturday morning they again spread around the town begging, as they did the day before, but gathered back and had their meal at 11 o'clock. Then a break was made to move east. Then they discovered they were confined, and could not go.

They made a slight show of forcing their way out, but were held back by police, and were kept in until the special train of six empty coaches and three cars filled with men of the N. W. M. P. arrived. Mr. Speers entered the rink and asked them to go quietly to the train, but Zebroff, who has been exhorting them ever since their arrival here to remain firm, again tried to hold them together.

Mr. Speers grabbed Zebroff, and, in spite of his struggles and fighting, ran him out of the rink and called to the police to bring the rest. They went out all right, but as soon as they got out they locked themselves together by every man hugging another, making a solid body.

Then the excitement commenced. The citizens turned in and helped the police, but it was hard work for a while to even get the Doukhobors apart. It took four or five men to pull one Doukhobor from this interlocked mass. They had to go however. Some went quietly when broken away, while the majority fought every inch of the ground.

The scene was one that has never been equalled in the history of Canada. A sullen, stubborn mob of people fighting fiercely with police and citizens, not in the usual way of warfare, but just to be left alone and allowed to go their way.

One citizen had an ear nearly bitten off, a Doukhobor had his ankle broken and there were many other minor mishaps. A few of the Doukhobors went to the coaches alone, but the vast majority were carried, bodily dragged, pushed along, or loaded in the wagons of farmers, who had gathered to see the fight. The latter course was bitterly fought by the Doukhobors, as they so seriously objected to being drawn by horses.

The fight in getting the Doukhobors the one hundred yards from the rink to the station ended in a victory for the Government forces, but the Doukhobor army again formed for battle, and it was here that by far the stiffest fighting occurred. The Doukhobors fought, kicked and clung to everything they could get hold of, the railings of the coaches greatly helping them out.

It was an impossibility for any one policeman to load a Doukhobor Some took as many as five or six, and then clubs had to be used to make the Doukhobors loose their hold. But as soon as clubbed off one place they caught at another, and most stubbornly contested every inch of the way.

The Doukhobors were by far the heaviest build and used every ounce of their immense bulk to advantage. Although not on the offensive, they certainly make a great fight, and many were the remarks of admiration for the fight they put up. Although the weather was bitterly cold, Mr. Speers said, after talking to many of his army, "I don't think there is a Canuck here with a dry shirt."

Victory at last crowned the Government forces, and the Doukhobors were all in the coaches, and although they tried to get the windows open after a last feeble stand, they capitulated and the Government was victorious. Mr. Speers in a short speech, said he wished to publicly thank the citizens of Minnedosa for their valuable assistance.

Although victorious here, it is a question yet to be decided if the Government will not be defeated in their final fight in getting the Doukhobors back to the villages. If the fight here to move them one hundred yards is any example of what the Government has to contend with, it will take a much larger force to move the Doukhobors the one hundred miles to their villages, and this chapter in the history of the Doukhobors' pilgrimage most assuredly ends "to be continued."

The Policeman's Evidence.

Policeman Peter Morris, of Toronto, says that for years he was troubled with habitual constipation, and though he spent much money for medicine was only disappointed with the results. He now recommends Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills to his friends because it cured him of his ailments. You can be cured of constipation by this treatment. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box.

MINERS THREATEN.

Troops Active Throughout the French Mining Regions on Sunday.

Paris, Nov. 10.—The Government is taking precautions to handle another outbreak on the part of the striking miners in case the decision reached Saturday night to continue the strike is followed by violence. Troops wese active in the mining regions throughout yesterday, but no serious disorders have as yet been reported. The authorities believe that the crisis in the strike is near, and that the next 24 hours will settle the question whether the men hold to their decision to continue the movement or go back to the mines.

Following the decision of the Miners' Congress to continue the strike, there were disorderly occurrences in Lens (Pas de Calais) Saturday night. The cavalry charged repeatedly a crowd of 15,000 riotous miners, and succeeded in preventing them from advancing. Considerable minor damage was done.

At Courrieres (Pas de Calais) houses of non-strikers were sacked and a number of coal wagons were burned.

A clash between strikers and gendarmes and cavalry is reported from Clermont Ferrand (Puy de Dome). It was not attended with serious results.

Refused Him Work, May Die.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 10.—Dennis Doris, foreman at the Susquehanna Coal Company's mines at Glen Lyon, this county, was fatally shot Saturday by a miner, J. C. Hennessy. Hennessy made application for work to foreman Doris and the latter refused him a place. This angered Hennessy and he drew a revolver and began firing. Doris is popular and there were threats of lynching. Doris cannot recover.

VOTE FAVORS BIG STRIKE.

Switchmen Want Radical Action—So Far Managers Are Silent.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The differences between the Brotherhood of Railway Trafnmen and the seventeen railroads centreing in Chicago reached an acute stage Saturday, as the managers failed to make reply to the demand of the switchmen, and the referendum vote on the strike proposition, so far as counted, was heavily in favor of radical action.

The trainmen expected the roads to make some reply to their renewed demands of the switchmen for a 5 cent an hour wage increase, and waited all morning for a communication, but none came. The managers did not even hold a meeting. The strike, should it be called, would involve more than 50,000 men at the outset, and the strikers, it is said, would be supported by 60,000 brakemen and conductors.

Pope Won't Receive Loubet.

Paris, Nov. 10.—The Gaulois says that the Pope has intimated that he is unwilling to receive President Loubet of France if the President should previously visit King Victor Emmanuel. President Loubet. The Gaulois says, will avoid Rome and will meet the King elsewhere.

Lost Life Paying Election Bet.

Athlo, Md., Nov. 10.—George Wilson, who made a bet with Henry Watkins that the Democrats would elect five Congressmen in Maryland, swam the Nanticoke River Saturday in payment of the wager. The shock of the exposure caused his death. He leaves a large family.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

His Majesty Attended Church With the Kaiser at Sandringham.

Sandringham, Nov. 10.—The weather here yesterday was perfect, and the bright sunshine brought out crowds of visitors to Sandringham on the chance of seeing Emperor William and King Edward on the 62nd anniversary of his birthday.

The approaches to the church were lined with spectators. Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales and Mrs. Chamberlain arrived at the place of worship together. Half an hour later, King Edward, Emperor William, Prime Minister Balfour, Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and other distinguished persons arrived and stood chatting outside the church.

King Edward talked with Mr. Chamberlain for a few minutes, then the Emperor of Germany approached, and for a quarter of an hour the Emperor and Mr. Chamberlain stood apart and conversed earnestly. The service had begun and the anthem had been reached before the royal party entered the church, the King taking the Emperor's arm.

The Bishop of Ripon preached on the possibility of the disappearance of race distinctions, and the attaining of the grand brotherhood of man. He referred to King Edward's recovery from his illness, to the visit of his kinsman and to the ties which have long united Germany and Great Britain.

Afterwards the two monarchs walked together through the gardens.

The Kaiser Welcomed.

London, Nov. 10.—The German Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, with Emperor William on board, accompanied by the escorting German cruisers and a flotilla of British torpedo boats, reached Port Victoria at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

The arrival of King Edward's nephew was made the occasion of an imposing naval display. All the warships at Sheerness were dressed, their crews manned the decks and the usual salutes welcomed the Imperial visitor.

The Emperor wore the undress uniform of a British admiral.

Called to the Privy Council.

London, Nov. 10.—With the exception of some possible significant decorations to Portuguese and Japanese officials, the long list of His Majesty's birthday honors is comparatively uninteresting. Sir Richard Cartwright, Canadian Minister of Commerce, is among the new privy councillors.

Progress of Educational Bill.

London, Nov. 10.—Parliament is making steady progress with the education bill, which, with the aid of the drastic enforcement of closure, will be passed before Christmas. Mr. Balfour is in turn conciliatory and inflexible. The acceptance of an amendment securing to the laity of the Church of England control over religious education in the church schools is an important concession to those who dread the influence of the dogmatic and ritualistic clergy, and the radical malcontents.

Nellie Corcoran Dead.

New York, Nov. 10.—Surgeons sawed into Nellie Corcoran's skull yesterday and explored her brain, to discover if they could, the secret of the trance, in which she had lain for 21 days. They had their labor for nothing. The body of the girl who had slept her life away was put on the dissecting table at 3.15 p.m. She had been pronounced dead. Through some strange process, which pathologists do not attempt to explain, Nellie Corcoran lived 60 years in 21 days, the period of her sleep. She was shrunken down from 150 to 115 pounds when she died, and the autopsy showed that while every bodily organ was perfect and the brain normal, so far as "grossly visible" evidence was concerned, she was a worn out old woman.

UNDER 'BILLY' BUNTON'S WING

Personally Conducted Excursion to the Pacific Slope.

Organized and Conveyed by our Popular City Passenger Agent.

Mr. W. Bunton, the up-town passenger agent of the G.T.R., left Toronto on Saturday last for the Pacific Coast, south, in special charge of a party of business men en route to inspect valuable mining properties.

Speaking of this trip, the Toronto Evening News of Saturday, says:

"The luxury of modern railway travel was exemplified last night, when, on the Grand Trunk Chicago Express a party of twenty-five prominent business men started on a three weeks' trip to Arizona, California and Nevada.

"The handsome Pullman Hotel car 'Actium,' with full staff of cooks and attendants, and containing sleeping apartments, dining room, library, barber shop, bath room, smoking and reading rooms, and well stocked with the best of eatables and drinkables, will be theirs for the entire trip. The party are going out to inspect mining properties of the Douglas Lacey Co., and the enterprising Toronto manager, will be the host. Mr. William Bunton, Passenger Agent of the G. T. R., Peterborough, is in special charge of the party and will see that they lack no attention on their three weeks' trip. The route selected, after leaving the Grand Trunk at Chicago, is via the Sante Fe System, to Prescott, Arizona, where two days are spent, thence to Los Angeles and San Francisco, returning via the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Chicago and Northwestern Roads, stopping at Ogden, Salt Lake, Denver and Chicago, then to Toronto over the Grand Trunk.

The above party, which was organized by the live city agent of the Grand Trunk Railway in Peterborough, Mr. Wm. Bunton, is without doubt, the Examiner is advised, the largest party of its kind ever sent across the continent, and its numerical proportions, as well as its complete arrangements of details for the comfort, convenience and general travelling enjoyment of the members, are highly creditable to Mr. Bunton.

It will be welcome news to the supporters of athletic sport in Peterborough to know that they are to have to new grounds with every accommodation that may be required. The Peterborough Track Association, which has recently taken over the old driving park, at a meeting which was held on Saturday night, decided to make extensive improvements to these grounds. The large oval inside of the half mile track will be made as level as a board and put in condition for all such games as lacrosse, football, etc. The grounds will be in shape for next season's athletics. There is already an excellent grandstand at the driving park and the track is one of the best in Ontario. Of course for athletic events the grounds are slightly far away, but the promoters have in hope, no doubt, the resurrection of the street railway.

Peterborough Rugbyists Tried the Snap-back Style of Play.

The Executive met Last Night and Elected an Hon. Secretary for the Annual Dance—Other Notes.

The game in Toronto on Saturday between the Argonauts and the Torontos, resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of five to six. This means, then, that the Torontos, providing Morrison establishes his amateur standing, will play off with Peterborough for the O. R. F. U. Intermediate championship. It is not known yet when the first game will be played, where it shall be played, or, in fact, whether or not a sudden death game shall decide the pennant. Of course the Peterborough team would be better pleased if a sudden death game should be ordered here, and they hope that the sub-committee, which has the matter in hand, will view it in the same light.

* * * *

The Peterborough Rugby Team had a great practice on Saturday afternoon. There was a good attendance of players and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. However, the feature of the practice was the introduction, for the first time in Peterborough, of the snapback style of play. The boys returned to the dressing rooms much elated over the improvement, they allege, in the game as a result, although they admit it keeps them on the hustle all the time. Those who witnessed the game on Saturday, say that from a spectator's point of view, there is a decided improvement. Captain McPherson states that he is quite certain that this will be the style of play under the O.R.F.U. rules next season.

The election of Mr. Arthur J. McClellan as Hon. Secretary of the annual dance will be received with much satisfaction by those who have attended this annual function in past years. Mr. Clellan, it is well known, is capable of doing a powerful lot of work, when put to it, and has other qualifications that eminently fit him for the onerous, though honourable, position.

* * * *

Speaking of the dance, we think that the executive made a very wise move in asking the ladies who attend the affair to pay a small fee, and thus relieve the patronesses of the dance of the very great trouble of supervising the getting up of the supper. The practice of asking the people of the town to donate refreshments, etc., whilst the patronesses have very kindly and so careulfly supervised the getting up of the supper, was perhaps in vogue too long. With the small fee now asked from the ladies a splendid supper can be provided by a first class caterer, and the lady patronesses are thereby relieved of a great amount of trouble. And we venture to say, too, that there are many young ladies in town who are only too anxious for an opportunity to give financial assistance to the Peterborough Rugby To the ladies of the town who have in the past so ably officiated as patronesses of dances, the club is, we are sure, most sincerely indebted for the energetic manner in which they fulfilled the rather too laborious duties imposed upon them.

RUGBY.

At the regular Saturday night meeting of the Peterborough Rugby Club, which was held in the Orintal Hotel the following members were present, — Messrs. Hal. Burnham, president; Will Crowley, vice-president; H.R.H. Kenner, manager; A. W. McPherson, captain; E. S. Clarry, secretary-treasurer, and Messrs. H. M. Morden, B. Rickey, C. G. Graham, H. C. Armstrong, F. C. Bradburn and A. J. McClellan.

Capt. McPherson reported re the Executive meeting of the O.R.F.U., which he attended in Toronto.

A sub-committee was appointed to make some arrangements re the dance.

Mr. A. J. McClellan was unanimously selected as Hon. Secretary for the annual dance, and it was decided to charge the ladies a small fee to the dance and in return relieve the ladies of the town of the trouble they have heretofore undertaken of supplying the supper.

Quarter-back Dalton, of Queen's has retired from the gridiron. He has rendered splendid service to Kingston rugby teams, and will especially be remembered on the Granites' team with whom he played quarter-back, when the Ontario championship was wrested from the Ottawa Rough Riders. Dalton has the satisfaction of winning his last match.

St. John's choir boys won in Lakefield on Saturday from the Grove team by 18 points to 0. The half time score was 4 to 0, a touch being secured by good following up of Weller's punt. In the second half Seymour, Mulhern and Boucher each secured tries, and Hodgson added two points by kicking in touch on goal twice. Seagram, Hunter and Hilliard were the stars of the Grove team. St. John's wings followed up and tackled in fine style. The feature of the game was Frank Saw-

THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt's Patriotic Service.

References Made to His Majesty the King—Special Prayers and Music.

Yesterday being the anniversary of the birth of King Edward VII, the occasion was marked by appropriate references to his Majesty throughout the churches of the town. The flags upon the various churches were floating in honour of the King's birthday, and the National Anthem was sung with loyal earnestness. Prayers were also offered in behalf of His Majesty.

ST. LUKE'S.

Yesterday was observed at St. Luke's as a day of Thanksgiving for the King's wonderful recovery, and for the return of the soldiers from war. A special service of prayer and praise, authorized by the Archbishop of Canterbury, was used, and the Rector preached an appropriate sermon on the efficacy and limit of prayer force. St. Mark xi, 24: "What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them." Rev. Mr. Langfeldt dwelt upon the plan prayer occupies in the method of grace, and and its true dignity. The real relation in which prayer stands is this: "God has certain things He designs and intends to give to His child; when the proper moment comes, He puts it into His child's heart to wish for those things that are made ready for him—that wish takes words — those words are prayer. The prayer therefore is a part of the gift; it is the channel which God Himself opens in a man's heart, through which God may pour the blessing He pre-determined to bestow — it is the Holy Spirit putting the man into an attitude to receive the ordained mercy.

Mr. Langfeldt ascribed the King's restoration to health to the earnest prayers that the people of God offered on the King's behalf; he ascribed all the glory to God, and he was glad that the church had set apart a special day when the voice of God's people should be heard in prayer and thanksgiving to God for what He had wrought.

The prayers and lessons used at the morning service were repeated at the evening service, when, instead of a sermon, the Rector read a pastoral letter issued by the Archbishop and Bishop of the Church of England in Canada, to the clergy and laity of the Church. The letter dealt with missionary work, the observance of the Lord's Day, the Word of God, family worship, and parental responsibility as to the giving of religious instruction to the children.

The following Thanksgiving prayer was offered at St. Luke's, as well as other Anglican churches, yesterday:

"O Holy and Eternal God, Father of mercies, and God of all comfort, we give Thee humble thanks and praise that Thou hast been pleased of Thy tender mercy to hear our prayers on behalf of Thy servant our King, and to restore him to health. Grant him grace to lead the rest of his life in Thy fear and to Thy Glory; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

"We beseech Thee, O Lord, Holy Father, Almighty, Everlasting God, for Thy servant Edward our King, that as Thou didst as on this day, bring him into the world by Thy Divine Providence, and hast preserved him even until now, and hast set him on the Throne of his ancestors, so Thou wouldst evermore enrich him with the gift of true godliness and grant him daily to advance in all virtue both in the sight of Thee and man, that as he hath received the government of this realm, so he may be defended from all enemies, and may reign happily over the people committed to his charge; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

A thanksgiving for the restoration of peace, was as follows:

O God, Who hast promised in Thy holy word that the day shall come when nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more, we give Thee most humble and hearty thanks, that Thou hast heard the prayers of Thy people which called upon Thee, and has granted unto us again the blessing of peace; give us grace, we beseech Thee, that we and all Thy people may ever praise Thy holy name in godly union and concord, and may use Thy mercy to Thy glory and the extension of Thy kingdom; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

"O Lord, God of our fathers, Who in Thy goodness hast led this people hitherto by wondrous ways; who makest the nations to praise Thee, and knittest them together in the bands of peace; We beseech Thee to pour Thine abundant blessing upon the dominions over which Thou hast called Thy servant Edward to be King. Grant that all of whatever race may draw together in heart and will beneath the shelter of the throne, united in the bond of brotherhood, in the way of welfare and peace, and in the one fellowship of the faith, so that we may be found a people acceptable unto Thee, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Both services in St. John's were well attended on Sunday. They were taken by Rev. C. H. Brooks, formerly chaplain to the British Embasy at Constantinople. The services contained special prayers for the King, and Governor-General, Canada and the Empire, and thanksgiving for the recovery of the King, and the restoration of peace. In the evening the preacher dealt interestingly with the incident of a younng Albanian colporteur of the British and Foreign Bible Society, being captured by Greek and Turkish brigands, and held for ransom. The incident was made the medium of the impression of important spiritual lessons. At the evening service the church was crowded, and the musical portion of the service was especially effective the orchestral accompaniment to the music constituting a decided improvement. A grand anthem was well sung at the offertory, and all the hymns were familiar and were heartily joined in by the large audience. "God Save the King" being sung with reverent enthusiasm.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The following music was rendered at the George street Methodist church yesterday: Morning — Anthem. "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land," Stainer. Solo taken by Mr. Frank Turner. Solo and chorus. "I'll Enter the Open Door," solo taken by Mr. Mulligan. Evening—Anthem, "Clap Your Hands Together," Turner. Anthem, "Now the Day is Over," Marks. Solos taken by Miss Parnell and Mr. Miller.

There will not be a meeting of the Epworth League this week owing to the choir concert.

Prayer meeting will be held in the basement of the church on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock.

The regular meeting of the Mission Band will be held on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock.

At the close of the Sunday School yesterday, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Will Staples for his services to the school as pianist. Mr. Staples has held this position for several years, and it is greatly to be regretted that circumstances will not permit him to retain it still longer. It will be very difficult to fill his place at the Sunday School, as his execution of the selections played for the accompaniment to the orchestra greatly excelled the ordinary, and his regularity of attendance was a matter of remark on the part of all interested in the work of the school.

WEEK OF PRAYER.

The First Meeting was Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The first meeting in connection with the world's week of prayer for young women, held yesterday afternoon, was led by the president, Mrs. Scott. The leader took as her text "The whole armour of God," and emphasized the necessity of the Christian soldier being happy in God, if be was to be glad in service. She also dwelt upon the thought that women in a community should be a force, not a field. A sacred solo was beautifully rendered by Miss King.

The second meeting will be held to-morrow—Tuesday—at 8 p. m. Rev. Mr. Jolliffe will deliver an address on "Filled with the Fruits of Righteousness." All friends of the Association are invited.

THE "WHY" OF IT.

Why does the body fail at times to get necessary nourishment from ordinary food?

Because the digestive organs are not strong enough to perform their proper functions.

Why should these organs be aided in their work?

Because the digestion of ordinary food is more than they can accomplish when they are in a weakened condition. It is necessary that some aid in the form of an easily assimilated nourishment be provided.

Why does the nourishment supplied in Scott's Emulsion feed the body when ordinary food does not?

Because being scientifically emulsified it is rendered much more easily digested and the whole system gathers nourishment with much less effort. There is less tax upon the whole digestive tract.

Why is the nourishment contained in Scott's Emulsion assured proper distribution?

Because the emulsion is easily and naturally taken up and utilized by the system.

Why is the good effect of Scott's Emulsion soon noticeable?

Because the ingredients represent the very form of nourishment needed. The stomach requires a change and rest from ordinary food and hence the good effects of the emulsion are quickly seen.

Why is Scott's Emulsion a food for the whole system?

Because every part of the emulsion—oil, hypophosphites and glycerine, is adapted to some special need of the body when a wasting condition exists.

Why is it necessary to nourish the whole body when only one part is affected?

Because the blood, nerves, bones and muscles must all be considered and provided for in restoring waste and establishing uniform health. Scott's Emulsion gives nourishment to all, collectively and individually.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

CANADIAN GIRL'S DEATH.

Dr. Kent Charged With Manslaughter For Miss Dingle's Death.

Rochester, N.Y., Nov. 10.— The Grand Jury Saturday handed down an indictment charging Dr. Leland Dorr Kent of Buffalo with the crime of manslaughter in the first degree, in connection with the death of Miss Ethel Blanche Dingle, the Canadian nurse, formerly connected with the Riverdale Hospital, Buffalo, who was found dead in the Whitcomb House here several weeks ago. It will be remembered that Dr. Kent was found with his throat cut, and he claims that Miss Dingle tried to murder him and then committed suicide. The Grand Jury evidently believed the story told by the police that Kent murdered the girl and then made a feeble attempt to end his own life, his nerve failing him.

DR. PARKIN AT OXFORD.

Pleased With the Way Colleges Are Treating Rhodes Bequest.

London, Nov. 10.—Dr. Parkin, visiting at Oxford, says he has been greatly interested in the way all the colleges discuss the best plans of working the Rhodes students into the university systems. All the replies to his inquiries he has received up to the present are very favorable. The bequest for the first year will elect seventy to seventy-five students and a similar number in the second year. In the third year there will be about thirty. Each college is prepared to take from two to five scholars every year. Oxford University has twenty colleges. There are from eighty to two hundred undergraduates in each college.

They are about changing 47 miles of the North Eastern, near Newcastle, from steam to electrical power, and are looking for hints on this side of the Atlantic. Mr. Naven says that the Lancashire and Yorkshire will also make a change in the congested districts near Manchester and adjoining lines.

50 Cases of Smallpox.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 10.—Fifty cases of smallpox are reported in Kent County. Dr. E. B. Fisher, secretary of the Provincial Health Board, returned from there on Saturday. The afflicted ones have been concealing the fact which makes the work of stamping out the disease all the harder.

Sealers Met Heavy Weather.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 10.—The Japanese schooner Leifu Maru, arrived yesterday morning from Behring Sea. The schooner left the sea for Japan port, but heavy weather blew her towards this coast, and Captain Ritchie, an old-time Victoria sealer, sailed to Victoria. She has 800 skins. Capt. Ritchie reports that 18 vessels went to Behring Sea and all used firearms, Japan not being a party to the modus vivendi. The schooners all experienced very heavy weather towards the close of the season.

ONE MORE CURE IN CARLETON CO.

Postmaster Belyea Tries Dodd's Kidney Pills for Kidney Trouble.

And now he Joins all the Others in Praising Them—He had Suffered for Years and is now Completely Cured.

Lower Windsor, Carleton Co., N. B., Nov. 9th. — (Special) — Carleton County people have long recognized Dodd's Kidney Pills as a sure cure for all forms of Kidney Disease, and as a consequence there is a marked decrease in the number of those suffering from pain in the back, lumbago, rheumatism, diabetes, Bright's disease, and all those other ailments resulting from diseased kidneys.

Still as each fresh cure is reported there is a revived interest in the matter, and there are more praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. One of the latest cures reported reported is that of Postmaster T. H. Belyea, of Lower Windsor, and he is spreading broadcast the good news.

"I had a very bad spell of Kidney Trouble," says the Postmaster, which had bothered me for some time. I tried several kinds of plasters and medicines, but did not seem to get much lasting benefit. But hearing Dodd's Kidney Pills so highly recommended for Kidney Trouble, I thought I would try them.

"I received more benefit from Dodd's Kidney Pills than any other medicine I ever tried, for they seem to have made a complete cure, as I am as well as ever. I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills are the right medicine for Kidney Trouble."

AN EASY WAY

To Keep Well.

It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all-important thing is to keep stomach right, and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a capricious appetite and a feeling that certain favourite articles of food must be avoided.

Prof. Wiechold gives pretty good advice on this subject. He says: "I am 68 years of age and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bran crackers, or dieting of any sort; on the contrary, I always eat what my appetite craves, but daily for the past eight years I have made it a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets.

"My physician first advised me to use them, because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only the natural digestives, peptones and diastase, and after using them a few weeks I have never ceased to thank him for his advice.

"I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing and preserves health to the well and strong."

Men and women past fifty years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used, is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well-regulated household from Maine to California, and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favour.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 cents, and for a weak stomach a fifty cent package will often do fifty dollars worth of good.

LABOR AND THE ANGEL.

By Duncan Campbell Scott.

"The wind plunges—then stops;
And a column of leaves in a whirl,
Like a dervish that spins—drops,
With a delicate rustle,
Falls into a circle that thins;
The leaves creep away one by one,
Riding in hollows and ruts;
Silence comes down on the lane;
The light wheels slow from the sun,
And glints where the corn stood,
And strays over the plain,
Touching with patches of gold
The knolls and the hollows,
Crosses the lane,
And slips into the wood;
Then flashes a mile away on the farm,
A moment of brightness fine;
Then the gold glimmers and wanes,
And is swept by a clouding of grey,
For cheek by jowl, arm in arm,
The shadow's afoot with the shine,
The wind roars out from the elm,
Then leaps tiger-sudden—the leaves
Shudder up into heaps and are caught
High as the branch where they hung
Over the oriole's nest.

"Down in the sodden field,
A blind man is gathering his roots,
Guided and led by a girl;
Her gold hair blows in the wind,
Her garments with flutter and furl,
Leap like a flag in the sun;
And whenever she stoops, she stoops,
And they heap the dark-colored beets
In the barrow, row upon row,
When it is full to the brim,
He wheels it patiently, slow,
Something oppressive and grim
Clothing his figure, but she,
Beautifully light at his side,
Touches his arm with her hand,
Ready to help or to guide;
Power and comfort at need,
In the flex of her figure lurk,
The fire at the heart of the deed,
The angel that watches o'er work.

In the above lines we have, first, the background, shot with a riot of interest of the scene, a blind man digging roots in a field, gently guided by a girl. The poet then, by a process of imagination called analogy, which regards the similarity of shadow and sun, described a perfect picture of a Canadian autumn day, and, second, the human element and the "relations" of things, taking the component elements of real scenes or events and combining them anew in the mind, conceives of the girl as representing Love, lightening the task of Labor, represented by the blind man.

"This is her visible form,
Heartening the labor she loves,
Keeping the breath of it warm,
Warm as a nestling of doves.
Humble or high or sublime,
Hers no reward of degrees,
Ditching as precious as rhyme,
If only the spirit be true.
'Effort and effort,' she cries,
'This is the heart-beat of life. . . .'

. . . . . .

When labor is counselled by love
You may see her splendid, serene,
Bending and brooding above,
With the justice and power of her mien,
Where thought has its passionate birth,
Her smile is the sweetest renown,
For the stroke and the derring-do,
Her crown is the starriest crown."

. . . . . .

The poet then figures unfavorable conditions of work, where the senses are deadened by toil, and the part of Labor, "she the twin-sister of Love," is "wiser than wise" in offering no vision sublime and encouraging stoicism.

"So we have come with the breeze,
Up to the height of the hill,
Lost in the valley trees,
The old blind man and the girl:
But deep in the heart is the thrill
Of the image of counselling love;
The shape of the soul in the gloom,
And the power of the figure above,
Stand for the whole world's need;
For labor is always blind,
Unless as the light of the deed
The angel is smiling behind. . . ."

Remedy For Cut Cuticle.

Many women have had their finger nails ruined by bad manicuring. The first advice given to these sufferers is if they cannot find a manicure who thoroughly understands her business to leave manicures severely alone.

To those women who have suffered from bad manicuring and chopped cuticle here is a little remedy that will be found very efficient in counteracting any of the bad results:

Get 10 cents' worth of pure olive oil and a small tin cup.

Heat the oil over a gas jet, taking care it does not get too hot; soak the fingers in this for fifteen minutes, heating the oil whenever it cools.

If this is done three times a week and the cuticle isn't cut, the result is two weeks is surprising.

Irritating Form of Itching Piles

A Source of Continual Worry and Annoyance—Sleep and Rest Impossible Until Relief and Cure Came With the Use of

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

All classes of people are subject to piles, but especially those who are exposed to dampness. Teamsters, farmers, railroad men and labourers suffer greatly from this distressing ailment.

While there are plenty of remedies recommended as a treatment for piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only actual and guaranteed cure. It truly wonderful how the merit of this preparation has become known throughout this continent and Europe.

But when a person has endured the torture of piles, the itching, stinging sensation, the sleepless nights of misery, the annoyance during the day, when going about the daily work, he feels grateful for the relief and cure brought by Dr. Chase's Ointment, and does not forget to recommend it to his friends.

Mr. J. F. Miller, who is employed as cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Co., Lindsay, Ont., states:—"I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the best thing in the world for piles. I say this because it has positively and thoroughly cured me of itching, bleeding piles, and this after all other remedies I could procure had failed. I can recommend this ointment to anyone suffering from piles, knowing that it will certainly cure."

A HOME PICKLE FACTORY.

How to Run It Successfully—"Secrets" of the Good Housewives.

There are a few general rules to be observed in pickle making. If possible, never use brass, copper or tin utensils, as the action of the acid on these metals often produces a poison. If brass or copper is used—and our grandmothers had nothing else—the most scrupulous cleanliness is necessary. The metal ought to be polished so one can see one's face in it. If it is necessary to purchase a vessel, choose porcelain or granite ware, which is easily cleaned and absolutely safe unless the enamel wears off; then the iron is as dangerous as copper. Use the best cider or white wine vinegar. Never boil it more than from five to seven minutes or its strength will be reduced. Pack pickles away in glass or stone jars that are perfectly clean. See that pickles are always well covered with vinegar. Watch their condition closely for a week or two, and if they show symptoms of not keeping pour away the liquor about them; then cover with fresh vinegar and spices. When ground spices are used, tie them in tiny muslin bags. Keep pickles sealed as tightly as fruit, and when a few have been used from a jar or can cover closely again. Put a bit of horseradish root into each jar. This will aid much in the keeping of pickles. With these rules Good Housekeeping prefaces a number of recipes, including the following:

Sweet Pickled Cucumbers.—For this pickle the larger sized, ripe cucumbers are generally the most suitable. Cut them into quarters lengthwise and allow them to stand for twenty-four hours covered with vinegar. Drain them and put into a stone jar. Boil together for five minutes one quart of fresh vinegar, two pounds of light brown sugar, one tablespoonful of salt and an ounce of cassia buds. Pour over the cucumbers and cover closely.

Cucumber Pickles.—Always pick cucumbers in the early morning or late at night. Gathering them under a hot sun often proves a deathblow to the vines. Choose the smallest cucumbers and absolutely perfect ones. Put a layer of cucumbers in a glass jar and scatter through them fine strips of horseradish root. Mix a gallon of vinegar with half a gallon of water, add to it one cup of salt and pour it cold over the packed cucumbers. Fill the jar overflowing and seal immediately. This recipe, which is quite different from any offered in the cookbooks, is original with the principal of the New England Cooking school, and the result is perfection. Miss Downing claims that brine and a strong vinegar make pickles strong enough to take one's breath away, while the spices and sugar so often added to boiling vinegar result in a pickle withered to the heart. There is the advantage of not having to trouble with preliminary soaking in brine, boiling of vinegar and all the unnecessary work often incurred. The mixture of vinegar and salt, if not all required immediately, may be kept tightly corked and used as cucumbers ripen, filling a jar every few days as the vines are laden with fruit.

Mixed Pickles.—For mixed pickles one may put together cauliflowers cut in flowers, button onions, tiny cucumbers, string beans cut in two, nasturtium seeds, small peppers, lima beans, morsels of watermelon rind and green tomatoes cut in slices. Drop them into scalding strong brine and allow them to cook in it for a few minutes, dip out with a skimmer and drain in a colander till quite dry. Pack into jars, and over each pour a prepared pickle made by boiling with one quart of vinegar two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt and four tablespoonfuls of mustard. Pour over the pickles while hot and seal immediately.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Way look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

AUCTIONEERS' YAPNS.

Customs of the Trade and Queer Experiences Told—How the Irish Taught English and Scotch.

English and Scottish members of the Auctioneers' Institute who are attending the autumn meetings of the organization in Belfast reached the Ulster capital in considerable numbers on Sept. 4th. Doubtless most of the visitors from Great Britain arrived here under the impression that their Irish brethren could teach them very little. It turned out, however, that the boot is on the other leg, and that in some respects the Irish auctioneers are more clever. In their professional business they have a pleasant habit of exacting a commission both from vendor and purchaser. Thus, if a sale of chattels is taking place, the individual who conducts it gets 5 per cent. from the seller and 5 per cent. from the buyer. This system is defended on the ground that the buyer knows that he has to pay this 5 per cent., and frames his bids accordingly. In England the attempt is occasionally made to saddle the purchaser in certain cases with 3 per cent. toward the auctioneer's costs, and another 1 per cent. toward the solicitor's costs, but this is unusual. It remains to be seen whether the English auctioneers will think it worth while to follow the lead of their Irish confreres in respect to a double commission, but the chances are that they are not likely to attempt it. It is custom which rules, and customs are difficult to transplant.

The occasion, of course, served for an exchange of professional experiences, and some of these, as told in conversation across the table, certainly discount the impression that an auctioneer's business is prosaic and uninteresting. For instance, a story was passed on about a "rummage" sale in London, at which one of the lots put down by the auctioneer's clerk consisted of three silver cups which had been found in a cupboard. Nobody attached any importance to these utensils, especially as a well-known firm which is noted for collecting the cream in this class of article had overlooked them. However, somebody hurriedly drove up in a hansom to the auctioneer's office, and said he should like to buy these particular cups. The auctioneer asked how much he would give for them, and the reply was £800. The auctioneer was staggered, but managed, nevertheless, to preserve his equilibrium, and remarked:—"I do not think my client will take that." Shortly afterward he sent around for an expert, who pronounced the cup to be silver chalices of sixteenth century work, and said he himself was prepared to give £700 for them. This last-mentioned price was not accepted, however. The cups were put up for sale and they realized £1,135, as they had originally come out of a monastery in Spain, and their possession was vigorously competed for by two Roman Catholic noblemen. Of course, if the individual who first discovered the value of the chalices had kept his own counsel, he probably would have secured them at the sale for £50, but then the story would have been spoiled.

Another rather unusual experience in the auctioneering world was related before the toast list was reached. A London auctioneer was asked to conduct a probate valuation at Wimbledon, which it was expected would reach something like £1,500. The estate was that of a lady of somewhat miserly habits, and accordingly, a careful search was made for any little parcels of jewelry which might have been stowed away. As it turned out, jewels were found to the value of between £15,000 and £16,000. They included a string of pearls which had never been worn, which fetched £4,700, and another string of pearls, which sold for £3,000. Jewels had been hidden away in toast and other substances which seemed likely to ward off the inquisitive. Meantime the old lady had contented herself with wearing Scotch pebbles. She had a couple of rooms to which no one but herself had access for twenty years, and there some magnificent old silver was found. Not a little of the property, which sold altogether for £24,000, was discovered in a loft over a stable.—London Times.

Despondency

Is often only a sympton of dyspepsia. In dyspepsia there is a loss of nutrition which is felt by brain as well as body; the mind grows morbid as the body loses vigor.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the proper nutrition of the body and restores mental cheerfulness as well as physical strength.

"For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Record, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not bear any solid food on my stomach for a long time; felt melancholy and depressed. Could not sleep nor follow my occupation. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets stimulate the liver."

DISGUISE FOR ARTILLERY.

Successful Color Experiment Conducted at Aldershot, England.

A novel artillery experiment has just taken place at Aldershot. By an ingenious method of painting the guns and limbers three primary colors—red, blue and yellow—they have been found to harmonize with any sort of ground or background so admirably that at a short distance they are difficult to locate.

Six guns so painted were placed on Fox hills, and the artillery officers at Aldershot were invited to try and locate them with fieldglasses at a distance of about 3,000 yards. Although all the officers knew the direction in which the guns lay, not one was able to point all of them out. Some horse artillery that was sent forward to engage the guns advanced 1,000 yards before they located them. At close quarters the guns appear to be all daubs and streaks.

A Sure Cure for Constipation.

Some remedies cure this distressing complaint in a day, some in a month, but Nerviline never fails to cure in a few minutes. Just ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water—that's enough, and away goes the dysentry, cured to stay cured. Nerviline also cures Cramps, Colic, Pain in the Stomach, and Sick Headache. It has five times the strength and curative properties of ordinary remedies, and should be in every household. Better buy a 25c. bottle and try it. Nerviline is all right.

Hamilton's Pills for the Liver.

CROSSING THE BAR.

By Alfred, Lord Tennyson.

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crost the bar.

Septic Tanks a Success.

The septic tank sewage system, which was installed two years ago, in Vancouver, B. C., has proved so successful that the officers of several municipalities in the near-by States have recommended the introduction of the septic tanks in their cities. There are three tanks, located at different points in the city. One of these disposes of the sewage of a district having a population of 5,000 people.

The tanks are covered, as the bacteria work in the dark. A scum between two and three inches thick over the surface of the tank is composed of the little microscopic insects, which consume all the solid matter. The tanks have been in full operation for about eighteen months, only clear water is discharged, and yet there is only a small layer, less than one-half of an inch thick, of ash remaining at the bottom of the tank.

SNARES FOR THE SIMPLE

WHAT the brand,—"Josepn Rodgers, Sheffield,"—signifies on a knife blade, the slate frame brand of—"The Slater Shoe"—signifies on a shoe sole.

But don't confuse mere personal names with registered brands!

The advantage of a brand, depends entirely upon its record for merit, established by the years certain goods have been publicly tested under that brand.

And, when such a brand has become a passport to people's confidence, there creeps in a species of piracy, which trades upon that confidence, by the selling of unknown goods, at a long profit, under some name which sounds like that of the brand.

This is how heedless Consumers are snared, and sold, and laughed at.

No purchaser should accept a blind excuse from a Retailer for the absence of the advertised trade mark, and the presence of something which resembles it superficially, but is not it legally.

There are thousands of men named "Rodgers," but there is only one standard brand of "Rodger's Cutlery," as there is only one standard brand of "The Slater Shoe."

If these words—"The Slater Shoe," are not stamped on the sole in a slate frame, it is not a genuine "Slater Shoe," and you buy it at your own risk.

The Slater Shoe Co. do not stand behind any but their own make—the shoe with a five year record of fixed value and uniform quality.

When you get the slate frame brand of "The Slater Shoe," stamped on the soles with the Makers price, you get the responsible, Goodyear Welted article.

Stocks Fall but Recover to a Large Extent—The Daily Letters—Quotations.

To-day's market was rather sensational, and well illustrated the unstability of the market at present. The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Nov. 8th.

The report which seemed to have the most influence with stockholders was the gossip concerning the status of the small local trust companies, which have lately come into prominence through having participated in financing certain new industrial companies, the market for the underwriting of which has been limited since its inception. This rumour was, however, denied in an official announcement after the close of the market. Aside from this there was enough bad news in circulation to have undermined confidence in the general market, and to have warranted liquidation which developed. The official announcement, by the U. S. Treasury, that it will not increase its deposits with the banks or otherwise do anything further to disturb government bonds, called attention publicly to the uncertain condition of the money market, and with foreign exchange hovering at the gold export point, and the sub-treasury commencing to draw again on the banks rather heavily in the collection of internal revenue and custom duty, apprehension over the condition of the money market, has again been revived as a consequence. In addition to this the report gained ground that the steel industry is undergoing a reaction, and that the labour situation among the numerous western railroads centreing in Chicago is in such a disturbed state that a strike among the yard and switch men may be ordered soon, unless their demands are fully conceded to by the railroad companies. As for the speculative position of the market, it has been known for some time that the various pools and particularly the active speculators of Western contingent have been heavily loaded and have been endeavouring to stimulate bullishness somewhat in opposition to the leading banking interests which have been endeavouring to repress speculative activity, so that gold exports may be deferred as long as possible. This is the situation and outlook which the market had to contend with when to-day's selling movement was inaugurated. The heavy pressure increased, and with not enough short interest or buying power or bull support to stem the tide, prices gave way sharply with the general active list showing a decline. The statement was regarded unfavourable, but not more so than had been expected. While the market may have some recovery on Monday by the covering of shorts, or an attempt to resume manipulation to stimulate it. We see nothing in the general situation that is encouraging, and we do not believe in bullish operations at these greatly reduced prices.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 10th.—Americans irregular and weak generally, 1-4 to 1-2 lower. The markets are unsettled reports, regarding various rumors current in N.Y. Saturday, relative to the position of the shipbuilding trust, and also rumors concerning the trust companies of Republic, which was its syndicate manager.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 10th.—The gossip this morning is to the effect that Trust Company of Republic, about which many rumors were current Saturday, which had so bad an influence on the general stock market is allright now. Its loans made as syndicate manager of U. S. Shipbuilding Co., have been taken over by another syndicate, headed by North American Co. By this arrangement, Wall street understands that trouble which threatened to overtake the Trust company, has been effectively averted. Thus the situation on this point appears entirely cleared up, and there are no grounds for the development of any disquieting rumors. We look for nothing better than a traders' market to-day, and I think on all good rallies for the present, the market is a sale.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 8th.—Prices are down, considerably down. The Republicans control Congress while mercantile businesses remarkably active. Therefore railway earnings are well maintained, while the country has a record crop yet to haul to tide water, and to dispose of while ruling prices for same are above the average. Consequently stocks at the present time are logically a most excellent purchase. Apathy and apparent general difference as to market values, are, at present, hand in hand holding the market down. Prices consequently drift at the lower level, alternately weak then strong. Practically the playthings of the larger floor traders. Exactly how long this condition of affairs will last no man can well determine. From looking over the situation carefully, however, weighing all factors having a bearish look upon prices it narrows down to the logical deduction that the next market movement should be in the direction of better prices. We fail to see how purchases made at the present time can show any material immediate loss, while indications appear most strongly that they will shortly show good profits. When an uncertainty reigns as to the possibility when a dull market will break away from its lethargy, and a strong indication can be determined as to in which direction the values will swing once the dullness of a market rut is broken, the proper thing to do is to immediately place your speculative or investment account in conformity with the conclusions to be drawn. If you will do this now, you will immediately purchase some stocks with the intention of hanging on to them until they show, at the very least, fully 5 points profit. Do not vacillate in a vacillating market. Many people who believe prices to be low at present, will lose the buying opportunity by over-staying their market, awaiting more decisive market indications.

Summary.—The market declined directly after opening until about eleven o'clock, when it steadied, falling again after bank statement. The statement showed decrease in both loans and reserves. Bears apparently completely dominated the market, even selling the steel stocks heavily. Transactions at each eighth decline in these shares were extremely heavy. Bears gained additional courage as prices receded, while the bull element appeared to be disheartened. In the last half hour there was an effort on the part of the bear leaders to cover some of their sales. The smaller bears provided the shares thus absorbed by the larger, so the short interest increased instead of diminished, while the number of people short of the market was larger than for some time past. Money offered 5 per cent. Last loan 4 1-2. Sales 642,200.

If the Peterborough Rugby Club is going to carry off the Intermediate championship of the O. R. F. U. they had better spend as much time as possible in team practice. The Torontos are a pretty hard combination to get over, judging from the game with the Argonauts on Saturday. The Oarsmen played about seven senior men and even then were put out of the running, viz., Ardagh, Hill, Kent, Bell, Sweatman and Reiffenstein. With almost half the team senior the Argonauts could not defeat the Torontos. What can Peterborough do?

The costume of the All-Canadian Rugby Team that goes to Britain will consist of red stockings, blue breeches and white jerseys. Upon the jersey will be worked a maple leaf with the words, "Canada, 1902-1903." The caps will be in the shape of the regulation championship caps, and will be in blue and silver. On the front will be a silver maple leaf and under that the word, "Canada" in silver.

GOLF.

Last Saturday was an ideal day for golf and there was a large turnout of members to engage in the second contest between the ladies and the gentlemen. The ladies were given a handicap of two strokes on each of the three longest holes. On the remaining holes their handicap was but one stroke. This proved to be a sufficient handicap for some of the ladies, but for the majority it appears to be too small.

The score was as follows:

0	Miss A. Dennistoun	H. Burnham	4
1	Mrs. Campbell,	H. D. Burnett	0

This will be one of the most popular meetings for the members of the gymnasium and educational classes, this year, as Mr. Goodman is perhaps the most popular travelling secretary who visits the Association membership.

BASKET-BALL.

The commencement of the basketball tournament came on Saturday evening at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium with two interesting games. The contestents in the first match were the Lillies vs. Pastimes, the former winning by a close margin, 13—9. The second game between the Colts and Harriers was more even than the score indicates, but the game was not fast as both sides held the ball too long before passing, consequently fouling was prevalent. The score was 23—9 in favour of the Harriers. The teams were as follows:

Lillies—Hall, Cameron, Galley, Snyder, Froude.

Pastimes—Oswald, Cameron, Maguire and Hendersen.

Harriers—Campbell, Kemp, Dobbin, Richardson, W. Campbell.

Colts—Howson, Trollope, Moore, Searight, Johnston.

The Cause of Deafness.

Deafness and impaired hearing are due almost entirely to catarrhal inflammation of the eustachian tubes. Permanent cure is guaranteed to all who inhale Catarrhozone as directed. This vegetable antiseptic is inhaled at the mouth, and after traversing all the air passages of the respiratory organs is exhaled through the nostrils; it completely eradicates catarrh from any part of the system, clears the ears, nose and throat, and allays, inflammation, congestion and soreness. For Deafness, Earache, Ringing in the Ears, Head Noises, Catarrh, Asthma and Bronchitis, medical science can devise nothing as beneficial as Catarrhozone. Children's Meals.

A habit which seems to possess no significance whatever to many mothers is that of allowing juvenile will to assert itself in regard to the amount of liquid consumed at the table, especially ice water. Children are allowed to dispose of several glasses of ice water in addition to one or more cupfuls of tea, coffee or glasses of milk at one meal. If mothers will study the harmful effects of this practice from a hygienic standpoint, they will exercise a more judicious supervision over the amount of liquid drunk at the table.

Sure Cure for Sick Stomach

Such maladies as Nausea, Sick Stomach, Cramps and Colic, yield instantly to Polson's Nerviline, and if you suffer periodically from any of these complaints just keep Nerviline handy and take a few drops in water for quick relief. A large 25c. bottle of Nerviline is a comfort and safeguard in any household, and will save great suffering and big doctors' bills every year. Do you use Nerviline? Try it.

Hamilton's Pills don't gripe.

For a Good Complexion.

Here are certain plain, simple hints for the securing or maintenance of a good complexion which can be carried in mind and practiced by the woman who can afford neither the fees of beauty doctors nor several hours a day for grooming. Wash the face carefully, never with very cold water. At night it should have a warm soap bath to clean it, rinsing the soap off thoroughly and drying thoroughly, with an upward movement. Learn always to rub up and never down, to counteract drooping lines and sagging muscles. Take at least one bath a day, rubbing the body vigorously. Remember that hot water is necessary to cleanse and cold water to invigorate and set the blood to circulating. Rosewater and elder flower water are beneficial in softening the skin.

THE NEW MINISTERS.

Hon. James Sutherland Appointed Minister of Public Works.

MR. PREFONTAINE'S ELEVATION.

Premier Definitely Decided to Give Him Cabinet Rank on Saturday and He Takes the Portfolio of Marine and Fisheries—The Premier Will Now Rest—State Dinner a Brilliant Affair.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—Hon. James Sutherland and Mr. Raymond Prefontaine will be sworn in by the Governor-General at Rideau Hall to-day at noon, the former as Minister of Public Works and the latter as Minister of Marine and Fisheries. These are the Cabinet changes which have followed the withdrawal of Mr. Tarte from the Government. The transfer of Mr. Sutherland to the Public Works Department and the elevation of Mr. Prefontaine to Cabinet rank were definitely determined on Saturday by the Prime Minister, who acquainted his colleagues with his decision at Council in the afternoon. Constitutional procedure, however, had to be followed, and formal announcement of the Cabinet changes was withheld until yesterday.

Mr. Sutherland's assumption of the portfolio of Public Works meets with the hearty approval and endorsation of all his colleagues, and by none is it more cordially supported than by the Quebec Ministers. Mr. Sutherland has been a member of the Government since September 30, 1899, and has proved himself to be a sagacious, industrious and capable administrator. Before his acceptance of the portfolio of Marine, a little over a year ago, he had demonstrated his ability to handle large departments, and in the important branch, the care of which he has just relinquished, he achieved phenomenal success in a short space of time. It is significant that many of the warmest encomiums upon his administrative work in the Department of Marine should have come from the Province of Quebec, where the mercantile and shipping interests viewed with satisfaction his practical methods of dealing with the important question of improving and rendering as safe as possible to navigation the lower St. Lawrence and the Gulf. It is characteristic of Mr. Sutherland that he is no sluggard, but works early and late, and often the light burning in his room at the department shows how constant is his devotion to duty.

Mr. Prefontaine has rendered great political services, which have singled him out for promotion. He is a genial, polished man, who enjoys great popularity. His legal training and large experience of mercantile affairs should render him a valuable acquisition to the Cabinet.

Mr. Prefontaine's Arrival.

Mr. Prefontaine arrived from Montreal at 7 o'clock last evening, and immediately proceeded to the Russell House, where he met Hon. James Sutherland, who had just come down from his office. The Minister and the prospective Minister cordially shook hands and then went in to dinner together. Later on Mr. Prefontaine called at the Premier's residence and had an interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Mr. Prefontaine's acceptance of office, in the natural order of things, would vacate the constituencies of Maisonneuve and Terrebonne, for both of which he was returned at the general election. His election for Terrebonne has, however, been contested, and, while it is probable that appointment to the Cabinet opens this constituency, the point is not quite clear. As soon as the matter is settled Mr. Prefontaine will make his choice of a constituency. It is not unlikely that he will decide upon Maisonneuve. In any event he will in all probability be returned without opposition. One of his first acts as Minister of Marine will be to make an inspection of the St. Lawrence before navigation closes. In this trip he may be accompanied by Hon. James Sutherland.

The Premier Will Rest.

The Prime Minister will probably drop affairs of State for a few weeks and take a good rest. Official duties and many engagements monopolized nearly the whole of his time during his absence in Europe, and, although he was able to snatch a few days of repose in Switzerland, the holiday was not as extended as it should have been. Since his return to Canada he has been constantly occupied with Governmental matters, which has induced a slight return of indigestion. In consequence of this Sir Wilfrid was obliged to excuse himself from attendance at the State dinner last night. He expects to be at his office to-day, but will doubtless yield to the solicitations of his colleagues and friends, and enjoy the vacation which he has so well earned, before entering upon the work of preparing for the session.

The State Dinner.

The State dinner at Government House last night in honor of the King's birthday was a brilliant affair.

NINETY-SIX DROWNED

Wreck of a British Steamer on Three Kings' Island.

41 PERSONS WERE SAVED.

Twenty-Seven of the Elingamite's Passengers and Fifteen of Her Crew Landed on the New Zealand Coast—Steamers Sent Out to Search For the Rafts and Four of the Missing Boats.

Melbourne, Nov. 11.—The British steamer Elingamite, bound from Sydney, N.S.W., for Auckland, has been wrecked on Three King's Islands. Forty-one of those on board the steamer were saved and ninety-six are missing.

The lost steamer Elingamite carried 110 passengers. She was wrecked Sunday morning. Six of her boats and two rafts left the vessel.

Twenty-seven of the steamers' passengers and fifteen of her crew have landed on New Zealand. Steamers have been sent out to search for the rafts and four of the boats, which are missing.

Lloyds' report says 37 of the passengers have been saved, but that it is feared the remainder have been lost.

The steamer Elingamite belonged to Huddart-Berker & Company of Melbourne. She was used in the general passenger and mail service carried on by this company between the colonies and along the coast of Australia. She was built in 1887 at Newcastle-on-Tyne and was of 1,675 tons net register.

TWO MEN KILLED

Who Were at one Time Residents of Peterborough—The Brophey Brothers.

An Associated despatch from New York says:—"The new East River bridge, in process of construction between New York and Brookiyn, was damaged to the amount of at least half a million dollars to-night by a fire that for four hours raged 355 feet in the air, on the summit of the great steel tower on the New York side. Three men who were at work on the top of the tower when the fire broke out are reported to have fallen into the river.

"Daniel Brophy and his brother John of Montreal, A. P. McBride and an unknown man were reported to have been at work on the tower when the fire started. While they were helping the firemen to haul up the hose the framework on which they stood collapsed and the two Brophys and the unknown man were hurled into the river. McBride saved himself by catching a piece of projecting steel work. While the fire was at its height a party of firemen were cut off at the base of the tower, where they were exposed to a torrent of brands and red hot pieces of steel. They were rescued after several had been severely burned."

The Brophys were at one time residents of Peterborough, and were known to many people here. They were employees of the Central Bridge Works and assisted in the construction of the Hastings railway bridge. Another brother of the Brophyes died within the last few years while travelling from the Klondyke.

TORONTO SPECULATORS HIT?

A Curious Story Comes From the Brokers' Offices.

Toronto Globe: A story is going the rounds among some of the brokers' offices in the city about the way the prices of stocks in which Toronto speculators have been largely interested, have been knocked down in the New York market. On two occasions it is said, American cliques were formed with the object of depressing these stocks and forcing liquidation on the part of the Toronto holders, and in both instances the manipulation of the cliques were successful. The plan was for the pools to send a representative to Toronto, who would become pretty well acquainted on the street, making himself popular among the clients of the brokers, and finding out just what particular stocks they were carrying here. Then the New York associates would turn their attention to those particular stocks where there was no strong backing behind to support them, start a selling movement, run the price down, and at the bottom buy in all the stocks that the crowd was forced to sell. In this way, it is said, they succeeded in taking not a little Toronto money. The tip went out on the street yesterday that a third attempt was to be made on the Toronto crowd, and that the representative of the latest pool was already in Toronto endeavouring to secure information as to what stocks are popularly held here now.

Brakeman Injured.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—John Barclay, a C.P.R. brakeman, living at Toronto Junction, was caught between the platform of the freight shed and a box car. Several ribs were fractured and his left arm was broken. Barclay is a married man, 38 years old.

Melbourne, Nov. 11.—The Commonwealth Government is preparing a bill to exclude foreign owned ships from the Australian coastwise service.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT, P.C.

Only one Canadian name appears in the list of King's birthday honours, but it will be felt by most Canadians, says the Montreal Herald, that the one nomination is particularly felicitous. Sir Richard Cartwright's prestige as a statesman has increased with every year since he accepted office in the Laurier Cabinet, and to-day he stands higher than ever in the general esteem. His nomination to the Imperial Privy Council, a high honour for colonial statesmen and one rarely bestowed, will strike most Canadians as being richly deserved by a man who, since before Confederation, has devoted practically the whole of his time to the service of his country, and who, after so many years, still brings to bear upon the problems of actual government the influence of a powerful mentality and an aggressive personality. It can readily be understood that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would derive a peculiar pleasure from any part he might have had in connection with this nomination, for the Prime Minister has never hesitated, when a fitting opportunity arose, to acknowledge his personal indebtedness to Sir Richard Cartwright for the sterling loyalty with which, often in the most difficult circumstances, he was supported in a most trying position by his principal colleague from Ontario.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Dominion revenue for the first four months of the present fiscal year, is $2,438,243 better than for the corresponding period of last year. Dominion expenditure, both ordinary and on capital account, totals $1,656,277 less. This net betterment of over four million dollars is a new story.

Defenders of the United States tariff are disposed to regard amalgamations of British firms as a process similar to that which produces the American trust. The difference in the two cases, the Globe points out, is radical. The British amalgamations may be intended to lessen competition, but they get no assistance from the law in doing so. In the United States the protected interests have first the assistance of the law in shutting off outside competion, and then they destroy internal competition by forming trusts. The British trust is still exposed to the free competion of the whole world.

AN INTELLIGENT JURY.

Gerald Sifton is innocent of the crime of murdering his father; a jury jury has said so, and that settles it, of course. But what is puzzling some people is the case of Herbert. He has pleaded guilty to helping in a murder that, accepting the finding of the jury, never took place, because the accused Sifton's story of the accident has accounted for the fatality. There was no plot, no axe used, no strychnine given the dying man—that was all a dream of Herbert's. Is he to be hanged or imprisoned for it?

WHAT THE PACIFIC CABLE MEANS.

Neither the magnificence nor significance of the Pacific cable are fully realised in this age of wonders. When the first message was sent to England, through the Atlantic cable, over forty years ago, the event was announced from thousands of pulpits in the old land, so great was the sensation it created. Last week when a greater triumph was consummated, it excited only momentary interest, and was announced as though it were an ordinary every day event. Yet if thoughtfully considered, the linking of Great Britain with her Australasian colonies by electric wires which enable the old land and the Antipodes to exchange communications in a few hours must be regarded as an historic event of greater interest than many which the muse of history describes in most eloquent language.—Insurance and Finance Chronicle.

ANOTHER KILLED.

Port Hope Young Man met Death While "Bumping."

Nothing seems to be a warning to those young men and boys who indulge in the dangerous practice of bumping, says the Port Hope Guide, and last night another Port Hoper lost his life.

John Milne, a lad about sixteen years of age, and and son of Mr. James Milne, Hope street, was the unfortunate one this time. He boarded a freight near the Cobourg station about 5 p.m. The train pulled out rather quickly, but when a short distance from the station it slackened up suddenly and it is thought that deceased, who was between two cars, attempted to go from one side to the other, and the jar caused him to fall underneath.

Both legs were taken off just above the knees, his chest terribly injured and his face and head smashed to a jelly. About the only mark of identification was his clothes. The body was removed to Nelson Tait's undertaking rooms at Cobourg.

This is not the first Port Hope boy that has lost his life in the same way, and we think it is nearly time that some of them would take a warning. Sunday is the chief day for this work, and trains going to and from Cobourg often have as many as ten to twelve boys on, so it is a great wonder that more have not met their death.

These accidents, of course, are all brought on by the boys, themselves, but for the sake of the parents, we think it would be wise to have a watchman placed at one of these stations and then punish the offenders severely.

PROFITS OF POULTRY RAISING.

The Product of the Modest Hen Exceeds the Wealth of Gold and Coal Mines.

An article in the Inland Poultry Journal goes to show that the chickens which mature in the spring are the greatest combination of capital, yielding the greatest results of any combination on the continent. Speaking of the United States, the Inland Journal says, on behalf of poultry farmers:

"Do our readers ever imagine that our earnings for one year would pay all the pensions for two years, and leave a balance of $12,000,000 in the treasury? Would you believe that our earnings for one year are $25,000,000 more than the hog and the potato crop combined; $52,000,000 more than the entire wheat crop, and $31,000,000 more than the cotton crop? In round figures, our earnings for one year are in excess of $290,000,000, and we have been enjoying an average increase of more than 10 per cent for the past ten years. With all this wealth, and this greatest of all combines, our investment is as safe as Government bonds. There is no chance to lose, but there is a chance for the business to increase. In fact there is no reason why it should not."

What is true of the United States, is true of Canada in ratio. Yet few Canadian farmers realize what a mine of wealth the poultry raising industry is.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

The plaint of the business men of Canada, that our educational systems are not training the young men for business pursuits, was very intelligently voiced in the address recently made by Mr. Fred J. Campbell, General Manager of the Canada Paper Company, before the alumni of Queen's University. Mr. Campbell's experience has been that of the majority of Canadian employers of labour. If a boy leaves school at an early age he possesses a smattering of many subjects, but is not well-grounded in even the rudimentary ones. If he continues his studies from graduation, from a university, his head is too apt to be "in the clouds," and it is a difficult matter to bring him to earth and make of him a practical business man. What is necessary in the industrial and business life of to-day is a steady infusion of young men prepared to learn the minutest details of their work, and yet with an outlook sufficiently wide to enable them to appreciate the chances that come to the energetic and the intelligent on this continent, of which Emerson has said that it is in itself another name for Opportunity. If a boy is destined to enter the ranks of our wage-earners at an early age, our educational system should try to instil in him the desire to acquire knowledge. He should be taught the "Three R's," and above all, should be imbued, if possible, with the love of reading, which will, in the years to come, carry him forward from knowledge to knowledge. Secondary education, if it is to fit a man for success in business, should consist in teaching him to know men, as well as in giving him a wide knowledge of things. As it is in Canada to-day, it too often, as Mr. Campbell points out, imparts knowledge, but weakens the power to act. In other words, it has a tendency to make men theoretical rather than than practical. This much may be said without disparagement to the desire of educationists that our institutions of learning should teach men to think deeply, should give them wide culture, and should in every way develop the higher intellectual life. —Montreal Herald.

A TOWN THAT DID.

The town of Nelson, in British Columbia has not been afraid to venture into the field of municipal ownership, and the first results are of a most encouraging nature. According to one of the local papers, the town—or, as they prefer to call it, the city—paid $5,000 for the waterworks system in 1897, spent $101,580 on improvements, collected $64,639 in water rates, at an operating expense of $9,673. After providing for all charges the people of Nelson are $18,966 in pocket through owning their waterworks service, and $23,676 ahead through owning their electric light service, since 1897. The town was incorporated in that year, and the electric light and waterworks taken over by the municipality, and these two services since then have profitted the municipality to the aggregate of $42,643.

The rates have not been raised to the public, the services have been good, and the town has received the profits that would have gone into private pockets.

A SOURCE OF SURPRISE

To Physician and Patient Alike.

Dr. Redmond, a specialist in the study and treatment of piles and rectal diseases, recently stated that the Pyramid Pile Cure, the recent discovery for the cure of piles, was the most remarkable remedy he had ever seen or tried in one respect; and that was the instant relief experienced in all cases, no matter how severe, from the moment the remedy was applied; this was the more surprising to him, because he had carefully analyzed the preparation and no trace of opium, cocaine, or similar poison, could be detected.

Physicians look with great favour upon the Pyramid Pile Cure, because it is rapidly taking the place of surgical operations, and because it is so simple, so easily applied, and contains no mineral or other poisons, so commonly cured in pile cures.

Dr. Eastbrook reports that the Pyramid Pile Cure, not only cures the various forms of piles, but never fails to give immediate relief on the first application, no matter how severe the pain or the discomfort maybe.

People who have suffered from piles for years, are often astonished at the instant relief experienced from the first application. Another important advantage is the fact that anyone can use the remedy without detention from business or interference with daily occupation.

Mr. J. W. Rollins, of Sweet Springs, Mo., writes: "I consider the Pyramid Pile Cure without an equal; it cured me in less than 30 days. I waited 15 days or more to be sure I was fully cured before writing you; I can now say I am cured, and I shall recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure at every possible opportunity, because it deserves it.

The popularity of this remedy is such, that all druggists now sell it at 50 cents a package, and its sales exceed those of all similar remedies combined.

I Will Cure You of

Rheumatism

Else No Money is Wanted.

After 2,000 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles D Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month and, if it succeeds, the cost is only $5.50. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself.

I have no samples, because any medicine that can affect Rheumatism quickly must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk.

I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay gladly.

I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or letter. I will send you my book about Rheumatism, and an order for medicine. Take it for a month, as it won't harm you anyway.

If it fails, it is free, and I leave the decision with you. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 47 Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

BACKED BY $500,000,000.

New Railway Across Canada and What It Expects From Government.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Commercial prints the following from Chicago: Although authorized by the Canadian and English Parliaments, the projected railway to extend across Canada from Quebec and Chicoutimi, at the head of tidewater in the Saguenay river on the east of Port Simpson on the Pacific Coast, is to be built by American capital and controlled by American interests.

The enterprise, which is being financed by W. J. Hilands of Chicago, is backed, is is asserted, by a syndicate of seven New York and Chicago men, whose aggregate wealth is said to approach $500,000,000. There is, however, delay in the enterprise due to the inability of the promoters, who are largely Canadians, to obtain from the Canadian Parliament the concessions to which they think the magnitude and value to Canada of the enterprise entitles them.

What the promoters ask is the same concessions which the Parliament gave to the Canadian Pacific, namely: Twenty thousand acres of land and $10,000 a mile of road. The Parliament has granted practically those terms on a portion of the road, but on the greater part the grant so far conceded has been 6,400 acres and $3,200 a mile. The greater concessions on the entire line are being urged, and the promoters expect to get nearly what the Canadian Pacific secured.

Notwithstanding these negotiations the statement is given out that the line will be in operation early in 1906, a year before the expiration of the time stipulated in the charter.

HAVE YOU ANY OF THESE

Symptoms of a Very Common Trouble?

There is no disease so common in the United States as Catarrh, because it appears in so many forms and attacks so many different organs.

It is a common mistake to suppose that catarrh is confined to the nose and throat. Any inflammation of the mucous membrane, wherever located accompanied by abnormal secretions, is catarrh. Catarrh of the stomach or bladder, or intestines, is nearly as common as nasal catarrh, and much more serious, although it is true that stomach catarrh and catarrh of other internal organs is the result of neglected nasal catarrh.

A new remedy has recently appeared, which, so far as tested, seems to be remarkably effective in promptly curing catarrh, wherever located. The preparation is sold by druggists generally under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and in addition to being very palatable and convenient, possesses extraordinary merit, in many cases giving immediate relief from the coughing, hawking and constant clearing of the throat and head those symptoms with which everyone is familiar who has ever suffered from colds in the head and throat.

Catarrh is simply a continuation of these symptoms until the trouble becomes chronic and grows gradually worse from year to year.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed of Hydrastin, Red Gum, and similar antiseptics and catarrh specifics, from which it will be seen that no secret is made of the ingredients and also that no mineral poisons are used, as is the case with many well-known catarrh medicines.

For catarrh of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, for catarrh of the stomach, intestines or bladder no preparation is so safe and gives such rapid and permanent results as Stuart's Catarrhy Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full sized package. You can use them with assurance that you will not contract the cocaine or morphine habit as the results from this catarrh cure are apparent from the first day's use.

The Indian Budget.

London, Nov. 11.—Lord George Hamilton, the Indian Secretary, in submitting the Indian budget statement in the House of Commons yesterday, pictured the increasing prosperity of India in spite of the ravages of famine, and said that the only item showing a decrease in revenue was opium. The income for the current year was so ample that the Government had decided to make a special grant of $7,500,000 for the relief of the sufferers from drouth and famine, and the Secretary expected that the surplus would still exceed $8,500,000.

THE IMPERIAL FIRM.

Premier Says Colonies Are Not Mere Sleeping Partners.

PRAISED SPLENDID SERVICES.

Mr. Balfour Touched Upon Secretary Chamberlain's Visit to South Africa, But Believed Time Was Not Ripe For Closer Constitutional Relations Between Colonies and Mother Country.

London, Nov. 11.—Yesterday, for the first time in the history of London, the Lord Mayor's procession traversed the unfashionable thoroughfare of Petticoat Lane, in the heart of the Ghetto, in recognition of the Jewish ancestry of Sir Marcus Samuel, the new Lord Mayor. Jewish London especially celebrated the event. The poorest inhabitants of Whitechapel and Hounds Ditch were banqueted at the expense of their wealthier co-religionists.

The procession left the Guild Hall at 11 a.m., and traversed the principal streets of the old City of London to the law courts, where, according to ancient custom, the Lord Mayor was formally presented to the Lord Chief Justice and sworn in.

The Premier's Speech.

The annual banquet, given by the Lord Mayor of London last evening, was attended by about 1,000 persons. Premier Balfour, replying to the toast, "His Majesty's Ministers," referred to the splended services rendered by the colonies during the South African war, which showed, he said, that they were not mere sleeping partners in the imperial firm. An unanswered question, however, was whether the war would be followed by a not less successful peace. The Premier said he looked to the future of South Africa in a hopeful, but not a too sanguine spirit, as every source of wealth there practically was dried up. He said he believed much good would come of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's visit to South Africa, which would be only the first of a long succession of such visits, and that the time was not ripe for closer constitutional relations between the colonies and the Mother Country.

Mr. Balfour declared that he knew nothing about the "fantastic bargains" invented by the press upon the occasion of the visit of a "great and friendly sovereign to his nearest relatives." Emperor William, according to the Premier, had no political motives in coming to see King Edward.

Dealing with the situation in Somaliland, Mr. Balfour said that the waterless wastes and fanatics were always difficult problems to deal with, but that the Somaliland question was not of great importance in the national development, except as it brought into "high relief the friendly feelings of Italy towards Great Britain."

The Premier congratulated Lord Lansdowne upon the commercial treaty with China and the Japanese alliance. He said he believed that every great power in Europe was not only desirious of peace, but firmly resolved that peace should be maintained. He deprecated international prejudices of any kind, especially the anti-English feeling on the Continent over the Boer war, as endangering the concert of Europe, "which in the past has been a great instrument of peace, and which is destined to play an even greater part in the progress of the civilization of Christendom than it has during the years recently elapsed."

Lennox Trial Will Go On.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—The Lennox election trial will go on. At Osgoode Hall yesterday Judge Osler decided that the motion made to have it set aside should be dismissed. In handing out judgment His Lordship said: "It is not suggested that any actual impropriety has occurred, or that any wrong or injustice has been done. The objection is, therefore, a strictly technical one, and if we are to look for analogy or principle, I see no reason why we should go behind our rule of court, which does not include an agent. On every ground the objection fails, and the motion is dismissed with costs to be taxed and added to the general costs of the case to be paid to the respondent in any event."

The trial of the petition against E. J. B. Pense, Liberal M.P.P.-elect for Kingston, which was fixed for Nov. 25 at Kingston, has been postponed until Dec. 9.

Illegal Fishing.

Windsor, Nov. 11.—Dominion Fish Inspector O. B. Sheppard, for the middle division of Ontario, and R. Wallace, both of Toronto, created a sensation in Essex County by swooping unexpectedly on Joseph Allen's fishery at Ojibwa Sunday and confiscating his nets. A number of local fishermen among them, G. C. MacIntosh of Walkerville, and Charles Montrieul, yesterday morning met a like fate.

Cheers For the King.

Buffalo, Nov. 11.—Cheers for the King of the British Empire and for the President of the United States were mingled at a banquet given in honor of King Edward VII.'s 61st birthday anniversary by the Sons and Daughters of St. George last night. Eighty men and women sat about the tables.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half of the time."

MINISTERS QUIT ALFONSO.

Premier Sagasta Tenders the Resignation of the Whole Cabinet.

Madrid, Nov. 11.—Premier Sagasta yesterday tendered to King Alfonso the resignation of the entire Cabinet. The King will decide to-day whether he will accept the Ministers' resignations. The Cortes was informed of the crisis, and will suspend its sittings until it is solved.

Should the King accord a continuance of his confidence in Premier Sagasta, the ministry will be modified, and probably the Ministers of War, Marine, and Justice will be sacrificed.

A Lady Says: "PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND Has Been Worth Hundreds of Dollars to Me."

A Happy and Complete Cure After Eighteen Years of Awful Agony.

All weary and disheartened sick people and those who have lost faith in the remedies they have used in the past, because none of them have given indications of cheering results, should now be filled with a strong determination to make use of the one medicine that cures disease—the new agent of new life that saves hopeless and despairing sufferers after all other agencies and means fail.

The thousands of victims of tormenting neuralgia, after reading the testimony of Mrs. G. H. Parker, of Winona, Ont., must see, that to avoid a continuance of suffering, and the possibility of sudden death, it is absolutely necessary to use Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that successfully banishes neuralgia and kindred nerve diseases. Mrs. Parker says:

"I have been a great sufferer from neuralgia for nearly eighteen years, and my sufferings at times were so bad that words fail to describe them. After having used a host of remedies, I was persuaded to use Paine's Celery Compound. I am happy to say that I am now a different woman and completely cured. I can recommend Paine's Celery Compound; it has been worth hundreds of dollars to me."

The letter also requested her to go to England to be present at the distribution of the estate, and informed her that money would be sent to bring her over. For some time she was employed as a domestic at T. C. Patterson's at Eastwood.

GUELPH MERCHANTS FLEECED.

Slick Stranger Got Them to Accept Bogus Cheques.

Guelph, Nov. 11. — Several Guelph merchants were victimized by a slick stranger during the busy hours of Saturday night. The sharp, who is described as a short, stout man of about 35, with dark hair and moustache, wearing a dark grey overcoat and a soft black felt hat, bought small articles at each of the stores, presenting cheques purported to have been signed by James Goldie & Co., and Reid & Ross, getting the difference in change. Some of the cheques were taken by the banks without question, but at the Traders' Bank the suspicions of the teller were aroused. Among the merchants known to have been fleeced are: D. R. Rowen, William McLaren & Co., R. Neil, W. C. Goetz, J. & A. McHardy, Tyson Bros., Scroggie Bros., Harding Bros., Sauer Bros.

Another Hunter Lost.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 11.—A special from Cumberland says George Allison has been lost in the woods since Thursday. He started after big game with a companion from Quartz Creek canyon, the other side of Comox Lake. Half way up the mountain they separated to meet on the other side. Allison has not been seen since. A searching party is looking for him. His brother, Joe Allison, was killed in the explosion at Cumberland last February.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., says: "I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief, and it has sinceentirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers ,by making known the great power of this Ointment.

"ANCIENT EGYPT."

Mr. J. H. Burnham's Address in T. A. S. Rooms Last Evening.

The third of the series of fortnightly entertainments took place in St. Peter's T. A. S. Rooms last evening, and was attended by a large audience. The Literary Section of the Society had secured the services of Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, for a lecture on "Ancient Egypt," and his address proved to be an intellectual treat of the highest order. Mr. Burnham held the undivided attention of the audience for nearly an hour in his eloquent and scholarly word picture of the history and work of the ancient Egyptians. Their wonderful pyramids, the Temple of Memnon, the hundredgated Thebes, the wonderful mummified remains of monarchs, the obeliska, as well as the great Sphiax, were described in detail, together with their wonderful architectural designs. The speaker showed that he possessed a store of knowledge concerning the early history of Egypt, and last evening's lecture was certainly one of the most instructive, as well as scholarly, yet given in the Society's rooms. It is to be hoped that Mr. Burnham can be prevailed upon to deliver another address at an early date upon the same subject, as his address last evening was a treat rarely enjoyed by Peterborough audiences.

At the conclusion of the address a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker by Mr. F. McAuliffe and Mr. J. Hickey.

During the evening a short programme was presented. It consisted of an instrumental duet by Misses M. McCabe and M. Doherty, rendered in good taste; a sweetly sung vocal solo by Mr. Jas. Browne, which was greeted with an encore; a vocal solo by Miss May Callaghan, sung in fine voice, a splendid reading by Miss L. Dennaird; and a vocal solo by Mr. J. King.

MEN OF THE NORTH.

Brief Notes of Eagle Lake Hunt Club.

Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald arrived home from Eagle Lake yesterday. He reports that when he left the party had had very hard luck and the bag was not very large. For one thing the party were congratulating themselves, and that was the excellence of their dogs. While the dogs of other parties were reported as below the average those of the Eagle Lake party never worked better, and the party are confident that they will return with their full complement of deer.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The brick work on the new rink is being rushed along very rapidly.

—The water in the river is much higher than it was at this time last year.

—The last meeting of the season of the Peterborough Cheese Board will be held to-morrow.

—Mr. Thomas McIntee has very kindly presented the T.A.S. with a picture of Rev. Father Matthew.

—The steamer Beaver has been hauled out of the water at Gore's Landing and will undergo repairs by Mr. Hickey.

—The Kingston News says that there is no foundation for the report that the locomotive works are to be moved to Montreal.

—A meeting of all the male members of the Murray street Baptist church will be held in the church parlours this evening at 8 o'clock

—There is some talk of having a military rifle match with Cobourg. It is quite probable that the event will be pulled off. The average of the Cobourg team is 81, whereas Peterborough's average is much higher.

—Master "Buck" Quinlan yesterday while playing with a loaded revolver met with an accident. The revolver was accidently discharged, the bullet entering the left hand of young Quinlan.

—St. Andrew's Mission Band will hold its annual Thanksgiving meeting to-night. It is expected that Mrs. (Rev.) Kannawin, president of the Peterborough Presbyterial, will pay an official visit. Rev. Mr. Potter will also address the members.

—The residents of Oxford Centre and vicinity are again unfortunate in being deprived of the privileges of a postoffice. Thos. Chambers has been obliged to give up the position of Postmaster on account of his home being quarantined for scarlet fever. He only received ten dollars a year.

—At the entertainment in St. John's School House to-night, Rev. C. H. Brooks who spent eighteen years as a missionary in Turkey, being sent out by the same body which sent out Miss Stone—the American Board of Foreign Missions—will deliver an interesting address upon Turkey. The refreshments will be served by young ladies in Turkish dress.

—The deer are beginning to arrive from the north country, and yesterday a number of the pride of the forest were to be seen piled up in front of Mr. R. A. Dutton's. The pile of venison consisted of six fine deer, weighing 145, 131, 138, 184, 146 and 129 pounds. They were furnished to Mr. Dutton by the Payne party of Warsaw. Mr. Dutton shipped five of the deer to Toronto.

—Mr. W. H. Carter, secretary of the Bureau of Mines, has just returned from an inspection trip of the peat industries in Eastern Ontario. At Brockville and Perth he found industries flourishing which a year ago were idle, and at Newington the plant for the new industry has been set up. Mr. Carter says that it is possible more industries of this kind may be commenced next year.

—The Young Mens' Guild of St. Andrew's church is again to the front and has shown commendable enterprise in the getting up of a neat little book containing the constitution of the guild, its history and the form of initiation, etc. The little volume is most complete and has been very carefully prepared. It should prove to be a source of convenience to the members and to other Guilds who wish to organize on the same lines as the Guild of St. Andrew's.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. F. A. Kilbourn, of Lakefield, was in town last night.

Mr. David Hall, of Peterborough, was in town to-day on business. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hall and two children, who are guests of Mrs. Henry, Lindsay street.—Lindsay Post.

THE ABBEY CORONATION CHOIR

In George Street Methodist Church Last Night.

A Delightful Programme Effectively Presented.

It is seldom that the George street Methodist church, or, for the matter of that, any other church, echoes to such exquisite music as that presented there last night by the "Coronation Choir," selected from the singers who took part in the Coronation service of Their Majesties King Edward and Queen Alexandra. The church auditorium was fairly well filled, though by no means with such a large audience as that which greeted the so-called Westminster Abbey choir on the occasion of their visit last spring. The personnel of the company of last night was somewhat different from the first choir contingent, but on the whole the work done was equal to that presented by the first choir, though, it may be remarked, that the first part of last night's programme seemed to move rather slowly compared to the latter portion, which, however, compensated for any offness, or deficiency in the first part. The concerted numbers were generally more satisfactory than the solos, some of the latter being not quite up to "concert pitch." Special praise should be given to the excellent singing by Mr. Percy Coward, of "Life's Lullaby," a selection which exactly chimed in with his peculiarly beautiful alto voice. His number was exquisitely sung as to tone, taste and feeling. His encore number, "I'll sing thee songs of Araby," was another charming bit of vocal work. Miss Marie Hooton sang two solos, which seemed to fall short of satisfying the audience, for in both cases she was recalled, and compelled to sing again, one of her encore numbers, an old Cumberland song being, perhaps, her most pleasing performance. Mr. Jas. Leyland's singing of "The Maid of Malabar," was marked by fine expression, and rich tone. In the more robust parts of his register his voice is very like that of Mr. Harold Jarvis, and a further similarity exists in style and method. He was enthusiastically recalled. Mr. Edward Branscombe, another tenor, well earned a call with "The Sailors Grave," and Mr. Herbert Hilton's basso song, Franz Abt's, "Still is the Night," was acceptably sung. One desirable excellence, common to both soloists and chorus, was the delightfully distinct enunciation, one of the chief charms of the speech of the educated Englander. Every word was clearly intelligible, and this applied with especial significance to the concerted numbers, in which to the pleasure of hearing every word that was sung, was added the delight of the rich harmony, just time, exquisite shading that marked the work of the chorus throughout. It is unnecessary to particularize, but one might mention the anthem of the choir boys — "In the Sight of the Unwise," and the Gounod composition, "Send out Thy Light," which was sung with such delightfully exquisite shading and general effect, that it was redemanded. The old song, "Of a' the Airts the Wind can Blaw," sung as a quartette, was a gem, and was also encored. "Sweet and Low," by Lord Tennyson, its tender sweetness set to companion music, was another beautiful bit of work, and the audience was most delightfully rewarded for the enthusiastic redemand made, by the singing of "The Bells of St. Michael's Tower," a mimetic composition as wonderful for its beautifully intricate and perfect harmonies, as for its perfect execution—simulating in a marvellous way the resonant music of distant chimes even to the lingering cadence of expiring tones dying imperceptibly into silence. The entertainment was, as a whole, a most delightful one, and the George street church choir, under whose auspices the singers came, are double gainers—in the enjoyment of the public appreciation of their enterprise, and the educative influence upon themselves of the presence and performance of such a musical combination as the Coronation Choir.

THE C.M.B.A. EXPANDING.

Two Local Branches Instituted in Douro and Ennismore.

On Saturday two new branches of the C.M.B.A. were organised with a good initial membership, in Douro, and Ennismore. The officials who conducted and assisted at, the institution of these branches, were Dr. Ryan, Grand Medical Supervisor of the C.M.B.A., Mr J. J. Beem, of Kingston, Mr. George Ball, District Deputy, and Dr. McGrath. Organization will be completed by the election of officers, at the next meeting. This excellent beneficial organization commends itself to all who would desire the protection and fraternal privileges it provides.

RELIGIOUS WORK.

Mr. F. S. Goodman, of New York at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. F. S. Goodman, Special Religious Work Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. for North America, gave the first of a series of addresses in the Y.M.C.A. last night. The active members and committeemen were well represented at the tea and conference which took place at 6.30 p.m.

Mr. Goodman spoke on "Settled Principles in Religious Work, and illustrated his telling address by a series of charts showing the unparalleled opportunity presented to the Association for a forward movement along religious lines. He began by stating the object of the Association, which was the making of a Christian man. The plan of organization of the Association's active members was most complete and effective in carrying out the various line of work. At the close of the address a number of questions were asked, and each was followed by discussion. Mr. Goodman is a very pleasing speaker, and has a thorough grasp of the religious conditions which mark work for young men.

There should be a large attendance at the closing meeting to-night at 8 o'clock, to which all men are invited.

Mr. Goodman had a conference with the directors, business men and pastors, this afternoon.

Dr. O'Brien in the presence of a number of friends of the bride and groom. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of ladies' cloth trimmed with rose applique and wore a picture hat, and was attended by Miss J. O'Brien, who was attired in a dress of grey covert cloth. She too wore a picture hat. The groom was supported by Mr. G. J. McClevey, of Trenton. The newly married couple will reside on Perry street.

Another serious accident happened on the Midland division of the G.T.R., near Whitby town station, at about 2.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, resulting in the destruction of seven flat cars, damaging two engines, and derailing several other cars. The accident was caused by a main line ballast train, drawn by a mogul engine, colliding with the Whitby mixed, a train which leaves Lindsay every morning about seven o'clock.

ANNUAL BIBLE SOCIETY MEETING

To be Held in George Street Methodist Church To-night.

Society Endorsed by Archbishop of Canterbury and Bishop of Calcutta.

Referring to the great work of the Bible Society, the Archbishop of Canterbury said: "A man must read history with his eyes shut if he cannot see that one of the greatest instruments that God is using to prepare the way for bringing the whole human race together at the foot of the cross is the work of the Bible Society."

The Bishop of Calcutta, referring to the work of the colporteurs in India, said: "Since I have been in India I have seen more and more how amidst the paucity of missionary and Christian workers as compared with the population of 300,000,000, the Bible is still the one silent, universal and irresistible missionary upon whose influence the church can always and everywhere depend."

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society, will be held to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, at 8 o'clock, in the George street Methodist church. All prayer meetings will join in this service.

The president of the Bible Society in Canada is Mr. N. W. Hoyles, K.C., LL.D., a most devoted member of the Church of England, residing in Toronto, who succeeded the late Sir Geo. W. Allan, also a member of the Church of England, who for forty-two years presided with great fidelity and acceptable service over the interests of this important work.

Rev. Samuel Carruthers, of Toronto, will address the meeting to-morrow night. Freewill offering for the Society's work.

Malt Breakfast Food

Builds Them up in Flesh, Bone and Muscle.

Malt Breakfast Food is the only cereal food that children will keep to and relish from day to day. It has a delicious flavour that captivates the taste, and makes it a favourite. Oatmeal and other forms of grain foods are injurious to the stomach and digestive organs of the little ones because of the presence of insoluble starch. Malt Breakfast Food is free from starch, therefore easily and quickly digested by the youngest children. Malt Breakfast Food is specially recommended for the babies after weaning. It affords all the elements for solid flesh forming and bone and muscle building. Try Malt Breakfast Food, dear mothers; it will give you wonderful results. Grocers everywhere.

Toronto Star Criticises Mr. McWilliams' Letter—Standing of the Team in the O.R.F.U.

The Sporting Editor of the Toronto Star, in last night's issue of his journal, treats with Mr. R. F. McWilliams' letter in the Examiner on Saturday, in which Mr. McWilliams criticizes the snap back system of play. The Star says:

Mr. R. F. McWilliams of the Peterborough Rugby team is out with a written opposition to the introduction of the snap-back system, which would, in his opinion, "aggravate the worst features of our present style of game and be injurious to the best."

Mr. McWilliams contends that it will encourage scrimmaging and line-bucking indefinitely to the exclusion of the running, passing, and kicking game. He says: "In the snap-back style of scrimmaging lies the essential difference between our game and that played in the United States, and the long roll of serious accidents and deaths every season is not a very strong recommendation for their style of play. The open running, passing, which is the finest feature of our game, is never seen in their game, simply because the risk of losing possession of the ball is too great, and instead there is a succession of combined rushes at the line, relieved only by the kicking made necessary by the downs rule. It seems to me that the change is a move in the directly opposite direction to that which its advocates desire."

Here Mr. McWilliams is at fault. The curse of the United States game is the off-side interference, not the snap-back system, as he contends. The proposed Canadian rules absolutely prohibit off-side interference, so that line-bucking is reduced to a minimum, and the bad feature of the American game wholly eliminated.

The Peterborough man advocates the introduction into the Canadian game of the downs system—a compulsory gain of 10 yards in three successive scrimmages or forfeit the ball—and the reduction of the number of players from 15 to 13. He says: "I believe that such a reduction in the number of wings would result in a great development of the combined running and passing game, which both players and spectators like above everything else."

These two suggestions of Mr. McWilliams are embodied in the Burnside rules, only the team is reduced to 12 players, not 13. Mr. McWilliams and his Peterborough friends should come up to Toronto this week and see some of the games played under the snap-back system. It is safe betting they would be convinced that nothing like it, from a spectator's point of view, was ever devised.

The Star has a perfect right to criticize the letter of Mr. McWilliams, but it must not run away with the idea that Mr. McWilliams represents the Peterborough club. The Star is in error when it says that Mr. McWilliams is a member of the Peterborough team. As a matter of fact he is not, although he is an ex-captain of the fifteen. The Star also says that "Mr. McWilliams and his Peterborough friends should come up to Toronto and see the snap back style of play." We do not deny that Mr. McWilliams has friends here, but he has none whom we have heard of who are in favour of the principles embodied in his letter. Again, the invitation for Mr. McWilliams and his friends to go to Toronto to see the snap back style of play, must be respectfully declined, as the local club is ahead of any Toronto team in this regard. The Peterborough club was the first club to introduce a resolution at the O.R.F.U. meeting advocating the adoption of this style of play. The snap back play has been tried here with every success. The Star and the public in general should remember that the Peterborough club is in favour of the snap back style of play, that they have been so for a year or more, and their ideas are crystallized in a resolution submitted at last year's meeting of the O.R.F.U. Mr. McWilliams, who is against this principle, is the only one in Peterborough yet to express himself in that line. He is not a member of the Peterborough team, but has been prominently identified with the Peterborough club in the past.

* * * *

Peterborough is a great rugby town. The game is being played on corner lots in the various parks and in the drill shed at night. There are players ranging in size from the 7-year-olds to the papas, and there is lots of young blood being reared up so that the prospective material appears to be inexhaustive. The team of St. John's choir have had a very successful record—an unbroken series of victories — this season and will prove to be a leading element in rugby circles from now forward.

CURLING.

The curlers of the town are reminded o fthe meeting to be held in the rink parlours on Thursday night of this week, when matters of interest to all will be discussed.

RUGBY.

Messrs George Black, Gordon Crawford and Wm. Meredith will represent London at the next meeting of the O.R.F.U. at Toronto, on Wednesday night next. Among other matters Mr. Black will inquire why the O.R.F.U disregards his application to be placed in the amateur ranks, when he has been notified by the executive of the C. A. A. U. that his connection with professional baseball does not affect his standing.

* * * *

There was a fairly well attended turnout at Rugby practice in the drill shed last night, and a good work out resulted.

* * * *

"Chummy" Hill, who played last Saturday with the Argonauts II against the Torontos, who will in all probability be our next opponents, when seen last night said that the result of the match will rest mainly on condition. Now it is utterly impossible to be in condition without conscientious practice, and it is hoped by the management that our players will leave no stone unturned by which the championship prospects of the club may be furthered.

* * * *

That the citizens of London as a whole are not in sympathy with the management of the London club, is quite evident from the following letter from a citizen of that city to the London News. He says:

For many years I have taken great interest in all out-door sports, and although never actually taking part in the games, have always assisted local clubs financially. The conduct of the average amateur is not to be admired, especially the football player. Hardly a game has taken place without a disgraceful fight or abusive language used, both of which are not to be desired by the spectators. After each game, no matter who wins, a protest is entered and supported or contradicted by declarations not always true, and I am sorry to say, known to be untrue by the officials of the club. Why all this kicking? Surely the game can be played honestly, and one would expect this to be so, as the players are all supposed to be respectable boys, and the vast majority, sons of the most prominent business men of this city. The officials of the club are to blame for allowing these protests to be made. The proper course would be to refuse to play with any club that is not living up to the rules of the game, but after defeat, not to squeal. More frauds have been perpetrated on the race tracks by the few so-called gentlemen riders than all the professional jockeys put together. If our amateurs, both in football and hockey, cannot conduct themselves better in the future, they should not be encouraged, either financially or by attending their matches. I am sorry to say the clubs of this city are looked upon as chronic kickers.

Yours truly,
CRICKETER.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

Jackson Johnson, of Norham, Ont., Finds Relief from Dyspepsia and Chronic Diarrhoea in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

When a man has suffered for twenty years with Dyspepsia; when he has tried doctors and medicines to no avail; when, to add to his other ailments, Chronic Diarrhoea has developed, and when at last that man finds relief from his complication of troubles in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, it is surely time to admit that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the one sure cure for Dyspepsia.

Such was the experience of Jackson Johnson of Norham, Ont. Here's what he writes regarding it:

"My case was an exceptional one of Chronic Dyspepsia. I had been doctoring for it for nearly twenty years, in which time I spent a large amount of money with doctors and for medicines. Two years ago I was taken with diarrhoea, which became chronic, and I became so weak I was confined to my bed.

"A person who had used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets induced me to try them and I have taken seventeen boxes up to the time of writing, and have steadily improved. I am prompted to write by a desire to induce others to give a trial to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, which I claim have been instrumental in taking me from the brink of the grave and restoring me to comparative good health."

FANCY STITCHES.

The Herringboning Now So Popular In Dress Trimming.

As it is scarcely possible for an embroider to have too large a repertory of fancy stitches, especially just now, when this kind of decoration is so much used on fine dressmaking, we illustrate a few here which perhaps may come as novelties to some workers and of which those who are already acquainted with them may be glad to be reminded.

Herringbone stitch can boast of many varieties. In Fig. 1 is shown the ordinary form. A good effect may be gained by working a horizontal stitch with another color over every cross, or a group of spike stitches, cross stitches or leviathan stitches may be made along each edge at intervals. If the herringbone stitches are worked very closely together and only about two threads of the material are taken up by each, we get a close plait stitch that is invaluable for long, narrow leaves or straight bands. If the stitches are widened out, we have a lattice which is equally useful and may be thickened with a French knot in every opening or let free.

Fig. 2 shows a use of herringbone stitch that is extremely popular at the present time both in fancy needlework and in dress. It serves for the joining of two bands of braid, ribbon or lace insertion and is worked with the needle put vertically downward, first on one edge of the braid, then in a corresponding position, but pointing upward, on the second piece of braid. Care must be taken to keep the two lines of braid exactly the same distance apart throughout. If herringbone is worked on a material in this way, but very compactly, we get Cretan plait stitch, which looks much more elaborate than it is in reality, so great a change is made by simply changing the position of the needle.

All housekeepers are or should be familiar with the ordinary blanket stitch. Fig. 3 sketches a variety of this that is valuable for finishing the edges of cloth or serge table covers, sofa rugs and similar articles. Here we have three rows of buttonholing, which look best when they are worked with thread or wool in three shades of one color. The innermost row of buttonholing must be worked first, and it must be placed at such a distance within the edge that the third and last row sets along the margin of the material. The sketch plainly shows how the second set of stitches is placed within and below the first, the spikes being rather lower than those first worked and at their left hand side. The number of rows of buttonhole stitches may be increased indefinitely, but three or at most five are generally considered enough.

For Trifling Faults of the Skin.

Trifling faults of the skin may be concealed when it is desired to wear evening dress by a judicious use of cold cream and powder. The neck and arms should be covered first with the cream, which then should be removed with a soft linen cloth. Powder then must be applied liberally and carefully brushed off. If there are hollows in the neck, the powder must be used in them with some additional lavishness.

Diet For Young Mothers.

There is a decided difference of diet called for before the birth of a child and after. In both cases the mother needs nourishing food because she has two to care for, but what is advisable to use at the one time is not always the best at the other. The fact that a baby may come into the world thin and wiry or fat and flabby or small boned and yet strong and vigorous has given rise to certain fads of late. Mothers regulate their diet without understanding what this or that food will do for them, and in many cases they do more harm than good. One may eat so that she will sacrifice the health of the child to her own or she may give her child all the nourishment and become weak and nervous. She must certainly try to keep up her strength, but at the same time she must not overdo the matter, for a sudden and large increase in flesh is bad for both mother and child. It is muscular strength which counts, not mere accumulations of fat.

Before deciding on any diet the prospective mother should consult a physician to see whether there is in her case any individual peculiarity.—Harper's Bazar.

Matthew Arnold's Rudeness.

"Do you take sugar and cream?" a hostess asked Matthew Arnold from behind the breakfast urn.

"Neither," he replied. "I only take cream when the coffee is nasty."

The feelings of the hostess may be imagined after this statement to have her guest taste the beverage and direct the waitress to bring him sugar and cream.

DRESS HINTS.

Black satin intensifies the effect of round shoulders.

A shabby silk shirt waist has been known to continue its mission in life as a first rate jacket lining.

When ripping up the seams of an old skirt, if the ripping is started from the bottom the goods are much less likely to tear at the edges.

Gray is a most adaptable color, lending itself to a number of combinations, and may be so made that it will be becoming to women of all ages.

Grease on silk may be removed with powdered chalk or magnesia. Place the powder on the spot and then hold it near the fire. The grease will thus soon be absorbed and may be brushed off with the powder.

With good care and brushing an all wool English serge costume will last for years, and when its day of grace is past as a gown it can be cleaned and made into the best sort of an underskirt for rainy day wear.

The well dressed girl sews yards of stiffly starched ruffling upon the front breadths of her corset covers to produce the desirable straight full effect at the corsage. It can be ripped off at a moment's notice, is easily laundered and gives the effect better than anything else.

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvellous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c., at Ormond & Walsh's.

Worry Over Little Things.

Feelings of Languor and Despondency the First Symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion—Reconstruct the Wasted Nerve Tissues by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When you become restless and peevish, worry over little things, and are afflicted with dyspepsia, which cannot be attributed to error in diet, you may be sure that the trouble arises from nervous disorders.

Other symptoms are sleeplessness, headache, low spirits, and a tendency to put off the duties of the day. Life seems to lose its brightness, and things go wrong. When in such a condition you will find yourself very susceptible to change of air. When the atmosphere is fresh and clear you have plenty of vitality, but with heavy weather you drag yourself about feeling more dead than alive.

The first necessity is rest from work and worry, and as much fresh air as possible. Then the system must be built up and the wasted nerve force restored by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

So much mystery and uncertainty has formerly surrounded diseases of the nerves that people often make the dreadful mistake of neglecting them. They feel weak, miserable, and nervous, but try to console themselves that it will wear away. Not so. Nervous diseases do not get well of themselves, but gradually weaken the system until there is nothing left to build on.

Mrs. S. Derocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and sleeplessness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the Ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food may not cure you in a week or even a month, but it is bound to benefit you, and will naturally and certainly restore vigour to body and nerves. There is no treatment so thorough and effective in curing nervous disorders and none which has been so generously endorsed by physicians and laymen alike. The secret of its remarkable power lies in the fact that it is a food for the nerves, and acts in accordance with nature's laws. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 7

ENFORCING THE LAWS.

When a Woman Is and When She Is Not a Good Citizen.

In the matter of personal rights nothing uproarious or unsexing need be advocated. A little consideration of the matter and a little quiet and persistent effort in one's own immediate circle of friends are all that is necessary. The American woman uses tact with men as naturally as she breathes. That is the reason she gets everything she wants.

First be sure of the law on the matter. Never write a letter or utter a public protest until you are sure you are within your rights as bounded by the laws of your state. You will be amazed at the excellence of your laws and ordinances and the criminal laxness of their enforcement.

Most of the things which harass you and annoy you could be done away with if you only knew how well you are protected by law. But not enforced, you say? Well, whose fault is it but yours? You have influence. Use it. See to it that deafening noises and foul odors and unhealthful practices are stopped.

But before you attempt to cast out the mote from the public eye reflect a little for fear the beam of selfishness is in your own eye. Are you maintaining a public nuisance? Do you practice on your piano before other people are up and after they have gone to bed? Is your husband learning to play the flute? Are your children allowed to run wild and whoop and yell regardless of the woman who is writing a book in the apartment above you? Do you keep a dog and does he bark with sheer dog spirits and the delight of living and do you encourage him in it regardless of the poor spinster within hearing who hates curs?

If you do any of these things, you are not a good citizen. If your husband does them and you do not try to influence him to desist, you are not a good citizen. If you are not training your boys and girls in thoughtfulness and consideration to their neighbors and friends, if you do not train them to stand up for their rights and to demand that when good laws are enacted they shall be enforced by the weight of a persevering public opinion, you are lacking both as mother and as good citizen. You are not doing your duty to your children or to your country or to yourself.—Saturday Evening Post.

A Potato Border.

Almost any creamed dish, such as creamed fish, chicken, lobster or veal, can be very daintily served inside a potato border. First arrange the potato. Mash it well, add seasoning, butter and cream or milk and beat with a fork till quite creamy; then put in a pastry bag and force through in good sized roses made like a deep border. Pour the creamed mixture inside and set in the oven for a few minutes to allow the potato to brown delicately. Garnish with parsley be[illegible] sending to the table.—Good Housekeeping.

MAKING A POTATO BORDER.

A Homemade Weather Prophet.

For this you need a quite clean, clear glass bottle. Take one dram each of camphor gum, saltpeter and ammonia salts and dissolve them in thirteen drams of pure alcohol. Shake till dissolved. Then pour in bottle and cork tightly.

Hang the bottle of mixture against a wall facing north, and it will prove a perfect weather prophet.

When the liquid is clear, it promises fair weather. When it is muddy or cloudy, it is a sign of rain.

When little white flakes settle in the bottom, it means that the weather is growing colder, and the thicker the deposit the colder it becomes.

Fine, starry flakes foretell a storm, and large flakes are signs of snow. When the liquid seems full of little threadlike forms that gradually rise to the top, it means wind and sudden storms.

Waist and Bust.

A woman physician has taken the trouble to measure four women to decide the question as to the proportionate difference between the bust and the waist. In two instances there was a difference of eight inches, in the third nine and in the fourth ten. Afterward the measurement of a woman was taken who had never worn a corset. The difference between the two points was barely six inches.

All ready made waists for women of ordinary size are made with ten inches difference between the bust and the waist measure.

Blacking the Stove.

Most of us know that the blacking done by the man who comes from the hardware store for the purpose of applying it looks better and lasts longer than when we put it on ourselves. The polish the experts apply is mixed with benzine and that we use with water. And don't forget that the stove must be perfectly cold when it is applied.

Business Clothes.

It is economy in the end for a business woman to have at least two substantial, well made business suits. This gives an opportunity to keep each one well aired and brushed, to have bindings properly renewed and hooks and eyes firmly fastened.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

BACKACHE

Is only one of many distressing symptoms which point to the presence of womanly diseases. If women thoroughly understood the relation of the local womanly health to the general health, they would understand that backache, headache, nervousness, sideache, dizziness, faintness and similar feminine ailments, cannot be cured until the womanly health is established.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures diseases peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. In curing these local diseases, it cures the ailments which they cause; backache, headache, sideache, dizziness, faintness, nervousness, and other ills peculiarly feminine.

"I wrote you for advice February 4th, 1896," writes Mrs. Lona Halstead, of Claremore, Cherokee Nat., Ind. Ter. "I was racking with pain from the back of my head down to my heels. Had hemorrhage for weeks at a time, and was unable to sit up for ten minutes at a time. You answered my letter, advised me to use your valuable medicines, viz., Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' also gave advice about injections, baths and diet. To my surprise, in four months from the time I began your treatment I was a well woman and have not had the backache since, and now I put in sixteen hours a day at hard work."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SHADOW PANTOMIMES.

A Delightful Parlor Pastime For an Evening Party.

A delightful pastime when you have your little friends at your house for a party in the evening is playing shadow pantomimes. This amusement makes lots of good fun, and it is easy and simple too. Here is the way it is done:

Fix a white sheet across the room, or, what is better, over folding doors, and place a light behind it on the floor. Seat the company before the screen without lights. The actors dance and act behind the sheet, on which their magnified shadows are cast by the lamp. Occasionally they jump over the lamp and thus appear to the spectators in front as if they had jumped upward through the ceiling. Some amusing scenes may be contrived with a little ingenuity. Chairs and tables may be called down from above by simply passing them across the light. A struggle between two seeming combatants may take place and one be seen to throw the other up in the air on the same principle. Of course the actors must promote the delusion by their gestures, moving their hands and feet as if climbing upward. Care should be taken to keep the profile on the screen as distinct as possible, and practice will soon suggest some highly humorous situations.

THE STRUGGLE ON THE SHEET.

Bunny Did Not Care For Mice.

Before we went to England we lived on a large farm in Roumania. One day father and I went out into the fields and saw some little gypsies playing ball with something that screamed pitifully, and when they came nearer we saw it was a tiny kitten.

Father gave them some money for it, and we took it home and put it with some little rabbits we had, and Mrs. Bunny adopted it at once.

Some months after Mrs. Bunny fell ill and would not take any food. Pussy hardly moved away from her. But one day she was missing nearly all day.

Late in the afternoon she came back and scratched at the rabbit house to be let in, and I saw that she was holding a mouse in her teeth.

She made straight for Gara (that was Bunny's name), woke her up and pushed the mouse nearly in her mouth. Poor Mrs. Bunny was dreadfully frightened and wouldn't have anything to do with it, and pussy was so hurt that she would not go near the rabbit house for a week.

A Bantam to the Rescue.

One day a flock of sparrows were noticed flying excitedly around a house, and on going near I saw that a young sparrow had fallen from a nest under the tiles and was too young to fly back.

Suddenly a bantam cock stepped forward. He evidently quite understood the state of affairs, for he picked the little mite up very tenderly in his beak, mounted an empty cart that happened to be conveniently near, flew from it on to the tiles and, stretching his neck out over the edge, replaced the sparrow in its nest.

In doing so, however, he overbalanced himself and tumbled to the ground. But after pluming his feathers for a minute he strutted about the yard none the worse for his adventure and evidently very proud of his exploit.

Brilliant Light From Steel.

Pour into a watch glass a little sulphuret of carbon and light it. Hold in the flame a brush of steel wire, and it will burn beautifully. A watch spring may also be burned in it.

A Mystery.

Mother says the sun is shining
Far away across the sea
When it's night here and I'm sleeping;
I don't see how that can be.

Uncle Jack once went to China,
Crossed the ocean deep and blue;
He could not get back by morning,
Like the sun would have to do.

So one night I thought I'd catch him—
People can't fool me like that—
Guess he knew what I was up to
When upon the sill I sat.

Slower, slower, just to tease me,
Thought that I might fall asleep,
But I saw that old deceiver
Just drop in the river deep.

Now, I know you're not in China!
I have caught you, Mr. Sun!
You just stay there in the river
Till the morning is begun!

Then you get up very early,
Just to make the people think
You've been shining way in China;
Many times I've seen you wink.

So I'll stay and watch till morning,
If my eyes will open keep,
To make sure that's where you're staying,
And I'll see you upward leap.

In the morning little Jackie,
Fast asleep upon the sill,
In mother's arms was gently lifted,
For the morning air was chill.

But he woke and toward the window
Rushed to find it was the day,
And with burning cheeks he shouted,
"Why, he came the other way!"

That Awful Boy Jones.

Fifty or more years ago "that awful boy Jones" was the torment of Queen Victoria's life, and his short career in public contains a mystery which would try the mettle of Sherlock Holmes.

He was a barber's apprentice who in some unexplained way discovered a passage into Buckingham palace, with which he alone was acquainted. When he was first found trespassing, he was gently admonished and sent home. Soon after he was encountered again in the palace. He would not tell how he obtained access. Again he was sent home, and again he reappeared.

Once he calmly admitted that he had been lodging in the palace for a fortnight. He had laid snug during the day, sleeping in the royal apartments, and at night had wandered from room to room, helping himself to the food left over from royal repasts. He had seen the queen repeatedly and indeed had never been far from her.

The matter was considered so serious that the boy was summoned before a special meeting of the privy council. He refused to give any account of his secret. Soon after he disappeared, and it is supposed that he was removed under state protection.

THOUSANDS of men are prisoners of disease as securely as though they were confined behind the bars. Many have forged their own chains by the vices of early youth, exposure to contagious disease, or the excesses of manhood. They feel they are not the men they ought to be or used to be. The vim, vigor, and vitality of manhood are lacking. Are you nervous and despondent? tired in the morning? have you to force yourself through the day's work? have you little ambition and energy? are you irritable and excitable? eyes sunken, depressed and haggard looking? memory poor and brain fagged? have you weak back with dreams and losses at night? deposit in urine? weak sexually?—you have To-day's Quotations Very Erratic.

The Market Brisk, but the Wary Ones are Shy—Daily Letters—Quotations.

Stocks are very erractic in their quotations again this afternoon, and the wise ones are speculating as to the cause. It has been stated in the daily letters of the Examiner for some time past that the market would be unsafe and unstable for some time, and this is being fully carried out. Sugar dropped to its lowest at 113, A.C.P. went to 89 1-4 from the opening quotation of 90, and S. P. was low at 63 7-8. In Dominion Coal 125 was bid and 130 asked.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Nov. 10th, 1902.—This was the biggest day we have had in the stock market since the collapse of a month ago. Approximately 1,300,000 shares changed hands. The selling was of an enormous scale from the start, and so urgent that it caused rather general demoralization, and there was no recovery from this until after the noon hour. Then it seemed as if the urgent liquidation had been completed, and with the denial of numerous rather silly rumors which had been in circulation throughout the morning and good strong support from some of the banking interests, particularly in steel stocks, and general railroad list recovered. The recovery was helped by some of the largest banks appearing as heavy lenders of call money on the exchange and by the subsidence of general commission house and foreign selling together with advice from Chicago that the switchmen's demand for increased wages had been conceded and that there will be no labour trouble among the railroads in that locality. Liquidation has been so heavy, especially by pools and the western contingent that the technical speculative position of the market is much improved. This suggests the probability of some rally, but we do not believe it will prove very extensive or permanent. The confidence of public here and abroad in the stability of the market has been much impaired, and more over the same uncertainty regarding the money market as of a month ago still exists.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 11th, 10.00 a.m.—Wheat unchanged, corn 1-8 lower. Car lots of wheat, 227; corn, 300; total 955. Last week, holiday, last year 1,050.

Chicago, Nov. 11th.—There is not much news this a.m., but feeling is general that technical condition of the market is vastly improved. At the same time there does not seem to be any great buying power and the market at the moment is as if it would sell lower again. Foreign exchange is streng and 1-3 higher.

J. J. MARSHALL.

Grain.—Corn opened lower on Government report which indicated about 200,000,000 bushels more than Oct. statement, but the bad weather for movement and good cables are holding market firm. Cash demand is a factor.

DENISON.

Boston Dom. Steel 67 and 68. Coal 128 and 129. Twin City 116 and 117. Rails 120 asked, 115 bid. Toronto Rails Tw. selling at 116.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 11th, 9.50 a.m.—Mr. Keene denies sales of U.P. or S. P. Principal bankers say the situation is thoroughly sound and money available for any one who needs it. Pittsburg heavy seller of steel pfd. S. P. reports shows read earnings equal to six per cent on stock. U.P. earned ten per cent. on common. Nearly all Chicago roads settled their difficulties on basis of concessions to their men. Fair demand for S.P., R.G., and B.C. in loan crowd. Principal trust interest consented to federal legislation conditionally on no alteration of tariff.

DOW, JONES & CO.

General opinion at the close yesterday was that we would have a better market this a.m., but that rally would prove neither very extensive or permanent, and that on any advance general list would again prove a sale. The technical speculative position of the market has been very much improved by the heavy liquidation of past few days, and it is believed that what stocks commission houses are now carrying are so well margined that there is not much probability of the market experiencing a repetition of yesterday's bad break unless something of extraordinaryily bad nature develops in the general financial situation or some other sore spots come to the surface. The sharp rally in sugar yesterday was due to general covering of shorts.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 10th.—Among the class that are active daily in the market it is becoming extremely fashionable to work upon the bear side of the market. These daily scalpers are taking their cues and views from the Waldorf-Astoria party, and the extreme indifference at present to market conditions and offerings is making the present downward drift. All kinds of stories are put in circulation about a certain coterie of western speculators being left long of the market to quite an appreciable extent, while the vague suggestions is made that their long holdings are being gunned, for it produces, as a result, an extremely treacherous market, one that when the turn does come will be clean cut and decided. Sugar has been singled out and specially attacked, being selected as the bear target by the leads. Among the better class of railway shares excellent buying is discernible at every eighth decline, but the buyers show no aggressiveness or tendency to bid against the bear operators; merely a willingness to buy their offerings as made. The western party stoutly maintain their faith on the bull side, claim the short interest to be at present time unusually large, stating they base their opinions upon the immense line of stocks that they are loaning, in many instances, privately, at a rate considerable below the current price for money. It is their contention that the bears will over-do the matter, running themselves into a trap. The last sensational speculation upon the bear side of sugar occurred last December, when the price was rapidly dropped from 135 to 103 1-4. The inevitable rebound came, carrying the price to 135 1-8 the following March, and the bears lost heavily. The remarkable excellent buying of Union Pacific is based upon the forthcoming annual report, which is expected to show nearly ten per cent. earned upon the common stock the past 12 months. One thing is certain when the turn in the market does come it will likely prove to be a sharp one. Meantime for day to day speculation it would be a fallacy to combat the statement that one man's guess was not as good as another's.

Summary.—The dealings at the opening to-day were on an immense scale, it was a genuine bear raid, and this contingent had no hesitation in circulating the questionable rumours usually identified with their tactics. The rumour of the serious illness of J. P. Morgan was scattered broadcast, demoralizing the stocks and bringing about excessive liquidation. Bull interests saw the hopelessness of giving support under such circumstances, so the market was left to itself. It rallied around noon, and especially in sugar, M.O. P., U.P. and A.C.P., but reactions continued till near the close, when a new rally set in and placed many stocks as high as they were at Saturday's close. St. P., P.A., B.R.T., Sugar, showing up splendidly. It shows that the buying power is always at hand at any low level, and that with railroad and industrial prosperity undimmed the bull side of the market can hold its own. Such reactions form an excellent foundation for a bull market. Weak holdings having sold out and the best support in the world being near at hand; that is bear covering. Money closed 3 per cent. Sales 1,298,100.

INTOXICANTS IN ATHLETIC CLUBS.

The citizens of Montreal who have sons members of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Club, are deeply interested in an important project which is now being considered by the governors of the institution. It is, in a word, a plan to have the club metamorphosed into a complete social club, with the usual adjuncts in the way of refreshments, spirituous and otherwise. The parents are not by any means all opposed to the scheme, and neither, it may be remarked, are the members. Perhaps the persons concerned might learn something from the experience of the defunct Toronto Athletic Club, which had a meteoric experience a few years back. The club's downfall, it would be unjust to ascribe to the sale of liquor, after it had been prohibited for some years, but the fact was clearly demonstrated that the club that is formed for athletic purposes is better without the sale of intoxicants. If all the members were a few years past their majority no objection could be had to the system; but they are not all of age. Many are but eighteen or nineteen, and it is undeniably a temptation to place liquor before lads who would never think of entering a saloon. The Montreal people should remember that there are many other clubs where stimulants can be had, and keep whiskey out of the club house.

Particulars in the Petition and Cross Filed on Tuesday.

SEAT IN NORTH GREY IS VACANT

In Lennox Charges of Ballot-Switching Are Made—Intimidation and the Payment of Voters Alleged—The Date of the Trial at Napanee Is Fixed For Tuesday, 25th November.

Toronto, Nov. 12. — Particulars were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday in the petition against the return of Mr. Thomas Carscallen in Lennox. The petitioners are F. A. Perry, William R. Miller and John G. Gunn. There are fifty-one paragraphs of particulars. It is charged that at Amherst Island D. D. Findlay, an agent, intimidated William Wilson by threatening to dismiss him if he did not vote for the respondent, and on the day following the election did dismiss him; that William Beaubien of Amherst Island was promised a liquor license to induce him to vote for the respondent; that money was paid John Armstrong of Richmond Township to be expended corruptly.

Another charge is that agents of the respondent stored quantities of liquor for the use of voters in different places in the Town of Napanee, and that this liquor was used on election day.

Money, it is alleged, was paid to William Beaubien, $15 Aubrey Benn, $5, to procure the votes of his father, brother and uncle. William Fenwick, $5; Fred Whisken, $1.50; Daniel Higley, Edward Fields, Exra Sanford, Edward Marasle, James Babcock, John Johnston, Charles Pearson, Thomas Pearson, $2 each; F. W. Parkinson, $1; Patrick McGoosy, $2; Thomas McNeill, $5; Levi Kelly, $2, and James Sheehan, $2. A number of names are also challenged on the grounds that the voters have no right to vote.

The Lennox trial is fixed for Tuesday, the 25th, at Napanee.

MR. G. F. BAER'S REPLY

Anthracite President Criticizes United Mine Workers.

AVOIDS MENTION OF MITCHELL

A Denial of All the Claims Put Forward—The Coal Operators' Previous Contentions Reiterated—Says Jurisdiction of Strike Commission Is Limited to Conditions Named by Coal Company Presidents.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The reply of President George F. Baer of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal Company to the charges of President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers', which has been presented to the anthracite coal strike commission, was made public yesterday. Mr. Baer makes no reference to Mr. Mitchell as the President of the miners' organization, but refers to him simply as an individual. Taking up the specifications in Mr. Mitchell's charges, Mr. Baer first admits that his company owns thirty-seven collieries, and that before the strike it employed 26,839 people. Following is a brief summary of the response to Mr. Mitchell's other specifications:—

Second—The demand for 20 per cent. increase in wages on piece work is denounced as "arbitrary, unreasonable and unjust." The company contends that after making all necessary allowances for different conditions, the rate of wages paid for the mining of anthracite coal is as high as that paid in the bituminous coal fields.

Third—The company denies that the present rate of wages is lower than is paid in other occupations in the same locality, and controlled by like conditions.

Fourth and Fifth.—Mr. Baer denies that the earnings of the anthracite workers are less than average earnings for other occupations requiring skill and training, and also the charge that the earnings are insufficient, because of the dangerous character of work in the anthracite mines.

Sixth—The specification made by Mr. Mitchell is referred to as too vague for specific answer, but in a general way it is stated that the anthracite regions are among the most prosperous in the United States.

Seventh—The company pronounces as unjust and inequitable the demand for a reduction of 20 per cent. in the hours of labor, without a reduction of earnings for time employes, and this demand is pronounced impracticable. In this connection the following statement is made: "Because of the injury to the mines by the strike of the United Mine Workers', the cost of producing coal has been greatly increased, and a temporary advance in price was made by this company, but it will be impracticable to continue such increase when mining operations become normal."

Eighth—Mr. Baer says that his company has no disagreement with any of its employes about the weighing of coal, because the quantity is usually determined by measurement and not by weight.

Ninth—Replying to the fourth demand made by Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Baer says since the advent of the United Mine Workers', organization into the anthracite fields business conditions there have been intolerable; that the output of the mines has decreased; that discipline has been destroyed; that strikes have been of almost daily occurrence; that men have worked when and as they pleased, and that the cost of mining has been greatly increased.

He also takes the position that the jurisdiction of the commission is limited to the conditions named by the coal company presidents, which excludes the United Mine Workers from any recognition in the proceedings. He says, however, that "when a labor organization limited to anthracite mine workers is created which shall obey the law, respect the right of every man to work and honestly co-operate with employers, trade agreements may become practicable."

One Thousand Still Idle.

Shamokin, Pa., Nov. 12.—Underbosses who went out with the pumpmen and engineers during the recent strike were re-instated yesterday at the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company's collieries in the Shamokin, Mount Carmel region. One thousand miners are still idle here, because of mines not being in good working condition.

NORTH GREY VACANT.

Judges Void the Election of Mr A. G. McKay, the Liberal Candidate.

Owen Sound, Nov. 12.—Justices MacMahon and Maclennan yesterday voided the election of A. G. McKay, Liberal candidate in North Grey, and the seat is now vacant. This will leave Premier Ross with a majority of two, with four seats open—North Grey, North Perth, North Norfolk and North Renfrew.

There was an imposing array of legal talent. It was agreed that there should be no fight. But it was necessary to prove one or two charges. Accordingly Wm. J. Robinson of Meaford was called to the stand. He admitted that he was an agent of Mr. McKay, and on the night of May 28 hired a livery rig to convey several voters from Meaford to Owen Sound.

W. J. Hatton, financial agent of the Liberal candidate, admitted agency, but said he was not aware of the irregularity until recently, and had entered the accounts in good faith as legitimate expenses of the Meaford Association.

The Liberal candidate admitted the agency of Robinson, and said he could not deny the charge. He said, however, he did not believe there was anything to support ninety per cent. of the other charges.

The contending counsel then addressed the judges, pointing out that it was useless to incur the expense of keeping five hundred witnesses in attendance for a considerable time.

Justice Maclennan said that the voters conveyed from Meaford to Owen Sound in hired rigs might affect the result, and the election was, therefore, voided, without costs. The other charges and counter charges were dismissed.

FRENCH STRIKERS QUITTING.

Movement to Resume Work Has Greatly Increased Since Monday.

Paris, Nov. 12.—At a council of Ministers yesterday, Premier Combes communicated the contents of despatches he had received from the strike regions, showing that the movement to resume work, which began Monday, was greatly accentuated yesterday. At some places, such as Bruay, work has been entirely resumed, and M. Combes gave his colleagues to understand that the movement on the part of the miners to take up their work, would soon extend to the Department de Nord and other districts. Twice the number of men were at work yesterday as were employed Monday. The hot bed of disorder, Lens, reports that 10,000 men have returned to work. The efforts of the National Committee of Miners to induce a general strike in other trades are meeting with no success.

Coal Combine in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Although hard coal is now selling at $6.50 in Niagara Falls, N.Y., and $6.75 per ton in Niagara Falls, Ont., and the freightage from there to this city is only 60 cents the price here is $8 per ton and over. The indications seem to prove that some of the dealers here, who are loaded up with soft coal at famine prices, are determined to get it off upon the people by forcing them to do without hard coal. It is said only three dealers in Toronto have or are getting any anthracite, but deep mutterings are heard and may bode ill for some dealers by the time another season comes round.

Drowned at Grand River.

Grand River, Nov. 12.—A sad drowning accident occurred here on Saturday, in which Joseph Dion lost his life through the capsizing of a canoe. Dion and another young man, Edgar Parisia, went out fishing in a gale, and in hoisting a sail they overturned the frail craft. Parisia was saved after a hard struggle. Dion's body was recovered on Sunday afternoon, and will be sent to Montreal for burial.

Free After Four Years in Jail.

New York, Nov. 12.—Roland B. Molineux was set at liberty yesterday after spending nearly four years in prison and being once condemned to death and twice placed on trial for his life for the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams by sending poison through the mails. Thirteen minutes sufficed for the jury to reach a verdict of acquittal at the close of a trial that has lasted four weeks.

French Language Not Official.

Brussels, Nov. 12.—It is asserted that, owing to the opposition of Germany, Great Britain, the United States and other powers, the proposal which has been advanced to make French the official language of the International Arbitration Court at The Hague will be withdrawn.

Breathing Disease.

Infectious diseases are breathed into the system from those affected with disease or from bad smells; yet how many women breathe daily the offensive steam from common soaps made from rancid fats, and keep their hands for hours in such solutions, and the clothing from such soap suds is worn next the tender skin. No wonder disease and eczema are prevalent! Users of Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—know the difference between that and the pure, healthful smell from the vegetable oils and pure edible fats in Sunlight Soap. 288

CHANGE OF LIFE.

Some sensible advice to women passing through this trying period.

The painful and annoying symptoms experienced by most women at this period of life are easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially designed to meet the needs of woman's system at the trying time of change of life.

It is no exaggeration to state that Mrs. Pinkham has over 5000 letters like the following proving the great value of her medicine at such times.

"I wish to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her medicine has done for me. My trouble was change of life. Four years ago my health began to fail, my head began to grow dizzy, my eyes pained me, and at times it seemed as if my back would fail me, had terrible pains across the kidneys. Hot flashes were very frequent and trying. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken six bottles of it and am to-day free from those troubles. I cannot speak in high enough terms of the medicine. I recommend it to all and wish every suffering woman would give it a trial."—BELLA ROSS, 88 Montclair Ave., Roslindale, Mass.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

GOOD ROADS IN EASTERN ONTARIO.

Splendid Results of Persistent Agitation in Ottawa Valley.

STATUTE LABOUR ABOLISHED

Excellent Results of Intelligent Methods—Revolution in Road-making—The Benefits Conferred on Farmers—It Pays to Make Roads Properly.

The Ottawa Journal contains an article that should be read with attention and interest by every farmer in this vicinity. It shows what excellent results can be accomplished by well directed agitation, and by the adoption of systematic methods of road construction. In road building, as in other things, system and thoroughness yield satisfactory results. The Journal is to be highly commended for the public spirit and enterprise it has shown in agitating for improved highways, and the following article, generally indicating the splendid results, is worthy not only of careful perusal, but of practical appropriation by every rural community desirous of achieving one of the indispensable conditions of the highest and most beneficent civilization — good highways and means of communication:

The announcement just made that the Eastern Ontario Good Roads train has completed its work, draws attention to the splendid work that has been accomplished during the past two years by the Eastern Ontario Good Roads Association. Just how great the change is that has taken place in the sentiment of the farming communities, as regards the necessity and practicability of constructing improved roads, is probably best shown by a glance at present conditions as compared with those that prevailed at the time the Good Roads Association was first organized.

Two years ago this month, at the quest of a number of its readers, the Ottawa Valley Journal, the Evening Journal's country edition, first took up the "Good Roads Question."

A careful enquiry into existing conditions was made. It was found that at certain seasons of the year the roads all through the country were so bad that it was practically impossible for farmers living at any distance from their nearest market to attend it with loads of produce. In consequence of the wear and tear on their horses and waggons, decreased value of their farms, loss of time, etc., farmers were losing thousands of dollars annually. While there was a general impression that something should be done to at least improve the leading roads, the fear of the cost was so great as to ensure a storm being raised in any section where increased expenditure on the roads was mooted. So great was the opposition sure to be raised that township and county councils could not be induced to touch the subject.

The statute labour system of road work was found to be the cause of great injury to the roads. Under this system farmers instead of paying a road tax, were supposed to work a certain number of days each year on the roads. While some good work was done in this way, in the great majority of cases the farmers would only put in about half a days work, and as often as possible that was done right in front of their own farms. There being no regular system of road work, each short stretch of road was built differently from its neighbours, and the work done one year was often torn up by the gang that worked on it the next spring. In a majority of the townships the only implements used were shovels and scrapers, although in a number road graders were used.

The result of the Journal's investigation showed that every township in Eastern Ontario was maintaining its roads by the statute labour method; that the general public was ignorant as to how improved roads should be built, what they cost, or the machinery required in their construction. Not a county in Eastern Ontario owned a mile of stone road. Such as there were were owned by private companies, and were maintained as toll roads. The Journal further found that no systematic good roads agitation had ever been carried on in this section.

Correspondence was started with Good Roads Commissioner A. W. Campbell, of Toronto, which showed that some thirty townships in Western Ontario had worked a great improvement in their roads by commuting their statute labour. That is, a farmer, instead of having to put in a day's labour, was required to pay in to the township 40, 50 or 70 cents, as the case might be. The money thus raised made a sufficiently large sum to enable the township to employ a commissioner and gangs of men who were required to put in a full day's work on the roads and to build them in a uniform manner.

Nothing of the kind having ever been tried in Eastern Ontario, the Journal suggested to two or three township councils that they should commute their statute labour in a similar way. But all the councils were apparently afraid to touch the matter. Finally, Reeve Mann, of Goulbourne township, agreed that if the Journal would get up a petition signed by one hundred ratepayers asking to have a vote on the question he would see that such a vote was held. A representative of the Journal drove through the township and secured the requisite number of names, a bylaw was introduced by the township council, public meetings were held all through the township and the bylaw finally carried by the small majority of 55 votes. Immediately a number of the Journal's readers in the township, and even in other townships as well stopped their papers to show their disapproval of the Journal's action in the matter. They thought that the movement meant undesirable taxation. In the meantime the Journal appealed to all the other townships in Eastern Ontario to watch how the new system succeeded in Goulbourne.

This first effort having proved so successful the Journal next arranged for the holding of a big good roads convention at Ottawa, the first of the kind ever held in Eastern Ontario. Speakers were brought in from distant points. The convention proved a great success, the wardens being present from every local county. So great was the interest created that at a banquet given by the Journal in the evening the Eastern Ontario Good Roads Association was formed. The warden of Carleton was elected president, the wardens of all the surrounding counties vice-presidents, and a member of the Journal staff secretary. Three county councillors from every county council were elected members of the executive. This gave a very strong and representative association.

Hearing of the splendid work being done in the United States by means of a good roads train, the secretary set to work and made all the necessary arrangements for the operation of a similar train throughout the counties in Eastern Ontario. The Sawyer & Massey Co., of Hamilton, agreed to supply, free of cost, the use of $6,000 worth of machinery and the services of three or four experts. The railway companies promised to transport the machinery from county to county free of cost. The Canadian Portland Cement Company agreed to give 200 barrels of cement to show how concrete culverts should be built. With the active assistance of the officers of the Good Roads Association, of which the Ottawa Valley Journal had been made the official organ, the township councils were induced to furnish all the necessary stone, teams of horses and labourers and the county councils to make grants of $100 for each stretch of road made. The train was started at work a year ago last June and only completed its work last month. Model stretches of road, worth over $8,000, have been constructed in ten different counties and have been seen by thousands and thousands of farmers. It has been demonstrated that it is possible to make the very worst pieces of road hard and smooth by means of modern machinery. A man was also sent to all these different counties to show the councils how to make concrete culverts instead of the perishable and expensive wooden culverts previously used. The papers all through Eastern Ontario, in writing about the work of the association, have helped keep up the agitation. Last winter a second good roads convention which lasted two days and was the largest ever held in the Dominion was held here in Ottawa. Thousands of the reports of this convention were printed and distributed all through the country. This work was almost all done in spite of the fact that the Ontario Government had refused the association a grant of $100. Last winter, however, the Government came forward and made the association a grant of $200.

The effect of all this hard work can now be readily seen. The commutation of statute labour having proved a great success in Goulbourne township, over twenty townships have already followed the example and commuted their statute labour and many more purpose doing so very shortly. A great improvement has since taken place in their roads. Over fifty townships are now using concrete culverts and are thereby saving hundreds of dollars annually where two years ago not a township knew how to make them. Thousands of farmers who, only two years ago were opposed to the idea, are now willing to admit the necessity for the use of modern machinery for road improvement. From being a cause which many men were afraid to support, the Good Roads Movement has become a most popular one.

A couple of months ago the county of Lanark, the only county in the province which has yet done so, decided to take advantage of the Ontario Government grant and will expend $97,000 in building, improved stone and gravel roads. The county of Carleton is now considering the advisability of expending some $250,000 for the same purpose and a meeting will be held in the county of Renfrew this month to discuss the same subject.

The officers of the Good Roads Association, none of whom receive a cent for their services, are to be congratulated on the really phenomenal success which has attended their efforts. The work that has been done will ultimately be of incalculable benefit to all this portion of the province and it is to be hoped that they will not become weary of well doing but that they will continue to push the good work along.

AN EASY WAY

To Keep Well.

It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all-important thing is to keep stomach right, and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a capricious appetite and a feeling that certain favourite articles of food must be avoided.

Prof. Wiechold gives pretty good advice on this subject. He says: "I am 68 years of age and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bran crackers, or dieting of any sort; on the contrary, I always eat what my appetite craves, but daily for the past eight years I have made it a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets.

"My physician first advised me to use them, because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only the natural digestives, peptones and diastase, and after using them a few weeks I have never ceased to thank him for his advice.

"I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing and preserves health to the well and strong."

Men and women past fifty years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used, is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well-regulated household from Maine to California, and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favour.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 cents, and for a weak stomach a fifty cent package will often do fifty dollars worth of good.

Female Disorders.

For the past two years I have been afflicted with female troubles. I had serious bladder disorder; inflammation would set in and I would suffer intensely. Sometimes I could not urinate and the pain was so severe I could not sleep at night. I always had heavy bearing-down back and womb pains. I went to the hospital for three months, paid two visits a week but got no relief. I was advised to try Powley's Liquified Ozone and before I had finished the first bottle I began to feel better. I have taken in all three bottles and now I am quite well.

MRS. JOHN WAY,
39 Church St., Verdun, Montreal.

There may be a better way of curing female ailments than by Ozone, we don't believe there's a quicker or safer method or one that gives such permanent beneficial results. Powley's Liquified Ozone is peculiarly adapted for disorders of the mucous membrane. If you try it once you will make use of it regularly.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 12.—John Perew jumped 50 feet and rescued a drowning man here yesterday. John Dugan fell from a boat at the Pittsburg Coal Company's plant. Perew was at work on the machinery 50 feet above the water. Dugan was going down for the third time when Perew sprang and seized him.

Injured 39 Persons.

New York, Nov. 12.—An explosion of illuminating gas in the cellar of the seven-storey double tenement, 161 Avenue C, yesterday, wrecked a store on the ground floor, and injured 39 persons, several being severely hurt. Among the injured were 14 firemen and one policeman.

SAFEGUARDING U. S.

An Important Point Dealt With in Reciprocity Treaty.

Washington, Nov. 12.—An important feature of the reciprocity treaty just negotiated with Newfoundland, is a safeguard against the differential in favor of all goods entering Newfoundland from England or any of the British colonies.

The differential in the case of the Dominion amounts to 32 per cent., which is a very heavy handicap upon imports from the United States. It is true that the differential has not yet been imposed by Newfoundland upon our goods, but it is learned that it was the purpose to do so, and that the result would be the loss of most of the trade with Newfoundland is not doubted here.

As it is the treaty provides against the imposition of the differential duties. This, in the case of flour, amounts to a margin large enough to warrant the expectation that the United States will continue to command the trade in that line.

The attitude of the New England Senators to the new treat is problematical; they have committed themselves to a treaty in theory, but it is not yet known whether they will accept the details of the new arrangement.

CANADA AND IMMIGRANTS.

Expects a Hundred Thousand Next Year in Western Provinces.

London, Nov. 12.—The Canadian Emigration Office in London, which was recently promoted to the dignity of a special bureau, with a commissioner of its own, is preparing to branch out on an extensive scale, with a view of popularizing emigration to the Northwest. Two floors have been secured in a new building going up at Charing Cross, in the midst of the railroad and steamship offices. Contracts have been placed for fitting up the office exclusively with Canadian woodwork, office furniture and a steam heating plant. It will contain a complete exhibit of Canadian products.

The commissioner, Mr. Preston, said, in answer to an inquiry:

"We expect next year to place 100,000 emigrants in Western Canada, and we shall probably draw a third each from the United States, the United Kingdom and from the rest of Europe."

Doukhobors Still Docile.

Yorkton, N.W.T., Nov. 12.—About half of the Doukhobors women left here yesterday morning for their homes. All were willing to ride, but rigs could only be provided for part of them, and the stronger ones were compelled to walk. The rest of the women will start out this morning. The men were met about fifteen miles out Monday night. At about 4 o'clock they were marching quietly towards their homes.

Printers' Strike Settled.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—The strike of the printers employed by the T. Eaton Co., Limited, has been satisfactorily arranged between a committee representing Typographical Union No. 91 and the management of the big departmental store. The strike was inaugurated over six months ago. The company agrees to pay the union scale of wages, but may employ non-union labor if it desires.

Brain Pierced by Hairpin.

St. Paul, Nov. 11.—Miss Lillian Lindquist, a North St. Paul belle, lies at death's door from being stabbed by a hairpin. Miss Lindquist tripped on a rug and fell to the floor. A large steel hairpin, which she wore pierced her skull and penetrated the brain. In her haste to extricate the hairpin her mother broke the wire, leaving a small piece in the girl's head. Her condition is critical.

The Cause of Deafness.

Deafness and impaired hearing are due almost entirely to catarrhal inflammation of the eustachian tubes. Permanent cure is guaranteed to all who inhale Catarrhozone as directed. This vegetable antiseptic is inhaled at the mouth, and after traversing all the air passages of the respiratory organs is exhaled through the nostrils; it completely eradicates catarrh from any part of the system, clears the ears, nose and throat, and allays inflammation, congestion and soreness. For Deafness, Earache, Ringing in the Ears, Head Noises, Catarrh, Asthma and Bronchitis, medical science can devise nothing as beneficial as Catarrhozone. Complete outfits for two months' use price $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Ministers Sutherland and Prefontaine Greeted by Lord Minto.

WRITS ISSUED FOR ELECTION.

Minister of Marine and Fisheries Will Address a Meeting in Montreal and Make Some Important Announcements—Mr. T. B. Flint, M.P., Appointed Clerk of the House —Sir Wilfrid Going South.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Hon. James Sutherland and Hon. Raymond Prefontaine proceeded to Rideau Hall yesterday morning and shortly before noon were sworn in as Minister of Public Works and Minister of Marine and Fisheries, respectively. The oath was administered to the Ministers by John James McGee, clerk of the Privy Council, in the presence of the Governor-General and Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State. At the close of the ceremony His Excellency heartily congratulated the two Ministers.

Mr. Sutherland, having been translated from one office to another, does not need to go back to his constituents. Mr. Prefontaine's acceptance of office vacates two constituencies, Maisonneuve and Terrebone. Mr. Prefontaine has decided to offer himself for re-election in Maisonneuve. There will not likely be any opposition.

The Minister of Marine goes to Montreal this morning, and at night will address a mass meeting in the Delville Theatre there under the auspices of the East End Liberal Club. He will announce that important additions will be made to the Department of Marine, including the control of navigable rivers, dredging and kindred work. It is even said that canals may pass under the new Minister's direction.

As to the fiscal policy, Mr. Prefontaine will proclaim himself a moderate protectionist, and one who favors a revision of the tariff. Afterwards he will make an inspection of the St. Lawrence, in company probably with Hon. Jas. Sutherland.

Nominations will take place Nov. 26, and polling Dec. 3.

Clerk of the House.

Mr. T. B. Flint, M.P., has been appointed to the clerkship of the House of Commons. Yarmouth, N. S., is thus opened.

Sir Wilfrid Goes South.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier leaves on Monday for Hot Springs, Virginia, where he will spend three weeks or a month in recuperating. He will be accompanied by Lady Laurier and his brother, Henri Laurier.

STRANDED ON THE ROCKS.

Heavy Snow Storm Prevailed on Lake Superior Tuesday.

Port Arthur, Nov. 12.—A heavy snowstorm prevailed on Lake Superior yesterday. The steamer Orinoko from Cleveland with coal came into port yesterday morning, having experienced bad weather, all the way up. From Whitefish Point she kept to the north shore. When near Silver Islet, Captain Ainsworth discovered a vessel, which had evidently stranded on the rocks. The water was rolling over it. Owing to the heavy sea it was impossible to get near the vessel.

Tobacco Combine Inquiry.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—Mr. Mortimer B. Davis, president of the Empire Tobacco Company, and president of the American Cigarette Company, was the only witness examined up to adjournment yesterday in the inquiry conducted by Mr. Justice McTavish into the tobacco industry of Canada. The examination revealed nothing startling, being confined principally to a recital of the history of the formation of the companies which have been amalgamated, and which now form part of the American Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited.

Bank Robbers at Niagara.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Nov. 12.—The private bank of R. E. Denison, situated in the Town Hall here, was broken into between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Entrance was effected through a front window of the Town Hall, the door of the bank being broken open. The outer vault door was then forced, the combination knob being pried off first. The inner safe was drilled, or blown open, completely wrecking it. The robbers got about $1,000. The work was evidently done by experts, who left no clue.

Shot in the Back.

Bracebridge, Nov. 11.—A fatal shooting accident occurred at Metler's Mill, near Utterson. Howard Easterby and two young boys employed at the mill saw a rabbit near the camp. A double-barreled shotgun was procured, and one of the boys, Harry Simmons, a Barnardo boy, shot at the rabbit. The gun kicked badly and nearly knocked the boy down, and in trying to recover himself the second barrel was accidentally discharged, hitting Easterby, who was only a few yards distant, in the back. The unfortunate man only lived four hours. Easterby was an unmarried man, 35 years of age, and came from St. Catharines.

ENJOYABLE MUSICALE

Given Yesterday Afternoon by Mrs. W. T. Clark, of New York.

Something of an innovation in social circles in Peterborough, and which should become more popular, was represented by the pleasant afternoon musicale given yesterday by Mrs. T. H. Clarke, of New York, who, together with her husband, is living en pension with the Misses Kingan, Brock street. Mrs. Clarke, with graceful success, desiring to recognize the many social attentions she has received since coming to town, entertained—at a musicale—given in the rooms of the old Kingan homestead, Brock street. The drawing rooms were handsomely decorated for the occasion, and the Misses Hurley furnished a most delightful programme during the reception. Mrs. Clarke received her friends with gracious courtesy, assisted by Miss Kingan, and a little later delighted her guests with several charming selections. She is the fortunate possessor of a vocal organ of unusual power and compass, which, coupled with a perfectly intelligent conception of the vocal art, makes her singing a joy to her friends. All the well established qualities of voice technique are present, vocalization, equalization of the registers, phrasing and, above all, an artistic judgment, which marks rare ability.

A large number of Peterborough ladies, and a fair representation of gentlemen, accepted of Mrs. Clarke's hospitality. A dainty refection, supplied by Mr. Harry Long, was provided, Mrs. Clarke being assisted in its service by Miss Pearl Lundy, and Miss Somerville, of London.

The musicale, apart from the features of social enjoyment, was an intellectual treat, and in this latter respect, entertainments of this kind easily establish a raison d'etre, and obviate the reproach which cynics are fond of directing against the frivolities of society. The piano used was a Stanley.

MACLACHLAN-LaDELL.

The Coming Concert Event of the Season.

The following are newspaper comments on two of the artists who appear in the Opera House here on Tuesday, November 25th:

Globe.—A Siddons in tragedy, a Pixley in comedy, a LaDell in mimicry. Miss LaDell took the house by storm and received double encores for nearly every number.

Cincinnati Courier.—Most talented elocutionist before the public.

The Daily Times, Hartford, Conn.—It is not an exaggeration to say that Miss Jessie N. Maclachlan, who was styled on the programme "the Scottish prima donna," captivated the audience by her singing. She was frequently encored, and in response to one of the encores she sang with bewitching expression that simple but ever popular song, "Comin' Through the Rye." Miss Maclachlan has a pleasing stage presence, and an exquisitely melodious voice.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

"IF at first you don't succeed, try try again." This trite injunction is suggested by the fact that the Examiner's reference on Saturday to the abuse of livery horses by boys was followed by a decided aggravation of the evil last Sunday night. That night a lady on Water street had to run for it—the lady fearing that the horse which was alternately beaten over its painfully palpable ribs and jerked by its jaws would in some of its mad plunges trample her down on the sidewalk. All this to the accompaniment of an exchange of gruesomely good natured profanity and filthy language between the boys in the buggy and a lad of like kidney on the opposite walk.

* * *

SINCE the paragraph referring to girls and boys being piled promiscuously in buggies, several instances of looseness have been reported to the Examiner. On Bethune street there is a hay loft, the resort of young persons of both sexes, some girls mere children with short skirts, but yet longer than the distance between their wearers and ruin.

* * *

ATTENTION is called to these matters, not to give the town a bad name, but to prevent its getting one, by inviting the notice of those charged with the responsibility of taking some action to prevent these things.

* * *

WHEN will some good Samaritan organize an efficient society for the prevention of cruelty to animals—to protect abused horses. Will some philanthopist grasp without the gloves of soft conventionlity the problem of preventing boys from graduating in vice and restrain girls from entering the "ways that lay hold on hell."

* * *

"EARLY to bed and early to rise," is a good old motto, which has, however, never made the average boy go one second earlier to bed, or to rise one second earlier. Those who last night followed the first part of the advice, missed a magnificently beautiful sight. There was a fall of rain that froze as it fell, and gemmed the leafless tree twigs, shrubs, and the web of street wires with ice jewels, whose crystal facets, catching the electric light rays, threw back millions of prismatic gleams, converting the prosaic earth for the moment into a fairy landscape — a veritable irridescent dream which was vulgarly broken as the accumulated ice dropping from an overhead wire, glided down the back of the admiring pedestrian's neck.

* * *

IF you sit up late enough Friday night you may see something grand in the way of siderial spectacular display. The astronomers expect a big shower of Leonid meteors — popularly phrased as "shooting stars." The show may not keep its date, but the astronomers expect it.

* * *

WHERE is our Board of Trade? Is it in any way like the prophet Elijah's mock of Baal—"Either it is in a journey, or peradventure it sleepeth, and must be awaked?"

* * *

AND it should be awaked. A Board of Trade can be made a most important practical factor in advancing the material interests of the town. In the language of the street, our Board must "get a move on."

* * *

IT has not met for some time, and when it does meet it should meet for practical purposes. Academic discussions of the debating school variety or Imperial questions, or some abstract commercial subjects, are all right in their way. But what we want, what we must have, is something done, and to effect this there must be less talk and more action.

* * *

A BOARD OF TRADE should meet to do something, to practically "tackle" some problem, and try to solve it in the interests of the town. Business men are busy men and can't be expected to spend valuable time listening to lofty discussions of an Imperial Zollverein or something equally big, when they are ready to unload themselves with practical business suggestions upon some business proposition.

* * *

A BOARD OF TRADE is not properly called upon to consider whether or not the moon is made of green cheese, but to do something to help forward the town. What has our own Board of Trade done in this direction? What can we expect it to do? Is it sufficiently composed of members who are business men in practical touch with business affairs?

* * *

THERE is no end to the practical good a properly constituted and properly conducted Board of Trade can do the town. Criticism of our present Board is idle, except to the extent that we expect results. Have we had results? If so, what are they? If not, why not? This is a question which should claim the practical attention of business citizens in the light of the fact that the best way to do things is—to do them. Talk is necessary but let all talk tend to doing; keep Board of Trade matters out of cloudland and on the ground floor of action. Talk and act, not talk and talk.

INSURANCE RATES INSPECTION.

Agents of Underwriters' Association Readjusting Insurance Ratings.

Messrs. G. P. Payne, and F. T. Bryers, rating inspectors of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, are in town, for the purpose of making individual rates on the several commercial risks of the town.

The rate of each business place will be based on its merits. The general rating of the town is Class B, but the present inspection, which will affect business premises only, may advance the rates to a lower or higher class as the case may be. If the conditions in reference to the immunity from fire, etc., are sufficient, the rate may be advanced, and in cases where the risk is greater, a corresponding grading may be adopted.

The inspection of the gentlemen named does not deal with residential property.

BASELESS ELECTION CHARGES

In Regard to the Manner of Conducting Elections.

THE LENNOX CROSS PETITION.

Unfounded Charge Against an Ontario Minister—Will There be any Attempt to Prove it?—Or is it Like Previous Conservative Charges Only Made to be Withdrawn?

In the Lennox protested election matter, in the Conservative cross-petition against Mr. M. S. Madole, in whose interest a petition has been entered against Mr. Carscallen, the Conservative member-elect, there are some charges which need attention. A despatch says respecting the Lennox protest:—

The cross petition, in which the petitioners are John F. Baker, Henry Milling and Reuben Herrington, and the respondent is M. S. Madole, was also filed yesterday, and is a very much more lengthy affair. It deals principally with an alleged conspiracy, and charges that immediately after the nomination of Mr Madole the executive officers of the Reform Association of Lennox entered into a conspiracy for the placing of the organization of the riding in the hands of a man hired and brought into the riding to relieve Mr. Madole, as it was thought, from personal responsibility for any illegal or corrupt acts, and that in pursuance of this conspiracy the Secretary of the Reform Association, W. S. Herrington, K. C., with the knowledge and consent of the respondent, communicated with Hon. J. R. Stratton, who had supervision for the Ontario Government of that portion of the Province in which the electoral district of Lennox is situated, and that at the request of Herrington and Madole, Hon. Mr. Stratton, acting for himself and his colleagues of the Ontario Liberal Association, or through Alexander Smith, the Secretary of the association, provided a Provincial fund for the Liberal party, a portion of which was expended corruptly in Lennox, and also gave George M. Sutherland of Toronto, a Liberal organizer, money for wages and to expend in corrupt purposes in order to induce Sutherland to procure the return of Madole.

The evident intention of these charges is to connect the Government through one of its members, with corrupt acts in Lennox. It may be stated at once that there is nothing in the charges made in this connection and it is probable that no attempt will be made to prove them. If precedent is to be taken as a guide to Conservative tactics the charges mentioned are made to have a temporary effect to be paraded through the Conservative press, and to have their effect upon the unreflecting during the period which must elapse before an opportunity to prove them will be afforded, and then, judging by the past, the charges will be practically abandoned, and no proof of them offered It will be remembered that after the last general election a petition was entered against the return of a Liberal mebmer, and among the counts was one to the effect of charging the Government with an attempt to corruptly influence the election. When the matter came to trial, the counsel for the Conservatives cooly told the court that no evidence would be offered, and it will be remembered how severely the Judge denounced the iniquity of bringing up such unfounded charges, without making ny attempt to submit proof.

It may be that such tactics will be followed in the Lennox case, but they will not be allowed to succeed. A party that will make such serious charges, will not be allowed to abuse the channels of judicial investigation, by making them the medium of slandering public men by making insinuations with the intention of injuring political opponents, with no attempt to produce proof. Such an attempt will not be allowed to be made the second time.

A BIG SHIPMENT

Went Over the G. T. R. Yesterday.

The past three weeks has been one of the busiest periods of many years in the history of the Grand Trunk Railway in Peterborough. Freight going west and grain coming east make it a busy place, while the importations and exports of our town merchants and manufacturers, form not a little of the business. An incident might be quoted, which is simply an instance of the growing importance of our local manufactories. Yesterday the George Matthews Company shipped five carloads of bacon from the G. T. R. station, for export. There are many of the other manufacturing establishments, such as the Canadian General Electric works, the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, and the Cereal Works, which are shipping their products with a rapidity that is keeping the railways very busy.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

Bishop of Hereford Endorses the Foreign Bible Society.

The attention of all citizens is called to the annual meeting of the Canadian Auxiliary to the British and Foreign Bible Society. Peterborough has shown a deep interest in the work of the Society in the past, yet there are many Christian people who do not know the importance of this organization to the life and work of every church of whatever name. There is absolutely no reason why any church, being Christian, should not take the most grateful interest in this world wide dispenser of blessing. The Rev. Samuel Carruthers, of Toronto, will address the annual meeting in the George street Methodist church to-night at eight o'clock. Here is the language of an eminent British scholar, in speaking of the approaching centenary of the Bible Society;

The Dean of Hereford said that he entirely agreed with Mr. T. Cheney that the younger clergy should be thoroughly educated as to the principles of this grand Society. He stood there, perhaps, as a representative of the Cathedral body. He stood there to say that the Bishop of the Diocese from which he came, as well as the Dean, were entirely in favour of doing all they could to assist in the celebration of the coming centenary. When he was a young clergyman—and that was some time ago—first as curate in a large manufacturing town, and afterwards as vicar of an agricultural parish—he was brought up, he confessed, to ignore the British and Foreign Bible Society. To tell the truth, he was perfectly ignorant of its principles and its doings. But afterwards, when he became the vicar of a very large parish in the centre of England, and afterwards vicar of a large parish in London, he took up the Society's work warmly, and for very nearly twenty-five years he had supported its cause. He had seen for himself the excellent work which it had done; and it was perfectly astonishing to him that this Society should be ignored by any section—whether High church, or Low church, or Broad church or whatever church they liked to call it—considering how it helped in the mission work of every Society, and that without it neither the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, nor the Church Missionary Society, nor the Universities' Mission to Central Africa, would be able to get on at all in their work. The Church of England used Scriptures in 107 different languages, provided entirely by this Society. Therefore it seemed scarcely fair, to say the very least, to make use of the wonderful labours and enormous expenditure of the Bible Society, and yet do nothing to aid its work. As a delegate from the Diocese of Hereford, and from the county and the City of Hereford, he would go back hoping to assist in every way their coming centenary, and to endeavour to stir up the clergy. And it was the country clergy who wanted more stirring up than the town clergy, not only with regard to the British and Foreign Bible Society, but with regard to other societies also. If he could do anything by going into the highways and byways to bring in these outcasts, he would be glad to do it. They might be sure that they had, in the Cathedral City of Hereford, the hearty support both of the Bishop and the Dean.

THE TURKISH SOCIAL.

A Night Passed in the Orient at St. John's School.

St. John's Sunday School was fairly well filled last night at the "Turkish Social," the first of a series of entertainments to be given by the Girls' Guild. The interior of the building had been decorated in such a manner as to make it look as much as possible like a bit of the Orient. Eastern rugs, chairs, cushions and ottomans and Turkish flags were used with effect for this purpose. On the platform especially was the effort made and the success was enhanced by a number of maidens dressed in the costume of the East, while young men in the Turkish fes, the wide pantaloons, red vests and the otherbabitements of the East, ushered the stranger into this representation of the East. The main attraction was a lecture on Turkey by Rev. C. H. Brooks, a returned missionary. At the beginning of his address, the speaker gave a brief resume of Turkey, its climate and products. The country lying in three continents had all the climates from tropical heat to excessive cold, and hence the products were varied from cotton and rice in Egypt to the barley, wheat and other hardened grains of the north. Following this came a description of the people, who, the speaker continued, were of several classes, Turks, the conquerors, Greeks, Armenians, Jews, comprising the Mohommedan, Christian and Jewish religions. Of these the Armenians represented the same type as the Anglo-Saxon in Europe. Although the Turk of the official class, was a cruel renegade, the peasant class was composed of simple, honest men as opposed to the crafty and thieving Greeks. Passing on Mr. Brooks gave a description of the home life, the appearance of the Turks as well as his method of reckoning time. A fine tribute was paid to the temperate qualities of this nation, who are forbidden to drink wine of any description, although whiskey and the stronger drinks are partaken of quite freely. In closing the speaker appealed to the audience for support in the work of Christianizing the Mahommedan.

During the evening both before the address and after, a short programme was rendered and on the conclusion an Eastern lunch was served in the manner in vogue in Turkey. It is to be hoped that success will follow these entertainments which are being put on by the young people.

The programme which consisted of instrumental and vocal music was contributed by the following ladies and gentlemen: Misses Ferguson, Graham, Mrs. Seward and Messrs. Browne and Gilboogly.

The Girls' Guild desire to publicly thank R. Fair & Co. for the beautiful Turkish rugs, so kindly loaned, and also the Stroud Tea Co. for kindness extended to the Guild.

INFANT FEEDING.

The first years of our life are the most important in our existence. That is the time to build the foundation for sturdy manhood in the future. Infancy is, therefore, the most vital period for proper nourishing. A baby secures the best possible nourishment from a healthy mother, but unfortunately very few mothers can nurse their children. What, then, is the next best food?

Cow's milk should not be solely depended upon for it lacks a proper amount of what a child needs most—cell-building substance. Moreover, it is said by authorities on the subject, that the frequent handling such milk undergoes, from the cow to the time it is fed to a child, robs it of much of its original value. Its quality varies and its grades are numerous; the stomach of an infant is much too delicate to make up such defects in its food supply. Scott's Emulsion simplifies the food problem for children and counteracts these defects.

The artificial foods that are so largely used very rarely contain milk, hence they imperfectly nourish the child. Even a small amount of Scott's Emulsion, one-fourth to a half teaspoonful, in the child's bottle seems to be of special value in adding a very important element to the food. Its beneficial results are quickly seen.

Scott's Emulsion is based on this true food principle. It provides nourishment for a child in the easiest, quickest and most palatable form. No baby is too young, no stomach too delicate to receive and retain Scott's Emulsion. Even a few drops in a child's milk seems to provide considerable nourishment that cannot be otherwise secured except in a mother's milk.

If a mother whose milk is not furnishing a child with proper nourishment will herself use Scott's Emulsion it will greatly improve the quality of the milk. It benefits the mother as well as the child.

A child of any age will be benefitted by Scott's Emulsion. It furnishes the means to meet and overcome the strain of growing. Being prepared for easy digestion Scott's Emulsion does not tax the stomach or disturb the digestive organs of children.

Its great value as a child's food comes from the nourishment it gives, the ease with which it enters the system, the quickness with which it brings about a change for the better and the permanency of its benefits. The child who is not doing as well as it should needs Scott's Emulsion.

THREE LIVES LOST.

Half a Million Dollar Fire in New York City.

New York, Nov. 11.—The new East River bridge in process of construction between New York and Brooklyn was damaged to the amount of at least half a million dollars last night by a fire that for four hours raged 355 feet in the air on the summit of the great steel tower on the New York side. Three men who were at work at the top of the tower when the fire broke out are reported to have fallen into the river.

Daniel Brophy and his brother, John, of Montreal; A. P. McBride, and an unknown man, were reported to have been at work on the tower when the fire started. While they were helping the firemen to haul up the hose the framework on which they stood collapsed and the two Brophys and the unknown man were hurled into the river. McBride saved himself by catching a piece of projecting steel work.

ONE MORE CURE IN CARLETON CO.

Postmaster Belyea Tries Dodd's Kidney Pills for Kidney Trouble.

And now he Joins all the Others in Praising Them—He had Suffered for Years and is now Completely Cured

Lower Windsor, Carleton Co., N. B., Nov. 9th. — (Special) — Carleton County people have long recognized Dodd's Kidney Pills as a sure cure for all forms of Kidney Disease, and as a consequence there is a marked decrease in the number of those suffering from pain in the back, lumbago, rheumatism, diabetes, Bright's disease, and all those other ailments resulting from diseased kidneys.

Still as each fresh cure is reported there is a revived interest in the matter, and there are more praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. One of the latest cures reported reported is that of Postmaster T. H. Belyea, of Lower Windsor, and he is spreading broadcast the good news.

"I had a very bad spell of Kidney Trouble," says the Postmaster, which had bothered me for some time. I tried several kinds of plasters and medicines, but did not seem to get much lasting benefit. But hearing Dodd's Kidney Pills so highly recommended for Kidney Trouble, I thought I would try them.

"I received more benefit from Dodd's Kidney Pills than any other medicine I ever tried, for they seem to have made a complete cure, as I am as well as ever. I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills are the right medicine for Kidney Trouble."

OVER LAND, TOO.

Wireless Telegraphy System of Marconi to Be Extended Over the Dominion—Said to Be a Success.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 11. — J. N. Greenshields, solicitor of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, now here, announced yesterday that the company is about to establish a system of wireless telegraphy across the Dominion of Canada, connecting Victoria with Cape Breton. He said that not only would the company operate a system of wireless telegraphy across the ocean, but also a land line across the continent from Cape Breton to Victoria.

Stations will be erected at many points across the Dominion, and all the principal cities and towns of Canada included in the system, the principal stations being at Halifax, St. John, Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Kingston, London, Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Revelstoke, Kamloops, Vancouver and Victoria.

The savings of tolls will be great when the system is in vogue, for press messages will be sent for one-half the present price, and there will be a reduction of sixty per cent. on commercial messages. He says there is no longer any doubt regarding the success of the Marconi system, and the official announcement to this effect can be expected at any time.

Government Control Needed.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Government control of all wireless telegraph stations along the coasts of the United States is recommended by Rear Admiral Royal B. Bradford, chief of the Bureau of Equipment, in his annual report, the concluding portion of which was issued yesterday. Foreign Governments, it is pointed out, are exercising careful supervision over the location of wireless stations within their waters, thus insuring prompt transmission of messages at all times.

A reward of $1,000 has been offered for his discovery. The searching parties are using snowshoes.

A PERSIAN PARABLE.

The Side of the World the Pessimist Had Not Seen.

There was a certain man who thought the world was growing worse. He was always harking back to "the good old times" and was sure that the human race was degenerating. Men, he said, were all trying to cheat one another, and the strong were crushing the weak. One day when he was airing his pessimistic views the califf said to him:

"I charge you hereafter to look carefully about you, and whenever you see any man do a worthy deed go to him and give him praise or write to him about it. Whenever you meet a man whom you regard as worthy to have lived in the 'good old days,' tell him of your esteem and of the pleasure you have had in finding one so exalted, and I desire that you write out an account of these good deeds for me that I may share your joy in knowing of it."

So the man was dismissed. But before many days he returned and prostrated himself before the califf. When ordered to explain his presence, he wailed:

"Have pity on thy servant, and release him from the necessity of complimenting men upon their worthy deeds, oh, my master. And, oh, son of Mohammed, I pray thee absolve thy servant from the duty of reporting to thee all the good that is going on in the world."

"And why, oh, slave, dost thou come to me with this prayer?" the califf asked.

"Since I have been looking for what is good," the man replied, "I have had no time to do aught but compliment men for their splendid works. So much that is glorious is all around me that I may not hope to be able to tell thee half of it. My tasks lie neglected because I have no time"—

"Go back to thy work," said the califf. "I perceive that thou hast learned."

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalising blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvellous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c., at Ormond & Walsh's.

A Lovers' Quarrel.

"Hallos, Fitzy! where did you get that black eye?"

"Oh, it was only a lovers' quarrel."

"Lovers' quarrel! Why, your girl did not give you that, did she?"

"No; it was her other lover."

Worry Over Little Things.

Feelings of Languor and Despondency the First Symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion—Reconstruct the Wasted Nerve Tissues by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When you become restless and peevish, worry over little things, and are afflicted with dyspepsia, which cannot be attributed to error in diet, you may be sure that the trouble arises from nervous disorders.

Other symptoms are sleeplessness, headache, low spirits, and a tendency to put off the duties of the day. Life seems to lose its brightness, and things go wrong. When in such a condition you will find yourself very susceptible to change of air. When the atmosphere is fresh and clear you have plenty of vitality, but with heavy weather you drag yourself about feeling more dead than alive.

The first necessity is rest from work and worry, and as much fresh air as possible. Then the system must be built up and the wasted nerve force restored by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

So much mystery and uncertainty has formerly surrounded diseases of the nerves that people often make the dreadful mistake of neglecting them. They feel weak, miserable, and nervous, but try to console themselves that it will wear away. Not so. Nervous diseases do not get well of themselves, but gradually weaken the system until there is nothing left to build on.

Mrs. S. Derocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and sleeplessness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the Ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food may not cure you in a week or even a month, but it is bound to benefit you, and will naturally and certainly restore vigour to body and nerves. There is no treatment so thorough and effective in curing nervous disorders and none which has been so generously endorsed by physicians and laymen alike. The secret of its remarkable power lies in the fact that it is a food for the nerves, and acts in accordance with nature's laws. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

A "DURHAM GHOST"

STRANGE TALE TOLD BY FAMILY IN NORTHERN ENGLISH VILLAGE.

Ghostly Visitant Has His Haunts in Most Unromantic Surroundings—Son Beheld an Apparition—Knocks at the Door Heard at Midnight—Question Referred to the Psychical Research Society.

A story of strange happenings, mysterious and inexplicable and fitting subject for the attention of the Psychical Research Society, comes from a Durham colliery village. A place less romantic than Shotton Colliery would be difficult to imagine. Bare, dreary, and uninviting, the village was deserted for years subsequent to the stopping of the local pit, about twenty years ago. The streets of mean little houses fell into disrepair, for the workers had gone elsewhere, and the village almost passed out of existence until the reopening of the pit caused the tide of prosperity to turn, and gradually the dilapidated cottages were put into repair and inhabited. Into one of the renovated cottages—the last but one in Chapel Row—a miner named Lamb and his family moved about sixteen months ago. Lamb's cottage is like the rest, a high-pitched roof at the front, permitting only one room beneath it, but at the back the cottage rises to the dignity of a two-storied dwelling, which has been the scene of ghostly visitations for fifteen months—ghostly inasmuch as all the amateur investigation and rational explanations have failed to account for the phenomena. Lamb had not lived here more than a month before his rest was disturbed at night by sounds at the front door. The disturbance was not remarkable in itself, but its repetitions night after night gave rise to wonder and alarm. At first the family thought the rattling of the Suffolk latch and the knocking and the shaking of the door were done by some foolish practical joker who made himself scarce with remarkable celerity and security whenever his summons drew anyone to the door.

Throughout the winter the ghostly noises continued. In the worst of weather, as well as on fine nights, the door would be shaken, the latch rattled, at first gently, then roughly, and three or more knocks given to the door. No sound of voice was heard, no footsteps came or went. Watch was kept, but no human being was ever seen at the time of the disturbances. The family was in a state of nervous terror, yet for a time they feared to speak of the annoyance to their neighbors. When they did complain, no one was able to elucidate the mystery, though the unknown visitors came regularly about midnight or a little later. Even in the snow time the house was not left in peace; yet in the morning Lamb could find no footprints leading to or from his door. No hour of the night is secure against the interruption, but from midnight to 5 in the morning is the time most affected. Five minutes after the caller had been round the other morning the knocking was heard. Another morning, recently, Lamb, who leaves his house half an hour earlier than his son (a young fellow just out of his teens), had just gone to work when the terror announced itself. The young man, ready to leave for work, was too frightened to move. He is the only person who admits seeing anything at all likely to be responsible for the disturbance.

One night, coming home late, about 11 o'clock, he thought he saw a shadow glide away from the back of the cottage. He followed whatever the thing was round the corner of the row, and until it crossed to the top of another street—all the time keeping a discreet distance. Young Lamb did not venture to go further, and as he turned, the creature he was watching turned too, for the first time, and he saw a pair of burning eyes, like living coals, glaring at him from out the shadowy outline of a face which belonged to no one in Shotton, and the like of which young Lamb had never seen before. He fled home trembling, with the tale of how he had seen the persecutor, whom he did not recognize, but who had alarmed him terribly.

This is a plain, unvarnished statement of fact, devoid of theories. No reasonable explanation of the proceedings, either on material or supernatural grounds, has been advanced. The root of the matter, however, may disclose as remarkable a ghost story as the most romantic novelist has ever conceived.

The obvious thing in the case of a new ghost story is to submit it to somebody trained in psychic enquiry. Mr. E. Westlake, F.G.S., who is secretary of the Experimental Committee of the Psychical Research Society, was good enough to discuss the "Durham ghost" with one of our representatives. He spoke as follows:

"The case does not strike me as a strong one, but, still, I should regard it as probably worth investigation. To say more, before making local enquiry, would be to prejudice it, which is the last thing an enquirer ought to do. Intermittent sounds even when loud, are always very difficult to locate. The apparition is the least evidential of all, as though doubtless convincing to the seer, one cannot a priori allow it much weight in view of the circumstances which led up to it. The seer was probably already firmly convinced that the ongoings were due to some mysterious causes, which would suggest an apparition. Trickery within or without the house, is, according to my experience the most probable explanation. I once made a careful note of unmistakable knocks which I heard late at night on my own front door when there was certainly no one there, and the matter might have remained obscure had I not found in the darkness a thread of black cotton extending from the knocker to the corner of the street opposite. At Shotton the people seem to have felt too much terror to make them. I

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when fire to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

QUEER "LINE STORES."

The Dominion of Canada and the United States Government's Suspicions of the Buildings on the Boundary.

What are called "line stores," which in many cases are so designated by large signboards, are a well-known institution along the boundary between Canada and Maine. The Governments of both Canada and the United States look with suspicious eyes upon these stores, and there has been more or less talk of joint action to prevent the erection of any buildings upon the boundary line.

The line stores on the Quebec border are usually built exactly on the boundary line, and are double stores. The boundary line is marked by iron posts, and sometimes a store is built over one of these posts, which protrudes from the middle of the floor.

There is a door on each side of the line, with which line the shelves and counters run parallel, and thus there is a Canadian store and an American store, each with its own entrance. On the Canadian side are Canadian goods, such as woollens, blankets, dress goods, ready-made clothing, fur coats and robes, carpeting, buttons, sugar and some lines of hardware. On the American side are cotton goods, prints, Yankee notions, tobacco, jewelry, kerosene oil, etc., and farm produce is taken in exchange. The Canadian and the American goods are kept each on their own side, and no attempt is made to conceal the fact that both are there. The Canadian customer can go in at the Canadian door, purchase Canadian goods on the Canadian side, and go out again without having crossed the boundary line at all, and the American customer can do the same on his side; but while the storekeepers keep the two classes of goods separate, they do not ask the customers any question, and they can buy at either counter and make their exit by either door.

Stores of this kind are chiefly found on the line between the Province of Quebec and the States of Vermont and New Hampshire and the northwestern part of Maine, but they are not unknown on the line that divides northeastern Maine from New Brunswick. They are always a mile, generally several miles, from a customs house station. It is related that one man who built a line store took up a boundary post and did not replace it. He afterwards sold out and moved away, and the post was set down at random by his successor. Sometimes a store is on one side of the line, with a warehouse exactly on the line. There are a few manufacturing industries located on the line, including, it is said, one that makes patent medicines and requires considerable alcohol.

On the Maine and New Brunswick line the stores are mostly devoted to the sale of liquor. There was a rather notorious resort near Houlton, known as the "Line House," where men gathered from Aroostook County towns on a Sunday night to drink "imported" liquors. One night the place took fire and was burned, much to the relief of the customs officials and the respectable residents of the locality.

In some places there are two stores, separated by but a few feet, and connected by but a board walk, by which goods can easily be transported from one building to the other. It is a very convenient arrangement for people who don't mind dodging the customs laws. A provincial man can step across the floor to the Maine side and buy some tobacco, and a Maine man can move across to the New Brunswick side to get some liquor, all under the same roof. Farm produce can be changed from Canadian to United States produce in short order. A manufacturer can get raw material from both sides. Canadian produce can be exchanged for Yankee jewelry or notions, Canadian woollens into American cottons, and so on.

Of course, it is not admitted that the line houses were built for smuggling purposes—but they are there right on the line, and it would be a great relief to the two Governments if they were not there.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Gives Working Strength.

"I know you expected a letter from me some time ago, but I will state my reasons, plainly, why I did not write before this," says Mr. Joseph Grass, of Brewer, Perry Co., Mo. "It was because I did not wish to deceive any one. I wanted to be sure that your 'Golden Medical Discovery' had benefited me and it took time after I stopped taking the medicine before I felt sure I had realized permanent results from its use. After taking six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of your 'Pleasant Pellets' am able to do a day's work with any men. I cannot express in words the good your medicines have done me."

THE SNIPE.

Much Lead is Wasted on the Artful Dodgers at Migration Time.

The snipe, properly Wilson's snipe, Gallinago delicata, but commonly known as English snipe and wrongfully called half a dozen other names, is a widely distributed species. It visits every state at some season. Its northward migration extends within the arctic circle, while it is known to go southward to northern South America and the West Indies. Comparatively few of the birds which move northward from February until May breed south of the international line. It is quite true there are breeding grounds at various points of the northern states, but the great breeding range extends from latitude 42 degrees north to some undetermined point much nearer the pole than most sportsmen will venture.

Some time in September the first southbound birds pass below the Canadian grounds, and soon most of the suitable marshy bits of east and west have their share of long billed prizes. Then begins an astonishing attack which extends from ocean to ocean and generally sweeps southward from Canada to California. Probably tons of lead, half of which is wasted, are fired at the artful dodger.—Edwyn Sandys in Outing.

Statue of Queen Victoria.

The statue of Queen Victoria has been placed on its pedestal in Queen's Park, Toronto, opposite the east wing of the Parliament buildings. The monument is a replica of that made by the sculptor Raggi for the city of Hong Kong, and shows the Queen seated in robes of State with the diadem on her head, the sceptre in the right hand and the orb in the left. The arms of the chair are formed of winged lions, above the head is the Imperial crown supported by the lion and unicorn. The back of the chair bears symbolic designs. The cost of the statue is $10,000.

The pedestal, which is ten feet high and has been in place for several months, is of Stanstead, Que., granite, and the main or die stone alone weighs over six tons. This stone bears two bronze tablets, one representing the late Queen's first council meeting, the second showing her lying in state previous to burial, and on its front a wreath of laurel entwining the letters V. R., also in bronze. The base of the pedestal is thirteen by ten feet.

When Sermons Fail.

Both clergymen and mothers frequently wear out the point of a good sermon by rubbing it in to a degree of dullness, when the weary auditor yawns and forgets what it was all about anyway.

"Mamma," said candid Young America, "do you know you would have a great deal more effect on me if you only knew when to stop? Sometimes you say things that I really feel are true, and if you would only stop then and there I would probably realize it, but you always go on and on, preaching and preaching, and generally say something about me that I think is unjust, and then what you said first is all discounted."

"Mother's way of sermonizing is just like Bridget cleaning the brass andirons," said another irreverent young critic. "She first spreads over the whole surface—not a point or depression escapes her. Then she begins to scrub, and, my, how she does rub it in!"

Merely a Question of Judgment.

"What is it that leads a woman who has married unhappily and got a divorce to marry again?"

"Curiosity."

"Curiosity!"

"Certainly. She's curious to learn if her judgment of men has improved."

THE WALL STREET MARKET

To-day's Market was Somewhat Better Than Yesterday.

Quotations Somewhat Erratic—The Daily Letters—Quotations.

The market of to-day was somewhat steadier than that of yesterday. This morning it looked as though another slump was imminent, but the market steadied and strengthened itself to a large extent. While there were no great declines, there was only one gain of any considerable amount, namely, C. F. I. Appended is the daily list of quotations;

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Nov. 11th, 3.30 p.m.—The renewed weakness which developed in the stock market this a.m. was the result of resumption of liquidation and heavy professional selling. The sharp break in Copper and Sugar without any special news to explain it, had a bad effect on the general sentiment, and it was generally attributed as reflecting the attitude of Standard Oil interests on general market. At the same time there was renewed apparently inside selling of St. Paul, and this was attributed as coming from the same sources. Reports of inability to secure time loans for the next thirty or sixty days in any quantity at eight per cent., together with Chicago advices, stating that the trainmen of various roads there would strike to-morrow unless there demands were acceded to, on the same proportion of increase as was granted switchmen yesterday, added to the general apprehension and the result, the inauguration of a selling move in the last hour, which was almost similar to that which prevailed in the early trading of yesterday. This selling increased in proportion as business progressed, and the whole list gave way in such a manner in the closing half-hour that the market ended in a very unsettled manner. Many stocks, especially St. P., S.P., L.N., A.D.R., B.R.T. and R.I. New securities made low records to-day. The action of the market to-day in breaking so sharply after the early rally shows very plainly that while liquidation has been very heavy the past few days, the position of some of the larger operators and pools have been a great deal weaker than has been generally supposed, and that the pressure to eliminate this interest still continues. With the short interest, which has been the main support so materially reduced by the covering movement of yesterday, and this a.m., there is less encouragement of improvement in tone of general market. It is obvious, therefore, that unless prices meet with better support, a further break is quite likely.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 11th.—After several days' decline there have been two very large days' business in succession, namely, last Saturday and Monday, the latter day seeing transactions of nearly one and one half million shares; yet yesterday the market closed on average about equal to Saturday night's close prices. At yesterday's approximate lowest prices fully a million shares of stock were liquidated. Some one held the bag and took them while this morning London is all higher. As a rule, after a movement in either direction, the culmination is a day or so of large trading, with prices active, but at about an average, than liquidation has usually run its course. If you will look the matter up you will find this rule to apply at almost the end of large movements, in either direction, up or down. The troubles of the Trust Companies have been relieved by the purchase from them by certain Wall Street interests of the securities which were embarrasing them, so that they are therefore no longer a menace to the market. Some time ago a similar trouble of a syndicate at Cleveland brought about a very similar state of affairs. After the syndicate was relieved of its burden the market righted, and became normal again. To-day the episode is practically forgotten. So it will be with this latest financial trouble. It appears to be bankers against railway men in diagnosing the immediate future of the market. The bankers urge that loans are sufficiently expanded, so speculation should go slow. The railway men see the enormous business offering and the certainty of its continuance with the enormous earnings bound to be steadily made. These two classes of men are hard-hearted business men, hence the more or less deadlock in the market. The latter have immense lines of stocks and will not liquidate them under the reigning conditions. The former will loan no money upon stocks than they possibly can help, and do all they can to discourage speculation. A held back speculation will, however, when it does break out, goes faster and more furious owing to the fact of its having been smothered while favourable conditions were ruling.

Summary.—The market opened at an advance along the line and was inclined during the morning hours to be more firm with absence of liquidation. After one o'clock a heavy attack was directed against copper shares, carrying the stock down about four points in an hour. It unsettled the balance of market, causing after 1.30 p.m. a renewal of the selling movement throughout the entire list. The market was extremely weak. After two o'clock T.C.I. broke badly, aiding in the general demoralization of the list. Fears of the coming president's message are being discounted. More than likely it will not bring about as low prices when announced as are at present existing. A good rally, at least, is due, if nothing more. Money closed at four per cent. Sales 979,600.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM FIELD OF SPORT.

Curlers Will Meet To-morrow Night—Belleville Hockey Club Disbanded—Rugby Notes—The Turf etc.

As will be noticed in the sporting columns of the Examiner, a meeting of the curlers of the town is called for Thursday evening, in the rink parlours, when the future of the game in Peterborough will be discussed in all its phases. It is stated that a movement is on foot to amalgamate the two clubs, and endeavour to have one strong organization. As to whether the amalgamation of the two existing clubs would be beneficial to curling in town, there seems to be a diversity of opinion. Why, it might be asked, was the club ever divided, and was there more enthusiasm in curling in Peterborough when there was but one club, than under the system of later years? There may have been, and at the same time there may have been circumstances existing that at that time might have had the same stimulating effect had there been two clubs. It is said by some that Lindsay has but one club, and has a larger membership than the combined membership of the two Peterborough organizations. While this is true, it is scarcely a sufficient reason for supposing that Peterborough could flourish in a like manner. Lindsay is a curling town, and with such men as Mr. J. D. Flavelle, would make curling a success under any circumstances. Curlers should consider the matter very carefully before attending the meeting to-morrow night.

CURLING.

The curlers of the town are reminded of the meeting to be held in the rink parlours to-morrow night, when matters of interest to all will be discussed.

RUGBY.

A rugby team has been organized in the south end of the town and Mr. R. F. McWilliams has been asked to act as Hon.-Manager. It is a juvenile organization and they will try conclusions with St. John's choir team on Saturday afternoon on the Oval.

London's protest against Bert Morrison of the Torontos, will be given a final hearing at to-night's meeting of the O.R.F.U. Executive. The declaration required from Morrison has not yet been filed with President Ballantyne, and unless it is forthcoming to-day the Executive will have no option other than to order the game replayed. Secretary Frank D. Woodworth states that both clubs were equally culpable, and for that reason the Torontos will not be visited with severe punishment, although the case is a flagrant one. London knew that Morrison was ineligible before playing the game, and if Torontos did not they had no one to blame but themselves. For that reason the club will not be thrown out, but will be given another chance. As London has visited Toronto twice this season the game may be orderplayed in the Forest City, or on neutral ground, probably Hamilton.

Eddie Phillips of the Brockville football team, has accepted the invitation to accompany the All-Canadian football team on its tour to England.

HOCKEY.

The Winnipeg Victoria hockey club has a surplus of $2,000 from last season. The game pays well in the western city.

The Toronto Star says:—

"If the Intercollegiate Hockey Union becomes a reality, the O.H.A. will lose Varsity and Queen's, two of their best senior clubs.

"Cornwall is trying to secure membership in the Canadian Amateur Hockey League, and Iroquois and Morrisburg, other eastern senior teams, are satisfied to get into an intermediate group this coming winter.

"This will leave Wellingtons and St. Georges of Toronto as the only senior teams in the O.H.A., unless Kingston or Peterborough enter sevens in the series, which is not at all likely.

* * * *

The Belleville Intelligencer says: "Everything, it appears, is not exactly lovely in the newly-formed Hockey Club; in point of fact, there is now no Hockey Club, as last night, we are informed, the members embraced and parted. Not being able to agree, they agreed to disagree. The bone of contention, it appears, was the personnel of the committee of management. The manager, Mr. Harry Burrell, our informant says, wanted a free hand, and objected to being himself managed by a committee of management. The players were unanimous in support of Mr. Burrell, the committee of management declined to withdraw, so it was decided to have a new deal and start the whole thing over again. Perhaps that was the best thing to do. Another meeting, we understand, is to be held shortly, when a new staff of officers will be elected and the matter put on a satisfactory basis. It is to be hoped this may be done, and that nothing may occur in future to mar the harmony which should exist and must exist if the best results are to be obtained. The general public, which parts with its nimble quarter at the door, is not interested in fights on paper; it wants to see hockey on the ice."

BASEBALL.

Big Bill Massey, the quiet, good-natured first baseman of the Toronto team, has been in Toronto for some time. He is employed as a machinin the Massey-Harris works. He is also busy in other directions, and will put the finishing touches on the job on December 27th, when he will lead a west end young lady to the altar for better or worse. Bill has the good wishes of the entire baseball public, where everyone is his friend, and no one his enemy. A more deservedly popular ball player never donned a suit in Toronto.

PETERBORO' CHEESE BOARD.

Last Meeting of the Season Held To-day.

Mr. Ruddick, of Ottawa, Addressed the Salesmen and Buyers.

The final meet for the season of 1902, of the Peterborough Cheese Board, was held on Wednesday morning, when considerably over four thousand boxes were boarded. Twelve cents was the price at which the October cheese sold, while the November product was carried off at a quarter of a cent less. The feature of the meeting was the presence of Mr. J. A. Ruddick, chief of the Dairy Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, who delivered a very instructive address.

The following buyers were in attendance: Messrs. Bailey, Cook, Brown, (for Mr. Wrighton), Whitten, Fitzgerald, Cook, and Kerr.

The factories boarded as follows:

THE BIDDING.

The bidding opened at 11 1-4 by Mr. Whitton and closed at 12 cents by Mr. Fitzgerald. He called Keene, Central Smith, Myrtle, Fraserville, Trewern, Buckhorn and Lakefield, October. The factories called accepted. At 12 cents Mr. Kerr carried off East Emily, Fleetwood, Cavanville, Benafort, Norwood, Melrose Abby, Dartford. Mr. Wrighton then took Warsaw, North Dummer, Young's Point and Stony Lake.

November cheese sold pretty much off the Board, but a sale to Mr. Bailey was recorded as follows. Keene, North Smith and Dartford at 11 3-4 cents.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Drummond, the president, for his services to the Board.

A VERY INTERESTING TALK.

Mr. Goodman, New York, Speaks to the Men.

The Reason Why Men Should Study the Bible.

There was a good attendance at the closing meeting of the Conference on Religious Work for Men, which has been conducted by Mr. F. S. Goodman, of New York, during the past two days. The meeting last evening was of a general character, and Mr. Goodman devoted his remarks to the matter of personal Bible study.

Mr. Goodman said that the Bible was studied to-day by several classes; its foes studied it to criticize it, another class was the faddist who had a scripture text which he made support his false doctrine. It was studied of course by the friends of truth. Of every hundred decent, self-respecting men, Mr. Goodman stated that 80 never opened the Bible at all. Was it fair to excuse one's self on the ground of lack of time, when men had time to make money or to read the daily papers and other literature. When one such as Andrew Carnegie should say of money "there is nothing in it beyond a competancy," men should take time to do the will of God, and to build up a life. Positive iniquity was another reason why men did not study the Bible, because their business creed does not square with the Book. The study of the Bible will either drive a man from his sins or from the Book. We should study it for the culture it affords. A teacher of journalism told his class that they could not afford not to know the Bible. To know the Bible is to acquaint ourselves with the character and person of God. It would show us our true selves. Men were seen by four different views, as seen by the world, by one's own friends, as seen by himself and by God. The Bible is a mirror to show us our possibilities as men. It is given us too to guard against defeat. It was a glad thing that life was a battle because it gave men a chance to win a victory. We could do it because the Bible provided all a soldier needs, to know the enemy, to have arms, and to be sustained in the fight. We should study it to become trained for higher service. It was only he that did the will of God who would abide forever. Men should not seek to be served, but to serve, following Him who came not to be ministered unto but to minister. How can we study the Bible? By decision to take time, by choosing a definite plan, by devotion. In connection with this last point it should be obeyed as discovery of its commands were made.

At the close of the address a large number promised to enter into a definite, daily plan of Bible study. The conference has been very successful and will result in a marked advance along the lines of religious work in the association.

LOCAL LEGAL.

Before Armour, C.J.O., Osler, Moss, Garrow, J.J.A.

Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald.—Appeal by plaintiff from judgment of Falconbridge, C.J., at trial dismissing action without costs. The action was brought by the plaintiff, as widow of James W. Fitzgerald, against his son, and plaintiff's stepson, claiming dower out of certain lands conveyed by deceased husband to defendant, subject to existing mortgages, the grantor retaining a life estate and taking back a mortgage for an amount which, with the existing mortgages, made up the whole consideration. Plaintiff also asked to have this conveyance declared null and void, as against her right to dower. A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., and Bennett, Peterborough, for appellant. The plaintiff was induced to marry the deceased upon the faith of his promise to convey to her the lands in question. The conveyance to the son was therefore a fraud upon her. And even if there was no actual intention to defraud her, the conveyance nevertheless had that effect, and the secrecy of the transaction and the fact that the deceased, in spite of the conveyance, retained possession, mark it as fraudulent. The wife is within 13 Eliz. ch 5, and 27 Eliz., ch. 4. The former statute applies to hindrances, etc., to "Creditors and others"; Rider v. Kidder, 10 Ves. 360, at p. 369; Blenkinsopp v. Blenkinsopp, 1 DeG. M. and G., 495. G. H. Watson, K.C., and E. B. Edwards, K.C., for defendant. The plaintiff's claim upon a contract is a cause of action independent of her claim for dower. It is not set up in her statement of claim, and does not help her in this action. The conveyance was not secret. There was no fraud or wrongful intent. The son took the compensation due to him in the best form he could. In any event the lands in question were, at the time of the marriage, subject to two mortgages, and the plaintiff therefore never acquired any inchoate right of dower. The husband might have conveyed his equity absolutely, without her concurrence to bar dower. Judgment reserved.

Coal Operators Refuse to Recognize Miners' Organization.

MORE REPLIES TO JOHN MITCHELL

On Every Count They Turn Down the Institution of Which He Is Head—Positive Declaration Made That They Will Not Enter Into Any Agreement With the United Mine Workers of America.

Washington, Nov. 13.—That the anthracite coal mine owners will resist to the utmost every effort to make the recognition of the United Mine Workers of America an issue in the arbitration which is now in progress is made evident by the replies to the statement of President John Mitchell of the miners' organization, which have been filed with the Strike Commission. There are five of these answers in addition to that of President Baer, which was made public Tuesday, and all dwell with much emphasis and marked unanimity on this point. They also agree in contesting the demands of the miners for an increase of pay for piece-work, a reduction of hours for time work, and the weighing rather than the measurement of coal.

The reply of the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western Railroad Company to President Mitchell's statement to the anthracite coal strike commission was made public yesterday. It is signed by W. H. Truesdale, president of the company, who says that the company owns 25 anthracite collieries and employs 12,000 workmen in this branch of the business. Mr. Truesdale, like Mr. Baer, objects to making the recognition of the union one of the issues to be considered by the commission, saying that in the proposition made by the company for arbitration one of the express conditions was that "the findings of the commission should govern the conditions of employment between it and its employes."

He adds: "This company unequivocally asserts that it will under no condition recognize or enter into any agreement with the association known as the United Mine Workers of America or any branch thereof. Nor will it permit said association or its officers to dictate the terms and conditions under which it shall conduct its business."

Referring to the recent strike, Mr. Truesdale says that he is reliably informed that eighty per cent. of its employes were opposed to the strike, but were forced to enter upon it by a majority vote of the mine workers in other fields. Mr. Truesdale follows closely the lines of Mr. Baer's argument as to the dissimilarity between the work in the anthracite mines and that in the bituminous mines. He declares that it is impossible to adopt a uniform rate to be paid to the miners for a unit of coal mined at all the mines.

The declaration is made that the anthracite miners as a rule do not work as many hours a day as do the bituminous miners, and the opinion is advanced that if the wages of the anthracite miners had been less than that of other workingmen they would have found employment elsewhere, which they did not do. On the point of general prosperity, he says that prior to the introduction of agitators and mischief-makers, the anthracite workers were on an average as prosperous, comfortable and contented as any body of workers in similar employment in this country. The wages, it is added, are such that frequently frugal employes have saved a substantial amount every year.

Mr. Truesdale resists the demand for a reduction of twenty per cent. in hours of labor, saying that no branch of business employing thousands of men can hope to compete successfully in the markets of the world if its hours of labor are restricted. He declares that there is no unjust discrimination in the weighing of the coal as it is measured rather than weighed, and he asserts that the demand is "out of all reason, and its effect so far as this company is concerned, is a demand for an additional increase in the wages now paid miners of from 5 to 40 per cent." The present method of measurement is declared to be the result of long usage, and fair to all concerned.

President Olyphant, of the Delaware and Hudson Company, in his reply, declares that the wages paid by his company are just and adequate. He also says that "those of its employes who perform contract or piece-work, as a matter of their own volition, work only about six hours a day, and take numerous holidays without the consent or approval of this respondent, and their earnings by hours of actual work are, therefore, much higher than those in similar employment."

Denial is made of all the allegations relative to the demand for shorter hours, and it is contended that such a reduction necessarily would increase the price of coal. While admitting that the mine-owners sell their coal by the ton, he says that the coal thus sold is a very different article from that taken out of the mine. Hence, he argues against the change from the present system of payment to that of paying by the ton.

President Olyphant also takes exception to the proposition to arbitrate the question of the recognition of the Miners' Union. This position is taken on the ground that the organization seeks to control the entire fuel supply of the country; that as the union is unincorporated, it is incapable of making a binding contract, and that the association has not shown its ability to control its own members. He says his company has no desire to discriminate against members of the union.

President T. P. Fowler speaks for the Scranton Coal Company and the Elkhill Coal and Iron Company. He says they own ten collieries and employ five thousand men. He asserts that if the average wage earned by the anthracite piece-workers is less than that paid to workers in other employment, it is because "they fix their own hours of labor and the amount of their earnings without any regard to the interests or wishes of their employers, and in total disregard of the earnings and welfare of every other class of employes."

He declares that the men in the mines do not work to exceed four or five hours a day. All other charges made by Mr. Mitchell are combatted, and on the question of miners' unions Mr. Fowler said:

"We deny that agreements between employer and employe through workingmen's organizations are beneficial and successful in the bituminous coal fields or elsewhere, and assert that any such agreement as a method of regulating production would be, and is, injurious to the best interests of the public."

What a Mine Worker Says.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 13.—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers and several members of the Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of the third anthracite district were in session at miners' headquarters yesterday. Later on they were joined by half a dozen attorneys, whom Mr. Mitchell has employed to look after the miners case before the Arbitration Commission. There was a general discussion of the situation. At noon a big delegation of miners from Shamokin arrived in town. After dinner they repaired to the office of a local attorney, where they were examined as to their knowledge of the condition of mining in their region, the wages paid and the cost of living. District President Duffy commenting on President Baer's statement in reply to the one filed by President Mitchell with the commission said: "The time for controversy has now passed. Facts will tell before the commission."

Dr. Hart Expired Through Bursting of a Blood Vessel.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—Dr. J. Moore Hart, 232 Shaw street, expired suddenly on Monday last while out hunting with Dr. Charles Trow and A. E. Trow, barrister, of this city. The remains were brought to Toronto yesterday. The party was encamped about 12 miles overland from Dorsett. On Monday evening the exertion of chopping down a tree for firewood made Dr. Hart feel dizzy. He shortly afterward became unconscious, and later in the evening died. The bursting of a blood vessel in the brain resulted in paralysis, which caused death. Dr. Hart was 51 years of age. He had been in practice 31 years, 22 of which were spent in Cannington, and 9 in Toronto. Dr. J. S. Hart of Parkdale is a cousin of deceased, and Rev. A. B. Chambers, a brother-in-law. Quite an exciting runaway occured on Saturday in the vicinity of the Craig House. While Mr. Mitchell, of Ashburnham, was trying to tie a team belonging to Mr. Leary, of Peterborough, they became frightened and dashed toward the wharf and had their course not been changed they would have dashed into the water. As it was they ran into a woodpile and wrecked the carriage, the horses escaping uninjured.

THE TRADER'S BANK

And its Relations to the Public of Lakefield and Vicinity.

The business of the new branch of the Traders' Bank at Lakefield is beginning to asume a better aspect. Business men under the influence of calmer consideration are beginning to take a less sentimental, more practical, and unprejudiced view of the situation. From interviews with the leading business men of the village it is evident that they appreciate the advantages of having available a local branch of a solid chartered bank, and it is expected that full confidence will soon take the place of the natural feeling of uncertainty and suspicion which recent events in financial circles have engendered. But among farmers, patrons of cheese factories, etc., there seems to be a strong prejudice still existing and a disposition to connect the premises now occupied by the Trades' Bank with the conditions by which they have suffered loss. This is a difficulty with which the new branch of the bank will have to cope. While it is a fact that the individual losses sustained by patrons and others are not as heavy as those sustained by business men, the former seem, for some reason or other, to be more severely felt, because, perhaps, unlike business men they are less accustomed to the risks that enter, more or less, into all the transactions of a general business. In the aggregate there is a larger number of farmers who are losers by the recent private bank suspension, but it is said that some of the least sufferers are the loudest in their complaints, and most intense in their feeling of resentment towards the bank, with, perhaps, no stronger reasons than the fact of the new bank occupying the same premises as the suspended bank.

Mr. Harrison, the manager of the Traders' Bank in Lakefield, is placed in a somewhat trying position, having to overcome prejudices for whose existance he is not responsible, and to restore a confidence in banking institutions which late events has tended to severely shake. But with a thought of the standing of the Traders' Bank, which ranks among our strongest chartered financial institutions, there is no reason why public confidence should be withheld.

ANNUAL MEETING PETERBOROUGH BIBLE SOCIETY

Held in George Street Methodist Church Last Night.

MR. SHERIFF HALL, PRESIDENT

Rev. Mr. Carruthers Delivered a Very Interesting Address—The Financial Statement

Owing to the inclement weather the attendance at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Bible Society in the George street church last evening was not as largely attended as was expected, still those who braved the elements were well repaid for their efforts. The president of the Society, Sheriff Hall, was in the chair and the meeting was opened with singing, and prayer by Rev. Mr. J. P. Wilson, after which Rev. Mr. Bastow read a selection from the Psalms. Then came the report of the secretary-treasurer, Rev. Mr. Potter, of St. Andrew's, which was as follows:

Balance from 1901	$ 7 79
Miss Butcher and Miss Walton ...	45 05
Miss Bailey	28 80
Miss Deyell	10 25
Misses Langford and McKee ...	32 05
Miss Mahood	12 45
Mrs. Campbell	9 25
Misses Miller and Creba	40 00
Mr. Carver	17 60
Mrs. Tully	3 40
Miss Stewart	8 75
Misses Bathgate and Higgins ...	25 40
Mr. Reid	8 05
Mr. Fowler	17 88
Misses Adams and Wood	13 35
	$279 07

The report was adopted.

Rev. Mr. Carruthers was then introduced as the speaker of the evening. In his opening remarks he referred to the small attendance and his pleasure in again visiting Peterborough, which he remarked was greatly changed. It was a pleasure to him, as he was now a member of the Board of the Society, to in any way help along the good work. It was his intention to-night to speak of the Bible and the Bible Society. As to the first, people do not now realize how much we owe to it. That Book explains to us our origin in a way that none of the best scholars have been able to do, and has been the greatest instrumentality in raising the race, especially the Anglo-Saxon branches, from a state of heathenism to the advanced status it now holds in a brief period of 1900 years. Besides this there is the

COMMERCIAL SIDE

for even the most successful merchants acknowledge that it is through the forwarding of the gospel that the greatest nations of Europe and America now have such vast markets for their goods, as wherever the gospel is preached there is found a demand for the fruits of industry and in proportion as nations honour God just so great is their commercial welfare. To prove this it was only necessary to glance at the status of European nations before the reformation and at the present time. At that period Spain, France and Austria were the world powers. Where are they now? Spain bankrupt, Austria a third rate power France, though at present great, burdened almost beyond endurance with debt. In the case of the latter it is, the speaker alleged, a just reward for that nation's disregard of God's law in regard to the Sabbath and marriage. Not only is this true with regard to nations but individually, as many successful men can testify. Then there was the intellectual side, for no work in the history of the world has been the recipient of so much attention from the servants as the Bible. Thousands of books have been written regarding the Bible and its teachings. At the Congress of Religion in Chicago in 1893 there was no book except the Bible that had any reference to forgiveness of sins, and this is the great claim of Christianity. Passing on the speaker dealt at length with the work of the

BIBLE SOCIETY.

Years ago it was almost impossible to carry Christianity to the heathens because they had no tools to work with. Now with the Word of God printed in over 400 languages, the mechanics of God had the necessary tools wherewith to work. From its inception the Bible Society had had an unparelled success until their output for last year was 5,067,421 copies. To give some idea of the number the speaker said if a passenger train extending from Vancouver to Halifax had ten men in each coach there would be a Bible for each man. As 45 per cent. of the output goes to Christian countries the number sent to heathen lands since the Society's formation has been 20,000,000 volumes in hundreds of languages. In Canada last year some 30,000 copies have been distributed in as many as twenty-three different languages by the Upper Canada Bible Society.

In closing, Mr. Carruthers, commended the work to the prayerful consideration of the people of Peterborough.

A VOTE OF THANKS

was then extended to the speaker, after which the officers of the local Society were elected as follows:

President—Mr. Sheriff Hall.
Vice-Presidents — Ministers of Peterborough.
Secretary—Rev. Mr. Potter.
Treasurer—Mr. John Crane.

It was decided that the Executive Committee should place the present supply of Bibles in the repository in some prominent place convenient to the public. The meeting was then closed with the Doxology and Benediction.

THE EXECUTIVE.

At the close of the public meeting, the Executive Committee met, and unanimously resolved to put on record its high appreciation of the great and improtant work done by the collectors during the year. It was decided to appoint the same collectors for this year.

It was also decided to notify the public that the Bible Society's year closes December 31st, instead of on March 31st, as formerly, so that the collectors will canvass the constituency as soon as possible.

In the matter of the Bible Depository, it was arranged that the secretary confer with the present depository and arrange to have a stock of Bibles placed in a central and convenient store, and that public notice should be given when this is done.

MR. RUDDICK'S INTERESTING ADDRESS.

He Spoke on the Matter of Cool-curing of Cheese.

THE CHEESE BOARD MEETING.

Valuable Information Given to the Makers of Cheese in This District—Some Good Suggestions.

At the final meeting of the year of the Peterborough Cheese Board, which was held on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. J. A. Ruddick, chief of the Dairy Division of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, delivered an interesting address to the buyers and salesmen who were present, in large numbers. His subject was that of the cool curing of cheese, and was in part, as follows:

There are two aspects of this question of curing cheese at lower temperatures. First, there is the purely scientific one, which will determine the best temperature at which to cure cheese, regardless of time, expense, or any other consideration; and second, there is what may be be called the practical or commercial one, that may decide just how low it may pay to go for the improvements or benefits secured. Neither of these points is settled, and is is quite likely that no fixed temperature will ever be found to be suitable for all conditions or circumstances. I propose to deal with the question only from the commercial standpoint, and shall do so by briefly describing the construction and operation of the cool cheese curing rooms that have been established this year by the Dominion Government. There are four of these curing rooms in operation, one located at each of the following places, viz., Woodstock and Brockville, in Ontario; Cowansville and St. Hyacinthe, in Quebec. The ones at Brockville and St. Hyacinthe are cooled with ice, and the other two with mechanical refrigeration.

The buildings are all designed on the one general plan, but where ice is used, there is a separate chamber in which it is stored. The curing room proper consists of a basement 9 feet clear between floor and ceiling and a little over half below the the ground level. The stone walls, which do not rise above the surface of the ground, are laid with cement mortar to make them waterproof. The floors are constructed of the best quality of Portland cement concrete. The walls above the stonework consist of seven-ply of lumber and 8-ply of paper, 4-ply of which are damp-proof quality. The last two courses of lumber on the inside, with between, are continued down to the floor, inside the stone wall. There are two air spaces, besides the space between the studs. The ceilings underneath the joists are made of 4-ply of lumber, 4-ply of paper and one air space. Above the joists there is a double flooring, with 3-ply of paper. The spaces between the studding and joists are filled with planing mill shavings.

The ice chamber is placed at one end of the building, but does not go below the ground level, which brings the floors of this chamber about 4 1-2 feet above the level of the floor of the curing room. The insulation of the ice chamber is rather better than that of the curing room, and differs in two respects. The walls are constructed with staggered studding, that is to say, there are two rows of studs, one for the inside sheeting, and the other for the outside, leaving a space between the sheeting of one foot, with no connecting pieces. The ceiling is made in the same manner, and the spaces between the sheeting are all filled with planer shavings. The concrete floor of the ice chamber is covered with three inches of dry sand. On the top of this there is a false floor resting on 2x4 inch joists. The bottom of the main joists is about 6 inches above the top of the false floor. The main floor consists of 2-inch T. & G. lumber, covered with galvanized iron which is flashed along the walls to a height of ten inches. The space between the floors is also filled with shavings. The upper story of the building is not insulated except a compartment used for a boxing and shipping room. The rest of the flat is used for an office, receiving room, storage of boxes, etc. The floor of the shipping room is on a level with the floor of a railway car standing on the track alongside.

The plan for utilising the cooling power of the ice is simple and effective. Placed just above the floor level of the ice chamber and about 4 1-2 feet above the floor of the curing room,

ARE THREE OPENINGS,

18x9 inches, through which the cold air flows into the curing room. The warm air returns to the ice chamber through three flues, 18x9 inches, running the length of the curing room just under the ceiling and rising to the top of the ice chamber. There are several openings in these flues, which, being fitted with slides enable those in charge to regulate the temperature so well that it does not vary two degrees in different parts of the room. The ice is not covered in any way, so that the air passing over it is readily chilled and purified to some extent. The insulation of the chamber is depended on to prevent undue waste of ice.

The mechanical refrigeration at Woodstock and Cowansville is effected with a six-ton vertical, double cylinder, single-acting ammonia compressor of the Linde British type, using the brine system for cooling. There are two of these tanks, 15 feet long, 8 feet deep and 1 foot wide, placed near the ceiling about the centre of the room. A wooden casing surrounds the tanks with openings at the top and bottom, through which the air circulates. The tanks are filled with a saturated brine that is chilled by direct expansion pipes submerged in it. The advantage of the tank system lies in the reserve of cooling power which is provided after the compressor is shut down.

I wish to emphasize one point. These buildings were not planned for cold storage purposes. If they had been the insulation would necessarily have been different from what it is. The cement floor would not be at all suitable for a cold storage room, a creamery refrigerator or other place where comparatively low temperature is required. It has a constant natural temperature of 55 to 60 degrees, which happens to be just the point we are aiming at in the curing of the cheese, but for lower temperatures it would act as a heater and make refrigeration both difficult and expensive. For the purpose of the cool curing rooms, however, it is very useful, and it assists materially in keeping the temperature down.

As regards the efficiency of the insulation of the curing room and ice chamber, I may state that where ice is used 100 tons will be sufficient to keep the temperature down to 56 degrees from June 15th to the end of September with 125 cheese

BEING RECEIVED DAILY.

These cheese have, of course, to be cooled over 20 degrees on the average.

These curing rooms are all located in cheese making centres where from 100 to 150 cheese a day are made in the factories situated within a radius of about 10 miles. The scheme of operation provides for the collection of the cheese from these factories every day just as they are taken from the presses. They are placed on shelves in the curing room and kept at a temperature of 56-58 degrees until such time as they are sold and sent to market.

The government pays the cost of hauling the cheese and all other expenses of operation, but charges the factories the cost of boxes and a sum equal to the value of the weight of cheese as represented by the saving in shrinkage. Complete returns regarding the saving of shrinkage are not yet available, but it is expected to be fully one per cent.

The department is not endeavouring to launch a general scheme of central or consolidated cheese curing rooms, but has simply adopted the plan described for the purpose of illustrating in a commercial way the benefits that are to be derived from cool curing of cheese. We make a distinction between cool curing and cold curing, meaning by the latter such low temperatures as 40 degrees or under, while cool curing implies really only such temperatures as may be secured by ordinary means during September and October.

It will be for the factories to decide as to how they can best carry out the idea. It may be done by consolidation in some localities, but many of the factories will make the necessary improvements to cure the cheese on their own premises.

HAVE YOU ANY OF THESE

Symptoms of a Very Common Trouble?

There is no disease so common in the United States as Catarrh, because it appears in so many forms and attacks so many different organs.

It is a common mistake to suppose that catarrh is confined to the nose and throat. Any inflammation of the mucous membrane, wherever located accompanied by abnormal secretions, is catarrh. Catarrh of the stomach or bladder, or intestines, is nearly as common as nasal catarrh, and much more serious, although it is true that stomach catarrh and catarrh of other internal organs is the result of neglected nasal catarrh.

A new remedy has recently appeared, which, so far as tested, seems to be remarkably effective in promptly curing catarrh, wherever located. The preparation is sold by druggists generally under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and in addition to being very palatable and convenient, possesses extraordinary merit, in many cases giving immediate relief from the coughing, hawking and constant clearing of the throat and head those symptoms with which everyone is familiar who has ever suffered from colds in the head and throat.

Catarrh is simply a continuation of these symptoms until the trouble becomes chronic and grows gradually worse from year to year.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed of Hydrastin, Red Gum, and similar antiseptics and catarrh specifics, from which it will be seen that no secret is made of the ingredients and also that no mineral poisons are used, as is the case with many well-known catarrh medicines.

For catarrh of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, for catarrh of the stomach, intestines or bladder no preparation is so safe and gives such rapid and permanent results as Stuart's Catarrhy Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full sized package. You can use them with assurance that you will not contract the cocaine or morphine habit as the results from this catarrh cure are apparent from the first day's use.

50 BARRELS AN HOUR.

An Oil Gusher in Raleigh Township of Quantity and Quality.

Chatham, Nov. 12.—A large number of oil experts and operators yesterday afternoon witnessed a definite test of the oil gusher in Raleigh Township. The water was pumped out, and the well at first flush yielded 50 barrels an hour, which, of course, will slacken off considerably. Petrolia's highest grade of oil is 26 degrees gravity, that of this new find is 34, and the best well at the former place yields only four barrels pumped in 24 hours, while the new gusher gives almost a barrel a minute.

Far-Reaching Leases.

While at first sight this discovery would seem to be a great boon to the farmers in the neighborhood, such is not the case. Some 70 years ago large tracts of land were granted to the Canada Company for colonization and sale by the Imperial Government. When they re-sold the land they reserved the right to all oil and minerals that might be on the property. The prospectors being aware of this, took the precaution to get leases covering some 4,000 acres from the Canada Company, and now tell the farmers they have nothing to do with the matter and no right to any part of the oil pumped. The farmers are indignant and have got a promise from Mr. Pardo, M.P.P., to place the matter before the Government at once. At present the operators are taking all sorts of liberties. The new well is within 30 feet of a farmer's house, on his lawn, in fact, and his residence has been rendered untenable. Protests are useless for the operators simply point to the leases they have obtained from the Canada Company. The situation is becoming intolerable, and the Government have a nice problem to solve as to the rights of the farmers.

FRANCE AND CANADA.

Delcasse Promised £10,000, But Money to Get Steamers Not Raised.

London, Nov. 13.—A Reuter despatch yesterday, referring to the negotiations carried on in France by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. S. Fielding of Canada, says that those gentlemen left satisfied with the results obtained, but that the success of the negotiations hangs on a condition which has not been realized yet, and which does not seem to make much progress. M. Delcasse, the Foreign Minister, promised Sir Wilfrid Laurier an annual subsidy of ten thousand pounds to the company running a French line of steamships between France and Canada. When Sir Wilfrid was visiting Lille he used this promise to induce manufacturers to find money to purchase the steamers, and was assured that the utmost would be done to that end, but this as yet has amounted to very little.

Mascagni Looks to Rome.

Rome, Nov. 13.—According to The Tribune, Italy proposes to make an international matter of the arrest in Boston, Mass., of Mascagni. Premier Zanardelli has assured him of the interest in his case by the Government and informs him that he would request Senor Prinetti, Minister of Foreign Affairs, to take up the matter. Senor Prinetti is awaiting the receipt of a report from the Italian embassy at Washington before acting in the Mascagni affair.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half of the time."

PATRIOTIC FUND.

913 Cases Relieved by the Association—Annual Report Issued.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—The annual report of the Patriotic Fund Association was issued yesterday. It shows that up to May 31 last the total receipts were $338,498, of which Canada contributed $312,429; Great Britain, $22,543; United States, $2,099, and other countries, $530. Widows and orphans and dependants received $53,104; invalided and disabled soldiers, $109,643, and dependents at home, $31,799, making a total of $194,546.

This leaves a balance of subscriptions unexpended of $143,951. Adding $13,471 interest on deposits, there was at date a total sum of $157,422 to the credit of the association in the bank. Since March 31, however, an additional sum of about $15,000 has been expended.

Following were the number of cases to which relief was given: Thirteen widows, 11 orphans, 52 next of kin, 76; 494 invalided or disabled soldiers, 494; 342 dependents separated at home, 342. Total, 912.

The Cause of Deafness.

Deafness and impaired hearing are due almost entirely to catarrhal inflammation of the eustachian tubes. Permanent cure is guaranteed to all who inhale Catarrhozone as directed. This vegetable antiseptic is inhaled at the mouth, and after traversing all the air passages of the respiratory organs is exhaled through the nostrils; it completely eradicates catarrh from any part of the system, clears the ears, nose and throat, and allays, inflammation, congestion and soreness. For Deafness, Earache, Ringing in the Ears, Head Noises, Catarrh, Asthma and Bronchitis, medical science can devise nothing as beneficial as Catarrhozone. Successful Opening in Lakefield.

Mr. Rollie Johnston had a stirring opening day in Lakefield on Wednesday, when the doors of his up-to-date dey goods store were opened for the first time under his regime. A large attendance of ladies ware present all day, and the buying was brisk. The ladies of Lakefield and vicinity evidently took quite an interest in this opening event, and the result must have been very encouraging to Mr. Johnson. The store looks bright with new goods, and buying kept up a lively quickstep to the musical accompaniment given in a pretty alcove at the rear end of the store.

LAKEFIELD AGAIN LIGHTED.

The New Company Pressed the Button Tuesday Night.

After an uncomfortable transition from electricity to coal oil for some weeks past, reminding the citizens, in some degree, of the Egyptian darkness of old, live Lakefield is once more rejoicing in the blessings of electric light. The current from the new company's power station was turned on for the first time on Tuesday evening at five o'clock. Business men, especially, are particularly happy, and are congratulating the new company on their enterprise. The success of the new light is already assured, and the encouragement shown by the number of users, is taken as evidence of the appreciation of the long-felt want, and the desire to encourage the promoters. The Farrer Bros., who have installed the plant have done their work in a practical and up-to-date manner. The outfit is wholly new, and produces a brilliant, clear, white light. The rates, also, are said to be very moderate.

CRUSHED AT LAKEFIELD.

John McCormack Dangerously Injured at Cement Works.

Was a Narrow Escape From Terrible Death.

About one o'clock on Wednesday afternoon an elderly man, named John McCormack, employed at the Lakefield Cement Company's works, was badly injured by one of the small engines used for hauling the company's cars. It appears that McCormack was attending to the switch at the company's track, and was in the act of stepping on to the cowcatcher to ride for a short distance, when his left foot, which was on the track, slipped, and he fell in front of the engine. Before the driver could reverse, the cowcatcher caught Mr. McCormack, and pushed him along the track for some distance. Had it not been for the promptness of the engineer in bringing the engine to a stop, he would doubtless have been killed. The unfortunate man was carried to the office of Dr. D. Fraser, where his injuries were found to be very serious, and he was immediately conveyed to his home about a mile from the village. It was found that the fibula, or small bone, of the right foot, was badly shattered, and it is feared that serious internal injuries may complicate the case, as the lower portion of the abdomen was badly bruised.

Mr. McCormack is about 60 years of age, and is an industrious and well-respected citizen. He is a widower and lives with his daughters, whose main support he has been.

LAST OF THE LAKE DWELLERS.

The Summer "Season" at Stony Lake Closes in Middle of November.

Yesterday the steamer Majestic, which had been chartered for the occasion, arrived at Lakefield bringing down the household gods and belongings of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Lundy from their lodge, Upper Stony Lake, and those of Mr. Hopkins, an American, who sojourns at Stony Lake for the benefit of his health during the summer and after the general season is closed. Mr. Hopkins, who only a few years ago was considered an almost hopeless invalid, has received marked benefit from his residence in these regions. In addition to the genial quality of the pure air of Stony Lake, which comes from the pine and cedar-clad surroundings, having stolen on its way their resinous fragrance and healing virtues, there is a medicinal quality in the lake water which, being systematically drunk, produces, in conjunction with open air living, excellent results. The lake water seems to be charged with medicinal minerals—from its chalybeate character — principally iron.

Stony Lake, and the Kawartha Lakes generally, are acquiring an importance not only as a pleasure resort but also as a health resort. As an example, a lady went to Washington, District of Columbia, for the benefit of her health, with no satisfactory results; indeed, she was compelled to return home, and left Washington with her throat swathed in bandages on account of a bronchial trouble, which seemed to disappear as if by magic, when she reached Young's Point, and a few months at Stony Lake, resulted in the complete disappearance of the throat trouble and a great improvement in general health. One can catch health, as well as lovers, sweethearts and fish in the Kawartha Lakes waters.

The newly married couple have many friends who will join in wishing them much happiness.

MAIL SACK STOLEN.

It Disappeared at Port Hope Last Week but was Recovered Later.

On Wednesday night of last week a mail bag containing fifteen registered letters and a number of other letters, was stolen at Port Hope. This bag, together with other mail matter, was sent from Lindsay, and was consigned to points east of Port Hope, on the main line. Some of the mail bags were thrown off at Walton street, Port Hope, and the balance taken on to the junction. The main line mail clerk missed the bag containing the registered letters shortly after leaving Port Hope, and at once notified the Department at Ottawa.

The authorities promptly sent a detective to look into the matter. On the following Saturday the missing bag was found a short distance from the Walton street station, Port Hope. In the bag were found the registered letters untouched, but the loose ones were opened. It is believed that the bag was thrown off at the Walton street crossing by the mail clerk, and that it was stolen by small boys, as the way the letters were opened would indicate that it was the work of amateurs. It was fortunate the registered letters were found, as they contained a large amount of money. We understand that there was one from Messrs. Hogg & Lytle, containing over $500.—Lindsay Post

THE LOCAL FUEL SITUATION.

Anthracite Coal is Selling at $8.00 a Ton.

There Will not be as Much Coal Used This Winter.

Many may be wondering as to the situation of the fuel supply in Peterborough at the present time. It may be said, from information obtained by a representative of the Examiner, that there will be no fuel famine in Peterborough, as some people had feared several weeks ago. However, there will not be nearly as much coal or wood consumed in Peterborough, as during previous years, in view of the recent scare as to a probable famine, for most people had made arrangements to slide through through the cold spell under more economical conditions than, perhaps, they hitherto have practiced. Again the prices will be somewhat higher for coal than last year. This is nothing more than expected, and neither is it as much as was expected a few weeks ago.

Coal is to-day selling in Peterborough at $8 a ton, and there is not very much likelihood of it going any lower. In fact, an inquiry from several of the dealers elicited the statement that they thought it might shortly rise to $9 a ton. But even this price, which under ordinary circumstances might appear excessive, will quite naturally arouse feelings of resentment in the hearts of those who less than a month ago, handed out their reluctant $15 for a ton. However, those who obtained coal at this price were for the most part, those who could afford it, and many who could not afford to do so, might have purchased at that price had they had the cash with which to close the deal. Such was the uncertainty of the coal situation.

There has been but one car of anthracite coal arrive in town since the strike was declared off, but there are assurances from the local dealers that more is on the way, and will reach Peterborough in a few days.

Good hardwood is selling at $7 and $7.50, and there appears to be no shortage in this line. A cheaper class of wood is easily to be had, and the town council made a wise move no doubt in cancelling their contract for 600 cords. The position Toronto is in with its superabundance of Welsh coal, will cause the Peterborough aldermen to realize more than ever how fortunate they were in being able to cancel their contract with the Dickson Company, who showed more warm-hearted than cold-business spirit.

As before stated, there will not be as much coal or wood consumed in Peterborough this winter as usual. Householders will purchase in small lots, of mostly likely, one ton or less, and no one will suffer, it is hoped, in the least.

Subscriptions are being renewed every day. We save you all writing, cost of money orders, etc.—SAILSBURY & CO.

—Coal is now $8 per ton, but it will in all probability go higher yet. The dealers made a a very slight profit when selling at $7, and now they have to pay some two dollars per ton extra, so to protect themselves they will have to raise prices as soon as the present stringency is somewhat relieved. That is the way they put it.

—In order to save coal at the water works pump house, Belleville, the council has decreed that in future the Chief of the Fire Brigade is to notify the engineer whenever a fire is extinguished. This has not been done in the past, with the result that the engines were often kept going at high pressure for a considerable time after the firemen had retired from the scene.

—Speaking of the success of the hunters back north, the Lindsay Post says: A number of hunters came down from the north country to-day and all seemed to have their full complement of deer. Over thirteen carcases were shipped through to the Harris Cold Storage Company, of Toronto, besides a number that were consigned to private citizens in town. The Haliburton train was twenty minutes behind time in arriving, which was caused by time lost in loading deer at various stations along the line.

LAND GRANTS.

The Toronto Veterans Looking After Their Grants—Held a Meeting.

Concerning the matter of Veterans' land grants, the Toronto Globe contains the following item that may be of interest to local veterans:—

"The veterans of '60 are waiting for their certificates relative to their land grants, which are to be issued by the Government this month. At a meeting of the association last night the Executive Committee reported that after a careful estimate they believed the cost of locating the land ought not to exceed $5 for each veteran, including the subscription to the association for 1903. The association decided to secure a room in the down town district which will be supplied with maps and literature for the benefit of veterans who are entitled to a land grant in new Ontario. A competent man who is thoroughly acquainted with the various districts in the new country will be placed in charge of the room, which will be opened as soon as a suitable location is procured."

DOINGS AT BENSFORT.

The Village has a Jew Who Works on Sunday—Teacher Re-engaged.

The trustees of School Section No. 4, have engaged Miss Lillian Marett, of Millbrook, as teacher for 1903, at a handsome salary.

Our postmaster was severely bitten by a vicious dog last Friday while he was out wheeling. We expect to hear of an inquest being held in a short time—on the dog.

Mr. J. A. Porter has been appointed township clerk. We wish him success.

Mr. Wm. Emberson, sr., who has been confined to his bed for the past eight weeks, is not improving.

A very large drove of cattle passed through our village on Wednesday of last week, going westward. A load of fine hogs also passed through, driven by two lady drivers, who are quite capable of handling the reins.

We have one man in our village who claims to be a Jew, therefore he keeps Saturday for Sunday, and as he says he does not want to lose two days in one week he likes to work on Sunday. He has done so on several Sundays lately, cutting wood in Mr. Andrew Finnie's bush, much to the dislike of Mr. Finnie, who insists on having such work stopped without any further trouble.

Rev. J. M. McIntosh of Centreville, addressed the Bensfort Sunday school last Sunday. There was a large attendance. The address was given in his usual eloquent manner and was appreciated very much by all who heard him.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

Have Been Made to Roman Catholic Property at Hastings.

The Roman Catholic Church property at Hastings, has been undergoing some very marked improvements of late under the direction of Rev. Father McGuire. The new steeple is already completed, and reflects great credit on the contractor, Mr. Arkinson, of Brighton. It is a masterpiece in the building line, finely proportioned and well finished and adds greatly to the appearance of the church. A cellar has been dug under the church, and two hot air furnaces installed to heat the building. They work very satisfactorily. Father McGuire has also had erected a stone stable and drive house in the rear of his dwelling, on the most up-to-date principles, which for beauty and comfort as a stable stands second to none in the country.

SIR WILLIAM MULOCK

Business Speech Before Ottawa Board of Trade.

HIS SERVICES APPRECIATED.

Postmaster-General Thanked at Ottawa For His Efforts to Extend the Trade of the Dominion in Several Important Instances—Story of the Pacific Cable Scheme—The Fast Atlantic Line.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—"That the Board of Trade of the capital of the Dominion, on behalf of the commercial interests which it represents, hereby tenders its thanks to Sir William Mulock, K.C.M.G., Postmaster-General, and congratulates him on the success already attending his efforts to establish a fast line of cargo steamers between Canada and South Africa, believing as they do that this line will have the effect of greatly improving the trade between the two countries, and they hope that in the furtherance of Canadian trade a similar freight line may soon be established between Canada and Australia. The board also desires to thank Sir William for his aid and interest in the establishment and completion of the Pacific cable."

The foregoing resolution was last night passed at a large and representative meeting of the Ottawa Board of Trade.

Sir William's Reply.

In reply the Postmaster-General delivered an interesting address upon the development of trade between Canada and Australia and South Africa. A remark made by Mr. George Johnson, crediting Sir William Mulock with reviving the Pacific cable scheme when it was "as dead as Julius Caesar," led the Minister to give the actual facts regarding this episode. He told of the conference at the Westminster Palace, London, in 1898, when the Imperial penny postage resolution carried by a majority of two, although the seven Australian delegates voted against it. The latter were withdrawing, with the intention of letting those in its favor work out the scheme, when Sir William said to Sir Horace Tozer:— "I think there is something more important than penny postage and that is connection by electricity, and if Canada and Australia are going to be brought together commercially and otherwise, don't you think it would be a good thing for both countries if we could get down to business and decide whether the various Governments interested are going to carry out the scheme?" Sir Horace Tozer consented, and thus commenced the negotiations which resulted in the joint arrangement for the construction of the cable.

Preference to Colonies.

He alluded to the resolution passed at the recent Colonial Conference, recommending the Imperial Government to grant a preference to the colonies, and intimating that the colonies desired also to give preferential treatment to the products of the mother country. "That resolution," said Sir William, "did not go so far as to propose a preference between the various colonies themselves, but it is a step in the direction of preferential trade within the Empire." Sir William went on to say that the mother country had not yet committed itself to this doctrine, but, having adopted a duty on wheat, could grant a preference to the colonies by remitting the duty in their favor if she so desired. The fact that the Imperial Government had not rejected the proposition, but had taken it into most serious consideration, he regarded as a most healthful sign. Whatever its fate might be no man could foretell, but should Great Britain adopt the principle of giving a preference to the colonies, would that not be a tremendous step in the direction of establishing inter-Imperial trade? He counselled patience for a while. The lever was working, and at all events the Dominion Government were of opinion that Canada was too big a country to be pent up in her own limits.

Fast Atlantic Line.

In his closing remarks Sir William spoke of the proposed fast Atlantic line. "We have been seriously considering it of late, and I trust with some good results, and if we are successful in establishing a line between Canada and the United Kingdom making fairly good time, it would have a revolutionary effect, I think, upon transatlantic traffic." The cost. Sir William said, was, of course, an element, but he believed that the people of Canada sufficiently recognized the importance of these great aids to trade and would not find fault with the cost if the service was a good one and met the requirements of to-day. "I think, at all events," said the Minister, "that before a great while we will be able to look upon it as a completed fact, as we can look back upon the Pacific cable." Sir William, who was frequently applauded during his speech, received a hearty vote of thanks on its termination. A resolution was passed, on motion of Mr. John R. Reid, seconded by Mr. Andrew Holland, congratulating Sir Sandford Fleming on the successful completion of the Pacific cable and trusting that he might be spared to see the accomplishment of a British State-owned cable system encircling the globe.

To Inspect the St. Lawrence.

Hon. Raymond Prefontaine went to Montreal yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, accompanied by Hon. M. E. Bernier. On Friday he will leave on an inspection of the River St. Lawrence on the steamer Frontenac, as far as Rimouski. He has issued invitations to the members of the Montreal district to accompany him. Mr Prefontaine will be back in Ottawa on Monday.

Reception to Mr. Prefontaine.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine was tendered a rousing reception by the East End Liberal Club on his return from Ottawa, where he was sworn in as Minister of Marine and Fisheries. In the course of a short address he said that in accepting that portfolio he mentioned that the department must include the control of ports, harbors, routes of navigation, etc., from the Yukon to Belle Isle. He was authorized to make that statement. He was charged as Minister to make a report as soon as possible on the works which should be undertaken by the department, which would thus become one of the most important in the Government. He accepted the portfolio only upon condition that it should represent the great interests of navigation, to which they were attached in the Province of Quebec. He described the confusion arising from having the St. Lawrence route under the engineers of so many departments—Lake Superior under Public Works, Welland Canal under Railways and Canals, Montreal under Public Works, and the lower St. Lawrence under Marine and Fisheries, and declared that this must cease.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

Jackson Johnson, of Norham, Ont., Finds Relief from Dyspepsia and Chronic Diarrhoea in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

When a man has suffered for twenty years with Dyspepsia; when he has tried doctors and medicines to no avail; when, to add to his other ailments, Chronic Diarrhoea has developed, and when at last that man finds relief from his complication of troubles in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, it is surely time to admit that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the one sure cure for Dyspepsia.

Such was the experience of Jackson Johnson of Norham, Ont. Here's what he writes regarding it:

"My case was an exceptional one of Chronic Dyspepsia. I had been doctoring for it for nearly twenty years, in which time I spent a large amount of money with doctors and for medicines. Two years ago I was taken with diarrhoea, which became chronic, and I became so weak I was confined to my bed.

"A person who had used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets induced me to try them and I have taken seventeen boxes up to the time of writing, and have steadily improved. I am prompted to write by a desire to induce others to give a trial to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, which I claim have been instrumental in taking me from the brink of the grave and restoring me to comparative good health."

STUART'S SON NOW IN JAIL.

Pleaded Guilty to Uttering Counterfeit Money at Hull.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—The latest development in the counterfeiting case is the arrest of William Stuart, son of the aged forger now awaiting sentence here. Young Stuart was caught at his home at Glen Robertson, Que., yesterday, by Col. Percy Sherwood, chief of the Dominion Police. Though nothing of an incriminating nature was found on the prisoner, or at his home, when arraigned yesterday morning in the Police Court at Hull he pleaded guilty to uttering counterfeit money. He was remanded for a week for sentence.

Young Stuart was arrested on the strength of information contained in letters found in his father's room at Raymond's Hotel here. Most of the letters were to the effect that the writer had been successful in disposing of the "pictures." It would seem, from the letters, that Mrs. Stuart, wife of the aged counterfeiter, had no criminal knowledge of the passing of the bad money.

Old William Stuart appeared before Magistrate Denison yesterday and was remanded for a week. Prior to the opening of the court, Stuart was escorted by Detective Forrest into the detective office and allowed to play his violin for a short time. The old man's one object in life now seems to be to get permission to take his violin to prison with him. The counterfeiter was taken from the detective office to Crown Attorney Curry's room, where some of his friends were waiting to see him. Mr. Curry questioned him, but he maintained a stubborn silence.

The case of young Stuart will be disposed of at Hull, Que.

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvellous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c., at Ormond & Walsh's.

YOU CAN TEST THE KIDNEYS

And Find out for Yourself Whether or not you are Becoming a Victim of Painful, Fatal Kidney Disease.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is not necessary for you to consult a specialist on kidney disease to find out if you are a victim of this dreadful derangement. You can test your kidneys at home, and satisfy yourself on this point.

Allow some urine to stand in a glass for twenty-four hours, and if at the end of that time you find sediment in the bottom of the vessel you can be sure that your kidneys are diseased.

Pains in the small of the back, and smarting when urinating, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, loss of flesh and strength, are other marked symptoms which indicate kidney disorders. Make this test for yourself. Consider whether you have any of these symptoms, and if you conclude that your kidneys are out of order begin at once to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They will bring prompt relief and will thoroughly cure you.

On account of their direct action on the kidneys Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure ailments of the kidneys when ordinary kidney medicines fail. They have proven their efficacy in many thousands of cases, and are endorsed by more people than any other kidney medicine extant.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years section foreman and now flagman for the G.T.R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foreman on the G.T.R. and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work.

"During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills; one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

OUT ON THE PLAIN

By Alice MacGowan

Copyright, 1901, by A. S. Richardson

"Arch," said Stella, laying her little hands on his powerful shoulders and looking at him with her ardent, courageous eyes, "you are all I have to love now, since—since daddy's gone, and if it was—if it was—lots worse than it is I'd go anyhow—all the more, maybe."

"And you shan't be sorry, dearest," answered Arch.' "You know yourself it never got such a hold on me before. I couldn't seem"—his sun and wind tanned face flushing a still darker red—"to get back to myself, to sense myself. It was all around me. Nearly all the other fellows drink, and I'd get at it again before I was really myself."

"I know, dear. Both of my brothers back in old Missouri are the same. That's what made daddy so bitter about you and me."

"But six months up on the plains, away from it all—and with you, Stella—it'll settle the whisky question forever. I ain't afraid to ask you, darling, and you know I'd rather die than bring trouble to you. I tell you, I know myself, and you'll see; I'll make it stick."

"What offer is it you have? Where are you—are we—going and what are you going to do?"

"Holbrook's going to send a herd of 6,000 cattle on to the Staked plain to a range he's picked out up there. It's raw country—Indians and buffalo barely off it—and it's big wages to go up with the herd and keep sign camp; takes some sand to do it, you know."

It was in the latter part of the seventies in western Texas, while the range was yet general and unfenced. The string of sign camps, with its riders circling the range a man had chosen for his cattle, was the living fence which held the animals from straying or from "drifting" before storms. These camps the cattleman placed as nearly as the question of water supply admitted at equal distances around his range or across such parts as had not the natural barrier of a river or canyon. In every camp were two men whose duty it was to ride out daily in opposite directions until they met the riders from the next adjoining camp, looking always for straying cattle and turning them back into the range.

"And the upper camp," Arch continued eagerly, "don't need but one rider, because it's right against the Canadian river. Holbrook will be glad to give it to me if I'll only come. We can live there the six months—it's big wages—and save every cent of the money. Then, with the little bunch I've got already running with Holbrook's cattle, we could begin for ourselves. Stella—oh, Stella," he broke off suddenly, "I'm the happiest man in Texas. It's like being taken out of hell and led plumb straight into heaven!"

They were married the next day. Stella's was the temperament which when once the heart has been given sends talents, abilities, the labor of the hands, all, gladly after it in devoted service. Then came a happy, exciting time buying Stella's outfit—that is to say, the things which old Hank Pearsall, head cook of the expedition, pronounced suitable to "a lady cowboy a-keepin' sign camp."

Finally the great caravan started lazily and ponderously up the trail. It was a marvelous pastoral panorama, and Stella's quick artist soul reveled in its quaint picturesqueness. She perceived it all—the country, the cattle, the means, the daily round—to be like a survival, a bit out of the life of some old Indian owner of herds.

There was the vast herd strung out and moving very slowly that the cattle might graze as they traveled, the cowboys riding along the sides, the six great mess wagons, hitched two or three together, with teams of eight and ten and even twelve horses, bringing up the rear. At night the cattle were rounded into a great mass and bedded down, the men taking turns by twos riding night herd, singing loudly to keep the animals quiet. Each mess wagon had its two men, its stock of provisions and a tent or some materials to build a dugout camp.

Stella came to have a sisterly affection and admiration for these big, rough fellows in whose company she fared slowly northward on that strange journey. She saw them day by day and night after night cheerily enduring hardships and facing dangers as great as those of the campaigning soldier. The riding of night herd, the crossing of rivers with treacherous current and quicksand bed, fighting to prevent or to quell a stampede—these things were attended with no glory. They were done with light hearts and jesting words daily and as a matter of course. And in the evening these champions came like great children to sit about her, listening while she sang old songs to the accompaniment of her guitar or told stories from such classics as she knew.

They had been three months in their little adobe house on the open plain, whose ingenuous yet inscrutable face Stella never wearied of studying. The clean, high air had been God's own medicine to her, and, with her heart full of happiness, she had thrived and blossomed, this dark beauty, in the raking wind and burning sun which destroy blond delicacy. And the grim, menacing "if" which at first lay so close behind her joy grew dimmer and dimmer. Every day when Arch came home to her or when, as often happened, she saddled up and rode out to meet him he shouted joyfully at sight of her: "Great Scott, but you're a beauty, honey! You're a howling beauty, no less!"

But today the terror was upon her She had waited, at first eagerly, impatiently, then anxiously and at last in a numb certainty of disaster. Four o'clock came, then 5, 6, 7, and Arch had not returned.

In the coldness of despair she put her own saddle upon Buckshot and an old one which Arch kept for emergencies on Creeping Moses. Leading the extra horse, she rode out as Arch had ridden at sunrise almost due east toward the adjoining camp. The great white moon of the high plains country shone in awful beauty over that waste of desolate emptiness.

"It might be an accident," Stella whispered. "Something might have happened to Arch or to Bob." Bob was the rider from the next camp who met Arch. "Why am I so sure it is the one thing? O God, let it be anything—anything but that! Not that! Not now, when we've lived in heaven together all these months and he seemed saved from it at last!"

So she rode across the blank, mysterious night alone straight toward the splendid moon. She was stone cold, cramped in the saddle and all her senses stunned down to one aching agony of dread, when, after three hours of fast riding, she suddenly saw before her silhouetted against the sky the figure of a man—Bob, she divined—standing not far from a saddled horse and bending over another man, who lay huddled and unsightly on the ground. And the pains of hell laid hold upon her heart.

The ponies' feet made almost no sound on the springy turf, and she was close at hand when the man turned, shoved back his big hat and ran to her, crying:

"I knew you'd come, honey! My Lord, how I hated to stay and give you such a scare! But Holbrook's dead drunk and got a broken leg. I guess, and the team must have run clean away with the buckboard. The wolves would have eaten him up if I'd left him to go to you or to Bob. It's the boss himself, Stella, and he's been mighty good to me. I couldn't"—

But Stella was not listening to him. Her wide eyes, so pitiful with pain and fear, had filled with merciful tears, and she only said: "Oh, Arch, forgive me, forgive me! Oh, I thank God—I'm so thankful, so happy!" And she rested against her husband's heart.

"I knew you'd be afraid of that, honey," returned Arch, with quick intuition. "I knew you'd think about the buckboard coming up from headquarters—maybe bringing a jug—and me letting go again. It just took the heart out of you, didn't it? And I couldn't do a thing but wait here, knowing, too, how you were suffering."

Stella sat where Arch tenderly placed her and watched him, clear eyed, smiling, capable, preparing Holbrook for the trip back to camp on Creeping Moses. When this was done, he put his arms around her, smiling down in her face. "Say, honey," he announced quietly, "the job's done, and done to stay. I knew it before. But I never knew it exactly, as I have these three or four hours out here alone, working over the poor old boss there. It's come to me, just a plain fact, that there's no more drinking business for me. The stuff's lost its hold on me. I don't—nor you don't—need to be scared of it any more. I'm going to boss the job myself and live my own life—see?" And he laughed back at him in pure joy and lightness of heart. That grim "if" was forever silenced.

Arch's fenced ranges run into three counties now, and on the headquarters ranch there is a great home, the abode of cheer and Texas hospitality.

"Keeley cure be blowed," he cried the other day when we were talking of young Roberts. "Send him to keep sign camp out on the Staked plain along with an angel like Stella. Maybe his mother would do.

"Give him six months of health up in that clean air and being alone with the plain, the sun and wind and God. That'll cure him, if he's worth saving."

When the young mother is allowed to get up for her first meal, even though she takes it alone, it seems good to her to take this one step nearer the family circle, and she counts the days until her strength will be fully restored. But very often strength does not come as expected, and she lingers in languor and weakness. At such a time there is need of an invigorating tonic, and the very best tonic which a nursing mother can use is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It contains no alcohol nor narcotics. It gives real strength.

"Favorite Prescription" is a reliable woman's medicine. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription too highly as a tonic for tired, worn-out women especially those who are afflicted with female weakness," writes Mrs. Ira W. Holmes, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. "It has helped me very much and a skilful physician said to me in answer to my question as to its efficacy, 'I know of cases where it has really worked wonders.'"

Americans Manners.

The ordinary Londoner who has not had the good fortune to cross the Atlantic is wont to picture his American cousin wearing a goatee and a victim to the constant chewing of tobacco and liberal expectoration. On arriving in New York he is amazed to discover that the goatee is conspicuous by its absence, tobacco chewing unnoticeable and expectoration practically unknown. In this respect he finds the New Yorker far more cleanly in his habits than the Londoner, more especially on public cars and in public places. The unrestrained indulgence of spitting on and off the tops of buses and in railway trains and the random chewing and smoking of tobacco in and around London are simply odious and make traveling intolerable and ofttimes disgusting even to a smoker. Here the strange prohibition against spitting in public places and the sensible regulation as to smoking are so thoroughly observed that traveling becomes a pleasure. If London would only copy the most admirable example existing in New York in this respect, the English metropolis would soon be rid of a most unwarrantable and filthy habit.

Cornered Frits.

Two Germans named respectively Rudolph and Fritz were invited to a special dinner.

It was impossible for Fritz to resist the temptation of stealing one of the silver spoons, so he managed to conceal one in his boot without any one observing him except Rudolph.

Rudolph also thought he would like a spoon. When the guests had finished, he took one of his spoons and said to the company:

"You see dis spoon? Vell, I put it up my sleeve, so." Then he waved his arms about. "Vell, you vill find it in Fritz's boot."

It was found.

Gifts For the Mourners.

Some delver into the musty old records of Harvard has brought to light an amusing provision with which one of the college's eighteenth century friends coupled what was for his time a very generous bequest to the Cambridge university.

Mr. Thomas Brattle was the testator's name, and his interest in Harvard evidently extended to the individual members of its undergraduate body, for after leaving £200, then the equivalent of about $3,000, to the college for its general uses his will gives half a crown to every student belonging to it who should attend his funeral.

Unfortunately no account of Mr. Brattle's obsequies is extant, but there can be little doubt that the occasion was made solemn by the presence of a large number of "chief mourners" and that good wishes for the deceased were generally and feelingly expressed.

Quite Consistent.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Nov. 13th. — New R. I. securities were listed on the exchange last night and will be dealt in, on the regular boards at opening to-day. There are $47,497,800 of non-cumulative preferred shares, $47,355,000 common, and $37,853,800 four per cent. bonds. Late London cables report markets better all around, believed to be due to buying orders and support from this side. Liquidation has been very heavy the past two weeks and yesterday there was the right kind of support for the first time in many days. We think we have seen the worst and are inclined to look for steadier markets, but nothing in the shape of bull movement. Foreign exchange continues firm at 487 1-8 b'd. There was talk late yesterday of gold exports at once, but we cannot find that any tentative arrangements have been made.

M. & M.

American stocks in London firm 1-4 to 1 1-4 above parity; Bank of England rate unchanged. President Osgood, of C.P.I. says Hawley, Gould, Harriman group are seeking control of New R. I. issue listed to-day. Conclusion of western liquidation considered to have strengthened market. Rumoured American sugar surplus increased $10,000 last year. No further cut in refined, sugar likely. Amalgamated Copper insiders deny adverse influence of recent election in Montana. Fair borrowing demand for Atchison, and B. and O., N. & W., and S. P. Iron Age says that general conditions of iron trade continues favourable. Thirty-three roads 1st week November gross 8.72 per cent. increase; 20 active roads advanced 61.

DOW, JONES & CO.

New York, Nov. 13th, 10.00 a.m.—Subtreasury shows banks lost $4,227,000 since Friday. There is no indication of any let up soon from these conditions. Post and Flagg buying U.P. Manson also bought. Halstead buying S. P. Selling scattered.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM FIELD OF SPORT.

Western Series to be Played Over Again—Toronto Club Drops out of Schedule—Curlers Meet This Evening.

CURLING.

The curlers of the town are reminded of the meeting in the rink parlours this evening.

* * * *

Sporting Editor Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — I am not a curler, but am as often an interested spectator of the game as many members of the club. Permit me to differ a little with the spirit of your article, practically, if guardedly, advocating the amalgamation of the two existing curling clubs. In the abstract rivalry has a tendency to deepen interest, and hereafter curling has the field, or rather the ice, all to itself. The absence of the inevitable interference of hockey with curling at the Charlotte street rink, gives an opportunity for two clubs to compete in friendly rivalry. No practice sharpens play and keeps the player so constantly on his mettle, as a bona fide match. This is true of football, as well as curling, and if the football team had a chance for frequent matches with a friendly local team, in which the game would be played right up to championship standard, there would be much more effective practice, and that much more experience in the actual conditions that arise in a championship match. So with curling; there is ample room for practice, and for friendly games, in the Charlotte street rink. The town is large enough to maintain two strong clubs, and the element of friendly rivalry between the two clubs, will result in conditions that will enable both clubs to meet outside opponents in better form than could be brought about by loose, purposeless practice, which, I think, would be the rule in the absence of the rivalry, even though it be friendly and nominal, between distinct clubs, each of which would have its own esprit du corps, and distinct ambition. By all means maintain the two clubs—that is the sentiment of SPECTATOR.

O.R.F.U. EXECUTIVE.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the O.R.F.U., was held last night, at the Rossin House, Toronto, with Vice-President George S. Gibbons, in the chair, in the absence of the President A. W. Ballantyne. The other members present were Fred Thompson, S. S. DuMoulin, Geo. Ballard, and Secretary Frank D. Woodworth.

The chief business before the executive was the protest of the London Club against the Toronto Club for playing Bert Morrison, who, it was alleged, was a professional. The executive at a former meeting had requested a declartion from Morrison in regard to his amateur standing while playing hockey in Pittsburg. Morrison failed to make the necessary declaration and the meeting declared him a professional.

A long argument ensued then as to what should be done in regard to the games in which Morrison played. The executive considered that all three clubs had more or less knowledge of the suspicion that Morrison was a professional, and on motion the western section of the Intermediate series was declared null and void as far as games played so far. A new series was drawn as follows:

November. 15, Argonauts at Toronto; S. S. DuMoulin, Hamilton, referee.
November 22, winner at London.

The winner of the above series of games will in all probability be sent to Peterborough for the final on November 29.

In regard to the Argonauts having played alleged senior men in their game last Saturday against Toronto, it was decided to leave the matter to President Ballantyne for a ruling as to whether the game played by the Argonauts in Hamilton at the first of the season, should count, and be recognized by the Union. If this game counted, certain members of last Saturday's Intermediate Argonaut team would be barred.

RUGBY.

This morning the local club received a telephone message from Toronto stating that the Toronto Club had dropped out of the series. This leaves London, Argonauts and Peterborough to fight out the championship. The arrangements for the final games have not yet been made.

* * * *

Queen's football club's trunk, with both teams uniforms, had not arrived from Toronto last night. It had been held for excess weight by the railway company. As a result the players have been put to great inconvenience, and have had scarcely any practive.

* * * *

The Peterborough Club has received a substantial offer from the Young Torontos to play an exhibition game in that city on Saturday next. The matter is under the consideration of the officers of the local club.

* * * *

Westmount J. and Quebec met on Westmount Park, on Saturday in a football match in the Quebec Rugby finals. The Quebec club was defeated by a score of four to nothing, the four points being made in the last half. The ground was too soft to permit of good playing, but the game was well fought by both sides.

Though eWstmount won, the points on the two matches stand 6 to 4, so Quebec will meet the O.R.F.U. champions for the Canadian championship. The line up of the Westmount team was as follows: Pugh, full back; Tofield, Stocking, Lebel, half-back; McWilliams, quarter back; Carter, Good and Lindsay, scrimmage; Scott, McGillivray, Potter, Rattray, Jones, McGreevy, Siefert, wings.

It will be observed that the Westmount team contains at least eight of the players who played against Peterborough two years ago.

* * * *

A despatch from Syracuse says: — "One of the greatest curiosities ever seen on a football gridiron is Benjamin Owen of this city, who possesses only one leg. Owen plays guard on the O.D.A. team. He appeared in a game at Star Park yesterday. People noticed him hobbling about on crutches before the game, but no one thought he would take part. When the teams lined up he was in his place against the Western Union team, and in every attack was a powed, holding his opponent easily. When the ball was taken by his team down the field he went leaping along, keeping up with the fleetest. When the other side got the ball he was right in the centre of the scrimmage. His side finally won the game by a score of 10 to 0."

* * * *

The London News says: "In Peterborough the popularity of the Rugby football fifteen is kept up by the holding of annual dances. They win championships so seldom down there on their merits that other methods have to be resorted to to keep the dead wood aflame." Wouldn't that scald you? Especially coming from a London paper!

The game which was announced in yesterday's Examiner to take place on Saturday afternoon between the Rough Riders of the South End, and St. John's choir boys, is called off, as the Norwood High School boys and and the Peterborough Collegiate Institute team play on that day.

HOCKEY.

A city hockey league will be formed in Belleville, composed of teams from the different colleges and other players this winter.

THE TURF.

A well known veterinary surgeon, who has given the subject of speed-producing stimulants considerable attention, says that the practice in on the increase. Cocaine is the basis of most of the stimulants used now, proportionately combined with strychnine. Coffee and whiskey are employed to make the drenches, and glycerine and licorice to make the balls. The surgeon has given the matter some attention from a scientific point of view. In his opinion speed stimulants are all right, if used moderately, and under proper restrictions. Prescriptions have been improved until now an owner can give his horse a stimulant, fetch him to the paddock, send him to the post, and time the operation so closely that the drug will not produce effects until the animal is at the post. They can do this so cleverly that in most instances there is no washing and no outward appearance at all in the paddock that the animal has been "doped."

New York, Nov. 13th, 11.30.—Feature of trading is the selling by bears and brokers who were large buyers on breaks yesterday, taking profits and putting out fresh lines of shorts. Further struggling liquidation is also reported and market is losing its early strength under this selling.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 13th, 1.00 p.m.—Wheat and corn unchanged both here and in Liverpool yesterday. Car lots wheat, 103; corn 124; oats, 128. Chicago — wheat opened steady, commission houses bought. Locals sold. Nothing conspicuous so far to trade. Firm cables and bad weather for movement are very strengthening influences. Fair demand for December and not much for sale lifted prices a cent. Patton has been a good buyer of December corn on advance. Liverpool close wheat unchanged to 1-8 lower. Corn unchanged.

DENISON.

Cotton.—Fair demand, prices are two points advance to 448 for mid. Sales 10,000. Futures opened firm at 3 1-2 to 4 points above as compared with Saturday. Futures steady at 3 1-2 to 4 advance from yesterday. These cables are hardly full response to strength our market yesterday. We believe cotton may be safely bought for a turn on any decline from present level.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 12th. — Tuesday's market has been better. There was also an absence of the urgent selling noticeable on Saturday and Monday last. Stocks sold on those two days evidently found safe lodging where they will be cared for. The market all along the line is at an extremely low level, and while it is not possible to state that the low prices will not again be reached or even in some instances to a slight degree more than equalled, it is impossible to believe that the market should from this point be more likely to do better than to do worse. The parties who were so out-spokenly bullish about the 1st of September upon their return from Europe, are evidently re-purchasing the stocks they then sold under cover of their bullish utterances. The Waldorf-Astoria crowd, who have been buying the market just prior to election day, were free buyers on Monday afternoon and Tuesday, were out spoken in their belief that the decline had gone about as far as they considered possible. The veteran operator, Mr. J. R. Keene, who has been silent for some time past, yesterday spoke as follows:—"There has been so much writing about gold exports and expansion of loans, that an atmosphere of encircling gloom seems to have enveloped Wall street, until sensible men have lost their heads. So far as railroads are concerned, there never was ahead of them such a large volume of business and the most influential and sagacious railroad presidents unhesitatingly predict larger net earnings for a year to come than railroads have ever enjoyed before. The demands of wage earners on the roads are being carefully considered. The exports of manufacturers, wheat, cotton, and other products are on a scale, equalling, if not exceeding, those of last year. I have not changed my opinion one iota from that which I have entertained for six months past. There is no dispute that since Saturday morning last fully one million shares of stock have been liquidated by pools and public. It has found secure lodgment. Tuesday's market, with absence of liquidation, plainly emphasizes the fact. Even should the market be going to record still lower prices, we feel very confident that an average improvement of fully five per cent. will be witnessed first."

Summary.—To-day's market was apparently opened at as low prices as it was possible to make. Then an effort was plainly made to buy as many stocks as possible, accompanied by the endeavour to hold down prices. After an early rally there was a nervous, fitful decline, followed by a renewal of the buying movement. Stocks generally sold higher than last night's closing. Sales, 1,193,000.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Joffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., says: "I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief, and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this Ointment.

NEWS FOR FARMERS.

A Strong Effort Will be Made to Stamp out the Pea Weevil.

Many farmers in this district are growing peas for American and French companies. For some eyars this was the principal farm product of the Bay of Quinte District, but it had to be discontinued, owing to the destruction caused by the pea weevil. This same insect is causing considerable trouble around Peterborough, and the farmers will be pleased to learn that energetic measures will be taken by the Department of Agriculture to stamp out the destroyer, and the best means will be communicated to the various Farmers' Institutes before spring opens.

The new candidates spoken of are Messrs. T. H. Cummings, C. Donnelly, Thos. Bennett and Job Coon. The present county councillors for this district are Mr. J. B. Pearce and Mr. W. H. Jeffs, Mr. Jeffs on account of business changes is likely to retire. Mr. Pearce who has represented the district since its formation and whose ability is recognized by all, will likely in the interests of the district, accept the nomination for another term. A GIGANTIC SCHEME.

2,000,000 Acres in New Ontario to Be Settled in 10 Years.

AMERICAN SYNDICATE'S PLANS.

Colonization on a Very Large Scale—Fifty Thousand Settlers Promised For New Ontario—In Case Townships Are Set Apart For Settlement by Syndicate It Must Be Completed in 18 Months.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—As a result of the conference on Wednesday between representatives of the Government and of the American syndicate who are seeking lands in new Ontario, a general understanding has been reached, and a draft agreement is being prepared to carry out the greatest colonization scheme which has ever been floated in this country.

In a general way the Americans undertake the colonization of 2,000,000 acres of land within ten years, which means the location of 12,500 actual settlers, or probably 50,000 people. They will pay the Government 50 cents an acre, as in the case of ordinary settlement, and in all cases will comply with the ordinary settlement regulations now in force, the patent to issue direct to the settler, the company having the right to sell their right to the land at a price to be agreed upon with the purchaser, but not to exceed $3 per acre in any case.

At the conferences on Wednesday the Government was represented by Hon. E. J. Davis, Commissioner of Crown Lands and Mr. Thomas Southworth, Director of Colonization, while the syndicate was represented by Mr. J. F. Egan of Rock Island, Ill., and former Judge W. H. Utt of Chicago, both of whom have been very active throughout the negotiations.

Hon. Mr. Davies' Opinion.

Mr. Davis, in speaking yesterday of the negotiations, said the project had been discussed very fully, that Mr. Egan and Judge Utt had met his views on many points that had been raised, and that a draft agreement was being prepared for submission to Council, which, if approved, would be formally ratified within two or three weeks.

What the Proposal Is.

"The proposition seems to be an excellent one for the purpose of colonization," said Mr. Davis. "The Government have absolute control as to the class of settlers to be brought in to be placed upon the lands, the quantity of land which may be handed over each session, and while the maximum amount of land is stated to be 2,000,000 acres, the agreement will provide that at any time the Government may discontinue giving land which it seems to be in the public interest so to do. They agree to construct certain leading roads, and to afford other advantages for the opening up of the country. The land will be paid for at the usual Government price to settlers of 50 cents per acre, the patent only to issue when the usual settlement conditions are complied with, and only to the settler, and in no case to the company, and each settler gets the usual quantity of land provided for in the act, 160 acres. The company bind themselves to pay the settler's transportation to his location, loan him money to help in the erection of buildings and improvements, and will have the right to sell to the settler at such a price as may be mutually agreed upon, but not in any case to exceed $3 per acre. They cannot get land until they put settlers upon it. The proposition is to give them townships where the public interest will be served by so doing, and not interfere with our ordinary inflow of settlers under the present Colonization Bureau. It shall also be specially provided that in the case of areas set apart for the company the rights of veterans who are entitled to land grants of one lot per square mile shall in no wise be interfered with.

To Be Settled in 18 Months.

"The maximum period of the settlement of the two million acres is ten years, and when a township is set apart for settlement of the company it must be all occupied within eighteen months. Failing complete settlement by that time, the unsettled portions are open for general settlement, as before. All the settlers must become Canadian citizens.

"If the plan goes through it will largely increase the number of settlers going into new Ontario per annum, and will have a material effect upon the prompt development of the unsettled areas of new Ontario, and will increase the markets for supplies of various kinds for the business men of old Ontario.

What Mr. Egan Says.

It is understood Mr. Egan is to be president and general manager, and Judge Utt, who is with him, is chief counsel of the syndicate, though he also represents some of the financial interests.

"The company has extensive arrangements to make, but it is well under way. We propose to take full charge of the settler from the time he leaves his home to take up his new residence in Ontario. We will supply him, when necessary, with stock, seed, agricultural implements, and even build his house for him."

"How does your company expect to make anything out of the scheme?" Mr. Egan was further asked.

The reply was, "We will do all the worrying necessary along that line, and live to find a satisfactory answer to the question. If we lose anything, we are the only ones who will suffer."

HAVE CLEARED DECKS

Germany Armed and Ready for Tariff War With U. S.

A SHOWING OF BARED TEETH.

"Will Gain the Fatherland More Than by Always Giving Pleasant Words," Says Dr. Bruer, National Liberal—Reichstag Adopts Bill Authorizing Government to Retaliate Against Discrimination.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The Reichstag yesterday adopted by 192 to 71 votes the paragraph of the new tariff bill authorizing the Government to retaliate on any country discriminating against German goods. The agrarians openly affirmed that it was necessary to arm the Government with weapons for reprisals especially against the United States' customs practices.

Dr. Bruer, National Liberal, related an instance in which he said $200,000 worth of enameled goods were ordered in Germany for New York, but the speaker asserted the customs officials "changed the classification at the instance of the American trust, whereupon the New York importers cancelled the order."

He continued: "It is stated that we must not offend the United States but they will respect us more, and we shall gain more, by showing our teeth than by always giving pleasant words."

Herr Gothein, Radical Liberal, replied that such words were no fitting epilogue to the sentiments expressed by Count Posadowsky, the Home Secretary, in the presence of the Foreign Secretary, Baron von Richthoff, at Ambassador White's farewell dinner.

"They will make discord," he continued, "among the wishes spoken there for friendly relations with the United States. Why empower the Government to do something it does not Rant to do? Although the present Government might not apply the paragraph, some succeeding Government might commit such a folly. Retaliatory duties are weapons of chauvinism and not patriotism.

Herr Finchback, Radical, said all the chambers of commerce were opposed to a tariff war with the United States.

Herr Broemel, Radical, remarked that if Germany adopted retaliatory measures against the United States on account of regulations which applied to the goods of all countries it would be a serious breach of the existing treaties.

The Associated Press is authorized to announce that the ministry has not decided to drop the tariff bill, as published in London, but is determined to persist until the dissolution of the Reichstag in June.

For the Victoria Memorial.

London, Nov. 14.—In acknowledging the final installment of $75,000 contributed by people in the United States towards the Queen Victoria Memorial Fund, Lord Mayor Samuel yesterday wrote to Chairman Van Duser of the American Committee as follows:

"The liberality shown by your countrymen is a practical demonstration of the regard and esteem entertained for Her Majesty in the United States. The generous tribute will touch the hearts of the English people."

Within an Inch of Death.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Helen Costello of Buffalo was rescued from the brink of the American falls yesterday by employes of the State Reservation. The woman, who had attempted suicide, was seen clinging to a submerged log at a point a few feet below the Goat Island bridge. A noose was fitted about the body of John Marshall, a reservation employe, and he was lowered into the washing waters. He succeeded in reaching the woman's side, and placed a rope about her waist.

French Strike Peters Out.

Paris, Nov. 14.—The general coal miners' strike has practically come to an end, although many of the men are still holding out. About two-thirds of the strikers have already returned to work at the mines. The miners' congress now being held at Lens has voted in favor of the resumption of work. A few isolated dynamite outrages are reported from various points in the strike region, but the damage done was slight and of a purely material character.

Alfred McDougall Ill.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Alfred McDougall, ex-solicitor to the Ontario Treasury, is ill at his home with nervous prostration. He was unable to appear when his case was called in the Police Court yesterday, and an adjournment till Nov. 17 was made. The bail was renewed.

To Recognize Purity.

Adulteration has grown to such a fine art, that it is almost impossible for a woman now-a-days to detect the false from the true; but a chemical analysis will always detect adulteration. Prof. W. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he. 219

OUR MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is very inconsiderate. In appointing a Minister of Public Works to succeed Hon. Mr. Tarte, he has not consulted the Mail and Empire and has discourteously ignored all the names recommended by that organ. Sir Wilfrid had the responsibility and has acted in the best interests of the country, and there is every prospect that his action in appointing Hon. Jas. Sutherland will be amply justified by results, especially from Ontario's point of view. Mr. Sutherland is the first Ontario Minister of Public Works since the late Hon. Alex. Mackenzie held the port folio. Hon. Mr. Sutherland has had a large experience as a public man, and in the department of Marine and Fisheries he has shown the business ability and energy which promise well for his creditably performing the duties of Minister of Public Works. The accident of his being a representative of an Ontario constituency will make no difference, we are sure, in the administration of his department. His predecessor has shown that every part of the country has received due attention irrespective of sectional consideration. Hon. Mr. Sutherland as Minister of Marine and Fisheries developed a deep interest, and put on foot important plans for the important work of improving the navigable channel of the St. Lawrence. This is a work which has a connection with our own enterprise—the Trent Canal. With a first-class channel from Montreal to the gulf, with our excellent system of completed and incomparable St. Lawrence canals, the Trent Canal enterprise assumes new importance, and the necessity of its completion becomes more urgent. Though Mr. Sutherland has no direct official responsibility in respect of construction work on the canal, as head of the Department of Public Works, he is in a position to greatly increase the advantages the country, and especially this town, will enjoy through the completion of the work and associated improvements in connection with the system. We feel certain that Mr. Sutherland will take the same liberal and progressive views and actions in regard to local improvements, for which we have to gratefully remember Mr. Tarte, and it is hoped that before long the justification of this confidence may be practically demonstrated.

OUR GROWING TRADE.

Canada's foreign trade is still growing, and at the rate of growth of the past the figures of increase will reach no less a sum than $37,000,000. The gain in exports over imports was $10,000,000. The gain in imports as compared with the first four months of last year, are $4,111,650, the aggregate trade for four months ending Oct. 31st, was $152,214,482; increase, $11,878,015. Imports for same period, $71,081,136; gain of $4,116,658. Exports, $81,133,346; increase, $7,761,957. Excess of exports over imports, $10,052,210. Imports of dutiable goods for four months, $44,700,502; increase, $5,714,424. Imports of free goods for the four months, $25,091,040; decrease, $360,050. Exports of mine products decreased by $1,754,706, and fisheries by $304,744. Exports of forest products increased by $2,538,915; animals and their product by $4,654,353; agricultural products by $2,069,010, and manufactures by $525,908. Increase in the exports of manufactures at the rate of nearly two millions a year, considerably weakens the claim of certain manufacturers to increased protection.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A few months ago the Conservative cry in respect of the Kingston seat was bring in a protest and hang the ex-Pense. Now the protest has been dropped and the newspaper man is a four-years' fixture.

Canada is third in the list of leading gold-producing countries in the world, the United States taking first place last year, with $78,666,700; Australia, $76,880,200, and Canada, $24,128,500. The total gold production of the world last year was $263,374,700.

The Filippinos have given their American antagonists a pretty severe scrimmage, and their fighting spirit and resources are not yet exhausted, but if the cholera, as the latest advices assert, decides to take a hand in the contest, the United States will find the problem of forcing the higher civilization upon their new subjects, by means of the water cure, and other mild methods, seriously complicated. The Filippinos' bolos gives it to their American friends in the neck, but cholera will take them in the solar plexus.

HOOP-NET FISHING

Allowed in Rice Lake, but for Coarse Fish Only.

Some protests against the permission of hoop-net fishing in Rice Lake have been brought to the attention of the Fisheries Department. Mr. Bastedo said to-day that the regulations governing the traffic are stringent, and the taking of bass and maskinonge is prohibited on penalty of forfeiture of licenses. Mudcats and suckers and other coarse fish are caught by nets, and in this way the gamier fishes' fry are protected. There is a market for the coarse fish in the States.—Toronto Star.

PORTLAND CEMENT.

Peterborough's Store of Raw Material

The increased demand for Portland cement in Ontario will likely result in the establishment of several cement industries in the province. A gentleman called on the Bureau of Mines on Saturday morning, and made enquiries about securing a lake in Peterborough county, which contains a great quantity of marl. He desires to drain the lake, in order to take out the marl. He claims that there is plenty of splendid clay in the vicinity, and a good water power, near which he would locate his industry.—Toronto News.

AS TO CANADIAN FORESTRY.

Immense Possibilities of Our Forest Resources.

Third Annual Official Report—Ontario may Some Day own 25,000,000 Acres of Forest—Paper by Mr. Thomas Southworth.

The official report of the third annual meeting of the Canadian Forestry Association, which has just been received, is exceedingly interesting, and contains a great deal of practical information on a subject of which too little is known, and to which too little attention is given by the general publis. The immense possibilities of our northern forest resources are shown by the following extract from the papor by Mr. Thomas Southworth, Director of Forestry for Ontario:

"Although we have at present only 2,634,000 acres in forest reserves, I do not think it unreasonable to expect that ultimately the Crown forest of Ontario will comprise fully 25,000,000 acres, a State forest larger than is possessed by any other country I know of. What a forest of this size, owned by the people as a whole, will mean to the revenue of the province when placed under scientific control and systematically worked is difficult to conjecture. Already with our wasteful methods, and when only a small part of this territory is being operated, the province receives in revenue about $1,000,000 per year, and that this sum could be enormously increased under the conditions referred to no one, I think, will entertain any serious doubt. The composition of this vast forest is such as to make it the most valuable in the world. While it contains a large quantity of spruce and birch, the paper and furniture woods par excellence, it is the natural habitat of the most valuable tree of them all—the lordly white pine, the tree that has already been so largely the cause of the unique position occupied by the Province of Ontario, in being a country without a debt and where the people are not subject to any direct tax for State purposes."

The papers are valuable and interesting, and the illustrations are excellent, showing the lumbering industry in all its phases.

DRAWING TRADE LINES CLOSER

A British Syndicate Formed to Handle Canadian Produce.

Mr. Walter R. Nursey is now in Canada prosecuting the establishment of the Canadian Produce Corporation. The promoters of the enterprise contemplate the establishment of depots and retail shops and bakeries in the principal cities of Great Britain, where the best food products of Canada may be sold at prices lower than the wholesale and retail prices hitherto prevailing. An influential directorate has already been formed for which the Earl of Aberdeen and Lord Balfour of Burleigh, the Secretary for Scotland, in Mr. Balfour's Cabinet, are the trustees, and the organization of financial support is now the business of the promoters. The Expositor knows nothing of the merits of this enterprise beyond what appear on the face, but of the desirability, in the interests of Canada, of the carrying out of some such scheme, there can be no doubt.—Brantford Expositor.

AUSTRALIA WANTS BLACK BASS

A Request Which can Scarcely be Complied With.

A curious inquiry reached the Provincial Fisheries Department on Wednesday, from Australia, in the form of a request for particulars of the cost of black bass per thousand, the proper season to apply for them in order to transport them to Australia, and the probable cost of freight per steamer with a supply of ice. It was evident that the writer had heard of the extensive work carried on by the department in restocking the inland waters of the province with bass. A reply was sent that in the opinion of the department it would be impossible to ship bass to Australia. It's an easy thing to ship mutton to England on ice, but to lay down Rice Lake bass alive in Australia, over 15,000 miles of sea, would be a more serious affair, especially to the vitality of the fish.

AN EASY WAY

To Keep Well.

It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all-important thing is to keep stomach right, and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a capricious appetite and a feeling that certain favourite articles of food must be avoided.

Prof. Wiechold gives pretty good advice on this subject. He says: "I am 68 years of age and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bran crackers, or dieting of any sort; on the contrary, I always eat what my appetite craves, but daily for the past eight years I have made it a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets.

"My physician first advised me to use them, because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only the natural digestives, peptones and diastase, and after using them a few weeks I have never ceased to thank him for his advice.

"I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing and preserves health to the well and strong."

Men and women past fifty years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used, is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well-regulated household from Maine to California, and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favour.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full-sized packages, at 50 cents, and for a weak stomach a fifty cent package will often do fifty dollars worth of good.

To Show Jury How a Person Dies From Strychnine.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 14.—A frog was poisoned in court yesterday to show a jury the agonies of a human being dying from being poisoned with strychnine. Paul Woodward, who is alleged to have lured two boys, Brice Jennings and Paul Coffin, from this city into the woods and having caused their death with strychnine, was on trial, and Prof. Marshall of the University of Pennsylvania, was testifying. He took some of the poison extracted from the liver of the Coffin boy, it is alleged, and forced it into a live frog. The jury and all others in court became intensely interested. In a few minutes the frog went into convulsions. The professor explained the action of the drug as the writhing frog exhibited all the agonies that Coffin had suffered as he died. The experiment caused a sensation in the court-room.

A SOURCE OF SURPRISE

To Physician and Patient Alike.

Dr. Redmond, a specialist in the study and treatment of piles and rectal diseases, recently stated that the Pyramid Pile Cure, the recent discovery for the cure of piles, was the most remarkable remedy he had ever seen or tried in one respect; and that was the instant relief experienced in all cases, no matter how severe, from the moment the remedy was applied; this was the more surprising to him, because he had carefully analysed the preparation and no trace of opium, cocaine, or similar poison, could be detected.

Physicians look with great favour upon the Pyramid Pile Cure, because it is rapidly taking the place of surgical operations, and because it is so simple, so easily applied, and contains no mineral or other poisons, so commonly used in pile cures.

Dr. Eastbrook reports that the Pyramid Pile Cure, not only cures the various forms of piles, but never fails to give immediate relief on the first application, no matter how severe the pain or the discomfort may be.

People who have suffered from piles for years, are often astonished at the instant relief experienced from the first application. Another important advantage is the fact that anyone can use the remedy without detention from business or interference with daily occupation.

Mr. J. W. Rollins, of Sweet Springs, Mo., writes: "I consider the Pyramid Pile Cure without an equal; it cured me in less than 30 days. I waited 15 days or more to be sure I was fully cured before writing you; I can now say I am cured, and I shall recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure at every possible opportunity, because it deserves it.

The popularity of this remedy is such, that all druggists now sell it at 50 cents a package, and its sales exceed those of all similar remedies combined.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their book on cause and cure of piles.

MONEY IS TOO SCARCE

Requirements of Circulation Reaching a Crisis.

WHAT CANADIAN BANKERS THINK

Mr. E. B. Clouston, President of the Canadian Bankers' Association, Reviews the Financial Condition of the Country—Suggestion as to How Note Circulation of Banks Should Be Increased.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The Canadian Bankers' Association yesterday closed its annual meeting in Toronto. Most of the members succeeded in getting away on the evening train. President Clouston did not attend the final meeting on account of illness. The officers were elected at the morning session.

The most interesting feature of the business of the day was the receipt of a communication from the Winnipeg sub-section of the Canadian Bankers' Association, detailing the business situation and general conditions in Western Canada, as understood by the bankers of Winnipeg and the surrounding section. The communication was addressed to the president and members of the association and was dated Nov. 6. The statement explained that the currency circulation proposition was becoming a serious one, in view of the vast movement of grain and the requirements for the breaking of new wheat land in the Western States and Territories. The statement calls especial attention to the volume of the present cereal movement and the necessity for funds to handle same.

President Clouston read his annual address. After a reference to the bountiful harvest and the satisfactory manner in which the grain has been moved he plunges into the financial position of the banks.

The assets of Canadian banks now total the large sum of $610,928,000. A year ago they were $553,900,000. Ten years ago they were only $291,600,000. We have more than doubled the volume of our business in a single decade. That the last twelve months have been profitable to us the fact that surplus earnings, the Rest Account, has risen from $36,903,000 to $41,130,000, bears convincing witness. Note circulation is a measure of the activity of a country's business. Ten years ago a bank circulation of $34,000,000 was found adequate for the requirements of Canadian trade; a year ago $56,000,000 sufficed, while to-day the margin available on the amount of the banks are authorized to circulate must be exceedingly small.

Our foreign trade amounted to $414,000,000, as compared with $377,000,000 the preceding year, and $230,000,000 ten years before. Agricultural and dairy products must ever constitute the largest part of our export trade, but it is significant of our growing industrial importance that in the year recently ended we sold to other countries manufactures to the extent of $18,500,000, or about $2,500,000 more than in the preceding twelve months.

The president then refers to the question of circulation. The banks have pretty nearly reached their limit of note circulation as fixed by the Bank Act, namely, the paid-up capital, and the question was whether some modification of the act should not be asked for. He says no radical change in the fundamental principles of our currency system should be undertaken. He believed that any legislation looking to the provision of easy facilities for inflating the currency will weaken the stability of the banks and tend to impair the system, which has been established.

The president continues: It has been suggested that banks be permitted to issue circulation to the extent of their paid-up capital and their reserve fund, or a portion of it. What guarantee is there that a reserve fund is a concrete asset? A weak management may exaggerate it, and we know assets have shrunk to the appraisement of new management. There is also the loss of the double liability which attaches to capital stock. Banking legislation is not framed for the circumstances of the moment, but is supposed to be founded on fixed and sound principles of finance, applicable to periods of stress and strain, as well as prosperity.

To base circulation on a rest account would be a departure, and would weaken our currency system. Viewing the fact that the banking capital during the last twenty-five years has practically remained stationary, the remedy seems simple. If we do not choose to adopt it, then it should always be possible in emergencies to obtain notes from the Government by deposit of gold or Dominion notes, but this does away with the elasticity of the system, and if indulged in to any great extent will inevitably lead to periods of aggravated financial stringency, such as are not uncommon with our neighbors across the line. The opening of branches in hitherto unoccupied districts in the Northwest (by facilitating the deposit of currency) will relieve the tension to some degree, but if Canada advances, as we hope and expect she will, I am afraid it is only a question of time when we may be brought face to face with the same condition of affairs again.

WHEN BABY COMES.

"Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into the here.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?
Some of the starry spikes left in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here."

The fact is as sad as it is true that the baby finds the tear waiting to dull its blue eyes, and stain its soft cheeks. At the first it "has no language but a cry." Its one necessity is but to give expression to its suffering, and for that a tear suffices.

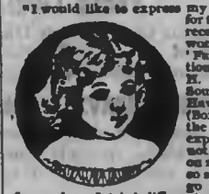
The mother who stoops in anguish over the wailing child would do anything to ease its suffering. But she is helpless. The time when she could have done so much for her child is past. She did not realize that in those anxious nervous days when she shrank from the ordeal of motherhood she was preparing suffering for the baby.

The path of motherhood is soothed and made easy for those who use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives physical buoyancy and mental brightness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages a healthy appetite and induces refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength for her hour of trial, and the confidence and content which come from strength. It makes the birth hour practically painless, and by increasing the natural, food secretions, it enables the healthy mother to enjoy the happiness of nursing her child.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, or any other narcotic.

A Mother's Gratitude.

"I would like to express my gratitude to you for the benefit I have received from your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. H. C. Anderson, of South Britain, New Haven Co., Conn., (Box 33). "During the first month of expectancy I could not keep anything on my stomach. Was so sick that I had to go to bed and stay for weeks. I tried different doctors, but with little benefit. I read about many being helped by using your medicine, so I thought I would give it a trial. I began to take your 'Favorite Prescription' in November and I had a nice little girl baby in February following. My baby weighed over eight pounds. I was only sick about one hour, and got along nicely afterward; was up and dressed on the eighth day. I never had the doctor with me at all; just the nurse and one or two friends. My friends thought that I was sick a very short time. I think Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is indeed a true 'mother's friend,' for it helped me wonderfully. This makes my second child; with the first one I did not take 'Favorite Prescription.' The little one lived just about two months and she was sick all the time. This last baby is as plump and healthy as any mother could wish."



Much Better Health.

Mrs. Annie Blacker, 699 Catherine Street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby. I have recommended your medicines to several of my friends and they have been benefited by them."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Has Respect For Competition.

Montreal, Nov. 14.— Sir William Macdonald, the largest and oldest of Canadian tobacco manufacturers, was before the tobacco inquiry yesterday morning. He is not directly interested, as the investigation is into methods of handling Canadian tobacco. He deals only in foreign. He told the commission some interesting things regarding the business. He did not believe in putting a Canadian duty in competition with a tropical climate in the production of tobacco. He said he had never gone into the trade agreement plan, as he had an instinctive repugnance to restrictions. He has been popularly supposed to be secure from competition. Sir William evinced the greatest respect for competition.

Narrow Escape of Two Men.

Orillia, Nov. 14.—Frank McPherson, junior member of the firm of C. The hoist broke after about a ton had been put upon it, and Mr. McPherson was pinned down by the machinery. Mr. Ritchie had a bad fall, and his arm was injured by flying splinters. His legs were also badly affected by the drop. Mr. McPherson's injuries consist of a broken rib and wounds on the face. He is getting along well.

Found a Dead Man.

Nipissing, Nov. 14.—During an afternoon walk on the shores of Duck Lake on Sunday last William Multby, J.P., Frank Sloman, farmer, and a number of others noticed near the side of a brush pile fragments of a shirt and the arm of a human being. Upon closer investigation the remains of an elderly man were found, badly decomposed. The body is supposed to be that of an old gentleman who wandered away some months ago from his hut here and has not been heard of since. Foul play is suspected.

On the stage, too, were seated probably one hundred, who chose this place, prominent and unviting though it was, rather than miss the treat. It is understood that the proceeds were greatly in excess of those of the last appearance of Jessie Maclachlan here." BRAVERY WAS RECOGNIZED.

His Worship Mayor Denne Made Presentation

On Behalf of Royal Canadian Humane Society to Miss Isabel Hay—Presented With Address and Medal.

Last night at the residence of Mr. T.A.S. Hay, McDonel street, His Worships Mayor T. H. G. Denne, on behalf of the Royal Canadian Humane Society, presented Miss Isabel Hay with an appropriately worded address and a medal in recognition of her heroism in saving from drowning at Chemong Lake, last summer, Miss Maud Allen, Port Hope. The circumstances of Miss Hay's bravery and presence of mind are too well known here to require further mention. The matter was brought to the notice of the Royal Canadian Humane Society with the result that Miss Hay's action has been suitably recognized. The affair last night was not attended with ceremony. His Worship called at the residence of Mr. Hay and read the address, whilst Mr. Hay on behalf of his daughter asked Mayor Denne to convey their appreciation of the interest that had been displayed by the public in the matter.

The address was as follows:

Peterborough, November 13, 1902.

Miss Isabel Hay,—

Dear Madam, — I have been requested by the Royal Canadian Humane Association to present you with this Association medal, and it is with pleasure that I have acceded to the request. The Association exists for the purpose of recognizing brave deeds done, in order to rescue others from danger or death, and as in this country aquatic sports and pleasures are popular, a large proportion of their awards are made to those who, like yourself, risked their lives to save others from death by drowning. I would have been glad if you had seen your way to accept the suggestion of the Association that this presentation should take place on some public occasion, but as you are, as the President of the Association has said to me, "like all true heroines, modest and retiring," it gives me pleasure to represent the donors of the medal here. I think you depreciate your own act, for those who remember the circumstances of your rescue of Miss Maud Allen at Chemong Lake on August 18th last, are delighted that the facts were brought to the notice of the Association, and that you have been awarded their medal, which is only given for acts of conspicuous courage. We remember that when you heard Miss Allen's call, and saw that she had disappeared into the water of the lake, without taking any thought of the great risk to yourself, you hurried to rescue, dived to the bottom of the deep water, and brought her to the surface. Nor was your dangerous task then accomplished, for we recollect more than once your hold gave way, and your friend sank into the waters, to be again raised up by you, until, after a struggle that only the greatest courage and the most unselfish spirit could have continued so long, you brought Miss Allen to safety. It is right that such a spirit as you manifested on that occasion should be recognized. The medal is not in any sense a reward; that we know you would not accept. But the community, as well as your personal friends, is pleased to know there has been a suitable recognition of the daring and enduring courage you displayed on that occasion, and I am exceedingly pleased to act as the representative of the Association and to present you with this medal.

T. H. G. DENNE,
Mayor of the Town of Peterborough.

RAN OFF THE TRACK.

G. P. R. Shunting Engine had a Narrow Escape.

The engine No. 221, used by the Canadian Pacific Railway for shunting purposes, ran off the track on the spur line near Hunter street bridge. An open switch was the cause of the accident, and it is claimed that the switch was maliciously opened by some of the younger members of the community. The switch is on the small trestle near Hunter street and had the engine not been running light and therefore slowly it would have pitched off into the Dawson property and a bad smash up would have resulted. This is only another instance of the depravity of the young lads of the present.

GONE BACK TO CHINA.

A Lindsay Celestial to pay a Visit to His Native Land.

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder says: For a good many years the sign of Choung Sun has been a familiar object on William street, and guided many a pedestrian with a bundle under his arm, into the place he was looking for. In there a busy little colony of Celestials carried on a laundry business. Pigtails, a few oriental lilies growing out of pebbles and tied with little red bands, the beads on a frame, the bits of paper with the funny hieroglyphics, and the ink and sticks for making these marks—these were all there, and John, as the genial jaundiced proprietor, Choung Sun, was called by everybody. John made money, and saved it. Some time ago he decided to go back to China for a visit this fall. He needed a rest. "John is not going on the waggon any more; he is getting too old," said the youthful driver by whose side in the rig John had for years been a familiar figure—and by the way the rig was always tidy and the horse well kept.

A couple of weeks ago John announced that he would leave for China on Monday, the 10th of this month. "I have been away from home 17 years," he said. "I have a wife and family in the Province of Canton, not far from Hong Kong. I shall stay all winter and not get back here till June perhaps. My right name is Choung Fong. I put Choung Sun on the sign because you know the sun is bright and means something good. My son, Ah Gee Fong and my nephew, Ah Gun Fong, are here with me. They are going to China too.

When I was a young man I was in the gold mines of Australia, and made a lot of money. After that I went back to China, and then came out to San Francisco. I have a lot of relatives there and shall visit them on my way home. My nephew, Ah Lee, will carry on the business while I am away."

John and his relatives left on Monday on their long journey which will take them a month to make.

CURLERS TO RENT THE RINK.

This is What the Local Players may do.

An Enthusiastic Meeting That was Held Last Night—Committees.

An enthusiastic meeting of the curlers of the town was held in the rink parlours last night. The meeting was made up of representatives from the Granites and the Thistles, and was called for the purpose of discussing the future of the game in Peterborough. Amongst those present were Messrs, H. R. H. Kenner, W. G. Morrow, R. J. Frost, R. Waddell, G. E. Whiten, Geo. Giroux, C. N. Brown, R. Kerr, W. Sailsbury, W. M. Robertson, W. H. Brightman, D. Davidson, J. Connal J. S. Knapman, E. B. Edwards and C. Rutherford.

Mr. W. G. Morrow occupied the chair, and declared the meeting open for business.

Mr. R. Neill submitted figures, showing the estimated cost of running the rink for the winter, and the probable rent to be paid. Mr. Neill's information might be summarized by stating that unless the clubs could get a membership of 1255 at $6 or more there would be no curling.

Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards said that he was sure that the curlers of the town were indebted to Mr. Neill for the information he had obtained. Continuing, he spoke of the prospects of the game in Peterborough. The fact that the Scottish curlers might visit Peterborough, and that the local curlers would have a rink exclusively for their own use, were all inducements for new members to join, and circumstances which should arouse enthusiasm in the older members. He urged united action but the maintenance of two distinct clubs. He moved, seconded by Mr. Knapman, a resolution of thanks to Mr. Neill for obtaining the information he had given to them, and that a committee be appointed to complete arrangements with the rink directors.

The curlers then got down to work, and appointed several committees, including a Finance Committee, and a Membership Committee. After the full membership is obtained, the club will be divided.

The following is the Finance Committee — Messrs. R. Neill, W. G. Morrow, and J. S. Knapman.

Membership Committee — Messrs. R. Kerr, J. Connal, G. Giroux, R. J. Frost, G. E. Whiten, A. Blade, D. Davidson, J. S. Knapman, R. Waddell, W. Sailsbury, J. Jeffries, and M. Tooley.

THE MOLYBDENUM MINES.

Haliburton Deposits to be Worked by Large Capital.

Toronto News.

C. M. McArthur, Fenelon Falls, and C. E. Taylor, Chicago, owners of about 3,000 acres in Haliburton County, which contain valuable deposits of molybdenite, are at the Iroquois Hotel to-day en route to Chicago, to form a company for the development of the property. It is proposed to capitalize the corporation at $2,000,000 under the laws of Dakota State and afterwards apply to the Ontario Government for the necessary charter.

They have with them samples of the mineral, one of them weighing 24 ounces, a very fine specimen. In all these gentlemen have 23 molybdenite properties, all but one of these having been acquired within the past six weeks. One they have had for 3 months and have sunk a shaft 35 by 12 feet, with excellent results. Molybdenite is worth about $400 a ton, and is used in steel works for tempering purposes. Only 30,000 pounds were mined in North America last year. This supply did not nearly equal the demand, and silver had to be used as a substitute.

THE FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

The Men's Section met Last Evening.

An Interesting Address by J. H. Burnham—The Meeting Informal.

Last night the first meeting of the men's section of the Fortnightly Club was held in the office of Sheriff Hall. The meeting was of a most informal nature, but was most interesting and successful.

Mr. J. H. Burnham introduced and dealt at some length with the subject of the evening, reviewing the "History of the Working Classes." Beginning with the time when the Manor or Feudal System was in vogue, the speaker dealt with the condition of the labouring classes through their various changes down to the present. The period in which the towns were developed was perhaps the Golden Age of the workingman, but this was followed in the time of Henry VIII by a period of depression, caused by the repressive laws and the debasing of the currency. For many years the conditions of the workingman were almost unbearable, as he was paid the same amount for his work, while owing to the decreased value his money had not the same purchasing power. This state of affairs continued well down to the middle of the eighteenth century, when there was a slight amelioration in their condition. This, however, was only temporary, as the introduction of machinery led to a fewer number of men being employed for some years. Increased demand for manufactured products had during the past century led to a slight betterment in their condition, although at present it was nothing like the earlier days of English history.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams followed in a discussion of the present day question between capital and labour, and its probable solution, which he thought to be the incorporation of unions as this would give them executive and financial responsibility. Then the recognition of these corporated unions by employers, and a law compelling arbitration, would complete the solution of this question.

Rev. J. C. Davidson then reviewed the remarks of the two previous speakers, and dwelt particularly on the power of unions for good or evil, and their effect in raising the workingman's estimation of the dignity of his own labour.

An informal discussion followed in which Messrs. McGill, Kerr, McCallum, Burnett and others took part. This closed the discussion for the evening, and it was decided that the next meeting should be held on Dec. 4th in the Y.M.C.A..

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

We send congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Best, of Magnatawan, who celebrated their golden wedding on the 8th inst. Mr. Best was the first merchant in this town, about fifty years ago. Later on he was appointed land agent, which office he has held up to the present time. We hope that Mr. and Mrs. Best will enjoy life for many years to come.

Mr. George Henderson, a former resident of this town, who now resides in Barrie, made a visit to our town a few days ago. He was the first clerk that Mr. Best had in his store here. He was the organizer of the first band here. George looks well, but many of his old friends missed seeing him, his stay was so short.

There was no damage done here to property on the 5th.

The exposition of the text chosen by Rev. Mr. Mounteer, on Sunday last was well received by those who were present, and heard his discourse.

We are glad to hear that our trustees have engaged Mr. Mills for another year.

Report says that Joe Boyd has leased the farm occupied by Mr. A. Rutherford.

Farmers are well on with their fall work and will soon have time to make up their profits on their labours for 1902.

Very refreshing and healthy—Allen's Sweet Cider—At Henry & Co's.

Captured an Owl.

On Monday last Mr. Ed. Nolan, of Douro, captured a very large night owl, which had been raiding his chicken coop. The bird was caught in a trap, an unusual occurrence, as they are very seldom caught in this manner. It measured over four feet from tip to tip of its wings. Mr. Frank Gray secured it and intends having it mounted.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half of the time."

—The Kingston Whig says: — Queen's University authorities have decided not to put a telephone switch system in operation in their buildings. Instead separate ones are being erected in each building. To-day one was put in Registrar Chown's office, the most needy place of all. It is said that the late Principal Grant had some aversion to the telephone, and that he never spoke through one in his life.

The choicest cider made is Allen's of Norwich—On draught at Henry & Co's.

Wasting Away.

Lack of fat in the food is the beginning of a wasting condition. So many people that we meet are thin and keep getting thinner. Perhaps there are some in your own family. Look for the cause and it is more than likely you will find that such people do not eat the fatty portions of their food. They either will not or cannot eat fat, and yet it is the absence of this element in their ordinary food that causes a wasting condition.

For such people we offer Scott's Emulsion as containing in the most palatable and easily digested form the element of fat they need. It supplies, and more than supplies, the lack of fat in ordinary food. A small quantity (a teaspoonful for a child and a tablespoonful for an adult three times a day) will enable the body to get the strength and proper fat supply that it needs.

Scott's Emulsion is cod liver oil so prepared that all of it is utilized by the system. Raw cod liver oil is not only repulsive to the taste but only a part of it is taken into the system the weakened organs being unable to digest it all.

The emulsion passes almost immediately through the stomach and into the blood. The stomach is scarcely aware of its presence there. It shows itself first in the nourishment it affords and the new strength that it gives. The weight gradually increases and the flesh becomes firmer. It is the return to health; the stopping of the wasting condition. Scott's Emulsion has supplied the elements of fat that the body needed.

It is not a question of how much you eat or can eat or even of appetite. It is rather what becomes of the food. Does it contain the proper nourishment and the right proportion of fat? If the food does you no good it does you harm, for digestion is work, and when the body is in a wasting condition the stomach must work to some purpose. Scott's Emulsion saves a great deal of this work, and what is more makes it effectual.

We place on every package of Scott's Emulsion our trade mark label of a man with a big fish on his back. It is our personal guarantee that the emulsion is right in every respect. If this label is missing you are not getting the genuine Scott's Emulsion, which means that you are not getting the full value of the oil or the kind of a preparation you need.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

TOBACCO ENQUIRY CONTINUED.

Increases in Number of Firms Signing Exclusive Contracts.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Before the Tobacco Commission yesterday, M. B. Davis, President of the American Tobacco Company of Canada, presented a statement, showing that there had been a large increase in the number of wholesalers, who had signed the exclusive contracts in the last two years. The company tried to introduce evidence to show that such contracts were common in other lines of business, but Judge McTavish thought the scope of the inquiry should not be widened to that extent. Four small manufacturers testified that, since these contracts came into force, their business had either declined or had become unprofitable, by reason of the extra cost of selling, owing to the necessity of employing more travelers, etc.

KEEP OUT STANDARD OIL.

British to Be Interpellated About the Burmah Bar.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Upon complaint of representatives of the Standard Oil Company that the English Government has prevented that concern from prospecting in the oil fields of Burmah, Mr. Hay, Secretary of State, has directed Ambassador Choate, at London, to inquire of the British Government the cause.

The Standard Oil Company has through its own representatives made strong representations to the English authorities, both on commercial and international grounds, alleging that they had as much right to prospect as their representatives had to obtain food and clothing in Burmah. These protests, however, have not given forth satisfactory results.

The Bogota in Action.

Panama, Nov. 13.—The first American casualties as a result of the revolution occurred yesterday. The Bogota (formerly the Jesse Banning of San Francisco), manned by an American crew, commanded by Captain Marmaduke, was waiting to attack two revolutionist schooners which were aground. In the meantime, the revolutionists were discovered in ambush close to the beach, and, when the Bogota's boats pulled ahead, the second time, the rebels opened fire on them, killing the ship's armorer, Richard Kane, of Washington, and wounding George Walker, who was shot through the legs. A seaman named Clark and Lieut. Vasquez were also wounded, but not seriously. The Bogota and Chucuito then opened fire on the enemy, and killed every man in sight.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., says: "I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief, and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this Ointment.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

Jackson Johnson, of Norham, Ont., Finds Relief from Dyspepsia and Chronic Diarrhoea in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

When a man has suffered for twenty years with Dyspepsia; when he has tried doctors and medicines to no avail; when, to add to his other ailments, Chronic Diarrhoea has developed, and when at last that man finds relief from his complication of troubles in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, it is surely time to admit that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the one sure cure for Dyspepsia.

Such was the experience of Jackson Johnson of Norham, Ont. Here's what he writes regarding it:

"My case was an exceptional one of Chronic Dyspepsia. I had been doctoring for it for nearly twenty years, in which time I spent a large amount of money with doctors and for medicines. Two years ago I was taken with diarrhoea, which became chronic, and I became so weak I was confined to my bed.

"A person who had used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets induced me to try them and I have taken seventeen boxes up to the time of writing, and have steadily improved. I am prompted to write by a desire to induce others to give a trial to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, which I claim have been instrumental in taking me from the brink of the grave and restoring me to comparative good health."

Johnson Found Guilty.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Last evening the jury in the Johnson conspiracy case, in which the accused was charged with having conspired with certain parties unknown to defraud the Canadian Pacific Railway Company reached a verdict finding the prisoner guilty with a recommendation to mercy. A number of Canadian Pacific Railway conductors were implicated in the course of the evidence it is rumored that other arrests may follow. The charges, briefly, are that a number of Canadian Pacific conductors bribed certain employes of the audit office to give advance information as to the secret checking of trains.

Chased and Refined.

At a recent police court sitting a man was fined 40 shillings and costs for assaulting a policeman. Considering himself a much injured man, on reaching the door he began abusing the magistrate in very violent language. The magistrate sent an officer after him, and the delinquent found himself once more in the dock and fined again for contempt of court.

YOU CAN TEST THE KIDNEYS

And Find out for Yourself Whether or not you are Becoming a Victim of Painful, Fatal Kidney Disease.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is not necessary for you to consult a specialist on kidney disease to find out if you are a victim of this dreadful derangement. You can test your kidneys at home, and satisfy yourself on this point.

Allow some urine to stand in a glass for twenty-four hours, and if at the end of that time you find sediment in the bottom of the vessel you can be sure that your kidneys are diseased.

Pains in the small of the back, and smarting when urinating, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, loss of flesh and strength, are other marked symptoms which indicate kidney disorders. Make this test for yourself. Consider whether you have any of these symptoms, and if you conclude that your kidneys are out of order begin at once to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They will bring prompt relief and will thoroughly cure you.

On account of their direct action on the kidneys Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure ailments of the kidneys when ordinary kidney medicines fail. They have proven their efficacy in many thousands of cases, and are endorsed by more people than any other kidney medicine extant.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years section foreman and now flagman for the G.T.R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foreman on the G.T.R. and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work.

"During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills; one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

BRAIN AND INTELLECT.

The Exact Seat in the Former of the Highest Intellect.

The exact seat in the brain of the highest intellectual faculties has formed a moot point in science since the functions of the organ of mind began to be investigated with accuracy. The general consensus of opinion localizes what we term "mind" in the prefrontal lobes of the brain, but by another school of thinkers the hinder lobes have been credited with performing our highest cerebral duties. The balance of evidence, I should say, is decidedly in favor of the former view, and recent researches and observations by Dr. Phelps, an American investigator, would appear to assist in strengthing the opinion that the most important portion of the brain is its anterior region. In the course of the investigations in question some 295 cases of brain injury and disease were examined. In all save two it was noted that interference of extensive nature with the prefrontal region resulted in serious disturbance of the mental faculties. Less severe injury produced less marked effects. These facts parallel the researches of other investigators, and they are further substantiated by what is observed in cases of idiocy connected with a want of development of the frontal lobes of the brain

As to the relative importance of the two lobes or halves of the cerebrum, or chief brain mass, most of us know that each half governs the opposite side of the body, and that, as we are righthanded, so we may be called left-brained. The superiority in functional importance of our left brain is not questioned, and it is therefore interesting to find Dr. Phelps insisting, from the results of his investigations, that our left brain lobe is really the intellectual half. The right half, it is added, is capable of sustaining severe injury without marked mental effects supervening, and cases are quoted in support of this fact. Indeed, such cases have frequently puzzled physiologists, seeing that the disturbance of the intellect has in no sense been commensurate with the injury to the brain. On the notion of the greater importance of our left brain, and on the theory that severe injuries which do not produce utter mental breakdown really involve the right lobe, the puzzling constitution of the brain may be explained in part at least. But the last word has not been said concerning the brain's ways and work. Injuries of the left half do not always produce serious effects as regards the mental life, while we have had some physiologists insisting that we have really two brains, and that while the left lobe is the Jekyll of the intellect the right, on occasion at least, is apt to play the part of Hyde. A fascinating theory this, but one to which sober science is not likely to append its imprimatur.—London Chronicle.

Rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren.

Work has been commenced in connection with the demolition of the old church of St. George, Botolph, near the Monument, London, which has been closed for over eleven years. The church, which was one of those rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren after the Great Fire, is only fifty-four feet long, thirty-six feet wide, and thirty-six feet high, flat-roofed, and with a steeple at the northwest corner eighty-four feet high. The parish is in accord with the church, for its area is only five hundred yards by two hundred yards. The parishioners in 1896 numbered thirty-four. The first rector after the rebuilding was the famous Dr. Sherlock, who raised the ferment against the non-jurors so graphically described by Macaulay, and who in 1691 became Dean of St. Paul's under Tillotson's primacy. The only tablet of any historical interest in the church is that, to the famous Alderman William Beckford, which is thus inscribed, "Sacred to the memory of that real patriot, the Rt. Hon. William Beckford, twice Lord Mayor of London, whose incessant spirited efforts to serve his country hastened his dissolution on the 21st of June, 1770, in the time of his Mayoralty and the 62nd year of his age." With the demolition of the church will doubtless cease a series of payments connected with it that have furnished a rare text for city reformers. The church was closed in 1891 as unsafe, yet payments have been annually made since—to the rector £603, parish clerk £40, sextoness £45, beadle £80, organ blower £12 (the organ was useless with age long since), and £60 to a curate! There were other payments, but why and what for is a city mystery.

Willing to Compromise.

A story of the Columbian idea of taxation is told by a traveler who recently visited that South American country.

"Some American friends of mine," said the traveler, "were visited by the city officials of Colon.

"'Senor,' said the leader of the delegation, 'we have come to collect $12 in gold from you, your share of the cost of collecting the garbage for this year.'

"'But, my dear sir,' said the American in surprise, 'you have not collected the garbage once during the whole year.'

"'That's true,' said the collector, scratching his head. 'Well, let's make it $6, then.'"

Hair Receivers.

On the subject of hair receivers nothing is better adapted to the purpose than a tiny vase of the charming iridescent glass which has such rich metallic glints and which gives character to any situation it may occupy. An advantage of the vase over articles "made on purpose" is the absence of any suggestion to proclaim its true use.

Gloves.

Remove gloves by "peeling" them off the hand, then turn and straighten the fingers. Pull the gloves out smoothly and lay away in a glove box between tissue paper. Gloves treated in this way will last much longer than if pulled off by the finger tips.

Rheumatism..

is Uric Acid in the blood. Unhealthy kidneys are the cause of the acid being there. If the kidneys acted as they should they would strain the Uric Acid out of the system and rheumatism wouldn't occur. Rheumatism is a Kidney Disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made a great part of their reputation curing Rheumatism. So get at the cause of those fearful shooting pains and stiff, aching joints. There is but one sure way—

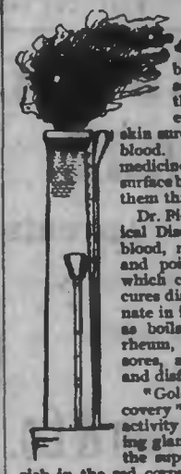
WHERE THERE'S SMOKE

There's fire, the saying runs, and so as a general rule the saying holds true. The fire is unseen, hidden, but the ascending smoke makes its presence undoubted.



Similarly you can argue from eruptions of the skin to corrupt blood. You can't see the blood, but the pimples, boils, etc., which mar the skin surely indicate impure blood. For this reason the medicine which cures these surface blemishes must cure them through the blood.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood, removes the waste and poisonous substances which corrupt it, and thus cures diseases which originate in impure blood, such as boils, pimples, saltrheum, tetter, eczema, sores, and other painful and disfiguring diseases.

"Golden Medical Discovery" also increases the activity of the blood-making glands, thus increasing the supply of pure blood, rich in the red corpuscles of health.

"It gives me much pleasure to testify to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Miss Annie Wells, of Bergmanns Wharf, Isle of Wight Co., Va. "I can say honestly and candidly that it is the grandest medicine ever compounded for purifying the blood. I suffered terribly with rheumatism, and pimples on the skin and swelling in my knees and feet so that I could not walk. I spent about twenty dollars paying doctors' bills but received no benefit. A year or two ago I was reading one of your Memorandum Books and I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription,' and am entirely cured."

Accept no substitute for 'Golden Medical Discovery. There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs.

LAUNDRY LINES.

Clothes turned right side out, carefully folded and sprinkled are half ironed.

Iron the silk fronts of embroidered stockings with a warm iron to make them bright and shiny.

Embroideries should be ironed on a thin, smooth surface over thick flannel and only on the wrong side.

Flannels will not shrink in the washing if they are cleansed in a hot water to which soap jelly has been added to make a strong suds.

When dampening clothes for ironing, the water should be as hot as the hand can bear. It is not necessary to use so much water as it is when the water is cold.

A little pipeclay dissolved in the water employed in washing clothes will vastly improve their color and will prove a great saving of time, trouble and soap.

As to washing stockings, don't use soda; have the water moderately warm for both washing and rinsing; dissolve your soap in the water, don't rub it on the stockings. Rinse in hard water, dry quickly in the breeze and press with a warm iron.

The Garb of English Housemaids.

The costume of the English woman servant is interesting to Americans. A woman of the superior type of maid housekeeper wears no cap or white apron. She is usually expected to dress in black and to wear a small, neat silk or stuff apron. She has none of the housework whatever to do and only sees after her lady's room, her charge being only the arrangement of the toilet table and the making of the bed.

Each grade of servant in England is supposed to wear a differently shaped cap. The correct shape for the parlor maid is a sort of modification of a mob cap, the crown encircled by a narrow line of black ribbon or velvet and the edge daintily frilled. A parlor maid also wears a large and rather elaborate apron with a bib. The housemaids whose duties are confined to the upper and sleeping apartments in the house wear a sort of three cornered arrangement, much flatter and less elaborate than those which are donned by the parlor maids. A housemaid's apron is very large and full, but has no bib.

Bridle Your Tongues.

It is a pity that girls who are disposed to be witty at the expense of others do not know how unattractive they make themselves and how often they offend against good taste. A smart girl sometimes says unkind and untrue things about her comrades and thinks it all right when those to whom she says them laugh at them. Do not be deceived, girls. Two or three sharp and uncharitable speeches may warn your best conquests off the premises of your heart, though that heart may be kind and true and loyal and put upon its metal would disown the acrid utterances of that thoughtless little tongue of yours. Cutting speeches do not pay in the end. They cause a laugh perhaps, but leave a bitter memory, and they are not always true. Do not be funny at the expense of truth, of charity, of good breeding.—New York News.

THE FASTING FAD.

There Is No Advantage to Be Gained From Going Hungry.

We are living in an age of fads, remarks Good Health, and as its opinion has been solicited in regard to the "fasting fad" it proceeds to give it as follows:

There is no particular advantage to be gained from going hungry. Hunger is the voice of nature telling us that the system needs food and, like all of nature's warnings, should be heeded. To be sure, a great many, we might say the majority, of people eat too much as well as too often. But the entire abstinence from food is an exceptional remedy if it is used at all. In cases where one's stomach is filled with germs it is far better to fast than to go on eating in the usual way, but even then it is not necessary, for one can get all the benefits of fasting and more without discomfort by subsisting for a time upon a fruit diet. In this way the germs are starved out, the fruit juice acting as a disinfectant. Usually one or two days of this kind of fasting is all that is needed, and it is not always necessary to use the fruit entirely alone even then. Some dry sterilized bread, such as swieback or granose, may be taken with it without interfering with the purpose of the fast. It is really wonderful what can be accomplished by the use of fruit in ridding the digestive tract of germs.

Eau de Cologne.

How many of those who use eau de cologne from Cologne daily, one might almost say hourly, are aware of the fact that it was invented by an Italian and not by a son of the Fatherland, which gives its name?

Almost 200 years ago an Italian priest, Giovan Maria Farina, eked out his modest fortune by selling perfumery, little art objects and so on at Domodossola. In 1702, happening to be in Cologne and making use of some of the finest vegetable productions of the country, he discovered the secret of the miraculous perfume, which has never been revealed to this day except to his descendants. He soon devoted himself to the sale of his invention, which was so satisfactory that, needing help in its manufacture, he had his brother and nephew join him from Italy.

The increasing fame of the water brought increasing difficulties of rivalry. New firms who stole his name, his trademarks, stamps and so on sprang up like mushrooms, but they could not steal his secret.

The Printer's Devil.

The familiar term "printer's devil," as applied to the boy of all work about a printing office, is said by the Fourth Estate to have originated with Aldus Manutius. He employed a small negro boy, a curiosity in those days in Europe, who became known as the "Little Black Devil." Printing was then a mystery, and a superstition spread that Aldus was invoking the black art and that the negro boy was the embodiment of Satan. To correct this opinion Aldus publicly exhibited the black boy and declared: "Be it known to Venice that I, Aldus Manutius, printer to the holy church and to the doge, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All those who think he is not flesh and blood may come and pinch him."

Quotations the Lowest for Months—Daily Letters—Quotations.

The market to-day took a very bad slump. Some of the quotations have scarcely been equalled in months. As yet, no reason save heavy bear market is ascribed to it. The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago;

New York, Nov. 14th, 10.00 a.m.—Boston despatch reports the suspension last evening of the Central National Bank there, with capital of $555,000 and deposit of $390,000. The bank had been helped along for some days through the Elliott band buying its good assets, which was to have entirely liquidated the control of the National Bank affairs, but finding that its collateral was mostly securities of Lebanon Springs Railroad, new connection of Rutland, which was involved in the Webb-Meyer collapse, and therefore without a market, it was decided to close the bank. This will probably have some adverse effect on the market, and as there was some renewed liquidation at close yesterday, it will, in all probability, be renewed this morning. We believe we have been through worse, and on any good decline stocks ought to be a purchase for a small rally.

M. & M.

Grain.—I look for a good advance in May corn.

DENISON.

There seems to be an uneasy feeling all around this morning, and we will undoubtedly have a low opening. Liquidation is not over, and we may look for lower prices.

M. & M.

Indications are that to-morrow's statement will be unfavourable. Banks lost up to this a.m. over $7,000,000 cash since last Friday night, so that there would have to be a big decrease in loans to offset this and prevent a big decrease in surplus reserve.

M. & M.

Stocks.—The market has a fair support this morning. London only a moderate seller, Butler Bros. supporting the Gould stocks, shorts covering B.R.T.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 14th, 11.00 a.m.—Liverpool opening, wheat 1-8 higher and corn 3-8 higher. At 1.30 wheat was 1-4 higher and corn 5-8 higher. Liverpool close wheat 1-8 to 3-8 higher. Corn 1-8 to 1 1-8 higher. There has been an immense trade in wheat to-day. Armour has been a big seller, and some big local longs have sold out their holdings. Harris Champlin let go a million, W. C. Comstock sold half million, and several smaller longs went out all around 75. Harris-Gates and Leurke and Montgomery and several other big traders took most of it. This is very good buying. Most of the local crowd are bearish influence by Armour.

DENISON.

Grain.—Minn. 496; Duluth, 236; total 732. Last week 366. Last year 116.

There is a strong market in corn. Bartlett sold some December at 53. Small commission houses good buying. Little pressure on May from scalpers who have been playing for a reaction, but commission houses absorbing all offerings.

DENISON.

New York, Nov. 14th, 1 p.m.—London sold 25,000 on balance scattered over the list. Market under pref. pressure all morning, but astute traders are of opinion that more than the pressure has been for the purpose of buying in stocks by those who exerted it. Sellof S.P. appears to be genuine liquidation on part of those who believe in U. P. has brought an actual majority of the stock, and that market has to deal with a minority only. Pressure constantly kept up on St. Paul, but it was noticed that every time stock was freely offered, Butter and Gross bought as heavy as possible. J. W. Davis bought 3,000 B.R.T and bid it up to 56 7-8.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 14. — Wednesday's market was still a backer and filler. Every effort was made by the bears to create distrust, while the story of a fight between giants of the market was given wide circulation, with the view to still further adding to the scare. Most operators were more or less panic stricken, and at a time when they should keep cool. To become demoralized in one's trading at such a time, is to make it almost certain that you will lose money. One should keep one's head, buying and selling as the market suggests, with coolness and calculation. Stocks are at present ludicruously cheap, and how much cheaper they may be, if any at all, no man can honestly predict, owing to the general demoralization of the average buyer. One thing is certain—such demoralization and fright is most wide spread when stocks are at bottom prices. Facts and figures cut no immediate figure in current market at such times. Ordinarily the wondrous Union Pacific statement just issued would have affected the stock materially, and favourably. At present it has no influence. Before long, however, it will have an important influence upon the value of the stock. Southern Pac., Man., Ill., C., M.O.P., N.Y.C. and St. Paul stocks of similar calibre are more than cheap at present, and if bought and protected will be sure to show good profits. It is not a market at present to trade in upon small margins. The trader should be well fortified upon his committments at present. Those who buy stocks right have an unprecedented opportunity to do so now. To such, we unhesitatingly advise making purchases immediately. Those who buy upon margin, if they can command good margins should commence to buy right now. The small margin man should either not trade at all at present, or accompany every new committment with a close to market stop order. The larger speculators of Wall street seem to be fighting out old differences upon the floor of the exchange. It will be most natural to anticipate for a few days an extremely feverish market, extremely oscillating and more or less uncertain, its movement being absolutely unexplainable. It will recover greatly, however, before winter is over, and will afford opportunity to sell most stocks at better prices than those now prevailing.

Summary.—The market opened to-day up smartly, recording good advances over night on top of the rally of yesterday afternoon. Gains were made in the morning hours which were more than lost later on through a heavy selling movement in B.R.T., which carried this stock down sharply to the lowest prices registered in some time, the stock breaking at 56. Compared to Union Pacific, selling at about twice the price and earning ten per cent., B.R.T. is relatively, when you consider the latter for its fiscal year, according to its annual statement, only earned four-tenths of one per cent. upon its capitalization. For this reason it may possibly sell somewhat lower. The market immediately became feverish and erratic whenever stock develops special weakness. This is to be expected for some little time to come. Money 4 to 4 1-2 per cent. Sales 716,900.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM FIELD OF SPORT.

A Bad Mix-up in the Intermediate Series of the O. R. F. U.—Annual Meeting of the O. H. A. is Called—Rugby Match Here To-morrow.

The schedule of the intermediate series of the O.R.F.U. is in a bad tangle to say the least. However, it is no fault of Peterborough as the trouble is all in the western section. From present appearances it would seem that the London Club would win out the western district by the default of the Argonauts and Toronto, and that the Forest City team and Peterborough would once more meet in battle royal for the championship.

* * * *

The Torontos have refused to recognize the new schedule which provided for their playing in Peterborough to-morrow. They have dropped out of the series, but are very anxious for a game in Toronto to-morrow. With that end in view they made the Peterborough team the substantial offer of $75 for a game in their city. The offer, to say the least, was a generous one, and the Peterborough players were anxious to accept. They could not do so, however, as the majority of the players are employees of institutions, the managers of which cannot allow the boys to leave town, particularly on a Saturday. There was no other reason than this that prevented the boys from accepting the invitation to the Queen City to-morrow.

* * * *

There should be a good turn out to-morrow afternoon to witness the game between the Norwood High School and a team from the local Collegiate Institute. As no means of Collecting a gate can be employed "the hat will be passed round" on the Oval. Spectators should then, come prepared.

RUGBY.

The Norwood High School team will be here to-morrow to play the Collegiate Institute team, which will be chosen from the following:—Orough, F. Craig, Daly, Boucher, Walkey, O'Brien, Armstrong, Ferguson, Macfarlane, Yokome, Geale, Hall, Collins, Hodgson, R. Craig.

* * * *

There was a fair turn out to practice in the armouries last night, and a good work out resulted. It may seem monotonous to some to practice so continually, with no game for a week longer, yet it is the only way available to keep in shape for the next match.

* * * *

A meeting of the Ontario Rugby Union Executive Committee was held yesterday afternoon to straighten out the tangle in the intermediate series.

President A. W. Ballantyne, who was unable to be present at Wednesday's meeting on account of a bad cold, stated that in his opinion the executive had acted unwisely in throwing out all the games in the Western District. The London protest against Toronto having been sustained, that game only should have been ordered to be re-played. Instead, the executive had ordered a new series, Toronto to go to London and the winners to play Argonauts II. for the championship of the district.

This arrangement did not find favour with the clubs concerned, so by 'phone yesterday it was practically agreed that two games should be played off on Saturday, as follows:

Argonauts II. at London.
Toronto at Peterborough.

The winners to play off for the championship at some point to be decided by the executive the following Saturday.

This arrangement was suggested by Peterborough, champions of the Eastern District, who wanted a game at home right away, as the long delay was injuring the game in that town.

However, since the above schedule was given out, the Torontos have defaulted to Peterborough and the Peterborough fifteen will have to await the result of the Argonaut-London game.

* * * *

President A. W. Ballantyne, of the O.R.F.U. decided yesterday that "Chummy" Hill and Garnet Bell, formerly of the Peterborough team, are senior Rugby players, and are, therefore, ineligible to play on the Argonaut II. team again this year.

Hill and Bell played one game against Hamilton and one against Ottawa City. The Argonauts claimed that the Hamilton game didn't count, because the Ambitious City club immediately disbanded.

The Union Wednesday night left the matter to Mr. Ballantyne.

"The game counted as a victory for the Argonauts," said the president yesterday, "and as Hill and Bell played against Ottawa they are not eligible to play in the intermediate ranks."

* * * *

The Toronto Globe says: — "The mix-up in the western section of the intermediate series of the O.R.F.U. is a long way from being settled. Peterborough's suggestion that a new series be formed and their club drawn against a Toronto team met with the favour of several members of the Executive, and at one time yesterday afternoon it was proposed to draw up a new schedule with Toronto at Peterborough and London at Argonauts, to be played on November 15th. London reported that they were unable to secure grounds for Saturday, and Argonauts offered $75 for a game here. London objected strongly to this new proposal.

"It was rumoured last night, and confirmed by the Peterborough Club, that Toronto would not consent to such an arrangement and would default if it was adhered to. Toronto also stated to Peterborough that they would default to Argonauts on Saturday, and the Rosedale team offered to pay Peterborough's expenses here for an exhibition game. Mr. A. W. McPherson, speaking for Peterborough, said that the Plate-Glass City team might play an exhibition game here on Saturday.

"In case Argonauts win by default from Torontos they are scheduled to play at London on November 22nd. It is not at all certain that the oarsmen will be able to get a team together, and this would mean that London wins the district by default, and would meet Peterborough in the finals.

"In the meantime, however, if Toronto does not see fit to play out the schedule as ordered by the O.R.F.U. they will be out of it after Saturday. A meeting of the Executive Committee will be held on Monday night.

CURLING.

A meeting of the members of the Lakefield Curling Club will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 17th. The election of officers will be held, and other important business transacted.

HOCKEY.

Circulars were issued yesterday signed by John Ross Robertson, president, and A. H. Beaton, secretary, calling the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association for the Temple Building on Saturday, December 6, at 10.30 a.m.

A copy of the rules was sent with each circular, and clubs were notified that notice of proposed amendments should be in the hands of the secretary by the 22nd of November, and nominations for office by the 29th instant.

Mr. Robertson has asked each club to furnish him with the figures of the ice space and the standing and seating accommodation of its rink.

THE RING.

There are a number of postponements in the fistic events scheduled for this week. The Jackson show goes over for a time. Young Corbett is ill, owing to Tim Callahan's illness. It has been reported that the featherweight champion has signed articles for a twenty-round bout with Austin Rice, to be decided before the club that offers the largest purse, and to be held at an early date. This may be taken as another indication that McGovern and Corbett do not expect to clash immediately. Both boys have been making big money since the Louisville postponement. McGovern always was wise, and Corbett is now learning to profit when the opportunity offers. The opening of bids for their championship go is set for Saturday next, but they continue to make engagements for pot boilers. The champion has signed a contract to appear in Chicago next week, against any opponent selected, at the proper weight. McGovern is making arrangements for a theatrical tour. This hardly looks like championship fight preparations.

How Goshawks Are Trained.

A French traveler states that the goshawk is still used in Persia in hunting the gazelle and that it is trained to feed on that creature's beautiful eyes by placing its food in the emptied eyeballs of a stuffed gazelle, so that when used in the hunt the goshawk stops its victim by attacking its eyes, a horribly cruel form of sport.

HEARING THE MINERS

Further Reasons Given Why Their Claims Are Fair.

JOHN MITCHELL MAKES REPLY

The Strike Commission Now at Scranton Hearing the Evidence of the Miners—During the Strike One and a Half Million Dollars Distributed Among the Strikers—Plea For Children.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 15.—The commission appointed by President Roosevelt to arbitrate the differences between the anthracite mine workers and their employers began the hearing of the miners' side of the case yesterday. When the commission opened its session yesterday the only evidence before it was the preliminary statement of Mr. Mitchell, in which he said:

"Of the 147,000 men and boys employed in the anthracite coal fields, 64,072, or 43 per cent., are employed on contract, or piece work; the remaining 83,000, or 57 per cent., are employed by the hour, day, week, or month. Of the 64,072 contract men, 37,804 are miners and 26,268 are miners' laborers.

The work of a miner and a miner's laborer is extremely hazardous; in fact, it is more dangerous than employment in any other important industry in the world. The number of persons killed and injured is greater than in any other industry. Each day the anthracite coal mines are in operation 2 6-10 persons lose their lives, and three times as many are maimed, and yet these men receive less wages annually than are received by men performing precisely similar work in other fields, under more favorable and less hazardous conditions.

"The number of years a man can retain his health and strength in this occupation is limited. If he escapes death or injury by falls of rock or coal, he cannot escape attacks of miners' asthma. There is scarcely a mine worker, who has not contracted this malady. The miners are compelled to work in powder smoke, in foul air, many of them in water, and their work is difficult and exhausting. Reputable insurance companies will not issue policies to this class of workmen. The risks are so great that the premiums would be prohibitive to men whose earnings are so low. The entire 20 per cent. which they demand as an increase in their wages would not suffice to carry an insurance of one thousand dollars.

In supporting the demand for the reduction of the hours of day laborers, Mr. Mitchell showed that it amounted practically to a demand for 20 per cent. increase of compensation for 83,000 men, or 57 per cent. of all mine employes. He said further, that the eight-hour day is the standard working day in the mining industry. Eight hours constitute a day's work in the coal mines of Great Britain, in all the silver, gold, and copper mines, and in the bituminous coal mines in the different States of this country.

Defending the third demand, that coal shall be weighed, and paid for by weight, and that 2,240 pounds shall constitute a ton, Mr. Mitchell declared that paying for coal by the car or by a ton weighing from 2,740 to 3,150 pounds is a flagrant injustice.

Mr. Mitchell continued: "The anthracite companies, not satisfied with an extra legal ton of from 2,740 to 3,150 pounds, have a system of docking, through which they appropriate additional part of the miners' earnings. A miner is docked all the way from 500 to 1,000 pounds upon a car, as a penalty for loading impurities, for which he has already been penalized to the extent of from 700 to 900 pounds in excess of impure weight. In other words, he is punished twice for the same offence.

"For the information of the commission, we herewith outline more specifically, a plan of procedure which, if adopted, would prevent local strikes and preserve peace and harmony during the time covered by the award which you are empowered to make.

"First—The rate of wages, the hours of labor, the method of weighing and paying for the product of the miners' work should be incorporated in an agreement between the representatives of the various coal companies and the representatives of the organizations of which the complainants in this case are members.

"Second—There should be a committee of conservative representative mine workers selected by the employes at each colliery. It should be the duty of this committee to co-operate with the mine foremen in the adjustment of local disputes which cannot be settled between the mine foremen and the mine workers or mine worker involved.

"Third—Should the mine foremen and mine committee fail to adjust the grievance complained of, the matter in dispute should be referred to the company's superintendent, and a general Grievance Committee, which should be constituted of representative mine workers from each colliery operated by any one company. Should this fail to adjust it, it should be referred to the general manager of the coal companies and the district president of the miners' organization, and should they fail to adjust it they should call upon the services of some disinterested person whose decision should be final, pending an adjustment in the manner set forth, and the miners should continue at work."

Mr. Mitchell concludes with a plea for the children. He said: "Our little boys should not be forced into the mines and breakers so early in life; our little girls should not be compelled to work in the mills and factories at an age when they should be in school. These children are the future citizens of our nation; their parents should be enabled to give them at least a common school education, so as to equip them better for the grave responsibilities which will ultimately devolve upon them."

Later, Mr. Mitchell took the stand and was examined by his counsel, to whom he said that $1,500,000 as financial aid was distributed among the hard coal miners, union and non-union, during the recent strike. Mr. Mitchell was afterwards cross-examined by Mr. Wilcox of the Delaware & Hudson Company and other operators. He was closely questioned about the mine workers' constitution, its provisions, etc.

Phonograph to Guard Testimony.

Scranton, Nov. 15.—Carroll D. Wright, recorder of the Coal Strike Commission, has announced that the testimony to be heard by the commission will be preserved by phonograph records. The stenographers will read their notes into the instruments, and the reports will be referred to in settling mooted points.

Suspect Stuart's Stepson.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Col. Sherwood, Chief of the Dominion Police, is in the city in connection with the counterfeiting case. In company with Detective Forrest, he went to the jail yesterday afternoon, and had a talk with the aged counterfeiter, William Stuart. He repeatedly made it known to his interviewers that he would not volunteer any information relating to his confederates, if he had any, but if placed on the stand and compelled to testify, he will tell the truth. There may be another arrest in connection with the case within the next few days. The man is Walter Samuel Wilson, a stepson of the old counterfeiter, who is believed to have been concerned in the circulation of the money.

Anson Raymond and his wife Elizabeth appeared in the Police Court yesterday, and were again remanded for a week.

WHITNEY BANQUETED

London Conservatives Honor Their Leader in Ontario.

EVERYTHING COMING THEIR WAY

Mr. Whitney Withdrew From the Hot Pelted and Sat Surrounded by a Small Coterie in the Parlor Until He Could Make a Spectacular Appearance—Members of Parliament Who Spoke.

London, Ont., Nov. 15.—Mr. J. P. Whitney, M.P.P., was the guest of honor at a monster banquet held here last night in the Tecumseh House by the London Conservative Club. The occasion served also as a reunion of the leading Conservative M.P.P.'s of the Province, and of others prominent in the party especially in this western district.

An Absent Face.

It is noteworthy that neither of the recently unseated members was present. The absence of Mr. Monteith of North Perth was especially commented on.

The banquet was one of the largest ever held in London, four hundred persons being present. The rotunda of the hotel served as an early evening rendezvous, and members and others stood about in groups discussing the political situation and the probable result of the election trials and the consequent bye-elections. Mr. Whitney did not arrive until 6.15 o'clock. He retired to the parlor, where he was surrounded by a small coterie.

The Dinner.

The dining hall was profusely decorated with bunting and flags, and the rotunda of the hotel was also emblazoned in honor of the occasion. The menu card bore on the front the features of Mr. Whitney and Mr. Wm. Gray, President of the club, surrounded by British flags, the Canadian coat of arms, the maple leaves and the beaver.

Mr. Whitney, when he entered the hall, was received with an outburst of cheers. He was seated on the right of the President, and Mr. J. J. Foy, M.P.P., was seated on the left hand.

Campaign Reiteration.

Mr. Whitney's utterances were mostly a repetition of his campaign material, but he took advantage of the recent disclosures in a branch of the Treasury Department to endeavor to show that the royal commission to inquire into the condition of the finances was futile in the attainment of its object, and that Mr. Ross was unacquainted with the actual workings of the department. These assertions were loudly cheered. He prophesied that everything was coming "their way."

Before Mr. Whitney spoke, addresses were delivered by James Clancy, M.P., W. J. Hanna, M.P.P., and Dr. Reaume, M.P.P.

J. J. Foy, M.P.P., Dr. R. A. Pyne, M.P.; Finlay Macdiarmid, M.P.P., J. W. St. John, M.P.P., and Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, M.P.P., also spoke.

The gathering broke up with hearty cheers for the chairman, Mr. Whitney and the other guests.

Father Took Them Home.

Belleville, Nov. 15.—A man from Sault Ste. Marie brought two daughters, both deaf and dumb, to the Institution for the deaf in this city, but he, being a Christian Scientist, refused to leave them unless the principal promised not to treat them with medicine, or provide a doctor for them if they became ill. Principal Matheson, of course, could make no such promise, and the man took his daughters away.

For International Socialism.

New Orleans, Nov. 15.—At the American Federation of Labor yesterday the following resolutions were introduced: That any man who shall have reached the age of 60 years, who is a naturalized citizen and has lived 21 years in this country and whose average annual income has been less than $1,000 per annum, be given a life pension of $12 a month, for the recognition of principles of international socialism.

Eight Dead, Eight Survive.

Wellington, N. Z., Nov. 15. — The British survey steamer Penguin has picked up a raft belonging to the British steamer Elingamite, which was wrecked on one of the Three Kings Islands, off the north coast of New Zealand Nov. 9. On the raft were eight survivors, and the bodies of eight others of the company of the wrecked vessel.

Killed by a Flyer.

Pickering, Nov. 15.—R. D. Benson was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by the westbound Grand Trunk Flyer. He, with several other men, was spiking the track, and Mr. Benson failed to notice the approaching train. His skull was badly fractured and both legs broken. He leaves a wife and three children.

Suicide in Montreal.

Montreal Nov. 15.—G. Ernest Muir, secretary-treasurer of the Montreal Coal and Towing Company, shot and killed himself at his residence yesterday morning. Domestic troubles are said to have been the cause of the tragedy. He was 39 years of age.

Asked to Make Further Effort.

Madrid, Nov. 15.—Yesterday afternoon Senor Sagasta informed the King that he felt compelled to abandon the task of trying to form a new Cabinet, but His Majesty requested him to make a further effort.

FINNS SAYS CZAR IS A TYRANT.

Members of Party of Emigrants Say Finland Will Be Depopulated.

Conneaut, O., Nov. 14.—A large party of Finnish emigrants has arrived here. After a short stay at Conneaut, which is a Finnish stronghold, the majority of the party, together with a number of resident Finns, will leave for Northern Minnesota, where agents have secured control of a considerable tract of farm land and cabins for the settlers have been built.

The emigrants say that next spring will find Finland practically depopulated. To the past dissatisfaction with the Russian rule is added the total crop failure for the past two years, and as a result the Finns are leaving by the thousand on every American-going vessel.

FROM $12,000,000 TO $15,000,000

Statement Made That Bank of Montreal Will Increase Its Capital.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—The statement was made to-day that the Bank of Montreal would increase its capital from the present sum of $12,000,000 to $15,000,000.

The reply of Senator Drummond when asked concerning the story was that the matter had been under consideration by the directors, but so far nothing had been decided upon. The "rest" of the bank, in addition to its present capital, is $3,000,000.

To Prolong Life.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—A discovery in relation to the prolonging of human life has just been announced by Prof. Jacques Loeb of the University of Chicago. Salt and water, the "elixir of life" discovered by Dr. Loeb two years ago to be efficient in making tuckered hearts beat again with rhythmic throbs, has been found to be a powerful restorative for dying mammals, and the professor thinks he is a step nearer the goal of prolonging human life indefinitely.

To Suppress Tribesmen.

Simla, India, Nov. 15.—Owing to a series of raids committed during the last two years by outlaws from across the border on the tract of territory lying between Bannu and Thal, in the Punjab, it has been decided to despatch four flying surprise columns of 800 men each, to coerce the Waziris, who are harboring the raiders on British territory.

One U.S. Bank Closed.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—The Central National Bank of this city did not open for business yesterday, the comptroller of the currency having ordered the bank examiner to close its doors and take charge of its business. The closing of the bank is said to be due to excessive loans and a lack of quick assets.

Appeal in Will Case.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—The McLaren will case reached the Court of Appeal yesterday. In the appeal Attorney-General asks the court to declare that the late John A. McLaren, distiller, of Perth, died intestate, and his $125,000, the property of the Crown, he being illigitimate. The appeal is from the decision of Judge MacMahon, who held that the certified copy of the will produced by the executor, J. A. Stewart, was sufficient proof of the missing will, and declared the sisters and nephews and others to whom the testator bequeathed his estate were entitled to receive it. The will was claimed to have been made in June, 1897, and was either lost or destroyed. Pending the suit to establish it, the court appointed the National Trust Company administrator.

Shot Himself Dead.

Iroquois, Nov. 15.—Thomas Ransom, a farmer, living three miles west of this village, committed suicide Thursday night by shooting himself. It appears he came home [illegible] evening somewhat intoxicated. His wife, knowing he was [illegible] under the influence of liquor, was afraid to let him in the house, and he went to the barn, where he was found yesterday morning with a revolver still in his hand and a bullet in his brain. He had been dead some time when discovered. A few weeks ago he made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, and has been drinking hard since.

Smothered by Grain.

Kincardine, Nov. 15. — A young man named Harry Ross, employed by the Farmers' Elevator, was found dead yesterday morning. It seems that they were loading grain on cars, and Ross was shoveling into the chute, being alone in the building. He is supposed to have been seized with a weak spell and to have fallen head foremost into the grain, life being extinct when he was discovered. He was 21 years of age.

Ryan Dealt the Blow.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—Things are beginning to look serious for Michael Ryan of Hull, who assaulted J. B. Renaud last week and caused his death. The coroner's jury last night found that death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage, through a blow struck by Ryan on Nov. 5. Three witnesses testified to seeing Ryan strike the blow. There was no provocation for the assault. Ryan will be indicted for murder.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

Her Life Might Have Been Saved

Two-thirds of the inmates of our hospitals are women. They are in most cases either for treatment or for an operation, made necessary by advanced stages of female troubles which have resulted in ovaritis, a tumor, or displacement of the womb.

"AN OPERATION NECESSARY."

How these words after the examination strike terror to a woman's soul, and with what regrets she hears them, when she considers that the operation has become necessary through her own neglect. Female derangements cannot cure themselves, and neglecting the warnings of nature only means putting it off until there is no cure. The woman who lets her trouble make headway pays the penalty of a dangerous operation and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at the best, and the operation often proves fatal when her life might have been saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration; or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, and the blues, they should remember that there is one tried and never-failing remedy; Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound at once removes such troubles.

READ THE FOLLOWING LETTERS.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot tell you how much good you have done me and how thankful I am to you for it. For five years I have not been free from pain for a day. I have had backaches, headaches, and those awful dragging sensations with leucorrhœa, and when menstruation appeared I was in such a condition I could hardly sit up. I doctored all the time, but nothing helped me, and I was told that an operation was necessary.

"Two months ago a friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No one knows what it has done for me and how thankful I am for it. It brought me the first well days I have had for five years. It did for me what doctors could not do, and I want every suffering woman to know about it."—LOUISE NAUER, 751 E. 166th St., New York City.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had terrible hemorrhages, being lacerated from the birth of my child. The doctor told me that if I would have an operation I would be well and strong. I submitted to it, but was worse than before; no one knows what I suffered. Finally a friend advised me to try your Vegetable Compound; I did so, and commenced to feel better; I continued its use, and it has done for me what doctors could not do. I am strong and well. If women with any kind of female troubles would only consult you before submitting to an operation they would be spared many hours of pain and suffering. I cannot thank you enough for what you have done for me."—ANNA KIRCHHOFF, 156 E. 100th St., New York City.

A TRIBUTE TO LAURIER.

No one, says the Montreal Witness, ever earned a rest better than Sir Wilfrid Laurier has done by seven years of the most exhaustive demands on every power of mind and heart that any man could make upon himself, and these with no respite. From the time, not to go further back, when he gained the general election of 1896, with a promise to deal successfully with the distressful education question of Manitoba, till the Tarte episode, followed by the selection of a new minister, there has been no time at which he has not been under the highest personal strain, the task in all cases being such as, though he had the ablest coadjutors, none else could do for him. Even a sea voyage was no rest to him, so badly does the sea treat him. Pity that rest did not arrive before it must be a retirement under medical advice for treatment. But let us hope that the means taken to concentrate the task of recuperation upon a few weeks may restore him to service when parliament shall need his leadership.

EDITORIAL NOTES

One is very often surprised at the petty tone of the criticism of the Conservative papers on political matters. Yet perhaps allowances should be made. Conservatism is out of its element in Opposition. The spoils are going to the wrong fellow in defiance of the divine rights doctrine. One, however, need not be surprised at the pettiness of their plans of journalistic campaign. Conservative Governments are so greatly out of fashion these last few years that there is no incentive to enthusiasm.

The retirement of Dr. John Hoskin, K.C., from the position of Official Guardian, which he has occupied with such great credit to himself and benefit to those whose estates he has administered, will be recognized, says Toronto Saturday Night, as a loss to the public generally. Those who by frugality and through a lifetime of painful saving that their heirs might not suffer from want, have been able to leave a competence, doubtless found in prospect comfort in the thought that this department of our Provincial Government was so honestly, ably and amiably attended to. It is outside the memory of the younger generation when the retiring official was practically given charge of this public trust, and and those who have profited by his careful and kindly administration will all join in wishing him continued life and happiness. Mr. F. W. Harcourt, who succeeds him, has had long experience, and is a brother of Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education.

PRESIDENT AND PREMIER.

(Detroit Tribune.)

There is nothing in human government so sensitive and responsible to the popular will as a parliamentary government like the British; nor is there anything organized so ingeniously and so rigidly to resist and defy the popular and parliamentary will, as the American executive. A president can go on his own way, regardless of the people and their representatives, for four years to a day; the British premier cannot do so for an hour, except by an appeal to the people themselves. The premier has more influence than the president, but in respect to personal and irresponsible power he is a mere pigmy compared to the American quadrennial king. We really have an elective irresponsible monarchy, not a true parliamentary government, in this country. We say nothing of the comparative merits or usefulness of the two systems, but it is time that we called things by their right names.

ONTARIO'S WEALTH OF SPRUCE

Visitors to Spruce Forests Have Many Experiences.

Found Unlimited Supplies of Pulpwood. Many Waterpowers and a Great Amount of Game.

The party of English and American capitalists who a few weeks ago came to this country for the purpose of exploiting the limits held by the Sturgeon Falls Pulp Company along the Sturgeon River and its tributaries returned to Toronto a day or two ago. The trip through the north was planned as a finale of the litigation which arose upon the point of the value of the property and which has been in progress during the past two years.

All of the members of the party expressed themselves as being more than surprised at the extent of the spruce lands discovered in the north. The party made a careful and extensive tour of the holdings of the company, this inspection involving a canoe trip of some 500 miles, crossing the entire concession. The inspection of the spruce holdings began at the head waters of the Sturgeon River, and the party followed all of its branches and found an unlimited quantity of spruce within reach of the project—pulp mills at Sturgeon Falls.

With the permission from the Government to utilize the natural waterpowers to be found in the concession, sufficient power, it was stated by the visitors, could be obtained to run the mills already almost completed at a cost of nearly $1,000,000, and to operate the extensions contemplated by the company, which will cost some $2,000,000 more. This additional development will mean a great activity at the Town of Sturgeon Falls, where the works are located.

The visitors made the trip to the north in part a hunting expedition, and secured, among other large game, moose, caribou and black bear. The visitors from England were especially delighted at the opportunities for sport afforded them.

A Fifty-Mile Horizon.

One can stand at the window of the Toronto City Hall tower, and on a bright day the circling horizon will outline the dwelling place of 687,250 people. This is one-ninth of the population of Canada, nearly one-third of the population of the populous and prosperous Province of Ontario. Within this 50-mile horizon circle are many towns and villages, and thousands of the best farms in Canada.

MATTERS MILITARY

BY SENTRY.

The application in Canada of a recent army order for which Lord Roberts is responsible has added materially to the liberties and comforts of the men of the permanent corps in this country. By that order many of the restrictions formerly associated with the soldier's life have been swept away. Roll calls, for instance, have been greatly lessened in number, and in addition soldiers are permitted to smoke when walking in the streets, except when employed on any duty. The troops at Stanley Barracks, Toronto, have availed themselves of this permission, to the surprise of a number of persons who were unaware of the change in the regulations.

Sullivan & Langdon, the well-known Kingston contractors, who built the drill sheds in that city and in Windsor, have just been awarded the contract for the erection of a still larger and more imposing armouries at London, Ont. The new armouries will be considerably larger and more commodious than the one in Kingston. The London drill hall will be 250 feet long and 150 feet wide. It will be built of pressed brick, with stone trimmings, and when completed will be one of the finest and best in the Dominion. The approximate cost of the new structure will be in the neighborhood of $150,000. Work will be begun on the foundaton this fall. The new armouries will be occupied by the 7th Regiment of Fusiliers, the 26th Regiment, Middlesex Light Infantry, No. 6 Company, Army Medical Corps, 6th Battery of Field Artillery and the 1st Hussars. If Peterborough now had good armouries they could be occupied by the 3rd Dragoons, the 14th Field Battery, the 57th Regiment, and the local company of the 45th Regiment.

Vice Admiral Lord Beresford of the British navy, who returned to London on Oct. 27 from a sojourn of several weeks in the United States, is quoted in an interview as expressing the wish that the United States had a larger navy. To the unthinking, says the Army and Navy Journal, this utterance may seem to indicate that Lord Beresford thirsts for warfare on the sea, but to those endowed with reason it simply denotes an enlightened desire for more secure defenses for international peace. The peace of England depends upon the steady expansion of her sea power along lines parellel to those of her commercial expansion. And far-sighted observers, like Beresford, realize that the same is becomingly increasingly true of the United States. There is no thought of hostilities in the suggestion that the navy of the United States should correspond more closely to the strength of the navy of her greatest commercial rival among old world nations. There is, however, a pointed reminder that our security at home and our continued advance in the fierce rivalry for control in the traffic of the seas will depend more and more largely upon the preparedness of our fleets. Fortunately the American people are coming to understand that an efficient navy is a guarantee, rather than a menace, to peace, and that it is no more an incitement to war than an efficient police force is an incitement to rioting.

The Toronto News says:—"So many lectures on South African experiences have been delivered in Toronto that the average Toronto citizen who remained at home knows almost as much about the life of a soldier on active service in the present day as the chap who wears the red, blue and yellow war medal ribbon himself. The story has to be told very cleverly to prove of real interest. Trooper Lorne Mulloy, D.S.O., who lost his eyesight in Africa, talked to a large audience in Bathurst street Methodist Church for an hour and a half Tuesday night, and succeeded in keeping his listeners highly entertained. He has a good fund of anecdotes, and knows how to tell them. Rev. J. E. Starr occupied the chair. Some people claimed, said the lecturer of the evening, that the Canadians had no right to take a hand in the struggle in Africa. He justified his enlistment for service in the fact that the Cape Colonist and Uitlander were just as much British subjects, just as much entitled to help from Canadians, as British Columbia had a right to expect help from Ontario in case of an invasion of her territory. Mulloy then told of the discipline, rations and other features of life on active service, illustrating his descriptions with amusing stories, and concluded his lecture with a graphic account of the engagements at Wetpoort, where Lieutenants Borden and Birch were killed, and where Mulloy himself received the wounds which eventually resulted in total blindness.

ABOUT MARGARET'S ISLAND.

A Beautiful Spot at the Foot of Rice Lake.

How a Good Little Woman Lives Alone on the Historic Spot.

Margaret's Island, so named from a young woman drowned in the neighbourhood by the name of Margaret, and latterly Ferguson's Island, from the present occupants, who settled there forty-two years ago last August, the island at that time being in a state of nature.

It is a lovely spot and beautifully situated at the foot of Rice Lake. It contains seventy-two acres of tillable land. To see it in its beauty, it must be viewed from the high lands on the south side of the lake. Lying as it does in a south-westerly and north-easterly direction, and fully a mile long, with the south-westerly portion within a few hundred yards from the main land on the south, and the north-easterly nearly a half-mile from the north shore, creates a wind-break from both north and westerly winds. On account of its situation, large mud beds have accumulated, with acres of weed beds, on the south side, thus making it a shelter for the wild duck and a home of maskinonge and other fish. For this reason, for years, it has been and still is a much frequented spot for the sportsman with either rod or gun.

Forty-two years ago last August Ferrington Ferguson and his wife Elizabeth De-Gratt, took possession of this land and at once proceeded to clear the land and build a home thereon. To them were born twelve children, six of whom still survive, and one of whom remains at home and is a mute. For ten years all went well when the angel of death visited the home and took the husband, leaving a wife and several children to face an unsympathetic world. It was then the noble qualities of this little woman, asserted themselves. Instead of breaking up her home she took the wiser course, clung to her island home and kept her children together until one by one they went to homes of their own. It was herein that the master mind of the mother showed such heroism, wisdom and skill, that it deserves chiselling in marble. Of all her children, the mute only remains at home and works the farm. He is a young man, whose countenance and eye, show intelligence, but whom circumstances deprived of an education. The fidelity of this young man to his aged mother puts to shame hundreds of others, whose birth and life has been surrounded with every advantage. That she should have seen hard times, we wonder not at, when the true history is known, but neither the inside or outside of the home show any trace of it at the present.

Though now aged, but showing a vitality much beyond her years, many of the present anticipating home makers would do well to visit the home of this good little woman and get some lessons in home tidiness and cooking.—Hastings Star.

HAVE YOU ANY OF THESE

Symptoms of a Very Common Trouble?

There is no disease so common in the United States as Catarrh, because it appears in so many forms and attacks so many different organs.

It is a common mistake to suppose that catarrh is confined to the nose and throat. Any inflammation of the mucous membrane, wherever located accompanied by abnormal secretions, is catarrh. Catarrh of the stomach or bladder, or intestines, is nearly as common as nasal catarrh, and much more serious, although it is true that stomach catarrh and catarrh of other internal organs is the result of neglected nasal catarrh.

A new remedy has recently appeared, which, so far as tested, seems to be remarkably effective in promptly curing catarrh, wherever located. The preparation is sold by druggists generally under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and in addition to being very palatable and convenient, possesses extraordinary merit, in many cases giving immediate relief from the coughing, hawking and constant clearing of the throat and head those symptoms with which everyone is familiar who has ever suffered from colds in the head and throat.

Catarrh is simply a continuation of these symptoms until the trouble becomes chronic and grows gradually worse from year to year.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed of Hydrastin, Red Gum, and similar antiseptics and catarrh specifics, from which it will be seen that no secret is made of the ingredients and also that no mineral poisons are used, as is the case with many well-known catarrh medicines.

For catarrh of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, for catarrh of the stomach, intestines or bladder no preparation is so safe and gives such rapid and permanent results as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full sized package. You can use them with assurance that you will not contract the cocaine or morphine habit as the results from this catarrh cure are apparent from the first day's use.

Who Accept My Offer get Well. No Money is Wanted.

I ask only a postal card naming someone who is sick. Tell me the book to send. I ask it as an act of humanity. Write it to-day, and I will do the rest.

I will even do this:—I will mail the sick one an order—good at any drug store—for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And the sick one's mere word shall decide it.

Don't think that too fair to be possible, for I do just as I say. I do it to convince those who don't know me, and so that everyone who needs help will accept it.

I have learned that the cured ones are fair. I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands on just those terms, and 39 out of each 40 have paid gladly, because they were cured. I have willingly paid for the rest.

And I spent a lifetime in perfecting the remedy before I ever offered it to anyone. At thousands of bedsides, in hospitals and homes, I have watched it cure the most difficult cases that physicians ever meet. I learned that it does not fail, save where some cause—like cancer—makes a cure impossible.

My success comes from strengthening the inside nerves. My Restorative brings back that nerve power which alone operates every vital organ of the body. Common treatments merely doctor the organs, and the results at best are but temporary. My remedy restores the nerve power that makes these organs act. No other treatment does that, and there is positively no other way to make weak organs well.

My book will explain this. It tells about the only remedy so sure that any man dare offer it on such a plan as mine. Won't you tell me a friend who needs it?

PROF. RUDDICK LECTURES ON PARRAFINING.

Some Interesting Information for Cheesemen.

AN EXPERIMENT EXPLAINED

That has Been Attended With Such Success—Cool Curing Process.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board on Wednesday last, Prof. Ruddick, of the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, spoke briefly on the subject of parrafining cheese. The following report from the Brockville Times, concerning a lecture Prof. Ruddick delivered there on the same subject, may be of interest to the readers of the Examiner:

The meeting of the Brockville cheese board yesterday afternoon, was of an interesting character from the fact that Prof. Ruddick, assistant to the Dairy Commissioner for the Dominion was present, and talked on experiments made during the past season at the Government curing station on Perth street. He had exhibited on the platform six cheese, three cured by the ordinary and three by the cool curing process. Four of these were bored and samples passed around so that the farmers could judge for themselves the difference in quality, texture, etc. The matter of curing is now recognized as one of the most important in the cheese industry, and it was not surprising that a large number of farmers accepted the invitation to be present at this meeting. The salesmen were also more numerously represented than usual.

Prof. Ruddick, on coming forward, said it was intimated to him by Mr. Somerville, the gentleman in charge of the Government curing station, that he should discuss some of the aspects of the cool curing of cheese. As all matters appertaining to it would be given in an official report he was not anxious to forestall it. In a few weeks, when the cheese operations close the department would be in a better position to give definite information as to results. He felt grateful to all who had patronized the cool curing room, and to all who had in a public spirited way helped the movement along. All seemed willing to give it a fair trial and judge it on its merits. It was agreed that Mr. Somerville was the right man for the position. He worked hard and faithfully and a good deal of the success was due to him, which he justly merited. The cheese before him were of the August make, no July cheese being obtainable. He spoke of the cool season being against obtaining entirely satisfactory results.

Two of the six cheese were exhibited to show the effect of paraffine dipping. One was dipped on arrival and the other almost ten days later. Circumstances were such that Mr. Somerville was forced to dip them immediately after they came in. Later on when the numbers fell off the cheese were held a week or ten days before the dipping process was undertaken. When the cheese was dipped fresh, the parrafine did not improve the cheese, causing it to blister, due to the unabsorbed moisture. Cheese allowed to stand before dipping became solid, the rind hardens and the wax presents a better body. Cheese parrafined and kept in a warm place, afterwards gets gummy, and the process does not save shrinkage. He did not think it would be practicable to parrafine cheese and then hold them in a warm curing room.

It was generally accepted that cheese cured at a temperature of 60 degrees or under are improved in quality, more noticeably in texture. There was also a marked difference in flavour. At the several cheese curing stations much difficulty was experienced from mould, which led to the parrafine experiments. The mould was not so noticeable in Brockville as in Woodstock. He attributed different reasons for this, one being the new buildings. Unseasoned lumber produced more or less moisture. Another was the extraordinary damp the past season, the most pronounced in his dairy experience. Complaints had been received from the Old Country of mould on butter arriving in the Old Country. The same also applied to cheese boxes. Experiments showed that cheese parrefined at the curing station will hold weight for three or four weeks. In fact some were shipped out at exactly the same weight as they came in. He had received a letter from a Liverpool merchant, who kept the Government curing room cheese in store for a month, and at the expiration of that time found that they kept their weight. The matter of weight was a most important one to be considered in connection with the process of parafine. Cheese left to stand for a week before applying the wax dry out and take on an amber colour, besides there is less tendency to mould than when dipped immediately after being manufactured. It was found that cheese moulded after being parrafined, but that comes from the moisture in the boxes and sticking to the outside of the cheese can easily be wiped off. The matter of dry boxes was important, if manufacturers desired their cheese to be kept neat and clean.

Proceeding Prof. Ruddick gave statistics showing the loss of weight in cheese cured by the ordinary process in comparison with those cured by the cool process. A cheese placed in the cool room on Aug. 6th weighed 78 lbs. 2 ounces; on Aug. 26 it weighed 77 lbs. 12 ounces, or a shrinkage of 6 ounces. A cheese made in the same vat cured in the ordinary room, weighed 83 lbs., and 81 lbs. 4 ounces on the dates mentioned, or a shrinkage of 1 lb. 6 ounces, showing a big margin in favour of the cool curing. He presented two other experiments on different dates viz., cool curing room, August 11th, 75 lbs., 8 os., Sept. 2nd 75 lbs., 4 os., shrinkage 4 os. In ordinary curing room weighed same dates, 75 lbs., and 73 lbs. 6 os., shrinkage 1lb. 10 os. Prof. Ruddick said that wax dipping, regardless of temperature, meant a saving of one per cent. in shrinkage. He was not a faddist, he was rather inclined to be conservative, he was anxious to find defects in the system and conducted experiments along careful lines. After calm consideration, and noting results from a practical and scientific standpoint he stated that he had not arrived at anything so important to the cheese trade as parraffine dipping made possible through cool curing rooms. The direct gain is in the shrinkage, which more than makes up for the cost of the experiment, leaving quality out of the question altogether. He was not in a position to give factorymen decided information regarding the cool curing rooms experiments or recommendations. The department felt like being sure of their ground before committing themselves. He thought they would be able to show how cool curing rooms can be carried on inexpensively either in the factories or at central points. A great deal, however, would depend on local conditions. The department had to consider the attitude of old country merchants towards innovations. The Englishman may be inclined to condemn waxing but if it can be shown that it is a good thing it won't take long to convert him. He thought if Canadians stuck to the old lines demanded by the English trade, the Canadian dairy trade won't improve but keep on doing business in the same old rut.

Returning to the parraffine question Prof. Ruddick said that dipped cheese removed from cold storage and brought into a warmer atmosphere will not retain dampness. It dries off and the cheese is not injured. The waxing system will relieve complications in the ever perplexing weight questions besides making it possible for the cheese to retain a meaty, silky texture. He did not think it possible to use parrafine unless the temperature can be controlled. The wax has no effect on the curing. It had been said that it seals up that which should come out of the cheese in the curing process. He said that all that comes from cheese in this stage is only the purest of distilled water. Neither does waxing effect the quality in the least.

Prof. Ruddick was followed closely in his remarks. At the conclusion of his address four cheese were bored and samples distributed among the audience. Even to the inexperienced there was a marked difference in the quality of the cool cured cheese over those cured in the ordinary temperature.

WAKE UP, BABY!

A New Game for Mothers.

Baby's awakening ought to be looked forward to with pleasure, not dreaded as a scourge. He should awaken, bright, merry and full of fun, refreshed by sleep, ready for a good time.

How many mothers dread his awakening howls, knowing that he will keep everyone miserable until he goes to sleep again or gets his food. These crying fits are the terror of every inexperienced mother. Mrs. Gabriel Barnes, Six Mile Lake, Ont., is a mother who has learned how this trouble can be best met and writes us as follows: "My baby suffered much from indigestion and was cross and restless, I gave him several medicines but they did not help him. I then got a box of Baby's Own Tablets and they helped him almost at once and have done him so much good that I would not be without them. German Socialist's Handling of an Insulter of the King.

EJEETED FROM HIS OWN MEETING

Organizer Gonzale of the Socialist-Labor Party Meets With a Warm Reception at the Hands of Winnipeg Socialists Because of Uncomplimentary References to King Edward—Warned Out.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—As the result of a meeting held in the north end last night Anton Gonzale has left the city without organizing a Socialist-Labor Brotherhood. He only arrived two weeks ago and paved the way to his meeting by cultivating acquaintance among the various nationalities of eastern Europe represented in the city. As the outcome of his efforts meeting was called to organize a branch of the Socialist-Labor Brotherhood. About 30 attended. In the midst of the proceedings Organizer Gonzale made some uncomplimentary references to King Edward. A north end German demanded an apology, and when this was not forthcoming taunted Gonzale with having several unsettled bills, and referred to him as a "Yankee renegade." The meeting broke up in wild confusion, the organizer being forcibly ejected from the hall and warned to make himself scarce in the neighborhood hereafter.

KILLED AT LEDUC, MAN.

Charles Buckle Shoots Robert Heddell, a Neighboring Farmer.

Edmonton, N. W. T., Nov., 15.—Robert Heddell, a farmer residing near Leduc, was shot and fatally wounded by a neighbor named Charles A. Buckle. Heddell died Thursday of his injuries, and Buckle has become violently insane.

The murderer had shown symptoms of insanity for some time, and all firearms had been taken from him. He managed to conceal a revolver, however, and when Heddell entered his residence shot him in the temple.

The murderer also pulled his revolver as another neighbor entered, but it missed fire. The parties are English farmers, Buckle residing alone on his farm.

Painted Mask Kills a Child.

New York, Nov. 15.—Little Freda Henke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Henke, of No. 24 Church street, Orange, is dead at home, as a result of blood-poisoning, contracted by wearing a papier mache mask at a Hallowe'en party she recently gave a number of her young friends. At the party all the children wore the masks, and there was much romping. The warmth from the little girl's face melted the paint on the mask, and she was inoculated through an abrasion on her upper lip.

Another Millionaire in Jail.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 15.—Colonel Ed. Butler, millionaire and politician of St. Louis, who has been on trial charged with having attempted to bribe Dr. Chapman of the St. Louis Board of Health, in order to influence his vote on the endorsement of a garbage contract with the city, has been found guilty by the jury, which fixed the punishment at three years in the penitentiary. A motion for a new trial was overruled.

More Money For Workers.

Philadelphia, Nov. 15.—From point to point over the telegraph lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday morning was flashed the news that 59,000 employes would receive an increase of 10 per cent. in their salaries, dating from the first of the present month. The word was sent out from President Cassatt's office, and in a remarkably short time every division superintendent had been notified.

Teachers After Smokers.

Belleville, Nov. 15.—Queen Victoria School, this city, is in a turmoil, owing to the fact that the teachers have gone on the warpath against their pupils smoking cigarettes. It is alleged that a large proportion of the boys are addicted to the habit, and teachers have the names of four grocery storekeepers who have been selling cigarettes to boys. It is likely they will be prosecuted against.

Eczema Cured by Ozone

Mrs. Ellen Smith of Montreal, was a fearful sufferer from eczema for many years. She was tortured so severely at times she contemplated putting an end to her existence. Thanks to Powley's Liquified Ozone, she did not do so because it cured her completely and for all time. She is a great believer in Ozone now, and so is her pastor, the Rev. J. Frederick Renaud, who has known her for twenty years, and who is quite conversant with her cure by this drugless product. He vouches for the facts in her case and gives Ozone great praise.

MRS. ELLEN SMITH, Montreal.

Mrs. Ellen Smith Writes:

"Having been greatly benefited by Powley's Liquified Ozone, I feel it my duty to allow it to be known to the public at large.

"I had been a fearful sufferer from eczema for many years. The disease centered in both limbs, below the knees. The left especially, was swollen to alarming dimensions, while the inflammation, irritation, and hard, scaly condition, induced a degree of suffering which only the mercy of God prevented me from ending in suicide.

"I spent the best of three years on my back, besides different periods in three hospitals. Then at home I could not go as far as the next room without the aid of crutches, and altogether my case was considered past help, for I had had the best skill in the country to no purpose.

"I have now used five bottles of Ozone, and I rejoice to say that both limbs are reduced to their normal size, the burning is entirely gone, and I can walk alone with perfect ease, although I am now sixty years of age.

"The Ozone also cured an advanced stage of liver disorder, and I am willing at all times to tell my experience to other sufferers. (Signed) MRS. ELLEN SMITH, 31 St. Andre Street, Montreal.

The Rev. J. Frederick Renaud's Corroboration.

"To Whom it May Concern:

"I beg to state that I have known Ellen Smith for over twenty years, and for the past nine years she has suffered from a running sore but was unable to obtain any permanent relief until she tried Powley's Liquified Ozone, to the beneficial effect of which she bears most grateful testimony." (Signed) REV. J. FREDERICK RENAUD, 82 St. Herbert Street, Montreal, P. Q.

There is no other way of proving the value of a preparation, so valuable, so positive, than by investigating the statements made about it and finding out if the facts are just as they are represented. We always solicit the freest possible investigation of the claims we make for Ozone, and to widen the scope of such an undertaking by you, we suggest that you make enquiries of your druggist. Oftentimes cases come under his notice that he can refer you to. As these cases may not have had our attention, you will get an absolutely unbiased opinion of this great drugless preparation—Powley's Liquified Ozone.

The indications are that the husbands of Peterborough will have a pleasant Sunday to-morrow. They will not, from all appearances, be "handled without gloves," as every housewife in town appears to have been supplied with "kids" at Messrs. Robert Fair & Co's this morning. There was a great assemblage of ladies and the store presented an unusual sight. The sale was certainly a great success, in point of the number of customers, at least.

HOW ACCIDENT HAPPENED.

A Talk With Eagle Lake Hunting Club.

The Late Mr. W. H. Hall was Conscious up Until the Last—Gun Accidently Discharged.

The Eagle Lake Hunt Club returned from their annual trip back north last night. Knowing that several members of this party were in the vicinity of Mr. W. H. Hall's residence when the unfortunate accident occurred, which resulted in his death, a representative of the Examiner interviewed one or two members of the party with a view of ascertaining the real facts of the deplorable affair.

Mr. R. Tivey was close to Mr. Hall's wharf when the accident happened. He had gone to Mr. Hall's to tell him of the whereabouts of a dog which that gentleman had lost. Mr. Hall was standing at his wharf about to enter his canoe, while his son, Wesley, was about twenty feet away, at his own canoe. The young man was at the bow of the boat, and was taking his shot gun therefrom. He had the gun by the muzzle, and as he drew it forward the hammer caught against the thwart, raised about full cocked, it is supposed, and then came down with deadly effect. Mr. Tivey heard the report of the discharge, of course, and immediately turned around, only to find Mr. Hall bending over, in apparent agony. "My son! my son!" shouted the unfortunate man, to which the terror-stricken young man replied, "Father, it was not my fault." Mr. Hall was carried to his house, close by, and given every care possible. An examination of his wounds revealed the fact that several B.B. shot had entered the groin, besides one or two scattering shots elsewhere. Mr. Jack Cottingham at once started for a physician, whilst Messrs. Westlake, Gunsolus, Sheehy, Mitchell and White of the Eagle Lake party, and Messrs. Jack Fitzgerald, J. Johnston, — Simpson and R. Howden, of the Fitzgerald-White party, remained until the very last with the dying man. He was conscious up until the last, and talked freely to his friends. He made no requests, as had been reported, as to where he should be taken.

ACROSS THE RIVER.

Some Breezy Notes From Ashburnham —The Grain Traffic.

There has been a large amount of grain landed at Peck's wharf this fall. The past week especially was a record, and the reason stated is that the buyers across Rice Lake are not buying much this year, and as a result it has come up the river. To give some idea of the amount, it might be stated that the Star has been bringing up from six to ten thousand bushels a week. Of course all of this does not come to Ashburnham, but a large quantity of it does.

The building trade is fairly busy, and a number of buildings are going up. Mrs. Revell is building a fine residence on Stewart street. It is a two storey brick structure with a kitchen at the back and a large verandah at the front.

Extensive improvements are being made in the mill of the McAllister Milling Company. The improvements are in charge of a Toronto firm and it is expected that when the new machinery is installed that the mill will be second to none in Ontario, at least.

The coal famine here is somewhat relieved. Messrs. Scott & Hogg received a carload of anthracite and are now busy filling orders.

IT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Last Night's Lecture was Highly Appreciated.

A Crowded House Greeted the Great Cartoonist—Both Instructive and Amusing.

The lecture given last night by Mr. J. W. Bengough, under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Charlotte street Methodist church, was a huge success, and the League is to be congratulated on their enterprise. Mr. Bengough took for his subject "The Art of Drawing," illustrated on paper, and by the life of a man from childhood up. A child's first drawing, the speaker said, was the drawing of its breath, then came drawing on the bottle, then such as sleighs, etc., and in more advanced years, on the liquor bottle. These steps were all well caricatured. By a clever change, a lad on a tobaggon was altered on paper into a drunken loafer, and by a fitting parallel it was shown how easily this was done in actual life. Just here a strong appeal was made in favour of the Referendum, after which two witty stories were told illustrating the inherent caution and power of repartee in youths.

A number of political cartoons were then drawn, and in each case interest was held by the artist leaving the audience in doubt until the last moment, when the finishing touches were put on the face. These cartoons portrayed well known men in public life, as Hon. J. R. Stratton, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, J. P. Whitney, Hon. J. I. Tarte, and Hon. G. W. Ross. With these were mingled bright anecdotes and witty poems, which made a pleasing change. Then came a number of cartoons portraytraying men well known in local circles, as Mr. J. H. McClellan, Mr. R. J. Kidd, and Constable Charles McGinty, each associated with the calling in which they were best known.

Throughout the main idea of drawing was well followed, and at the close the various cartoons were disposed of by auction.

The piano used last night was a Stanley, and the Epworth League desires to express their thanks to the Stanley Piano Company for the loan of the instrument, as well as to Messrs. Ormond and Walsh for the able manner in which they handled the sale of the tickets.

WHOSE DEER WAS IT?

A Dispute as to Ownership of Game.

There is an amusing story told in hunting circles which runs somewhat as follows:—The Lakefield party was camped at Turtle Lake and the Telford party at the foot of Crane Lake, the camps being separated by about two or three miles. This distance is largely covered with a green woods. One day last week one of the Lakefield party with three dogs met two of the Telford party with two dogs. As is the custom of hunters meeting in this manner fraternal greetings were interchanged and while so engaged the hounds started off on a hot scent. A warm dispute ensued as to whose dogs started the deer and some hard words were interchanged when the dogs came in sight close on the trail of a — rabbit.

MANAGER AT MILLBROOK.

Mr. A. St. A. Smith Assumes That Position in the Branch of Toronto Bank There.

Mr. A. St. A. Smith, formerly accountant of the Bank of Toronto here, went to Millbrook at 11.40 this morning to make arrangements for the opening of a branch of the Bank of Toronto in the village, of which he has been appointed manager. Mr. Smith is a pillar of the banking business in Peterborough and enjoys the distinction of being the longest continuous member of a bank staff in Peterborough. He came to town twenty-one years ago, Jan. 1, 1881, and his well deserved promotion comes like a celebration of his majority as a bank official. During the score of years he has been in town Mr. Smith has filled the position of accountant and while he has given the bank first-class clerical service, he has made, both for the bank and himself hosts of friend who, while congratulating him upon his promotion, will regret that it withdraws Mr. Smith from the ranks of Peterborough citizenship.

It is expected that the Millbrook branch will open its doors for, it is hoped, a prosperous business on Tuesday or Wednesday next.

Contest to Run Another Week.

The Red and Blue Y.M.C.A. Membership Contest, which was to close to-night, will continue for another week, and close on Saturday, the 22nd at ten p.m. This agreement was arrived at last evening by the leaders. It will give a large number a chance to come in before the week ends. The score still keeps the Blues in the lead by eight points. If all the Blues were as active as Whiten the Reds would find themselves in a hopeless condition.

THIS MORNING'S MARKET.

Prices Were High but Fowl was Bought Quite Freely.

In spite of the bad roads and the threatening weather, this morning's market was a large one. Prices are very high this year, yet the prudent buyer can generally get what is wanted at a slight reduction from the general price asked. The mild weather brought out a fairly large outside market. A large amount of lamb and beef was offered, but not much pork. Apples and potatoes brought in the neighbourhood of 50c and $1.25 bag, respectively, and 15c and 25c. by the peck; onions were sold at 35c to 90c per bag, and carrots at 35c and 40c; parsnips sold at two pecks for 25c; celery 5 and 10c a bunch; and pumpkins, 5c each. Beef hind quarters, brought $5 and $6.50; forequarters, $4 to $4.50; lamb, 5 1-2 to 7c per lb. for forequarters and hindquarters respectively; pork, 9c for hind quarter and 8c for fore quarquarters. A number of young pigs, suitable for roasting, were sold at $2.50 each. In the butter market the attendance both of buyers and sellers was large. In the poultry line chickens were held at 50c, 55c, and 60c generally, but some went for 40c per pair; geese brought from 55 to 75c each, and ducks, 65 to 80c per pair. Some butter was bought at 19c although the price generally asked ran from 20 to 22c per lb. Eggs sold at 19 and 20c per dozen.

The markets from now till after New Year's will likely be large and well attended.

FOR MISSIONS.

The Amount the Methodists of Canada Will ask for.

Last year the Missionary Societies of the Methodist church of Canada raised $306,000 for mission work. This year the Methodists of Canada are asked to raise $350,000 of current income and $50,000 for a special fund. The vigourous policy that is being pursued in regard to the mission work in Western Canada has warranted the Missionary Societies in asking for the special grant of $50,000. One gentleman in Toronto has already contributed one-fifth of this amount.

All Saints' Church.

There will be the usual celebration of the Holy Communion on Sunday at eleven o'clock. Rev. W. L. Armitage will preach at both services, the subjects being "Prisoners and Prison Reform," and "Our Duty in the Referendum Vote," morning and evening respectively. Your Life and Your Health.

Prof. Edson A. Titus, Ph. D., B.S., D.S.M., Phrenologist, Palmist and Massagist is located for a short time in parlours at the Hotel National, where he will read life from head, hand and stars, diagnose disease, and treat chronic ailments by Scientific Massage. Dr. Titus is Associated Dean of the International College of Scientific Massage, and desires one or more pupils to learn the principles and practice of Scientific Massage for this locality. Scientific Massage is a drugless cure for chronic diseases. It seeks to restore normal conditions when there is functional derangements by means of magnetic aura, producing friction. It does not seek to supplant the use of medicines, but to be auxiliary, but is often a specific where medicines fail to assimilate. More than three hundred cures have been recorded in the Ottawa valley in the last eight months effected by Dr. Titus and his pupils. Diseases diagnosed free. Orders by phone or mail to see parties at residence are given prompt attention.

BACK FROM THE NORTH.

The Eagle Lake Hunt Club Returned Last Night.

This Year's Hunt a Most Enjoyable one —An Immense Buck Killed.

The Eagle Lake Hunt Club, consisting of Messrs. M. Tooley, R. Sheehy, H. Evans, Chas. Gunsolus, Geo. Fitzgerald, C. Westlake, R. Tivey, H. Mitchell, C. Butcher, T. Parker, A. Pierson, O. Dumble, W. H. White, M. Dobson, J. Cottingham and others, in all nineteen, returned last night from their two weeks' sojourn in the north country. Owing to the amount of water in the marshes and in the low places the deer were able often to shake off the pursuit. Still the Eagle Lake Club report a greater success than most parties. This was due they said to the superior quality of the dogs taken back by this party. The water, in the north country, members of the party claim, is nearly seven feet above its normal level, and they are at loss to account for it unless, as they say, the dams in the canal sysytem are holding back the water. In all the party killed some fifteen deer, but owing to the soft weather only eleven could be brought down. The weather this year has been such that it was almost impossible to keep the deer. This is the greatest draw back hunters have experienced this year, as is evidenced by reports from Toronto, London and other places. One of the largest bucks brought down for a number of years came with the Eagle Lake Hunt Club last night, and its weight was something over 215 lbs. Mr. Oscar Dumble was the lucky nimrod in this case and his success is the more noticable as this was his first year at deer hunting. It is said he had one bad attack of the fever, but his recovery was rapid and lasting as the result shows. Partridge were very numerous, in fact the oldest hunters of the party say that they never saw them so plentiful. Altogether this year's hunt might be classed as one of the most pleasant and successful in the history of the Club, and it is safe to say that all members will endeavour to be present at next year's hunt.

FITZGERALD—WHITE PARTY

The Fitzgerald-White party returned last night from Gold Lake where they were successful in killing seven deer. The members of the party report having had a fine time and claim that the 300 lb. steer it was claimed they captured, was in reality a 250 lb. buck.

GILBERT—ARNOTT.

The Gilbert-Arnott hunting party returned from their trip yesterday. Although the party was small they had excellent luck and succeeded in bringing home two deer, one which "Charley" brought down.

FROM HALIBURTON.

Messrs. A. W. and E. Scriver, of town, returned last night from Gilford township, Haliburton county, with two fine deer.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

IT is generally conceded that the electric alarm bells at the George street crossing of the C. P. R. were a delusion and a snare. When a freight train might be standing on the track, motionless, the bell would ring furiously to warn the public that there was no danger of being run down. When an express came thundering into the station at a rushing rate, the bell was discreetly silent. For purposes of warning to vehicles or pedestrians, this electric alarm bell was about as useless as a tooth brush to a new-born baby.

• • •

THE substitution of a flagman is an improvement, but gates would be better. The G. T. R. has gates at two street crossings working all right. The C. P. R. is a strong rival with the G. T. R. and bound to keep abreast, especially in the matter of rates, but it seems to draw the line at railway gates. In all fairness, why should the G.T.R. be compelled to set up and operate gates, and the C.P.R. allowed to use the less efficient and satisfactory expedient of a flag?

• • •

IT indicates excellent management to have the street crossings scraped, and leave the resulting mud piled up at one end of the crossing, and remain there, to be scattered about again in a few hours. It would be a "dandy" housewife, who would leave the sweepings of her rooms, piled up in the corner. Some persons are irreverent enough to say that it would be an improvement if our civic housekeepers would, in some respects, take lessons from some old woman.

• • •

THE ingenuity of the modern boy is versatile, especially in the direction of mischief. He is up to almost anything, from over-driving horses, misleading blind boys, making Sunday excursions, and popping at cows with a revolver, with sometimes the righteous retribution of a shot through his own hand—to manslaughter, for the lad who opened a switch on the C.P.R. river spur line Thursday evening might, if the engine had been going at a faster rate, easily have killed a driver or fireman.

• • •

MAYOR DENNE did a graceful act in a graceful way, in presenting the medal of the Royal Humane Society to Miss Hay. He would do another graceful act in calling a meeting, or heading a movement for the establishment of a local society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The medal was as richly deserved as such a society is badly needed.

• • •

HERETOFORE the bonds that have united the several provinces of the Confederation have been largely sentimental and political. But the commercial bond, the strongest perhaps of all, is being spun. Eating Quebec and Nova Scotia potatoes in Peterborough is the next thing to dropping in to tea with our provincial neighbours, and the sight of double-header trains passing through town, with several Intercolonal cars in their bunch, makes the Maritime Provinces seem very near.

• • •

HAS anybody yet discovered the Peterborough Board of Trade? If it is to justify its existence, it must be moving. A properly run Board of Trade is a mighty power for good to a town. Why, in Great Britain, the Board of Trade is a Department of the Government.

• • •

OUR Board of Trade is all right, if it would get to work. There is abundant work for it. Individuals can't do the work of the Board, which has the prestige of organization and numbers. There are (and have been) numerous industries knocking at our doors, and, in certain cases, it is said, nobody seems to have been around to hang out the latch-string. The City of Hamilton seems to get a "cinch" on every industry that comes its way; and it has captured some that might have been got for Peterborough. Does the Board of Trade, (theoretically assumed to represent the business interests of the town) know all about these things, and how many chances we have let, like sunbeams, pass us by?

• • •

WHAT about freight rates? The Board knows by report, and business men by costly experience, that freight rates cut deeply into industrial and general commercial profits. Does the Board know that Peterborough is the victim of the short haul? That as good rates can be got from London, west, to Montreal, and vice versa, as from Peterborough? Of course they do, and perpetual hammering should be kept up to remedy this disparity. True, it is a tough proposition to handle—it's dead pulling against the stream of railway combinations, and our Board of Trade will never breast the current by resting on their oars.

• • •

WHEN promoters of entertainments send invitation tickets to press representatives, if they are back seat tickets it should not be a disappointment if the report should be of a similar character. The general idea is that, in the matter of facilities for reporting entertainments, the best in the house is none too good for the press representatives.

• • •

THOSE who think that the Trent Canal system will not do much as a grain traffic route will be surprised to learn that one steamer of the Rice Lake fleet brings to town about 10,000 to 12,000 bushels per week — a trade that is bound to increase. The Board of Trade should shed its coat and start digging another section, say that from Healy's Falls to Trenton.

• • •

COLLECTOR GREEN is bottling the sweat of the toiling taxpayers at a great rate. The date for the payment of the second dose of taxes is to-day.

• • •

WHILE it is sometimes a strain to pay one's taxes, people as a rule don't mind paying taxes so much if they get value for them—but, as the soliloquising Hamlet says—"there's the rub."

• • •

YOU might have seen an alderman on one street corner this morning complacently rubbing his hand, expanding his pleural cavity, and exclaiming "We've got the streets in good shape this year;" while on the next crossing you would hear a citizen asserting, "Our streets are in a horrible condition."

• • •

POSSIBLY the truth lies between the two extremes—but considerably under the mud. A taxpayer said this morning that parts of George street and Aylmer street were the only two pieces of road in town fit to drive upon, and that the other streets were quagmires; and pedestrians know that some of the street crossings are more like pitfalls. Have we got value for our money?

• • •

ISN'T it about time the steam roller made its report of its summer's work? Has it done the work it was assured to do? If not, why not?

• • •

SOME of our streets will, from present appearances, be caught in a "rocky-roads-to-Dublin" condition by the frost. After the completion of sewers the streets seem to be left in a rough condition, piled in rough humocks made treacherous by jutting boulders and rolling cobble stones.

• • •

WHY on earth don't the city fathers get this work under way earlier in the season, so that the roads can be put in shape before winter comes, avoiding opportunities for axle-deep mud in the spring? It may be said that petitions for sewers come in late. Then let petitioners be told that they must get in their requests in time or wait till next spring.

• • •

ISN'T there a possibility of doing civic business on business principles?

• • •

Regular Monthly Meeting of the Village Council.

Mrs. Dr. Fraser has returned from Montreal, where she has been visiting her brother.

Mr. Toms of Dutton, has been engaged by Mr. Ridpath, to work on the News staff.

On Monday evening, November 10, a regular meeting of the municipal council was held in the town hall. There were present: Reeve Fitzgerald, in the chair; Councillors Davis, Wallace, Fitzgerald and Kelly. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

BRITISH CRUISERS SAIL.

In Order to Protect Europeans Who Are at Tetuan, Morocco.

Madrid, Nov. 14.—A despatch from Tetuan, Morocco, says that a body of armed Tetuanites has been defeated by rebels.

In Madrid the position of the Europeans at Tetuan is considered to be most grave. The newspapers comment on Spain's continued ill-fortune as again evidenced by the fact that the country is without a Cabinet at the time of such an important crisis.

British Cruisers Sail.

Gibraltar, Nov. 14. — The British cruisers Furious, Pactolus and Prometheus have sailed from here for Tetuan, Morocco.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

Jackson Johnson, of Norham, Ont., Finds Relief from Dyspepsia and Chronic Diarrhoea in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

When a man has suffered for twenty years with Dyspepsia; when he has tried doctors and medicines to no avail; when, to add to his other ailments, Chronic Diarrhoea has developed, and when at last that man finds relief from his complication of troubles in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, it is surely time to admit that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the one sure cure for Dyspepsia.

Such was the experience of Jackson Johnson of Norham, Ont. Here's what he writes regarding it:

"My case was an exceptional one of Chronic Dyspepsia. I had been doctoring for it for nearly twenty years, in which time I spent a large amount of money with doctors and for medicines. Two years ago I was taken with diarrhoea, which became chronic, and I became so weak I was confined to my bed.

"A person who had used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets induced me to try them and I have taken seventeen boxes up to the time of writing, and have steadily improved. I am prompted to write by a desire to induce others to give a trial to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, which I claim have been instrumental in taking me from the brink of the grave and restoring me to comparative good health."

Water In a Room.

Every one should know that cold water in a room attracts to itself the poisonous gases that are exhaled from the lungs and pores. The colder the water the greater its capacity for holding impurities, and the water which has stood in the close air of a bedroom all night is very injurious to drink. At a normal temperature a ewer of water under these circumstances may contain in the morning from a pint to a pint and a half of carbonic gas and a larger proportion of ammonia. When nearly at freezing point, the capacity of the water for imbibing poisons would be doubled.

Her Great Fault.

A Georgia citizen recently said that while riding out from Savannah on horseback he saw a typical southern matron outside a whitewashed cabin, while on the lawn in front a bevy of young colored children were playing. There were eight of them altogether, seven of their number being very, very dark, while the eighth one was light complexioned.

"You've got some fine looking children there, auntie," he said.

"Deed I hab, boss," she replied. "Dere ain't any better pickaninnies in de whole state of Georgia den dat first seben, but dat eighth one, dat mulatto, she done make me more trouble dan de whole oder seben put togedder."

"In what way?" I asked. And she replied:

"'Cause she done show dirt so easy!"

A Cure For Stammering.

A gentleman who stammered from childhood almost up to manhood gives a very simple remedy for the misfortune: Go into a room where you will be quiet and alone, get some book that will interest but not excite you and sit down and read two hours aloud to yourself, keeping your teeth together. Do this every two or three days or once a week if very tiresome, always taking care to read slowly and distinctly, moving the lips, but not the teeth. Then when conversing with others try to speak as slowly and distinctly as possible and make up your mind that you will not stammer.

Well, I tried this remedy, not having much faith in it, I must confess, but willing to do almost anything to cure myself of such an annoying difficulty. I read for two hours aloud with my teeth together. The first result was to make my tongue and jaws ache—that is, while I was reading—and the next to make me feel as if something had loosened my talking apparatus, for I could speak with less difficulty immediately. The change was so great that every one who knew me remarked it. I repeated this remedy every five or six days for a month and then at longer intervals until cured.

VISITED BY FIRE.

$70,000 Fire at Charlottetown, P.E.I.—Fire at Belleville.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Nov. 14.—This city was visited yesterday by a $70,000 fire, the most serious one for many years. The large brick structure, owned by Walsh & Owen, and occupied by the firm and other merchants, was destroyed with its contents. The Riley tobacco factory was burned and Reardon's wholesale grocery was badly damaged, besides minor losses being sustained by other firms.

Belleville, Nov. 14.—Fire was discovered at an early hour yesterday morning in the storehouse of the Belleville Hardware Company, and before it was extinguished $1,500 damages was done.

For Municipal Ownership.

New York, Nov. 14.—Public utilities in England have proved their value to the municipalities owning them. Thomas Dee, of Darlington, England, told all about the experience of his town at the Waldorf yesterday. "For the last six years Darlington has owned its own gas, water and telephone systems, garbage plant and other utilities, and the net profit has been $550,000. The tax rate on each family is reduced to $7.50. Other cities in England have profited likewise. I do not regard municipal ownership as prejudicial to public good because it is on the socialistic program, nor do I think it is a source of political corruption because it employs an army of city help."

Get Out Altogether.

Shanghai, Nov. 13.—Unusually strong articles are appearing in the Chinese newspapers, declaring that by the withdrawal of the British troops from Shanghai to Wei-Hai-Wei and the withdrawal of the German troops from here to Tsing-Tau (Kiao-Chou), the independence of the Yang-Tse-Valley is still menaced. The Chinese want the British and Germans to get out of China together. The papers add that a conflict between Germany and Great Britain is inevitable.

May Die From Injuries.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Nov. 14. — Walter Follett of Niagara, about 35 years of age, was left in charge of J. Abbott's team at Niagara wharf. While sitting in the wagon he fainted, and the team ran away, throwing him to the bottom of the wagon, face down. The team ran over a number of deep ditches, ending up at a farm about a mile and a half from town. Follett was badly cut up and bruised, and the fear is that he is injured internally.

"Letting Out the Soul."

London, Nov. 14. — Mr. Graham, the Cape Attorney-General, has inquired into the allegations made by Mr. Malan concerning the mutilation by natives in the Maclear district, and has received a report stating that out of six dead Boers the bodies of four were slightly incised in accordance with the war custom of the natives, who desire to "let out the soul." These incisions were not called mutilations by medical men.

Blows Over Dual Language.

Vienna, Nov. 14.—The sitting yesterday of the Lower House of the Austrian Reichsrath was suspended on account of the German and Czech members coming to blows. The cause of the trouble was a debate on the advisability of the use of the two languages in the names of stations on the Bohemian railroads.

Stabbing at a Party.

Nelson, B.C., Nov. 14. — A serious stabbing affray took place in a Slav house at Michel, where an impromptu birthday party was being held by a dozen men. Eight men are thought to have taken part in the melee, three of whom were badly cut about the arms and shoulders with knives.

The Largest Thing Afloat.

The landing stage at Liverpool is the largest thing afloat. The Celtic, the Oceanic and Great Eastern put together would be nothing like the size of this mighty raft. It is more than half a mile long and from 80 to 100, and more feet wide.

Walked 98,600 Miles.

William Ayres, a rural postman, who has just retired at Kentisbeer, Devon, has walked 98,600 miles during his thirty years' service.

The very best medicine for the relief and cure of chronic coughs and bronchitis; dry, harsh throat coughs; irritating coughs of grippe and consumption; whooping cough; croupy coughs of children, is Angier's Petroleum Emulsion.

It soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated membranes of the throat and air passages, promptly relieves the cough, removes foul mucus, makes breathing easy, and puts the respiratory organs in a strong, healthy condition, so that they are able to resist further attacks. WOMAN'S WORK

Often Leads to a Breakdown in Health.

Severe Headaches, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, Palpitation of the Heart and Other Distressing Symptoms Follow.

Woman's cares about the household are many and often worrying, and it is no wonder that the health of so many give way under the strain. To weak, tired-out, depressed women everywhere, the story of Mrs. Geo. L. Horton, the wife of a well known farmer living near Fenwick, Ont., will come as a message of hope. To a reporter who interviewed her on the subject, Mrs. Horton, said: "Yes, I am quite willing to give my testimony to the great good Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done me, as my experience may help some other sufferer. A couple of years ago my health began to give away, and I suffered from anaemia, with most of the depressing symptoms of that trouble. became much emaciated, had distressing headaches, and a very poor appetite. At first I thought the trouble would pass away, but in this I was mistaken, as I continued to grow worse. My heart began to palpitate violently at the least exertion; my rest at night was broken and finally a bad cough set in, and I was scarcely able to do a bit of work about the house. An aunt in England who had been ill had written me that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had restored her to health, and I determined to give the pills a trial. After the use of a few boxes I noticed a distinct improvement in my condition, and after using the pills for a few weeks more the trouble had completely left me. I could sleep well at night, the cough left me; the headaches that had made me so miserable vanished, my appetite returned, and I could again perform my housework with ease. I shall always feel grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, and strongly recommend them to other ailing women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have accomplished just such good results in thousands of other cases among ailing men and women, and sufferers from any of the numerous ailments resulting from poor, watery blood who will give these pills a fair trial will soon be on the high road to health and strength. Imitations are sometimes offered by unscrupulous dealers, who care more for their own profit than for their customers' health. Be sure that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is found on the wrapper around every box you buy. If your dealer does not keep these pills send to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will be mailed post paid at 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50.

FATE.

Two shall be born, one towards the setting sun,
One towards the rising; one where snow-clad pines
O'erlook a grey and sullen sea, and one
Where groves of palm-trees wave, and fiercely shines
The sun on southern seas; nor shall they know
Aught of each other, nor in wildest dreams
Have seen the other's face—yet these shall go
Across mad seas, where every danger seems
Death-fraught, and each, unknowing and unknown,
Unconsciously shall turn their erring feet
By devious paths and trackless deserts lone
With none to guide, until at last thy meet,
Becoming one, and find 'midst sweetest tears
Of joy completion in each other's kiss,
With fruitful love and passion through all years,
And shall at last be satisfied—and this
Is Fate.

Two shall be born, close cradled each to each,
So close that if one should but slightly swerve
From off the beaten track, or even reach
A hand a little sideways, every nerve
Must feel the touch; or should one lightly turn
A careless head, or now and then retrace
A careless sidelong glance each needs must learn
Full happiness, and, standing face to face,
Acknowledge each a love long sought—and yet,
With listening ears that hear not morn or eve,
Watch-wearied eyes whose looks have never met,
And voices ever calling that receive
No answer through the night, they go their ways
In utter loneliness, nor meet one kiss
Of love, and so live out their weary days,
And die at last unsatisfied—and this
Is Fate.

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will not, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvellous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c., at Ormond & Walsh's.

Hamilton's Pills are Effective.

Pots and Pans.

Pots and pans which have no solder about them may be boiled in a solution of lye. This cleans them as nothing else will do and removes the accumulation of grease and black crust which untidy cooks occasionally leave in dripping pans. A large, strong skimmer should be used in removing these pots and pans from the lye, which is very caustic and eats the skin. As each article is taken out of the lye kettle it should be dropped into a pan of hot water to rinse it off, fished out from that with the skimmer and scoured with sand or scouring soap. Lye lessens the luster of tinware, but this can be in a large measure restored by boiling it again in borax.

The Ruin of Restaurants.

A young man who dines quite frequently in a French restaurant, whose reputation is based on the unvarying excellence of the dishes served, sent for the chef the other night to compliment him on a poulet en casserole. "I like you," said the cook, "because you never bring any women in this place. They ruin a cook and a restaurant. A gentleman who comes in alone for his dinner regards the dishes and pays his whole attention to the food he is eating. But when he is with a woman! Bah! He laughs, he talks, he regards only his companion, his attention is distracted, the cook and his work are forgotten. I do not try for them. The boys who are learning prepare their dinners. It is not popularity that ruins a restaurant, it is the women and music."

The Dread of an Operation

Stares Many Pile Sufferers in the Face—The Safest and Surest Cure is

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Possibly you are a sufferer from piles and have been disheartened and discouraged because your physician has told you that nothing short of an operation will cure you.

You dread the thought of a surgical operation, for, besides the expense and strain on the nervous system, there is the risk of life itself. It is only a few months since a member of the Ontario Legislature lost his life as the result of an operation for piles. The risk of an operation is too great, and, besides, it is unnecessary.

Dr. Chase's Ointment has frequently cured piles after surgical operations have failed. It is every day curing cases which physicians have stated to be incurable by any treatment short of an operation.

If you could read a few of the letters we receive from persons who have been cured of piles by using Dr. Chase's Ointment you would soon be convinced of its wonderful control over this frightfully common disease.

Rev. S. A. Dupray, Methodist minister, Comecon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states:—"I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses formed so that it was with great difficulty and considerable pain that I was able to stoop. At this severe crisis I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but I had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose.

"Now, imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared and also the external swelling. I feel like a different man to-day, and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation, and many years of suffering. It is with the greatest pleasure and with a thankful heart that I give this testimonial, knowing that Dr. Chase's Ointment has done so much for me. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

Dr. Chase's Ointment 60 cents a box. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE MASTER OF MAGIC...

BY ELIAS LISLE

Copyright, 1901, by A. S. Richardson

"So you're the fire king," said the proprietor of the town's one hotel as he exhumed the register from a heap of empty bottles.

"Fire king and master of magic, known to a large public as Pyro," said I politely, ornamenting my signature with lambent flames in ink. It's a great advertising dodge if you can manage to have the register left open on the counter.

"You've struck Campbellstown at a good time," said mine host.

"So my ascendant star informed me," I replied. It does no harm to throw in a little astrology now and then.

"The miners are in from all around. Old Kanawha's in flood and that means knock off work at the mines."

"Seven days shall the flood endure; then shall the waters subside and those in the depths of the earth shall walk dry shod," I pronounced in my best manner. Weather lore's a fine bluff if you put it far enough ahead so that you'll be out of the way in case things don't turn out according to programme. But I missed it clean that time.

"Dry shod, your eye!" said the hotel man scornfully. "It ain't the water that does the damage. It's the gas. When Kanawha gets up very high—and she's higher now than for years—the natural gas outlets get shut off. Nobuddy knows just where they are, but they're in the river or on the banks somewhere, and when the water shuts 'em off the gas puffs out all around the country, specially in the mines. Then, after a few of the boys has keeled over or there's been a blow-out or two, they knock off and wait for the river to go down. Town'll be full of 'em this afternoon, and Campbellstown full of miners is about as peart a spot as you'll find in West Virginia."

"Peart" it certainly was. There were two shooting affrays and a general fight that afternoon. By my invitation a dozen of the visiting miners came in and had drinks on me, and I gave them a taste of my quality by blowing flame instead of froth from my beer and lighting my cigar with the end of my finger. Morose fellows they were, the effect, I believe, of working in darkness, but they served my purposes by spreading abroad the fame of my gifts, so that I was assured of a crowd that night. One of my guests, a powerful fellow with an evil eye, seemed to take a distaste for me and cursed me as he left for no other reason than that he didn't take to my ways, and announced his intention of being at the performance and seeing that things went right.

"Kinder ugly, eh?" commented my host. "That's Sledge Turner, and he's one of the worst men in these parts when he's drunk. He always goes heeled too."

I had an overflowing house that night, and in the third row I beheld Mr. Turner's forbidding face. Everything went well, and I soon had my audience in a condition of mingled delight and awe. When I went down into the body of the house to collect silver dollars, white mice and other miscellanies from my admiring spectators, I was in such high spirits over the success of the evening that I did a foolish thing. I pulled a dollar from between the scowling eyes of Sledge Turner. At the same time I saw the hilt of a murderous knife projecting from his belt and heard his announcement that he'd have that dollar back or cut my heart out.

After the performance, as my assistant was out in the box office and I was getting my apparatus packed, the door burst open and Turner had me by the throat with both hands. Between his teeth he held the big knife I had seen. There were hate and murder in his eye. The profession of magic makes a man quick to think in emergencies. It also provides him with resources not possessed by the average man. In an instant I had sent a spurt of flame to Turner's face from the wire in my sleeve connected with the battery between my shoulders. The current wasn't strong enough to knock him down, but he loosed his grip on me, and the next instant I gave him a Japanese elbow trick. Down he went and lay there struggling on the floor, for I had caught him fair in the throat, and the blow is an ugly one. It struck me chillingly that I had rather overdone the thing. Throwing a long cloak over my infernal costume of scarlet and black, I explained hastily to my assistant and made my way back to the hotel. Ten minutes later my host entered my room without the formality of knocking. In his hand he held a revolver.

"Take this and git for your life," he said, thrusting the weapon into my hand. "You've done Sledge Turner, and the lodge is after you."

"It was in self defense," I said. "Whatever the lodge may be, it can't"—

"It's the miners' lodge," he interrupted. "Blood oath and life for life. Sledge was a member. If they get their hands on you, they'll string you up like a cat."

There was a hoarse roar outside that grew nearer and nearer.

"Hustle!" cried my kindly host. "No time for the door. Take the window. Keep right down the river road. Ten miles down you'll strike Carton. You'll be safe there."

To reach the ground was an easy matter. My chances were good. My tights made an excellent light running costume. I was an athlete and in good training; a magician has to be. The roar of the river told me the road, and as I sped away into the darkness I ran full upon a man and knocked him flat. The mischief was done. The view halloo of the man hunt rang in the air, and, with a roar, the pack of human hounds was on my trail. Down the road I went at my best speed a good hundred yards in advance of the van of my pursuers. Presently I became aware of a brightness in front of me, and, coming around a turn, I saw half a dozen negroes seated around a fire at the roadside. There was but one thing to do. With a demoniac roar I charged them. It was as I had hoped. The sight of a scarlet and black devil leaping at them from out the blackness of night was enough. Like rabbits they plunged into the brush, and the sound of their frantic prayers bore me company as I sprinted past the fire. It would have made a corking fine poster that scene, "The Apparition of Pyro." Then a shot sounded out behind me, and I put my thoughts into my heels. I was gaining on the pursuit when my feet splashed into water and I was up to my knees before I could check.

I wasn't in the river, for I could hear the flood roaring well to the right of me; besides, this water was stagnant. The true nature of the pool flashed into my head; it was a backwater from the river that had flooded the road and was probably but a short distance across. But if the miners knew of any path around they could head me off, as my progress through the water would be slow, even if I did not have to swim for it and lose my bearings. Nevertheless, straight ahead was my only chance.

Before I had got waist deep there was a flicker of light on the bank, and by the glow of a brand which they had snatched from the negroes' fire I saw a group of my pursuers peering out toward me.

"He's taken to the water," said one.

"Then we've got him," cried another. "Bill, you and Bibbey get around and head him off."

I kept on till the water was at my shoulders. Then something choked me like a rope around my neck. I had heard about the choking feeling of despair, and I thought this was it. I staggered and almost fell back as a strange, thick smell clogged my nose. On the surface of the water there was a bubbling and chuckling. I could feel it at my feet too. It was queer, but queer things don't make much difference to a man who is going to be hanged in five minutes. That was my first thought. Then I had a better one. I remembered the high water and the gas, and I knew what that bubbling was and was ready to take the chance and do a special turn for my life.

Of course I had to have some talk. You don't get the full effect of these things without a good spiel. The only thing I could think of was a patter from a book called the "Last Days of Pompeii," so I gave 'em that.

"Earth born villains," I shouted, "behold how the avenging Orcus spouts forth flames from the face of the waters to protect its own!"

There were answering shouts from all around the pond: "There he is!" "Where's the rope?"

"Silence," I yelled, "and behold!"

Then I flashed my electric spark into the middle of the gas and dove. When I came up ten yards away after staying down as long as I could, there was a big circle of red, yellow and blue flame dancing beautifully over the water. On the shore the brands flickered, but they cast light only on trees and bushes. There wasn't a living being in sight, but all around there were a mighty crashing of brush and bowls that would shame a catamount. The miners' lodge had chased the devil just as far as they wanted to. My act was a sure enough hit.

I crawled out on the opposite side and went on to Carton in a boat that I found. Two days later my assistant came along. Sledge Turner wasn't dead after all. That's the reason they hadn't lynched Bob. He said if I'd go back there I could play to S. R. O. for a month, but I couldn't see it. I'd had enough. But it was a great ad. for me. Some day I'm going to make an act out of that night's work.

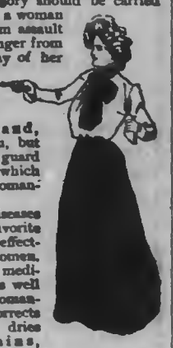
Pistol Practise

Is becoming more popular among women. The reason given is that a woman should know how to use the pistol for self protection. The theory should be carried farther. Where a woman is in danger from assault once she is in danger from disease every day of her life. Women have not only to run the risk of diseases which threaten husband, brother, and son, but they have also to guard against diseases which are peculiar to womanhood.



From these diseases Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will effectively defend women. The use of this medicine preserves as well as restores the womanly health. It corrects irregularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"I cannot say enough for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Ida M. Tutt, of 406 Franklin Street, Crawfordsville, Ind. "I could hardly walk alone or do my housework when I heard of your wonderful medicine. I used five bottles of each and several vials of 'Pleasant Pellets,' and can say I am a well woman. I thank Dr. Pierce for his advice for he helped me to live. May many thousand women take my advice and when in poor health or suffering from any female trouble take Dr. Pierce's wonderful medicines."

Sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps (expense of customs and mailing only), for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A GUARANTEED CURE For all Forms of Kidney Disease.

We the undersigned Druggists are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak or diseased kidneys:—

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing and permanent cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money."

Ormond & Walsh, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

Brain Weights.

M. Marchand investigated the brains of 1,173 persons immediately after death. The weight of the brains is influenced by the disease. Diphtheria, for example, increases the weight. The brains of newborn boys weigh on the average 371 grams, of newborn girls 361. At the end of the first year the figures are: Boys, 967; girls, 893. By the end of the third year the weight of the brain has tripled, and from this epoch it increases very slowly, especially with girls. It attains its greatest weight at about nineteen and one-half years for men, at about seventeen for women. The average weight of the brain of an adult male is 1,400 grams, of an adult female 1,275 grams. The reduction of weight due to senile atrophy commences with men about the eightieth year, with women about the seventieth. We way recall for comparison the following facts: The heaviest brain on record is that of the novelist Turgeneff, 2,120 grams. One of the lightest is that of Gambetta, 1,160 grams. The weight of the brain is thus one factor and only one in the comparison of different men and of different sexes.

Sure Cure for Sick Stomach

Such maladies as Nausea, Sick Stomach, Cramps and Colic, yield instantly to Polson's Nerviline, and if you suffer periodically from any of these complaints just keep Nerviline handy and take a few drops in water for quick relief. A large 25c. bottle of Nerviline is a comfort and safeguard in any household, and will save great suffering and big doctors' bills every year. Do you use Nerviline? Try it.

Hamilton's Pills don't gripe.

Dress In Taste.

Incongruity in dress should ever be avoided. Recollect that you can look just as chic in a well made coat and skirt of frieze worn with a flannel blouse and finished with dainty little collars and cuffs, which can be made by your own clever fingers, as your richer cousins in their Paris models. Hand tucked muslin is preferable to cheap lace. One is good style, the other bad.

The River Was Overflowing.

Last summer Minnie took a trip with her papa and mamma, and they visited many beautiful places. But Minnie liked Niagara falls best. She seemed greatly impressed with the roar and volume of the water. On returning home she told Uncle Frank all about her journey. "We went to Niagara falls in a splendid time," she said, "for there was much water. Of course it isn't always so, but there was a hard shower just before we got there!"

FATHER AND SON.

Lord Hugh Cecil Recently Reminded the House of Time When Lord Salisbury Was a Swashbuckler Himself.

There was a very curious little incident in the House of Commons last week. Though Lord Hugh Cecil is no longer the son of a Prime Minister, he is the first cousin of one; and therefore he might be expected to cherish some feeling of loyalty towards the present Administration, especially as it still contains within its ample bosom his brother, Lord Cranborne, and his brother-in-law, Lord Selborne. But Lord Hugh Cecil has always been remarkable for independence of thought; people speak still with something like horror and awe of the way he used to stand up to his father when he had just escaped from Oxford, and his father was the strongest Prime Minister for many years. There was something like an outbreak of this wild lawlessness in the debate on General Buller. Mr. Brodrick had made a very strong and able speech defending the conduct of the Government in dismissing the general from his Aldershot command; and he carried with him all the Ministerialists except one or two Devonshire men, who are bound to stand by their county man. And everybody thought that there was really nothing more to be said, and that poor General Buller had been worsted beyond all recall, when suddenly up jumps Lord Hugh, and pours into the Government one of the hottest, ablest, most vitriolic little attacks they have ever received. It was almost like the return to life of that Robert Cecil who used to be the terror alike of friends and foes in the days when the world was young, and the aged Prime Minister was one of the swashbucklers of the House of Commons.—Mainly About People.

THE WALL STREET MARKET

To-day's Market wae a Little Better.

Slight Strengthening Tendency—Daily Letters—Quotations

Considerable uneasiness was felt at this morning's opening owing to the slump yesterday. However the market to-day steadied and recovered a small margin of yesterday's loss. Ugly rumours, which it is supposed caused yesterday's decline, were contradicted last night, and to-day there was a decided upward tendency in the quotations. Most of the stocks closed from one-half to one and one-half points over their opening quotations.

New York, Nov. 15th, 2.10 p.m.—The stock market closed with everything cheerful and a strong tone to the entire list. Liquidation this week has been enormous, and has extended far beyond the regular commission house selling, which usually marks the end of an extremely weak market. The condition of general business throughout the country was never better. The business in sight for the railroads for two years to come is enormous and earnings ought to be larger than at present very satisfactory showing. The other side of the picture is the disquietude in labour circles and the extended condition of our credits. The latter, however, has been improved considerably by the operations in the stock market lately. For some time disquieting rumors have been in the air, but none of these have materialized. Banks in New York are in good condition, and these rumors could probably be traced to the bears who have been growing more numerous and aggressive as prices have declined. We should have a good opening on Monday and liberal covering by shorts and then a dull, steady market. Anything like a bull market is not to be expected, as holders of stocks have lost two much money to be aggressive. The bank statement was slightly better than expected.

M. & M.

New York, Nov. 14th.—Wednesday's market displayed marked strength after a weak opening, apparently made as low prices as possible. Thursday witnessed still further strength, showing prices of from three to eight points higher for the average list than the low prices of the week, all of which was in direct conformity with these market letters. Should the market, as it probably will enjoy a still further rally, it will be more than likely that it will be followed up by another set back, which will offer fresh opportunities for fresh purchases of stocks, consequently it will be likely advisable on the rally to dispose for the time being of such stocks as were purchased at lower figures taking the chance of resecuring them at concessions. It looks as if one of the larger bull interests in the market had within a week past been compelled to do some tall liquidation. If this be correct, it will prove much to the interest of the market, as was more or less of a meance, one interest being so largely and heavily extended. The larger pools and combinations have added enormously to their stock holdings, and when the financial ship straightens up will be greatly interested in aiding any advancing movement. One must expect more or less feverishness in the market after the recent turbulence; as well expect a man recovering from a fever to go out and do as hitherto accustomed, as to expect the market to have a long and immediate sustained advance. Time, and not so much of it at that will straighten matters out, however.

Looking over the list, everything at present is low, though some things are probably better to buy than others. Any stocks upon the list, if bought at present and held, ought to afford a splendid profit making opportunity. We prefer the standard shares to the lower priced stocks. When the upward movement again starts, they will make the best record advances. The great crops garnered this year are yet ours for disposal, and have to be hauled. The prices for them will be good. They are worth over five hundred millions more than the same crops were the previous year. This fact should not be lost sight of.

Summary.—After a feverish and vacciliating opening, the rumor mongers got to work and the bears attacked the market all along the line. Hardly any stock was overlooked. Prices fell rapidly, accelerated by stop orders and people sold indiscriminately. Values cut no figure whatsoever. Declines cut into many margins, compelling sales. The field for the bargain hunter and investor is a large and magnificent one at present. Stocks are now selling well below their intrinsic values. How much lower prices may be recorded no man can positively determine. The western element recently bullish upon the stock market appears to be the objective point of the bear campaign in the market. Money closed at five per cent. Sales, 1,327,600.

Annual Meeting, Peterborough Hockey Club Called—The Intermediate O. R. F. U. Mix-up—Should we Have a Paid Secretary-Treasurer for Hockey Club.

The annual meeting of the O.H.A. has been called for December 6th, at the Temple Building, Toronto. The attendance of delegates promises to be the largest in the history of the association, and several new aspirants for Executive offices have been mentioned. Peterborough has been represented on the Executive for some years past by Mr. W. A. Buchanan, a former secretary-treasurer of the local club. He has very carefully looked after the interests of the Peterborough Hockeyists and it is to be hoped that he will consent to stand for re-election as treasurer of the O.H.A., a position he has filled with eminent satisfaction.

* * * *

The fact that the annual meeting of the O.H.A. has been called for a date not very far off, makes us realize more than ever that the season for the puck chasers is close at hand. The officers of the local club have called their annual general meeting for November 19th. While we are not advocates of the system, some times too prevalent in organizations, of holding hole-in-corner m ings at which a list of officers is slated and then railroaded through at the general meeting, still we think that the members of the club should, between now and the night of the annual meeting, give the affairs of their organization some consideration; should size up the qualifications of prospective officers and be in a position, when the time comes, to act promptly and in the best interest of the club. In some clubs there is a secretary, a treasurer and a manager. The Peterborough club has not followed this principle and they have had greater success than many clubs with their trio of Executive men. From experience in Peterborough we think that it is safe in saying that a good secretary-treasurer can do more than a capable secretary, a responsible and painstaking treasurer and an energetic manager. This may appear to be a rather sweeping assertion, but the fact of the matter is that the duties of a secretary, the duties of treasurer and the duties of a manager are too much alike. They overlap one another as it were and confusion ensues. The secretary-treasurers of the Peterborough club in years past have done faithful work that has borne forth results that are in evidence on the championship rolls of the O.H.A. It cannot be denied that a strong team with a week management, is sometimes, not as well off at the end of the season from a championship point of view, as a moderately strong team with a capable management. The secretary-treasurer of a club, or perhaps we should say the secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough club, is the chief executive officer. He has a vast amount of work to do, of which, perhaps, few people are aware. He has many meetings of the executive to call, and attend; he had a voluminous correspondence; he has the minutes of every executive meeting to keep posted—and executive meetings in the Peterborough Club are very frequent. There are three teams nearly every season to manage; there are referees to arrange for, and to meet at the station; there are suppers which are invariably tendered to visiting teams, to be ordered; advertising to look after, and, above all, he has to be at the wicket at every match to look after the finances. Apart from this, he has the annoyance of being called up over the 'phone two or three times a day by the sporting editors, who are after the latest in hockey circles, and perhaps as many times more by persons who cannot wait for the local papers and become impatient to learn the hockey situation.

Peterborough has been fortunate in securing good secretary-treasurers in the past, gentlemen who have sacrificed time and energy for the good of the club, for the benefit of sport in general, and for the interests of the town indirectly. It is time that there was a change. The duties attached to the office are too onerous, and require too much time to ask any man to discharge without some remuneration. The club has arrived at a stage in its history when the affairs must be looked after by a gentleman paid for that purpose, who will feel that he has a responsibility, and that his duties are imperative. Now that the new rink is becoming a reality, the hockey spirit will become more widespread than ever before, and the duties attached to the office will become much greater.

The club can well afford to pay a secretary-treasurer. Every year the club winds up the season with a handsome surplus, which might well be put to some better purpose than "blowing it in" at banquets and the like. By all means let Peterborough have a paid secretary-treasurer from now forward.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the executive of the Rugby Club will be held in the Oriental Hotel this evening at 7.30 o'clock sharp. A full attendance of members is of course requested.

* * * *

The London News says: — The proposal of the Peterborough team that one of the Toronto clubs should play in Peterborough next Saturday with the other Queen City fifteen in London, the winners to play off for the championship, only goes to show how much they want in Peterborough. How the fifteen from that place can get the idea that they have any right to butt in with the deciding of the western district is hard to understand, and how the Torontos should favour such a scheme is more so. The Peterboroughs have won the championship of the eastern district and are entitled to take part now only in the championship matches, whether they be played in Peterborough or elsewhere. Why they should wish to take part in the western district is just about as reasonable as if London made application to play in the eastern district. Peterborough should go to their can, and there abide until called on.

* * * *

The Norwood Rugby Team did not come to Peterborough to-day, and the game between the Rough Riders, of the South End, and the St. John's choir team is being played this afternoon.

HOCKEY.

The annual general meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club has been called for Wednesday night of next week at eight o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Town Council Chamber. A large attendance is anticipated, hence the advisability of holding it in a larger room than on former occasions.

BASKET-BALL.

There should be two good matches at the Y.M.C.A. to-night, when the Harriers meet the Athletics, and the Lilies the Maple Leafs.

THE TURF.

Uxbridge Journal.—The good ice horse Looking Glass is being jogged almost daily by Trainer Dash in preparation for the winter campaign, and certainly looks fit to race for a kingdom. By the way, the big fellow hasn't done badly this fall for a horse that was considered a dead one over dirt. He was second to Little Buck at Woodville in his first race, and third at Uxbridge, before he was anything like being in racing trim. At Lindsay he was beginning to catch his real form, and had no trouble in turning the tables on Little Buck and hanging out a record for the track, 2.31, which is three laps to the mile and 157 yards over the distance. Lilliputian, Dilly Simpson's (Lindsay) fast little mare, followed the Ice King home in 2.24 at Millbrook, and another track record went by the boards. Furiosa did the distance a couple of years ago in 2.26 1-4. Looking Glass' time at Sutton, 2.20 3-4 was very fast considering the condition of the track, and he had no trouble in showing the way to Maggie Bell and the Stouffville horse, Rob Roy. Alcyonium Boy formerly held the track record of 2.21 1-2. Over a muddy track at Bradford Looking Glass won the free-for-all from Birdie Hayes and Dunkerron Boy. His best performance was at Toronto last week, when he won the free-for-all at Dufferin Park. The advent of Harold H., 2.04 1-4, on the ice this winter, which has been prophesied, is not worrying supporters of Looking Glass, who believe the horse doesn't move that can beat him day in and day out over the slippery ways.

Race Problem in Cape Colony.

It was a common saying amongst the Canadian "loyalists," before Lord Durham's Report laid the foundations of a new colonial policy, that Canada must be English at the expense, if necessary, of ceasing to be British. They meant that the English must be the dominant race in Canada, even if that object could only be secured by the severance of the tie with England. The home Government wisely decided that Canada should rather be British at the expense of being English, and that all idea of establishing a racial supremacy should be abandoned, in order to form a new Canadian nation, in which both English and French elements were united in their attachment to the Crown. And this is—or should be—our object in South Africa, to form a South African nation, neither English nor yet Dutch, but British in the sense in which the French-Canadian is as British as his English neighbor. This idea is the burden of almost all the speeches delivered by the Constitutional Party in the Cape Parliament now. That Cape Colony should enjoy the freedom of Canada and Australia—this, and nothing more, is the policy of the Bond as expressed by its secretary, Mr. De Waal. Every debate in the Cape Parliament exposes the absurdity of the legend, once so popular, of a Bond conspiracy in Cape Colony to drive the British out of South Africa. Those who most bitterly attacked Mr. Schreiner at the beginning of the war have since admitted frankly that to his restraining influence we owe it that the rebellion took so slight a hold of the colony in the first Boer invasion.—Manchester Guardian.

The Negro Problem in America.

But Americans must not talk of "twenty years behind the time" to us. The journey I made from Washington to Aiken, S.C., was a demonstration of how that massive energy, which is the birthright and practice of the American people, may be dispersed, dissolved before your eyes.

The negro race insulates the power and activity of the white man. He is a nonconductor. The white man is all but borne down by that ever present ignorance, apathy and nonelective citizenship of the negro.

It is a great problem, but the solution is coming up in the technical and industrial education of the negro. The south is awakening to that. There is no other solution. * * * and it will be a tiresome road to travel.—Sir Gilbert Parker.

RAILWAY TIME.

How Standard Time Is Obtained for the Daily Train Service.

It used to be that men allowed five minutes for difference in watches, and business was carried on along those lines. But a great railway could hardly be run that way nowadays. The pressure of freight and passenger traffic is so heavy that time-tables are often figured down to seconds. If the C.P.R., for instance, allowed a discrepancy of five minutes in trainmen's watches there would be a horrible, disastrous muddle, collisions of all kinds, and a tremendous loss of life and property. Take any dozen of watches, on any particular time-section of the C.P.R., and the probability is that there will not be a variation of more than ten seconds among them. If the variation exceeds ten seconds the time inspectors have not been doing their duty, and practically, such a thing as that never happens.

Between Halifax and Vancouver there are, at least, six changes of time. Going west you put your watch back an hour at each of the changing points. Crossing the continent westward, you are six hours younger, but you lose it when you come back, owing to the spirit of compensation which exists between the sun and the C.P.R. time schedules.

At first it looks like confusion worse confounded—all this talk of Atlantic time, eastern time, standard time, prairie time, mountain time, and Pacific time—the C. P. R. boats for Japan running on the last mentioned. The only clue is that you shift the hands an hour. But, naturally, the question arises. What is the system? We know all about latitude and sun-rime, but how does a great transcontinental railway get it down to a working basis? How are all these divisional time-tables adjusted so that everything fits in, and acts like one piece? How is the transcontinental time schedule kept up to the mark while the divisional schedules are left enough margin within which to operate easily? When the Imperial Limited was first sent over the line, the engineers were given a time-table which covered the time of arrival at every station on the road. It is a fact that the time-table was followed to a second. The engineers must have good watches. How is it done?

It is quite true that the man who constructs a time-table which takes into account six different kinds of time must have a mathematician's head, but his task is greatly simplified by the perfect method the C.P.R. has of keeping time to its business. It is neither taken by the forelock, nor pulled by the coat tail, but it is expected to make an even pace day in and day out. When a clock or a watch that works for the C.P.R. gets tired, it is discharged. There is a head time-keeper at Montreal, and official time inspectors, who travel up and down the road, seeing that everything is in proper shape, and that none of the timepieces are malingering.

The standard time is obtained this way. Every day at 11.30 a. m. in Montreal the official time is sent out from the McGill Observatory. For two minutes the whole C.P.R. telegraph circuit does no business save to register the time from Montreal. For the first minute the station-master beats every second with the operator in Montreal; for the second minute he beats every second second. Then, figuring the difference from Montreal, he takes note of the variation of the second hand on the station clock. He makes a daily record of these variations, and if a station clock transgresses ten seconds either way in a month it must be attended by the official clock repairer, who is generally some reputable jeweler at one of the divisional points. If in spite of the clock doctor the clock continues to go wrong, it is retired. From these station clocks the superintendents, section bosses, trainmasters, despatchers, engineers, conductors, brakemen, in fact, all those who have to do with the moving of trains, take their time. The inquisitions of the time inspector do not end with the station clock. He has a right, and he frequently insists on it, to look at the watch of every employe of the company. After an inspection trip it is not unusual for a superintendent to get an order from headquarters like this: "Clock at Jerkwaterville to be cleaned. Brakeman Jones' watch to be retired on the 10th instant."

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., says: "I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief, and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this Ointment.

Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? ...ILL A KING

Two Shots Were Fired at King Leopold of Belgium.

ASSAILANT IS AN ANARCHIST.

Would-Be Assassin Is Named Rubino, and Made Deliberate Preparations For the Attempt—Expressed a Determination to Kill All Rulers, Our Own King Edward Among Them.

Brussels, Nov. 17.—An Italian Anarchist named Rubino fired two shots at King Leopold Saturday as His Majesty was leaving the cathedral after a requiem service in memory of the late Queen Marie Henriette. The shots went wild, and Rubino was arrested after being roughly handled by the crowd.

Rubino had been haunting the Northern Railway station for several days, awaiting the arrival of the King. He declares that if he had been able to meet the train on its arrival he certainly would have succeeded in his purpose.

After missing the train at the station, he went to the cathedral. When the King came out and the carriage started Rubino fired and there would have been a victim had not Prof. Standaert struck Rubino's arm as he aimed. One bullet crashed through the window of the carriage occupied by Count d'Oultremont, the Grand Marshal of the Palace. The King's carriage had passed out of range.

The King preserved his usual calm demeanor, but Princess Clementine was considerably affected and suffered from shock.

It was with the greatest difficulty that the gendarmerie prevented the people from lynching Rubino. He was badly bruised by the blows of the crowd, who beat him with sticks and umbrellas.

The police scoured the Anarchist resorts here on a search for possible accomplices of Rubino. One arrest has already been made of a noted Belgian Anarchist, named Chapelle. Many other arrests will probably follow. Several persons who were near to Rubino when he fired the revolver, assert that he was accompanied by another man, who escaped among the crowd.

It is thought possible that this individual was an accomplice who carried off the revolver, which the police have not yet found. Rubino, who has a wife and child in London, affects a profound indifference, as to his fate, which cannot be death, since capital punishment has been abolished in Belgium.

The Man's Identity.

Rome, Nov. 17.—The Ministry of the Interior has established the identity of the assailant of King Leopold. His name is Gennaro Rubino, and he is described in their records as an advanced Socialist. He was condemned to a long term of imprisonment for stealing in Milan in 1893, but he effected his escape to England, where he is supposed to have imbibed his Anarchistic principles.

His father was a patriotic communal councillor, but Rubino, while still serving in the army, was condemned to five years' detention for writing a subversive newspaper article. These are the only criminal records that have been found against him. Since leaving Italy he has resided continuously in Scotland and England, first in Glasgow and afterwards in London. Some years ago he was accused of treachery by his Anarchistic friends and expelled from their ranks.

Rubino Hates Socialists.

Brussels, Nov. 17.—In Rubino's pockets were found picture postcards bearing portraits of King Leopold, Prince Albert and the Princess Elizabeth. The prisoner said he procured the cards so as to be able to recognize the members of the royal family and expressed the hope that others would be more successful than himself.

He also said that he did not regret his act and would have fired at any monarch, "at the King of Italy as readily as at the King of the Belgians because monarchs are tyrants who cause the misery of their peoples."

Finally he declared he hated Socialists because they were friends of the police and asserted that he had no accomplices.

According to some reports, Rubino, in the course of his examination before the magistrate declared that he selected King Leopold for his attack, on account of His Majesty's inhuman conduct towards his daughter, Princess Stephanie, at the time of her mother's death and he also wished to show to the Anarchists in London who doubted his loyalty that while they only talked, he acted. He would have killed King Edward, he added, but for the strong feeling of the English people in favor of the monarchy.

CLOSE GUARD OVER EDWARD VII.

Two Insane Women Arrested on the Way to Sandringham.

London, Nov. 17. — Two women, mother and daughter, of the name of Ovington, were arrested at Wolferton Saturday morning. They left London on Thursday, asking for tickets to Sandringham.

The railway officials become suspicious and questioned them. The women said they wished to speak to the King.

They were arrested, but were afterward sent to an asylum, as they are undoubtedly insane.

The Ovingtons, mother and daughter, lived in New York for five years. Afterward they went to Ireland.

They stayed at Wolferton on Thursday night and attempted to approach the King on Friday while he was out driving. The King's chief detective, noticing their strange behavior, ordered their arrest.

The Monarchs Kissed.

London, Nov. 17.—Emperor William concluded his visit to King Edward Saturday morning and started on his visit to Lord and Lady Lonsdale at Lowther Castle, Penrith, Cumberland. Emperor William, King Edward and the Prince of Wales occupied an open carriage drawn by four horses and preceded by outriders. Emperor William and King Edward entered the saloon car together and kissed each other on both cheeks. King Edward then left the car.

Mgr. Falconio Leaving Canada.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—Mgr. Falconio leaves Ottawa on Tuesday for Toronto en route for Washington, and yesterday being his last Sunday in Ottawa he was kept busy. In the afternoon he was the recipient of an illuminated address from the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The presentation was made in St. Patrick's Hall, which was packed. Yesterday an immense crowd packed the cathedral, where His Excellency officiated, and gave the Papal Benediction to the audience at the request of Archbishop Duhamel.

Brides "With a Past."

Berlin, Nov. 17. — The wearing of myrtle as a symbol of purity and innocence is an immemorial custom of German brides. One stern pastor, Dr. Idlar, the rector of Eberswald, so respects this pleasing symbol that he refuses to allow brides "with a past" to wear it.

MITCHELL'S EVIDENCE

President of United Mine Workers on Stand for Two Days.

SPARRED WITH COAL LAWYERS

Mr. Mitchell Said He Regarded $600 a Year as a Fair Living Wage For a Miner—Favored Eight Hour Day, and Curtailment of Output to the Extent Implied Thereby.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 17.—President Mitchell concluded his evidence before the Strike Commission Saturday. For two days he was subjected to a rigid cross fire from the representatives of the coal companies. His views were expressed in an answer to Judge Grey, who did not appear to understand a remark he had made, when he observed: "Our demand is that the rate of wages and the conditions of employment be embodied in an agreement between the union and the operators."

The strike leader was told that the increase of wages to the miners would mean an increase of the price of fuel to consumers, and was asked if he thought that would be fair. He replied: "Any corporation that cannot afford to pay living wages should go out of business." He said he thought $600 the lowest living wage that a miner should earn, as this amount would be required if he educated his children. President Mitchell asserted that he thought the organization had the right to demand that no mine worker be employed for more than eight hours a day. Lawyer McVeigh asked him if he thought he had the right to compromise and restrict ambitious workers, and he replied in the affirmative, if that was what eight hours a day meant.

"And you think you have the right to ask the coal companies to become your partners in forcing such a condition?" asked the lawyer, which Mr. Mitchell declared was exactly what he would demand.

The witness was asked if he thought 8 hours' work a day ought to entitle a miner to earn $600, to which he said no, and denied the suggestion of the operators, that any of the contract miners could earn that amount in so short a time. He was told that miners had on deposit in the Forest City Bank $173,000 but he said that did not necessarily denote prosperity among miners. Mr. McVeigh asked President Mitchell if he knew why the coal companies had advanced the price of coal since the strike. "To pay what they have lost by the mines closing down," Mr. Mitchell said. "No," replied the lawyer, "but to repay the companies for the property the strikers damaged during the strike."

"You think breaker boys should have $7 per week?" "I do." "Well, messenger boys receive but $1 per day, and they work every day. The breaker boys do not work every day." "No, breaker boys are not allowed to work every day by the company, but they have to live every day," replied President Mitchell.

This is a fair sample of all the questions asked the leader of the miners by the legal representative of the operators. The balance of the meeting was devoted to showing that the wages of the miners are equal to those paid other forms of labor, that the hours of the men are not too long, and that many of the accidents are due to carelessness.

A Big Boycott.

Schenectady, N.Y., Nov. 17.— The Committee of the Trades' Assembly has arranged the details of the boycott against the Schenectady Railway Company. The boycott will actually be enforced at 6 o'clock this morning. Seventy-one men, one from each union, will watch the cars and will be aided by others if necessary. Every union man found riding on cars will lose his union card; every business man will be warned not to ride again, and will be boycotted if the warning is disregarded; if any employe continues to ride after being warned, his employer will be notified to discharge him. There are, it is estimated 2,800 persons who live at such a distance from the general electric or locomotive works that they are dependent upon the cars. It has also been decided to extend the boycott to the use of gas and electric light, both of which are maintained and controlled by the Schenectady Railway Company.

Pumped Water 100 Yards.

New York, Nov. 17.—A spectacular and interesting test was made yesterday by the Fire Department of the metal "standpipes" in the lofty new "flatiron" building at the intersection of Broadway, Fifth avenue and 23rd street. The two most powerful engines in the department were used and no difficulty was found in projecting efficient streams from the roof 304 feet above the street level.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Whitney, the Opposition leader, seems to be labouring under the delusion yet that there is to be another general election. At the big banquet in his honour at London, which, by the way, was a great success as a feeding function and an exhibition of desperate enthusiasm, he made a speech which unlike the banquet viands, which no doubt were of the first kidney, which was simply a rehash of his stump speeches at any time during the late elections. Mr. Whitney doesn't startle anybody with originality.

Seven hundred thousand bushels of grain were shipped from Fort William in two days last week. One boat took 17 carloads of Ogilvie flour to Owen Sound en route to South Africa. One boat brought in 100 tons of baled hay, another 1,750 barrels of apples for Winnipeg, and a third a large consignment of apples for local consumption. Some of the ships carry more than 100,000 bushels of grain. The C. P. R., as well as the vesselmen, must be earning big money these days, and the good old Grand Trunk is getting a big share. The tracks of the Midland branch are kept hot with double-headers. Canadians fought for the Empire in South Africa with good purpose. Now our grain and other products are fighting the battles of the Canadian famer on South African soil. The fruit of the sword is to make place for the fruit of the soil of Canada.

WHY CANADA REMAINS BRITISH

Professor Beesly, editor of the Positivist Review, does not appear to be acquainted with Canada and Canadians any better than Professor Goldwin Smith was, some thirty years ago, when he began saying the things that Professor Beesly has, perhaps, learned from Mr. Smith's writings. He "posits" that "the British flag is out of place on the American continent," that "it will have to go before long," and that "the connection of Great Britain with Canada is an ever-present and uncompensated danger from which, if we are wise, we will lose no time in disentangling ourselves." For the policy of scuttle, which thus he commends to Britons, he seeks for Canadian support by applauding a quotation from the Roosevelt who had not become a statesman or President when he wrote the impertinent and foolish words: "Americans regard Canadians with the good-natured condescension felt by freemen for men who are not free. Every true patriot, every man and statesman alike, looks forward to the day when no European power will hold a foot on American soil." Similiarly many Americans used to look forward to the millenium.

In fact no European power does hold a foot on "American" soil. Canada has been British soil since years before the United States ceased to be so. And, instead of being less British Canadians are much more British than they were when Mr. Goldwin Smith began his pro propaganda. They are also more throughly Canadian. That the deepening of their patriotism implies and accompanies the deepening of their loyalty to the Crown as a political symbol is what Americans and Beeslys cannot understand. Yet it is as natural and logical as a man's devotion to the city in which he has prospered and the company which secures him a place in society.

As to freeman—if the rule of Law made by themselves is freedom, surely Canadians are more free than their very much lynch-law-governed Republican neighbours. They are more free, on the one hand, from the iron grasp of a highly, if vaguely, organized plutocracy, and on the other hand, from danger of a popular revolt against the industrial system and the political system which it so much directs. They are free from the American maze of government by irresponsible caucus, irresponsible committees, irresponsible legislatures, and a national system by which irresponsible log-rollers manage public affairs in such a complicated hole-and-corner way that the people never have nor can have a clear issue presented to them, nor see an alternative to voting for one or the other of two equally corrupt parties, nor be able to get at the blunders or the sinners who most need kicking.

The position of an American State is really far less Sovereign than that of the self-governing Auxiliary Kingdoms of the British Empire. The former is scarcely distinguishable in a congeries of similar merely local governments, the latter has distinct individuality and its opinion is influential, not merely at election times, but always, in the council of the greatest power in the world. In this situation the past is glorious, the present pleasing, and the future shining in hope and belief that we shall, in proportion as our numbers and wealth increase, share in moulding and managing the destinies of one-third of mankind. That is better than sharing once every four years, in electing a President of the United States.

As to prosperity—it is the merest error of self-concest in our neighbours to believe that we are not as well off as they. Let the comparison be of the most prosperous parts of the Union—Massachusetts and New York—with Ontario and Quebec. It is true that by the very wealthy—the class of the dangerous wealthy—we are not so endowed, or encumbered, or oppressed. But here wealth is plenty, it is more evenly diffused, the well-to-do business classes are quite as well-to-do as in the States, and the working people are very much better off — better clad, better fed, better sheltered, as well educated, healthier, less scorned by the wealthy, more cared for in legislation, and far less hampered in endeavours to rise to a higher grade. These assertions may be incapable of proof in any thing shorter than a long volume, but they are made from long observation of those parts of both countries which we have specified, and they will not be disputed by any Canadian who knows both countries well, and has judged impartially of both.

The fact that we have kept our independence of the United States is, itself, evidence that the facts are as we assert. Why should we have stayed out and be ever more resolute to stay out of the Republic, if it really offers us, by its pretty incessant invitation to come in, a better policy and more prosperity? Great Britain would not stop us even if she could, and it is not consideration for the sentiments of Great Britain, that holds us back. It is our own sentiment, our Canadianism, our sense that we are mighty well off as we are. A pretty intimate acquaintance with our neighbours assures us that their house is less comfortable than our own. Sentiment does not long rule unless it consist with reason and common sense, but the threefold cord is not quickly broken. This is why Canadians maintain and fortify their place in the Empire, in spite of all that array of "The Great Forces" which Professor Goldwin Smith imagined, thirty years ago, to be hauling the country into Statehood and the Republic. — Montreal Herald.

MR. CLOUSTON'S WARNING.

(Montreal Herald.)

In his Toronto address Mr. Clouston, General Manager of the Bank of Montreal, hinted pretty broadly that shareholders in Canadian banks ought to set about subscribing more capital. The business of the country has grown to such an extent that the notes required for general circulation almost equal in amount the limit prescribed by the Bank Act that is to say, the total of the capital stock. There has been, Mr. Clouston points out, very little increase in share capital in twenty-five years, and what what more than ample then is now scarcely enough. A bank has been described as being made up of a little capital and a great deal of public confidence, and it is quite true that of the assets nowadays administered by the chartered banks, a very small proportion represents the shareholders' interest and a very large proportion the interest of the public. When, as in the present circumstances, the whole of the shareholders' interest — except the reserve — is accounted for by the note issue, which means that the banks have all that amount of money from the public without interest, it is surely opportune to suggest, as Mr. Clouston does, that the shareholders ought to increase their financial interest in the institutions. The advice does not apply to all, of course, for there are some banks that have still a tidy margin to work on, and others that have already made considerable capital increases. Taking the field over, however, we must assume Mr. Clouston's reminder to be timely. We have boasted so long of the perfection of our Canadian banking system it would be a pity if for the lack of a little foresight we should one of these days have a currency famine and a business panic such as is periodically occasioned by a faulty currency system in the United States.

CANADIAN PACIFIC AND GRAIN CROP.

Wall Street Journal.

Up to the first day of November the Canadian Pacific Railway transported 11,000,000 bushels of this year's crop of wheat from Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. This is upward of fifty per cent. more than was transported in the same period last year, but at the same time the railway facilities have not proved adequate to the altered conditions, the consequence being that those interested in the movement of wheat are howling at the doors of the manager of transportation, Mr. Thomas Tait. In answer, Mr. Tait says that the railway has a total of 27,000 box cars, 7,000 more than at the same time last year, and that they are receiving new cars at the rate of 100 per day. He further stated that the Canadian Pacific had to-day more freight cars than any other system on the continent, with the one exception of the Vanderbilt system.

When inland navigation closes, which is now a matter of days rather than weeks, there will be two-thirds of this year's grain crop in Manitoba and the Territories awaiting transportation. The best authorities place the wheat crop at 50,000,000 bushels. Of this amount the Canadian Northern moved, perhaps, 3,000,000 bushels and, as before stated, the Canadian Pacific has moved 11,000,000 bushels, leaving a balance of 36,000,000 bushels still in the western elevators, or in the hands of western farmers.

AN EASY WAY

To Keep Well.

It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all-important thing is to keep stomach right, and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a capricious appetite and a feeling that certain favourite articles of food must be avoided.

Prof. Wiechold gives pretty good advice on this subject. He says: "I am 68 years of age and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bran crackers, or dieting of any sort; on the contrary, I always eat what my appetite craves, but daily for the past eight years I have made it a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets.

"My physician first advised me to use them, because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only the natural digestives, peptones and diastase, and after using them a few weeks I have never ceased to thank him for his advice.

"I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing and preserves health to the well and strong."

Men and women past fifty years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used, is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well-regulated household from Maine to California, and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favour.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 cents, and for a weak stomach a fifty cent package will often do fifty dollars worth of good.

TALK WITH "YOUNG CORBETT"

The Flowing Bowl and the Modern Pugilist.

Corbett Says to Take a "Nip" Occasionally—Some use Wine to Train on.

New York Telegraph.

In the lexicon of the knuckle duster there is no such word as booze. I use the term "booze" in its generic sense. It's a good word, and it embraces all the daughters of the Demon Rum, from pink lemonade, with a stick in it, to that early morning get together allegation, an opal cocktail.

Given ninety-nine and a half trainers of prizefighters out of a possible hundred and they will tell you, with the under lip thrust forward and the right hand closed, that any fighter who dallies, never so tentatively, with the red thing will never get any farther in his trade than the mixed ale class.

And yet the orthodox may gang aglee at times.

"Young Corbett" is the best proposition that ever wore a bandage in his class. Among the featherweights he trimmed Terry McGovern, who beat George Dixon, and that gives him a pedigree which rates him A1 in the pugilistic Lloyds.

"YOUNG CORBETT" DRINKS.

When he is training for a fight or when he isn't he takes a glass of wine or beer, if he feels so inclined. He also takes a smoke.

This is contrary to al preconceived ideas of what a boxer in training should do, but "Young Corbett" does it, nevertheless, and you haven't heard of anybody knocking him out, have you?

No less an authority on prizefighters than Billy Madden, the man who was responsible for the success of John L. Sullivan as a world beater told me the other day that "Corbett" lived too freely for an athlete.

"He eats and drinks whatever he likes," said Madden, "and that won't do for a fighter."

I asked Corbett about it.

"If I want a glass of wine I drink it," he said. "I think a man is the best judge himself of what best suits his physical makeup."

This young boxer is only 22, but he has the head of an old man, and when he tells you things you feel that he knows of what he is talking.

NOT BURNING THE CANDLE.

"I'm not full grown yet," he went on, "and I am not going to burn myself up before I am developed. I'm going to put on all the fat I can, and in training turn the fat into muscle, not what muscle I have into tissue."

What do you think of that anatomical layout from a kid prizefighter? I told him to go on.

"Some methods of training," he continued, "are entirely wrong. They are so severe that they dry a man up and leave him without any reserve vitality whatever. The usual method of training is an irksome task, and makes a man nervous and irritable. It's all hard work, without any relaxation. The result is that a man's nerves are strung to such a tension that he is like an old woman in an empty house. Now, in that condition you can imagine how he feels when he goes into the ring to face a few jabs in the tender slats."

NO SAD TRAINING FOR HIM.

Not bad logic at that.

"I don't train in any such way," said this philosopher of the mits. "I make my training all a holiday. I have lots of fun, and I never get up after a night's sleep with any bad dreams under the covers. The best test of a fighter's condition while training is to tell him a funny story. If he doesn't laught at it, don't put up any money on him when he crawls under the ropes."

There was a lot in this youngster's spiel which bore the hall mark of truth. And, at that, the experience of others who have gloved before him bears him out.

A BOTTLE OF WINE.

Jack McAuliffe was a great lightweight. He never trained without his bottle of wine. When he beat Billy Myer at New York in the same ring that gave Jim Corbett the championship over John L. Sullivan, he had champagne in his corner and between rounds took copious libations thereof.

George Dixon "whooped it up" between battles and never lost any until ago got a double Nelson on him.

Frank Erne, also a lightweight champion, took his little ball whenever he felt like it, and he went undefeated, until he ground himself below his natural weight to meet McGovern.

There is a great difference between the training methods that obtained when Jem Mace was on the sheets and now. Then they fed a pug on raw beef to make him savage, and didn't allow him even enough water to drink. The training was like the boxing, woefully primitive compared with the game of to-day.

THE OLD STYLE.

I remember when Jem Mace toured this country there was a benefit to the old fighter. He boxed Billy McLean, of Philadelphia, in that city. McLean was two years older than Mace, but he had been teaching boxing, and was all there with the up-to-date thing in the way of jabs, jolts and hooks. Mace had nothing but his old style straight-from-the-shoulder punch, with a wide swing to the guard and a foreward head duck.

It was to laugh. Mace, the beneficiary, was scheduled for all the better of the bout but McLean could have drawn a railway map of New Jersey on him if he had wanted to. Mace is a historic figure in the prize ring, but "Young Corbett" could lick him to-day if Mace, by some chronological stunt could reduce himself to "Corbett's" age.

The Cause of Deafness.

Deafness and impaired hearing are due almost entirely to catarrhal inflammation of the eustachian tubes. Permanent cure is guaranteed to all who inhale Catarrhosone as directed. This vegetable antiseptic is inhaled at the mouth, and after traversing all the air passages of the respiratory organs is exhaled through the nostrils; it completely eradicates catarrh from any part of the system, clears the ears, nose and throat, and allays inflammation, congestion and soreness. For Deafness, Earache, Ringing in the Ears Head Noises, Catarrh, Asthma and Bronchitis, medical science can devise nothing as beneficial as Catarrhosone. Shoe Shape.

Ever have a pair of shoes that twisted out of shape before they were half worn out?

That was because of poor lasting—the stretch had been left in them.

"Slater Shoes" are lasted on machines which automatically stretch the leather to the exact point where there is no stretch left.

Only good leather can stand this process, but it takes all the stretch forever out of the shoes.

No breaking in, no bursting out, no twisting, no unsightly warping—"Slater Shoes" keep their shape till worn out. Goodyear welted.

Branded with makers' name and price, in a slate frame, $3.50 and $5.00.

ENGINES FROM U.S. POOR.

Crown Plates Have Worn Out in Four Years in India.

London, Nov. 17.—The manager of the Assam Railway Company says that four United States locomotives, which were received less than four years ago, require new crown plates. He adds that the makers of the locomotives ought to pay the cost of repairs, as failure after such a short space of time could only be due to carelessness in designs. This moves a writer in The Times to express the hope that the Indian Railway Company will learn some day that the lowest priced engine is not necessarily the cheapest.

Burglars at Alisa Craig.

Alisa Craig, Nov. 17.—Three daring burglaries were committed here yesterday morning between 4 and 5 o'clock. The perpetrators were three unknown men, supposed to be tramps. C. R. Watcher's jewelry store was entered and $100 worth of goods taken, while considerable ready-made clothing, hats, etc., was stolen from White & May's dry good establishment. They also broke into the Queen's Hotel and extracted about $2 in silver from the till and carried away considerable of the bottled liquor. Constable Priestly overtook the burglars on the railway track. They pointed revolvers at him, threatening to shoot. The odds were too great for him, and he let the men get away.

New Ruler of Brazil.

Rio de Janiero, Nov. 7.—The new President of the Brazilian republic was inaugurated yesterday. The ceremony took place here and various Governments were officially represented by their navies. The British cruisers Cymbria, Nymph and Basilisk are at Rio de Janerio for this purpose. The ceremony was brilliant. Dr. Francisco de Paula Rodrigues Alves, the President-elect, was born on July 7, 1848, at Guaratingueta, in the State of S. Paulo. He is one of the ablest men in Brazil, and has filled every place to which he has been called with ability, honesty and dignity.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., says: "I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief, and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers ,by making known the great power of this Ointment.

Minister Shoots Himself.

WIPED OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Big Plant of Armour & Co. at Sioux City, Ia., Completely Destroyed by Fire —Loss $900,000.

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 17.—The big plant of Armour & Co., which occupied three and a half acres of ground at the extreme south end of the stock yards district was totally destroyed by fire, which started at 12.50 o'clock yesterday morning on the second floor of the fertilizer building. The loss estimated by Charles W. Lennon, manager of the company, is a total of $900,000. The insurance is $721,500.

The cause of the fire was said by Mr. Lennon to have been either spontaneous combustion or an imperfect dryer. Quickly the Armour private fire department of six men was called out, and the entire city department followed,

By 1.20 o'clock six streams of water were being thrown upon the fire, which was destroying the fertilizer building, but the pressure was inadequate. The fertilizer building, which was of brick, 120x60 feet, four storeys high, was located between the beef-killing house and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railroad tracks on the east. The floors and contents of the building burned like chaff. At 1 25 o'clock the roof fell in, and a moment later the fire burst through into the beef-killing house. Simultaneously, the cattle chute ignited and lasted about five minutes, when it fell with a great crash.

From the beef-killing house to the Oleo building was only a step, and when the lard was ignited the fire presented a most spectacular appearance. The big beef house, where 500 carcasses were hanging, caught at 2 o'clock. By this time the entire plant, except the hog house, was a lake of fire. The roar was terrible. The country for miles around was lighted up. Suddenly there came a terrific explosion, followed quickly by another, and then another. Twenty-four drums of 100 pounds of ammonia each exploded before the reserve supply in the ammonia cistern was reached. That ignition almost razed the entire plant from its foundation.

About this time a burning roof of a chute fell upon a collection of live hogs, and their squeals were added to the appalling chorus.

When the hog house caught fire, all streams were turned in that direction, but the water seemed like oil. In the building were 3,500 dressed hogs and 2,500,000 pounds of pork product.

From a spectacular view, the fire was a magnificent sight. At 3.25 o'clock the fire department had given up the fight. It was apparent that all its efforts were useless, and that the entire plant would be destroyed. The fire continued to burn all day, and yesterday afternoon there was another terrific explosion, which threw bricks and pieces of iron for hundreds of yards, endangering thousands of spectators, but no one was seriously hurt.

MORE OF KRUGER'S MEMOIRS.

Represents Himself as an Agent For Peace Before the War.

London, Nov. 17.—The Times published Saturday morning another page of extracts from the memoirs of Mr. Kruger dealing with the history of the Transvaal and his own successive terms of office as President. Mr. Kruger enters at great length into the circumstances of the Jameson raid and declares that it was only his influence and his threat to resign the presidency which prevented the burghers from attacking and shooting down all the inhabitants of Johannesburg.

The former President explains that particulars of the course of the war with the British and of its vicissitudes would not come within the scope of the memoirs, as he took no personal part in the fighting. He describes the harrassing life he led at this period, directing and advising the Boer leaders. His sleep was broken many times every night to attend to despatches etc.

He gives minute details of the removal of the Boer Government from Pretoria and says it was a sad blow to him, especially as his wife was then so old and weak that he could not think of taking her with him. The extracts published also include a description of Mr. Kruger's journey to Europe, and the writer declares that in the matter of peace negotiations he left everything to the discretion of the generals.

London, Nov. 17.—Although it is still unsettled what proportion of the expense of the war shall fall on the Transvaal gold mines, the Government is determined that every United States resident of the United Kingdom shall contribute to the extent of 15 pence on every £1 of his income.

Toronto Constables Fined.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The finding of the Board of Police Commissioners, in respect to the complaints preferred by Dean Reeve of the medical faculty of Toronto University, against several members of the force, was made known on Saturday afternoon. It was charged that a body of mounted police, under Sergt. Goulding, rode through a body of students on Hallowe'en, slashing with their whips and injured several. Sergeant Goulding is fined seven days' pay, equal to $21. Constables Ide, Ward and Guthrie, who accompanied Sergeant Goulding in the assault, are fined each three days pay, equal to about $6 each.

Prince Departed.

Potatoes Worth £500 a Ton.

London, Nov. 17.—Country Life describes the history of the potato known as the Northern Star as one of the romances of finance. It was brought out in 1901 by a Fifeshire grower, who parted with a few tons at the extraordinary price of £1,120 a ton. This is about 10 shillings a pound, at which rate two pounds were purchased by a Lincolnshire dealer. From this two pounds there will be grown this year 120 pounds. The dealer was so pleased with the result that he bought a further quantity at £500 a ton, which is the rate for 1902.

After an English Railway.

Manchester, Nov. 17.—There are reports in circulation that a United States syndicate is making overtures for the purchase of a leading English railway, which is believed to be the Great Central, running from Manchester and Sheffield to London. Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half of the time."

"The Ivy Leaf."

A grand scenic revival of the "Ivy Leaf," will be given in Bradburn's opera house on Thursday. This beautiful play has enjoyed extraordinary success. It is a very strong Irish drama, replete with thrilling situations and gorgeous scenery. The story is a sensational picture of life in Ireland and many novel features are introduced. The costuming is picturesque, and the settings of the scenes are realistic. The play is in five acts and each is rapid in action and strong in climax. Herbert E. Denton will be seen as Murty Kerrigan and will sing a number of new songs especially written for him.

Father McColl and D. Hughes-Charles. Addresses will be delivered in the evening of the same day by the same gentlemen in the Town Hall, North Monaghan. The meeting at Lakefield will be held on the afternoon of Tuesday, Dec. 2nd, and will be addressed by Messrs. Elliott, Drummond, Smith and Hughes-Charles. A meeting will also take place in the evening at Lakefield.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Heavy lot of Freight Passing Through Peterborough.

The winter freight rates on the railways went into effect on Saturday. The increases are about the same as have prevailed in other years.

It is reported that a new station is to be built at North Bay next spring by the C.P.R. and G.T.R. companies at a cost of half a million dollars.

Construction work on the Temiscaming and Northern Railway is going ahead rapidly. Fifteen miles of the right of way have been cleared and four or five miles have been graded.

There was a heavy lot of freight passed through Peterborough yesterday and a great many light engines went back to Midland. Trains going each way were double headers.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

At St. John's church the singing of the anthem "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me, O Lord," was worthy of special mention. Mr. Wesley sang the incidental solo in a capable manner, and the duet taken by Mrs. Seward and Mr. Morphet was very effective; the chorus work was admirably done, being marked by beautiful shading and most pleasing effects, results which we are accustomed to expect from training like Mr. Gliddon's.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The pastor occupied the pulpit at both services yesterday, and in the evening made a strong appeal to the temperance workers of the church and congregation. The theme of his sermon was, "Is the Young Man Safe?" The speaker stated that no young man was safe in this day of such temptation, and that one of the greatest, if not the greatest, of these temptations was that afforded by the saloon. By abolishing this then, we would take an awful burden off our young men, and help to ensure their further safety. The following music was rendered: Morning — Anthem, "God of My Life." Anthem, "Thou Who Hast Prepared."

Evening—Anthem. "Fear not O Land." Anthem, "Abide with Me," solo by Mr. Mulligan. Quartette, Misses Parnell and E. Hill, and Messrs. Turner and McGuire, "Down in the Licensed Saloon."

A social evening will be held in connection with the League this evening. All young people are invited to attend.

The young ladies will hold their regular meeting of the Guild at eight o'clock on Tuesday evening.

Prayer meeting at eight o'clock on Wednesday evening.

On Friday a social will be held at Grace church and it is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance. The proceeds go towards the library fund.

GIVES ADVICE.

Mrs. Eddy in the Matter of Contagious Diseases.

Recent deaths under Christian Science treatment, and the resultant criticism of the Scientists, has led Mary Baker Eddy to advise her followers not to treat contagious diseases.

In an editorial in the Christian Science Sentinel, Mrs. Eddy says:

"On the subject of reporting contagious diseases, I have this to say. I have always believed that Christian Scientists should be law abiding; and actuated by this conviction I authorized the following statement about a year ago:

"Rather than quarrel over vaccination I recommended that if the law demand an individual to submit to this process he obey the law, and then appeal to the Gospel, to save him from any bad results. Whatever changes belong to the century or any epoch, we may safely submit to the Providence of God, to common justice, individual rights and governmental usages.

"This statement should be so interpreted as to apply on the basis of Christian Science to the reporting of contagion to the proper authorities, when the law so requires."

REV. IRL R. HICKS' 1903 ALMANAC.

To say that this splendid work of science and art is finer and better than ever, is stating it mildly. The demand for it is far beyond all previous years. To say that such results, reaching through thirty years, are not based upon sound sense and usefulness, is an insult to the intelligence of the millions. Prof. Hicks, through this great Almanac, and his famous family and scientific journal, "Words and Works," is doing a work for the whole people not approached by any other man or publication. A fair test will prove this to any reasonable person. Added to the most luminous course in astronomy for 1903, forecasts of storms and weather are given, as never before, for every day in the year, all charmingly illustrated with nearly two hundred engravings. The price of single Almanac, including postage and mailing, is thirty cents. "Word and Works" with the Almanac is $1.00 a year. Write to Word and Works Publishing Company, 2201 Locust street, St. Louis, Mo., and prove to yourself their great value.

BOY'S LEG CRUSHED.

Lad Named Anderson met With Serious Accident on Saturday.

An unfortunate accident occurred on Saturday afternoon to the little 8-year old son of Mr. William Anderson, of Lock street. It has been the custom of the boys of about his age to play about the G.T.R. trains which stop at Perry street, before crossing the C.P.R. tracks. On Saturday afternoon about four o'clock a train stopped at this crossing, and the little Anderson boy, in attempting to climb on the van, swung under the wheels, and had one of his legs mangled above the ankle. He was removed to the Nicholls Hospital where his limb was amputated a little below the knee. The boy's father is an employee of the Peter Hamilton Company.

CAUGHT IN BELT.

An Employee of Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., met With an Accident.

Mr. Norman Stewart, a student in mechanical engineering, who has been in the machine shops of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company for several months, met with a rather serious accident on Starurday afternoon. He was caught in a revolving belt and was thrown around in a most helpless manner. Strange to say no bones were broken, but he was very badly bruised about the arms and body. He was removed to his boarding house, No. 163 Murray street and afterwards left for his home in Buckingham, Quebec. It will be some time before he has sufficiently recovered from his accident to resume work.

WAS BADLY BURNED.

Mishap of an Employee of the Peterborough Light & Power Co.

Mr. George Butcher was badly burned at the power house of the Peterborough Light and Power Company to-day. When Mr. Butcher grasped a lever to turn on the power, through some derangement of the commutator he received a severe shock, and his face and hands were badly burned. Dr. Scott is attending him, and it is hoped he will be able to perform his usual duties in a days.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. H. J. Dunn of Keene is in town to-day.

Messrs. S. Maguire and R. Harper of Madoc are the guests of the Oriental to-day.

Mr. Fred McGrath was in Ottawa on Saturday, and witnessed the Ottawa College-Rough Riders' football contest.

Mr. George Brown, of Chemong, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Brown, Ontario street, Port Hope, returned home Friday night.

Mr. H. LeBrun left on Saturday evening to ransack the wholesale markets in search of "fetching" novelties for the holiday trade. He will visit Kingston, Montreal, Toronto and New York.

Port Hope Guide: Mr. Fletcher Meadows, Peterborough, was in town to-day, and called at the Guide office. He is greatly taken up with the Guide. He says that it is better than a letter from home every week.

In the recent rifle matches held at Macleod, Alberta, Mr. Levi Fowler was the winner of the 600 yard prize. Levi is in the barber business at the old Fort, and doing well. He is not only a crack shot, but is captain of the baseball team, a member of the band, and an expert curler. Mr. Fowler formerly lived here and is a cousin of Dr. R. F. Morrow.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S FIRE.

Small Blaze in Ashburnham Woolen Mills.

About eight o'clock Saturday night the fire brigade was called out to a fire in the Ashburnham Woollen Mills, the property of Mr. William Faint. It is a well known fact that in every woollen mill there is the greatest danger from fire in the working of the wool picker, and the origin of Saturday night's fire was no exception to the rule. The wool picker was full of a great deal of fine pieces of wool and refuse, and the machine had ignited this and though only smouldering when discovered the mill was filled with dense smoke. The blaze luckily was discovered in time and was extinguished before the fire brigade arrived.

THIS MORNING'S POLICE COURT.

A Young Man let off Rather Lightly.

On Friday night a couple of young men, whom the witnesses proved slightly under the influence of liquor, tried to force their way into a dance given by the White Rose Club in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street. After being reasoned with and coaxed away several times, they still persisted in their disturbing efforts, and at last the police stepped in and this morning one of the men paid a fine of two dollars and costs, in all $5.55. This was richly deserved, and should serve as an example to other young men who sometimes make themselves a source of nuisance on occasions of this kind.

St. John's Choir Team Defeated Rough Riders.

Mr. McPherson to Attend Executive Meeting in Toronto To-night—Hockey Meeting Wednesday Night.

They are a rather queer lot of people that go to make up the western section of the O.R.F.U. intermediate district. Had the managements of these teams acted honestly there would be no Monotonous wail such as Peterborough is experiencing just now. Peterborough has to suffer for the misdeeds of the western teams. The Argonauts played Bell and Hill, two senior men. If they did not know that they were seniors they should have known. The Torontos played Morrison. They knew that he was a professional, or at least they should have, and in any event Morrison himself knew that he was a professional. London knew Morrison was a professional when they played against him. They should have played under protest, but they did not. They thought that they were going to win anyway, and it would make but little difference. However, it is just as great an offence to play against a professional as it is to play on the same team with one, providing the members of the team on which or against which the professional plays, is aware of his alleged professional standing. The three teams are equally culpable and such action on their part cannot be any too beneficial to sport throughout the province.

There is an unwritten law regarding the length of the term of for officers of most athletic organizations. If the position is an honorary one, or even if it is one requiring a great deal of time and hard work, the office holder is changed every two years as a rule. There are sometimes exceptions to this rule, however, and we think that an exception occurs at the present time in connection with the selection for the office of secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough Hockey Club. The present secretary-treasurer, as is well-known, is Mr. A. W. McPherson, to whom Peterborough owes a great deal for the keen interest he has displayed in all kinds of athletics, and the success that has followed his participation in various lines of manly sport. We think we are voicing the opinions of lovers of hockey in Peterborough, and particularly of the members of the Peterborough team, when we say that it would be a distinct loss to the club if Mr. McPherson were to drop out of office this year. He has made an ideal secretary-treasurer, and is possessed of those combinations of qualification, of business tact and agreeable disposition that eminently him for the important but sometimes too thankless a position.

PROHIBITION NOT A PANACEA

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt Preaches at St. Luke's.

The Gothenburgh System—The Evils of Treating.

At St. Luke's church Sunday evening Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached a strong sermon in advocacy of temperance, his text being Romans 14, 20, "Overthrow not for meat's sake the Word of God," (Revised version.)

It was clear from this passage, as well as others in St. Paul's writings, that the propriety of eating certain kinds of food was the subject of keen controversy in the early church, and the rulers of the Jews laid down stringent laws upon this point. St. Paul dealt with it along broad and definite lines. He had the precise thought of a philosopher, the breadth of view and charity of a statesman and was a direct and fearless exponent of the law of God.

The speaker saw three principles set forth in the text and preceding verses. First, that the object of a Christian life was not gratification of any kind of bodily desire. The idea of temperance was to exercise self control and mastery of the lower inclinations by the higher intelligence. The second principle dwelt upon was that of Christian liberty. Paul wrote that in the observance of certain seasons and the eating of certain meats, each person must make his own rule, and no man must find fault with the practice of others, but all must live according to the law of God. But in the third place, there was an important limitation to Christian liberty. Everybody was bound to use his own liberty with due consideration for the effect of his action upon other people. If it placed a stumbling block in the way of a brother it was the duty of a Christian to abstain, lest it cause that brother to offend. This was the principle of Christian brotherhood established by the incarnation of Christ, and from this arose the necessity of abstaining from anything that did injury to the fabric of the Church.

The question of prohibition, said the speaker, was not to be considered with sentimentality but on its merits. There were various forms of intemperance, but that of drinking was more in evidence in Peterborough than any other. The Church of England had always advocated temperance in all things, and calls upon all to act together against the excessive use of strong drink. It did not forward total abstinence as a duty, but recognized it as a safe and most useful practice. The speaker pronounced as absurd the contention of those who were given to violent language in the advocacy of temperance and who declared that those who used strong drink as a beverage or with temperance would go to damnation. Whether or not strong drink should be a part of regular diet was for a doctor to determine, and not for a clergyman. But the fact was that large quantities of liquor were consumed with disastrous results, and it was for every Christian to ask himself whether he was acting with self control in this respect. Every Christain, he said, should support the cause of true temperance. It was a duty attendant upon personal influence.

The Scriptural interpretation of the word temperance does not mean total abstinence, but the exercise of self control as opposed to self-indulgence and therefore temperance is wider in its scope than prohibition. Who would dare to say that those who, acting according to their conscience, drank in moderation, were not as honest as those who from the same motive observed total abstinence? It was the speakers opinion that those who advocated prohibition were oftimes most unjust and uncharitable in their language towards those who were temperate and conscientious in their use of drink.

The Church of England never had made herself the agent of any fad originated by emotional men and women, nor the champion of anything that is not in strict accordance with the spirit of Holy Scriptures. She has always opposed the narrowmindedness and bigotry of so-called Christians who think that they alone have the truth, and that all others are wrong.

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt then dwelt upon the proposed referendum, and said that it was unfortunate that the question had come within the influence of party politics. It was necessary to understand the proposed act in order to judge of it without partiality or to consider what the conditions were compared with those that would be, if the act came into effect. The licence system leagalized public places to sell beverages. Unfortunately the law was violated, and Rev. Mr. Langfeldt said he knew it for a fact that hotelmen sold liquor during forbidden hours. He knew also, but could not prove it, that there were places where young men and old men drank and gambled the whole night through. The law, said he, hoodwinks us, and those who are supposed to carry out the law do not dare to speak because there are political considerations at the bottom of it. There was no doubt that the saloon was a bad institution, and no Christian man would ever justify the existence of it. If there were good men in the hotels there would not be such lamentable conditions. The saloon was the place where men got the last kick that landed them in hell, and the proposed act would not alter it. It would do away with licensed houses, but in the system which it would set up, the speaker saw worse conditions than existed at present. Private houses would become little better than grog shops, and drug stores, than saloons. Physicians would be bribed to give certificates and the law would call for the services of a host of detectives to carry it out, and this would be degrading to men of honour and demoralising to a community. The referendum would never do what it was intended to do. Better far was the Gothenburg system whereby the profit was taken away from the individual and the sale was under the control of an organization not interested in making profits on intoxicants.

The speaker in conclusion advised against sentimentality, but advocated loving words and acts towards those who were fallen and personal influence and kind persuasion, which he held would be most effective towards the desired end.

There was a very large congregation present. The singing by the choir was most enjoyable.

LINDSAY'S NEW HOSPITAL.

The Formal Opening of the Ross Memorial Hospital.

This morning the Examiner received a much appreciated invitation to attend the opening of the Ross Memorial Hospital at Lindsay on Thursday next. Accompanying the invitation was a programme of the opening ceremonies, which include the opening at the Hospital and the investment of the Board of Governors at 1.30 o'clock. At two o'clock in the assembly hall of the Collegiate Institute, with Mr. J. D. Flavelle in the chair, after invocation by Rev. C. H. Marsh, an address from the County Council of Victoria will be presented to Mr. James Ross, the donor of the hospital, by the warden of the county and Mr. Ross will make a suitable reply. This will be followed by brief addresses by prominent public men. Afterwards there will be a reception at the hospital. The programme contains a photogravure of the new hospital building which has a pleasing outside appearance and is said to be internally, in plan of construction and excellence of equipment, in keeping with the requirements which the modern development of the healing and nuring art, exact.

The hospital is the gift of Mr. James Ross, of Montreal, a memorial of his father, the late Captain Ross, of Lindsay. Mr. Ross was a former citizen of the town and was active in the promotion of the Victoria and Haliburton railway. Afterwards he was largely engaged in construction operations on the C.P.R. and amassed considerable wealth, of a portion of which he has made most commendable use in building a hospital for the Town of Lindsay and County of Victoria. No doubt the town and county have a grateful appreciation of Mr. Ross' munificence and it is hoped that the Ross Memorial Hospital will long and successfully carry on the beneficient work it is designed to accomplish.

APPRECIATED THE SINGING.

To the Editor of the Examiner;

Dear Sir, — Last night, during my stay over Sunday in your beautiful city, I attended service in St. John's, by the way a very church-like church building. While I enjoyed the hearty service and the practical sermon, I was much pleased with the anthem. The solo and the duet were well taken, and the ensemble singing was very effective. The shading was excellently done, and the whole effect was pleasing. I was so struck with the good effects that I dropped you this note to express my appreciation of the evidences of careful training, as well as careful head to their training, furnished by the choir.

Yours truly,
TRAVELLER.

The Other Half

Half the children in the world actually need Scott's Emulsion. The other half would be benefitted by it. A goodly portion of the latter half have already been helped by Scott's Emulsion. They have been made comfortable and well. They have been supplied with the element of fat that their bodies are constantly in need of. Scott's Emulsion has done even more for them; it has furnished nourishment which their ordinary food has not supplied.

The lack of proper nourishment in a child's food is responsible for its failure to thrive and grow as it should. So long as the important elements of nourishment are not contained in the child's food it will remain thin and lack the plumpness and glow of youth that marks the properly fed child.

What can be done for such children? Give them Scott's Emulsion. It is so palatable and acceptable that children like it. Cream of cod liver oil it could be called, for it resembles cream very closely. Moreover, being predigested, Scott's Emulsion enters the system quickly and with least tax upon the stomach. The delicate digestive organs of a backward child accept and retain Scott's Emulsion when other forms of nourishment are repulsive. It makes up the short-comings of a child's ordinary food and furnishes nourishment and fat in proper proportions and in the proper way.

So-called wines, cordials and extracts of cod liver oil should always be avoided. No matter what the claims may be, they do not contain the value of the whole oil, and hence are worthless in cases where a reliable cod liver oil preparation is necessary. Their sole purpose is to taste nice, and the use of alcohol and strong extracts makes them really harmful in many cases. Scott's Emulsion contains the whole oil carefully prepared, palatably presented, and is a safe and reliable preparation.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

Got Into the Treasure Room.

Years ago the directors of the Bank of England were startled by an invitation sent by mail to meet an unknown man in the strong room of the bank at midnight among the money chests. "I have been inside the bank the last two nights," wrote the man, "but I am not a thief; so meet me in the great square room with all the money at 12 to-night." Though the letter was regarded as a hoax, the police were notified and they guarded the strong room that night. Nothing happened. A few days later a heavy chest of papers and securities taken from the strong room arrived at the bank, with a letter complaining that the directors had set the police upon the writer and that therefore he had not appeared as he promised; but to prove that he was neither a thief nor a fool he sent a chest of papers he had taken from the bank. Let a few gentlemen be alone in the room and he would join them at midnight, said the writer. This time his instructions were obeyed. Then a man with a dark lantern burst into the strong room of the bank at midnight after calling from behind the stone walls for the directors to put out the lights. He was one of a strange class of men who gained a living by searching the sewers at night and through an opening from the sewer he had found his way into the richest room in the world.

What Others Say.

Sheep will live and thrive on pasturage so short that cattle cannot get enough grass during the day to do them over night.

Sheep require no expensive shelter. A dry place and protection from the force of storms, an open shed with a roof that will turn the rain, are all that is required.

Revelation Kills Son.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—Word was received yesterday of the suicide at Buckingham, Que., of Thomas Cooke, son of J. T. C. Cooke, of that town. He was found dead with a bullet hole in his breast, and a revolver was found by his side. Estrangement between his father and mother, and an alleged revelation in connection with a suit for separation and alimony, in which his mother is plaintiff, and father defendant, is said to have preyed on his mind, with this result.

A SKY WANDERER.

How a Photograph of Perrine's Comet Was Secured.

The new comet recently discovered by Perrine, which for some time has been visible to the naked eye, on the 8th of October, has been receding from the earth. On that date it made its nearest approach to our planet and was then about 35,000,000 miles distant.

Just previous to the comet's turn to recede from the earth it was photographed in England. An exposure of ninety minutes was given, during which time the comet was kept stationary in the centre of the plate with a finding telescope attached to a camera and driven by clockwork in the usual way.

PHOTOGRAPH OF THE NEW COMET.

The comet is the white blur in the centre of the picture. The long dashes of white were made by the motion of the stars.

While the comet has been visible to the naked eye, it has only been so in the form of a light haze on the blue-black background of the sky. It is moving with great speed toward the sun.

Booth as an Author.

As a writer, General Booth is best known to the public as author of the famous "In Darkest England and the Way Out." Had this alone been his life work he would have earned the grateful remembrances and benediction of humanity. But this is only one of the many subjects with which he has dealt. His "Training of Children," his "Everyday Religion," "Letters to Soldiers," and "Holy Living," are equal monuments of his genius.

The Dread of an Operation

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Possibly you are a sufferer from piles and have been disheartened and discouraged because your physician has told you that nothing short of an operation will cure you.

You dread the thought of a surgical operation, for, besides the expense and strain on the nervous system, there is the risk of life itself. It is only a few months since a member of the Ontario Legislature lost his life as the result of an operation for piles. The risk of an operation is too great, and, besides, it is unnecessary.

Dr. Chase's Ointment has frequently cured piles after surgical operations have failed. It is every day curing cases which physicians have stated to be incurable by any treatment short of an operation.

If you could read a few of the letters we receive from persons who have been cured of piles by using Dr. Chase's Ointment you would soon be convinced of its wonderful control over this frightfully common disease.

Rev. S. A. Dupray, Methodist minister, Consecon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states:—"I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses formed so that it was with great difficulty and considerable pain that I was able to stoop. At this severe crisis I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but I had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose.

"Now, imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared and also the external swelling. I feel like a different man to-day, and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation, and many years of suffering. It is with the greatest pleasure and with a thankful heart that I give this testimonial, knowing that Dr. Chase's Ointment has done so much for me. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

Dr. Chase's Ointment 60 cents a box. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 9

BRITAIN'S EMBASSY.

CHANGES IN SIR M. HERBERT'S NEW HOME AT WASHINGTON.

Its Splendid Appointments—Wall Papering of the Finest Type—Red Is the Color Scheme of the Lower Floor and Pink That of the Sleeping Apartments—Bathrooms Are Magnificent.

If Lady Pauncefote were to return to Washington and re-enter the British embassy, she would find the interior almost unrecognizable and completely remodeled, says The Washington Post. The old study which the late Lord Pauncefote occupied when embassador has been thoroughly renovated, as indeed has been every one of the fifty odd rooms into which the building is divided. The great drawback to the embassy during the incumbency of the Pauncefotes was the darkness of the rooms, due in part to the shade trees which surrounded the building. The trees have not been disturbed, but light papers have been placed on the walls thus far covered. The ceilings have been painted a cream color, and this harmonizes with the beautiful wall papers used. In the study of the new embassador, Sir Michael Herbert, the wall paper is red, with figures of Greek design in crimson, the effect being rich and dignified.

The study connects with the living rooms of the embassy and the chancellory. The construction of the latter was begun during the regime of the late Lord Pauncefote. Before its erection visitors to the embassy were compelled to go along the side of the house to a wing of the building not far from the kitchen, where they transacted their business with one of the secretaries. The chancellory is now near the building line of the embassy, and a caller of consequence does not feel that his dignity is suffering if he enters the embassy through it. The chancellory has a reception room and three offices, which are sufficient for the work the embassador will be required to transact. These rooms are plainly furnished, with a large number of shelves filled with records and reference books.

Friends of Sir Michael making a social call will drive to the front of the embassy along a stone driveway, and their horses will stop under a porte cochere over which the British flag flies. A short fight of stone steps, and the visitor will pass through the front door into a magnificent hall, at the end of which is a wide staircase, down which looks a magnificent portrait of the late Queen Victoria, valued at $50,000 The hall is without much ornamentation. It has a marble wainscoting, and the paper surmounting it is of rich red. The staircase is of walnut, which has been enameled white. The embassador's study, to the right of the hall door as one enters, is directly opposite two large drawing rooms. These rooms are also tastefully papered. Over massive marble mantels are two large mirrors framed in gold. In the rear of the staircase is the dining room, containing 800 square feet and able, therefore, to accommodate a large dinner party. The wainscoting is of burnished gold, with embossed roses, and the paper is red. The mantel is of walnut.

Red is the color scheme of the first floor, and pink is that of the rooms on the second floor. Barred paper, with pink roses trailing, cover the walls of the room over the embassador's study. A paneled paper of pink coloring decorates the sleeping apartments over the drawing rooms. A harmonious color scheme has been adopted for the "attic," as the English attaches call the third floor. The bathrooms are magnificent affairs. The tubs are of English make and the floors and wainscoting are of tiling.

There is one room in the building to which Lady Herbert will devote particular attention. This is the ballroom, on the first floor near the dining room. This is 20 feet wide by 40 feet long and is large enough to accommodate the select dancing parties Lady Herbert will give during the winter. The paper is of gold. The floor has been planed and when waxed will permit easy dancing. The work of renovating the embassy has been done by Mr. C. A. Langley under a contract with the board of public works of London. Sir Michael, of course, transmitted his wishes to Mr. Langley, but the board had general charge of the improvements.

Lady Herbert has bought a large quantity of magnificent furniture in London for the embassy. The silver of the embassy, more valuable than that used at the White House, is now in storage and will be returned to the embassy as soon as needed. Rugs, all oriental and extremely valuable, covered the floors of the embassy when Lord Pauncefote presided over the establishment. These have been taken up and cleaned. Others have been received from Sir Michael and add to the beauty of the embassy.

The cost of the renovation can be appreciated when it is known that $15,000 has been spent for new fixtures alone. The wall papering is of the finest quality and must have necessitated a very large expenditure. The embassy has been strung with electric light wires, has steam heat, two furnaces being provided so that if one should get out of order the other can be immediately commissioned. A large range in the kitchen insures adequate cooking arrangements.

Few people can understand the feelings of the pugilist as he is being counted out. He hears the seconds ticked off. He struggles to rise, but struggles in vain. He has lost the fight.

There are some who are making a losing fight for life that can appreciate this; those whose lungs are diseased. With every tick of the watch, they know that they are being counted out.

The great question is how can a quick rally be made to continue the fight against disease? Many who have asked that question have found a satisfactory answer in the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures bronchitis, obstinate, deep-seated coughs, hemorrhage, night-sweats, emaciation, and other conditions which if neglected or unskilfully treated may find a fatal termination in consumption.

"When I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. John T. Reed, of Jefferson, Jefferson Co., Ark. "I was very low with a cough, and would at times spit up blood. I was not able to do any work at all, was weak and my head was dizzy. The first bottle I took did me so much good that I had faith in it and continued until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I do not look like nor feel like the same man as I was a year ago. People were astonished and said they did not think I could live. I can thankfully say that I am entirely cured of a disease from which had it not been for your wonderful 'Discovery' I would have died."

There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery," which no "just as good" medicine can show.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

"IN OCTOBER."

By Archibald Lampman.

Along the waste, a great way off, the pines,
Like tall, slim priests of storm, stand up and bar
The low, long strip of dolorous red that lines
The under west, where wet winds moan afar.
The cornfields are all brown, and brown the meadows
With the brown leaves, wind-heaped traceries,
And the brown thistle stems that cast no shadows,
And bear no bloom for bees.

Sketch of Archibald Lampman.

"Archibald Lampman was of middle height and of a slight form. In the city he walked habitually with downcast glance, with his eyes fixed on the ground; in the fields and woods he was alert and observant. His manner was quiet and undemonstrative. His voice was mellow and distinct. . . . Before the camera the lines of his face hardened, and the lovely spirit of his eyes departed. It would explain the fascination of his personality if that deep, bright, lucid glance could be preserved, if it could look out upon the old and new readers of his poems with the shadowed sweetness that charmed and attracted in life. Although his face and its expression were in harmony, the index of his character was written on his brow, candid and serene, and in his eyes, sincere and affectionate. His brow was finely moulded, and over it fell the masses of his brown hair, that glowed with warm chestnut, when the light touched it. His eyes were brown, clear and vivid."

Can one imagine a more charming bit of personal description than this paragraph, culled from the memoir of the poet whose verse is quoted above, written by his fidus Achates, Duncan Campbell Scott? Not many years ago, when speaking to another of our Canadian poets, Pauline Johnson, on the subject of Lampman's verses, she said, 'We called him 'the little brown bird that sings,'" and for some mysterious reason brown October days all speak with clarion notes of the personality and poetry of the little brown bird that sang so sweetly through the few short years of his earthly life.

Preserving the Autumn Leaves.

Mr. A. T. Drummond sends this information, and it is valuable at this season of the year:—It will interest those who have been collecting autumn leaves this fall to know that these leaves, when dried under pressure, will lose their brittleness and have their beautiful colors brightened and intensified by a very simple and inexpensive process. Melt five cents worth of parafine wax and pour hot into a flat saucer; have ready at hand a large and deep bowl of cold water; dip the dried leaves completely in the hot liquid for a moment; then, quickly shaking the surplus liquid wax off, plunge the leaf at once, for a moment, in the cold water and the work is done. The leaves can then be kept for years between the pages of books ready to be utilized from time to time for dinner table or other decoration. Care must be taken when shaking off the surplus wax that it does not fall on the clothing or the carpet.

GENERAL BOOTH.

"Tay-Pay's" Pen Picture of the Founder of the Salvation Army.

In a recent number of "Mainly About People," Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., the famous London journalist, wrote:—

"It is impossible to see General Booth for a moment and ever forget him, for he has one of the most striking faces I have ever seen. It is, as 'twere, drawn on granite by a pencil of steel. The rigidity, the clearness, the firmness of the lines, make it difficult to believe that it is living flesh and blood, and not the hardness, the coldness, and impenetrability of stone. The face is thin, long, hatchet-shaped, and yet the lines are fine, and even noble. The nose—more like the beak of an eagle than the nose of an ordinary man—juts out in a promontory. It is as large and commanding a nose as that of Wellington, but it is finer in cut and in shape. Then there is the long, slightly shaggy beard, the fine full head of hair—at least General Booth had a fine head of hair in those long past years when I saw him; the high and prominent cheek bones; the mouth finely curved, regular, firm set, all produce the impression of a man with tremendous power of will, of command, and of infectious enthusiasm. And the body, long, thin, without an ounce of superfluous flesh, almost gaunt, increases the impression of one of those beings whose energies are exhaustless because the splendid endurance of nature has never been dulled by the self-indulgences of the ordinary man

"The picture I have attempted to give suggests a greater severity of expression than would be accurate. That was not the impression made upon me. Tremendous fire—force of character—great power of command—occasional power of stern severity—all these things must be in the man who has been able to keep together this vast army of men and women in the bond of an iron discipline for so many years. But, if I misjudge him not, there is much softness in this man's heart and temperament. Indeed, if there had not been, how could he have taken up that work which so many of the churches had neglected—the work of saving, not the fashionable lady, nor the paunchy shopkeeper, nor even the workingman in Sunday broadcloth, but the ragged, the hungry, the outcast, the convict, the Magdalen!"

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvellous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c., at Ormond & Walsh's.

Hamilton's Pills are Effective.

Smoking a Narghile.

"The narghile is the best instrument to smoke tobacco through, provided you use it in the right way," said a man who knows. "Most people use it in the wrong way. They load it with tobacco and light up with a match as though it was a pipe they were smoking. This is incorrect, and the narghile, so abused, has an abominable taste and odor. The right way to use the narghile is first to dip your tobacco in water, squeeze the water out and place the soaked, damp mass in the pipe bowl. Then you take a lump of burning charcoal and set it on the top of the wet tobacco and begin to smoke. The tobacco itself, you see, is not really alight; it's the charcoal that's alight; it is the burning charcoal that eats the tobacco up. This is the secret of narghile smoking. And a narghile, smoked properly, is delicious—maked, in fact, the very best smoke in the world."

To-day's market was a decided change from that of the past few days. Although in the quotations no great gains were made, yet there was no decline. Most of the stocks showed an increase of one-half to one and one-half points, although Manhattan gained 41-2 points, caused, it is said, by a rumour that the N.Y.C. is making an offer for that stock and guaranteeing a six per cent. dividend to the holders of Manhattan. The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 17. — There was another flurry in December corn to-day, and a big advance was recorded with the market very active. There was also general good buying of May by common houses and pit traders, and this option was strong at a fair advance. There was considerable profit taking but offerings were well taken. The good demand for cash corn continued, and old No. 3 corn on track is selling at a premium over December No. 2. Under these conditions I see very little incentive to short either delivery.

DENISON.

Looks as if big interests had settled differences and market would work higher.

N. PERKINS.

Rumour out that N.Y.C. is about to make an offer for Manhattan, guaranteeing six per cent dividend to stockholders of Manhattan.

New York, Nov. 15. — The New York Sun, an evening or so ago, in speaking of the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation, remarked as follows: Concerning the prophecies made so freely a few weeks ago that the beginning of the end of the great prosperity in the steel trade was at hand, it is rather amusing to read in despatches from the great steel centres that the United States Steel Corporation has decided to ignore all orders for material coming from brokers and speculators, because of the tremendous demand at this time. The orders on the books of the Corporation cannot be supplied for months. They are coming in constantly, and all previously records have been broken. The action of the steel corporation is to prevent any possible corner of the available supply. Those who need material will be supplied, but orders will be scrutinized carefully. Any mills that make it a point to hold back material will have to reckon with the United States Steel Corporation. Staple prices that will insure a steady demand is the policy that will be insisted on at all times. This state of affairs does not foreshadow any let up in the phenomenal business of the company. It shows them to be going ahead at their customary gait, in fact breaking all past records. The stocks have been most determinedly attacked, owing to the fact that the public were heavy holders of them. Those who were hurt in the balance of the market were compelled to liquidate much steel for additional protection of their accounts. Considering the viciousness of the attacks upon the property, and the many malicious rumours put in circulation, the stock has held remarkably well. The Evening Sun states that while it cannot be confirmed, the Stock Exchange authorities have, or will take action to find out just who have been circulating rumours that have been absolutely unfounded. There is a feeling in Wall street that although honest rumours are a good thing, that the circulation of malicious rumours have gone too far. The bears have not had such a revel in the share markets for a very long time. However the old adage,—"All fair in love and war," may be prostituted. Many people are strongly of the opinion that some of the modern Ananias of Wall street have been over zealous.

Summary. — The market opened this morning at from parity with last night's close quotations to one and a half per cent. higher; then displayed more or less hesitation, receding from 1-2 per cent. to a point, after which it gathered renewed strength, advancing smartly. Before 11.30 quotations generally exceeded the advance prices of the opening. Shorts covered freely, while excellent buying was developed in the leading issues. Stocks are remarkably cheap at present. Reserves show an increase of about $460,000, while loans decreased $5,000,000. Loans would have decreased materially had yesterday's liquidation sales been deliverable then instead of Monday, as is the case. Loans have decreased more materially than shown in the statement. Prices shaded somewhat after publication of the bank statement. Even if lowest prices have not been made, which we very much doubt, prices should advance 5 to 10 points from to-day's quotations before receding materially. Monday's letter. Those Rock Island Issues.

Money closed 4 per cent; sales 220,200.

when two such sturdy, young teams can be gathered together, as those which met on Saturday afternoon on Nichols Oval. For some time the choir boys, or as they are better known "The Cherubs," have had an unbroken series of success and have piled up a total of sixty-five points against twelve scored against them. These were made against teams from Port Hope and Lakefield, but a team from the south end gathered itself together and known as the Rough Riders, with all due apologies to the Ottawa team, and determined to seize the choir boys' laurels. In this they failed signally although at one time it looked as though their efforts would succeed. All doubt as to the result was ended when Boucher went over for a touch in the second half. He should have been stopped, but some how the Rough Riders' defence became careless and after a brilliant run he scored a touch for the "Cherubs." All in all the game was a good exhibition of rugby, although there was a decided tendency toward roughness at times.

C. H. Cornell of Toronto Lost His Money and Then Took His Life.

SHOT HIMSELF TWICE IN HEAD

Three Men Saw the Deliberate Suicide in Rosedale Ravine—Still Living When Found by the Police, But Died Before the Ambulance Arrived—Was Formerly a Prosperous Butcher.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Fluctuations of the stock market are responsible for the suicide yesterday morning of Charles H. Cornell, at one time a prosperous butcher in this city. Cornell shot himself twice and died in less than half an hour. The dead man was a heavy loser some years ago, and in spite of the advice of his friends he kept on speculating until a month ago, when he lost everything he had left, amounting to $800 or $1,000. Since that time Cornell has been very despondent.

The scene of the tragedy was on the Rosedale ravine drive, just west of Huntley street. A little before 11 o'clock Albert Edward Keates, 299 Sackville street,; John McLeish, 7 McMurrich street, and John Cleaver, 1 Jersey avenue, were crossing over the Huntley street bridge when they heard the report of a pistol. They looked down into the ravine and saw Cornell stagger a few paces. He then put the point of the pistol, which he held in his right hand, in his mouth and attempted to fire it again. The weapon did not explode, and after going through the motions of pulling the trigger back again he once more fired into his mouth. The three men rushed to his side. Cornell was still living, but gasping for breath and died before Dr. Rose or the ambulance arrived.

Cornell lived at 200 Robert street, and is survived by his widow and stepson. He was 45 years of age.

Deceased was in the butcher business for a number of years, and was very successful until he started to speculate. About five years ago he sold out his business and afterwards gave his undivided attention to dealing in the stock market. He was not known as a heavy operator, but was easily frightened by rapid movements of the stocks in which he was interested. About a month ago when the crash came Cornell told his wife of his losses, and it seemed to weigh heavily on his mind. Cornell was of a nervous temperament, and felt misfortune keenly. His friends remarked on his changed appearance, and it was known that the loss of his money was bearing heavily on him.

G. R. MAXWELL DYING.

M.P. for Burrard Was Not Expected to Live Through Last Night.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 18—Rev. G. R. Maxwell, M.P. for Burrard, which includes Vancouver and surrounding district, is reported to be dying. Doctors in attendance believe he will not live through the night.

George Ritchie Maxwell was born at Stonehouse, South Lanarkshire, Scotland in 1857. He was educated at the parish school and at Glasgow University, and was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry at Wishaw, Lanarkshire. Coming to Canada he had pastoral charge at St. Sylvester, Lower Leeds and at Three Rivers, Que., and in 1890 accepted a call to the First Church of Vancouver. He resigned his charge in 1896 upon being nominated as a candidate for the House of Commons, and was elected by 298 majority over Mr. Cowan. In 1897 he was spoken of in connection with the leadership of the British Columbia Liberals. In 1883 he married the eldest daughter of R. Forrest, postmaster at Blanefield, Scotland.

W. H. HACKING DEAD.

Has Been Postmaster of Listowel Since 1855—97 Years Ago.

Listowel, Nov. 13.—William H. Hacking, who, since June, 1855, over 47 years ago, when a postoffice was first opened here, has been postmaster in Listowel, died yesterday morning in the 98rd year of his age. He was a native of Yorkshire, England, and came to Canada with his father, the Rev. James Hacking, 86 years ago. He was married at Newmarket, April 21, 1832, to Margaret Tracy, who pre-deceased him four years ago. Three sons and five daughters survive them.

May Clear Up a Murder.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—A special from Cowansville says: "About two miles from Clarenceville, at midnight on Nov. 1, Nelson Limlow, as previously reported, committed an assault on his mother-in-law, aged 65 years. She and two little grand-daughters were alone when Limlow broke into the house. The community was shocked, and great indignation prevailed. The criminal is now in jail awaiting his trial, and there is a general feeling that before it is ended light will be thrown upon the Edy murder mystery that has so long remained unsolved. The murder referred to was the total wiping out of Mr. and Mrs. Edy and their daughter.

Shot Through Liver and Lungs.

Rossland, B. C., Nov. 18.—Robert Adams, the victim of the shooting affray at the International Hotel on Nov. 8, has made a remarkable recovery, although shot through lungs and liver with a bullet from a 41 calibre revolver. He recovered in ten days sufficiently to leave his bed and walk about the hotel. Now he is to all intents and purposes a well man, although somewhat emaciated. Such rapid recovery from so serious gun shot wounds are rare in the annals of local surgery.

HON. A. G. BLAIR ON VISIT TO PETERBOROUGH.

On Tour of Inspection of the Trent Valley Canal.

VISITED CEREAL COMPANY.

He Arrived This Morning in His Private Car "Ottawa"—Is in Lakefield This Afternoon—Mr. Schreiber was Also in Town.

Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, arrived in town this morning in his special car, "Ottawa." He is on a tour of inspection of the Trent Valley Canal, and will, before reurning to the capital, visit in a similar manner the Welland and St. Lawrence River Canals. Hon. Mr. Blair is accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Payne, and by the Deputy Minister, Mr. Collingwood Schreiber. While it was known to a few in town, including the Mayor and Aldermen, that the Minister was coming, still, as his visit was to be brief, and of purely a business nature, no public reception was tendered him. However, His Worship, Mayor T. H. G. Denne, met the Minister this morning, and took him to the American Cereal Buildings. The visitors were met by Messrs. Stewart and Kearns, of the company, who greeted them most cordially. They first inspected the dredging that is being done in the Otonabee River, just alongside the main building, and then proceeded up along the bank of the river to the foot of London street, where the work on the construction of the new dam was viewed with apparent interest. Upon returning to the Cereal Company's mills, the Minister and his party were taken through the buildings, and the processes were fully explained by the officials of the company. Hon. Mr. Blair expressed himself as much surprised at the extent of the Cereal Company's business. He had no idea of the magnitude of their works, and he agreed that it should prove to be a great boon to the town. The Minister then thanked the Cereal Company's representatives for their kindness in showing him through their establishment and the party withdrew. At this juncture His Worship Mayor Denne took his leave from the party which was taken in hand by Mr. R. B. Rogers, superintending engineer of the T.V.C. A visit to the lift lock was then paid. The party was made up as follows:—Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals; Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Deputy Minister; Mr. Payne, Private Secretary to the Minister; Hon. J. R. Stratton, Mr. R. B. Rogers, Superintending Engineer, T.V.C.; J. A. Corry, E. G. Laverdure, A. A. Tallion, Manager La Banque Nationale, Ottawa; A. O. Matton, of the Lake Lachine Milling Company; Ald. J. J. Turner, T. M. Hamel, Engineer for Messrs. Corry & Laverdure, and Mr. George E. Elliott.

It was the first visit the Minister had made to the canal since 1896 and he of course observed a great change in the appearance of the lift lock and the local stretch of the canal. He evinced keen interest in the high concrete structure and was taken through many of the chambers. Only a few men were at work. The concreting has been finished for some time and the work of placing the steel work is now in progress. After the Minister had spent some time in viewing the work at this point, he proceeded to Lakefield along the route of the canal accompanied by Mr. Schreiber, Mr. Rogers and Mr. Payne. They will return from Lakefield on the 4.30 train this afternoon and will then proceed to the upper section of the canal. After touring over the T.V.C. he will visit the Welland Canal as before stated.

KINGSTON'S SCHOOL BOOKS.

The "Fee-for-Use" System Adopted in all Grades.

The Board of Education of Kingston at its last meeting, adopted the system of supplying the pupils with text books and supplies. The Toronto plan is followed, except that the fee system will be used, the pupil's parents paying for the use of the books, and not the ratepayers, as a body. For eight years the Board has been furnishing supplies to all, and text books up to the senior third grade, but will after September, of next year, furnish all requirements. The average charge per pupil at present is 60 cents. By the change it is expected that though this fee may remain as it is for several years, until all the books are purchased, eventually it can be cut in two.

EDITORIAL NOTES

That report of the Royal Commissioners on the Finances of the Province, is a rock of offence in the path of Mr. J. P. Whitney. He cannot, says, the Ottawa Free Press, get over it, or contradict its statement that the "methods of bookkeeping are excellent, and exhibit in as full detail as in an ordinary financial institution, all of the financial transactions of the province." Two leading bankers and an extra expert would not have made that statement without due examination or without due consideration. At the Mount Forest banquet on Friday Mr. Whitney referred to it, and in effect told his hearer that while he did not question the composition of the commission, he did not believe its conclusions. Expert against partizan! The public will judge for itself, and its verdict will not be that of Mr. Whitney. The Opposition, said the chief party organ the other day, has been trying for years to bring about a good system of provincial bookkeeping. Lo, and behold, the commissioners found that such a system has been in existence for years.

IMMIGRANTS FOR CANADA.

The Canadian Emigration Office, in London, is moving with the times in preparing to branch out on an extensive scale. It has secured commodious offices in Charing Cross, the centre of the railway and steamboat office district, and will have them fitted up exclsively with Canadian woodwork, Canadian office furniture and Canadian heating apparatus. The office is also to contain a complete exhibit of Canadian natural products. Commissioner Preston believes that a great emigration movement to Canada will set in next year, and he does wisely to enlarge and arrange the machinery of his office to assist the movement. There is great competition in all lines of transport now-a-days, and we cannot expect to get immigrants unless we look after them.

CARRIERS OF NORTWEST GRAIN

Mr. Geo. M. Bosworth, vice-president and general traffic manager of Canadian Pacific has announced that up to Nov. 10, the railway had taken 16,826,000 bushels of wheat out of the Canadian northwest as against 11,325,000 bushels up to the same date last year. In carrying the grain out of the country 16,794 cars were used as against 9,317 cars last year.

Mr. W. Mackenzie, of the Canadian Northern, has announced that up to Nov. 10, the road had marketed a million and a half bushels of wheat more than at the same date last year. In all 4,652,000 bushels had been disposed of and everything pointed to the company being able to carry between 15,000,000 and 16,000,000 bushels of the present record crop.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

ASHBURNHAM VILLAGE COUNCIL.

A Special Session was Held Last Night.

CONCERNING STORE RENT.

The Ultimator Company Bylaw—Snow Cleaning Contracts—Other Business.

The Ashburnham Council held a special meeting last night with the following members present: — Reeve Smith, Councillors F. Adams, Pollock, Sheridan.

Minutes of the previous meeting were not read and the council passed at once to business.

Three tenders were received for the clearing of the streets and walks of the village during the coming winter, which were as follows:—Mr. Revoy and Mr. Frith offered to take the contract for the north end for $49 and $39 respectively, while Mr. A. Valois was willing to do the southern portion of the village for $48. After some discussion it was moved by Mr. Sheridan that the tenders of Messrs. Valois and Frith be accepted for the south and north ends respectively.

The bylaw of the Ultimator Company was then brought forward and Reeve Smith gave the council advice received concerning it from the Village Solicitor. This Company was asking for freedom from taxes, save the school rates, until December 31, 1903. As the Solicitor stated that the bylaw was correct and proper in form, it was moved and seconded by Messrs. Adams and Pollock, that the bylaw be given its first reading.

The terms of the bylaw are as follows:

1. The Manufacturing Establishments of the Ultimator Company, Limited, on Lot 21, south of Elizabeth street in said Village of Ashburnham, and the real estate, personal property and income is hereby exempted from taxation, except as to school rates, from 1st day of May, 1902, to 31st December, 1903.

2. In the event of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario authorizing the extension, such exemption from taxation shall be extended for such period as may be authorized, not exceeding ten years in all, but this paragraph shall be of no effect unless the Legislature shall authorize the same as aforesaid.

3. In the event of the said factory ceasing to be used for manufacturing purposes for more than six months in any one year unless the same be due to the strikes or the destruction by fire, lightning, or tempest, the exemption provided shall henceforth cease and be at an end until the said factory shall again be used for manufacturing purposes.

On motion of Councillors Adams and Sheridan, the treasurer was authorized to pay the insurance on the village town hall.

A communication was received from Mr. King asking that he be allowed to keep the shop, No. 2, in the hall for a period of one year at $6 per month. Mr. King was present and addressed the meeting protesting against the action taken by the council in depriving him of his store.

Mr. Moore at this point addressed the meeting, saying that he thought the council had been in too great a hurry and had acted unwisely. He stated that although Mr. Wheeler was a tenant of his, he thought that Mr. King had been dealt with unfairly. He also thought that the market stores were rented too cheaply for other shop owners to compete with them, and that the ratepayers were taxed $175 a year to keep up this market hall. He held that the rent should be made higher and thus reduce the amount required to sustain the building.

Some discussion followed concerning the rents of the hall, but it was decided to let the notice served on Mr. King take its course.

Another communication was received from Mr. A. J. Cameron, regarding improvements on the Beaver Creek bridge. The reeve was empowered to see Mr. Cameron and gather information concerning the work, for the next meeting of the council.

Mr. Boyle was present and asked the council to take steps to drain the road in front of his lot, so that his fields might be drained.

Mr. Fitzgerald was instructed to take such measures as were necessary to drain the lands in question.

This closed the business of the evening, and the council adjourned until the next regular meeting.

HARVESTING SUGAR BEETS.

Interesting Work, in Which Old and Young are Employed.

Waterloo, Nov. 16.—Sugar beets are being harvested now in this section. The yield is heavy, and the work of gathering the beets for the factory is engaging the attention of hundreds of men, women and children. The best workers command 15 cents an hour. A great many Indians are employed in the fields around here, and they do good work. For instance, 20 acres of beets on the Jesse Shantz farm, belonging to the Berlin Acreage Company, were harvested last week. Leslie Paterson supervised the work for the company. About 300 people were at work in the field. There were 60 Indians under Chief White. These Indians have a camp established in an old church, and two squaws prepare the meals for those who work. The company sells them the food at a cost of about 10 cents a meal for each individual.

In this field there were eleven teams used to break the ground around the rows of beets. Then those who pull the vegetables follow, and lift them without trouble. After a team has loosened two dozen rows a dozen workers start at one end of the row, each handling two rows, and pull the beets up, knocking them together to clean the dirt off. This is light work, and is rapidly done. The remainder of the force cut the tops from the beets. Two men follow and cover the beets with the leaves that have been cut from them. In this condition they remain in the field until the ground is frozen and wagons can remove them, or until the factory is ready to begin operations. The leaves preserve them as well as if they were buried in the earth.

The white labour is kept separated from the Indians. Many of the workers are mere boys, while there are many women from 16 to 40, and some men as old as 70.

CONTAGION VS. PRAYER.

Bobcaygeon Independent.

In China and Japan plague and cholera are ravaging the whole population. There have been 40,000 deaths in Nankin, and 3,000 cases per day in the province of Shou Yanghasien. Both plague and cholera have extended to the Philippines. Since March there have been 75,000 cases in the Philippines with a mortality of 75 per cent. It is feared that the cholera may extend to America, and if so, it ravages would be frightful. That cholera can spread in North America has been ascertained by the powerful experience of nearly fifty years ago. It spread all over the settled portions of the country and killed thousands. Should it break out now its ravages would probably be held within moderate limits by increased medical knowledge and by increased facilities for scientific treatment, but there are exceptions to the rule. The Christian Scientists are very numerous, and are both enthusiastic and vigorous, and they would not take any steps to stay the contagion, except by prayer. Cholera and plague are not affected by prayer. The Christian Scientists have had two cases lately which have attracted much attention. In Port Hope diphtheria has lately prevailed, and an infant child of Edward Long, a Christian Scientist, was attacked by the disease. The father refused medical assistance and relied on prayer. The child died. The case was investigated by a coroner's jury, and great indignation was expressed by the citizens. The other case occurred in the case and was also of diphtheria. A man named Lathrop prayed over Estha Quimby, who was ill with diphtheria, and no medical attendance was summoned. Christian Science was exerted and there was much praying, but the girl died, and Lathrop and the relatives were committed for trial on the charge of manslaughter in the second degree. The penalty of fifteen years' imprisonment can be inflicted. It is important that the subject should be fully brought into public notice, for if cholera should break out in North America, the utmost medical skill and scientific precautions would be required to check the progress of the disease, and no amount of prayer or religious belief would save the lives of those attacked. Christian Science, no doubt, has a germ of truth in it, and sick people who firmly believe they will speedily recover, may mend more rapidly than those who are without faith or hope, but such diseases as cholera, diphtheria or plague, are far beyond the reach of Christian Science prayers, and require careful medical treatment, and this should be clearly impressed on the people when there is a possibility of deadly contagious diseases among us.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

I Will Cure You of Rheumatism

Else No Money is Wanted.

After 2,000 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month and, if it succeeds, the cost is only $5.50. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself.

I have no samples, because any medicine that can affect Rheumatism quickly must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk.

I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay gladly.

I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or letter. I will send you my book about Rheumatism, and an order for medicine. Take it for a month, as it won't harm you anyway.

If it fails, it is free, and I leave the decision with you. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 47 Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

HAD TO TAKE BRITISH OATH.

U.S. Residents in Yukon Territory Forced to Swear Allegiance.

New York, Nov. 18.—A special to The Commercial from Tacoma says: About 20 Americans employed in responsible positions at Dawson under the Government of the Yukon territory have been required to become naturalized British subjects or step out. A number have taken the oath of allegiance, thereby securing their retention. The Government's action resulted from a visit to Dawson this summer of James Smart, Deputy Minister of the Interior. Upon his arrival vigorous complaints were made by the Canadian element against employing Americans.

A SOURCE OF SURPRISE

To Physician and Patient Alike.

Dr. Redmond, a specialist in the study and treatment of piles and rectal diseases, recently stated that the Pyramid Pile Cure, the recent discovery for the cure of p s, was the most remarkable remedy he had ever seen or tried in one respect; and that was the instant relief experienced in all cases, no matter how severe, from the moment the remedy was applied; this was the more surprising to him, because he had carefully analyzed the preparation and no trace of opium, cocaine, or similar poison, could be detected.

Physicians look with great favour upon the Pyramid Pile Cure, because it is rapidly taking the place of surgical operations, and because it is so simple, so easily applied, and contains no mineral or other poisons, so commonly used in pile cures.

Dr. Eastbrook reports that the Pyramid Pile Cure, not only cures the various forms of piles, but never fails to give immediate relief on the first application, no matter how severe the pain or the discomfort may be.

People who have suffered from piles for years, are often astonished at the instant relief experienced from the first application. Another important advantage is the fact that anyone can use the remedy without detention from business or interference with daily occupation.

Mr. J. W. Rollins, of Sweet Springs, Mo., writes: "I consider the Pyramid Pile Cure without an equal; it cured me in less than 30 days. I waited 15 days or more to be sure I was fully cured before writing you; I can now say I am cured, and I shall recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure at every possible opportunity, because it deserves it.

The popularity of this remedy is such, that all druggists now sell it at 50 cents a package, and its sales exceed those of all similar remedies combined.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their book on cause and cure of piles.

MITCHELL'S ANSWERS

Some Dramatic Questions by Companies' Lawyer.

BEFORE STRIKE COMMISSION.

President of United Mine Workers Under Severe Cross-Examination—Some Questions Asked Him and His Replies Thereto—The Eight Hour Day Question — Trades Unions and Anarchy.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 18.—President Mitchell of the Miners' Union, resumed the stand yesterday upon the convening of the coal strike commission in the Lackawanna County Court House, and his cross-examination by Wayne MacVeagh, which was begun on Saturday was continued. Mr. MacVeagh represents the Erie Company which operates its mines under the names of the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the Hillside Coal and Iron Company.

In the examination of the strike leader yesterday, Mr. MacVeagh asked:

"Mr. Mitchell, do you think you have the right to ask for an increase in wages which if granted, would increase the cost of living to hundreds of thousands of the poor?"

The miners' representative replied that there are 500,000 persons in the anthracite fields who are starving and it is their fundamental right to ask for living wage in return for their labor.

The examination for a few minutes became very spirited on this phase of the consequence of the strike, and then Mr. MacVeagh turned to the matter of protecting the properties during the strike.

Replying to the questions by Mr. MacVeagh on the right of private parties to protect their properties. Mr. Mitchell said that the provision in the miners' constitution against pickets, grew out of the Homestead strike, when a number of private Detectives were employed as guards, most of whom he declared, had been recruited from the slums of Philadelphia and other large cities. Mr. Mitchell insisted that the city, county and State authorities were competent to handle the matter.

The eight-hour day question was taken up, and in reply to a query as to whether he had a right to limit a man's labor to eight hours a day, Mr. Mitchell replied:

"We favor a maximum of eight hours," and a moment later, in answer to a similar question:

"We will accept whatever award the commission makes, and that award will have precedence over the laws of the union."

Then Mr. McVeagh said: "Abraham Lincoln was splitting rails, and he did not limit himself to eight hours, and you demand it not only for the men in the mines, but for all the men above ground as well. He was doing infinitely harder work than nine-tenths of our men employed in the mines above ground. So was Garfield when as a boy trudging along the path of the canal, and so was Mr. McKinley in his early life. I only mention these, because they are the three victims of the spirit of Anarchy which is the curse of this country to-day, and the only serious curse afflicting it."

Mr. Mitchell took quick notice of the word "anarchy" employed by Mr. MacVeagh, and with considerable spirit inquired: "Trades unions are not held responsible for it, are they?"

"No, certainly not," said Mr. MacVeagh, "trades unions are most admirable, but you make a demand upon us that we shall prohibit every man in our employ from working more than eight hours. That strikes us as perfectly inadmissible."

No Higher Education For Them.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 18.—Statistics gathered by the United Mine Workers from the Schuylkill region for presentation to the arbitration commission show that only 4 per cent. of the graduates of the local high schools are sons of miners. The wage rate shows an average of $385 per year for the mine workers, wages of laborers being included with those of the miners in the calculation.

Will Call Boycott Off.

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Last night's developments indicate that to-night the Trades' Assembly will probably rescind the order boycotting the Schehectady Railway Company. Forty-two of the members of the Trades' Assembly have signed a petition for a meeting, the call expressly stating that the purpose is to reconsider the action taken last Wednesday night, when the boycott was declared.

Explosion Burns Firemen.

Medicine Hat, N.W.T., Nov. 18.—By an explosion of natural gas in the Cotter Terrace last night. Mrs. Nichols was badly burned. Firemen were called to the scene, and while putting out the fire that had resulted were the victims of another explosion, that hurled them from the second storey window to the ground. James Rae, B. White and J. Nichols were severely burned.

Council Changed Its Mind.

Halifax, Nov. 18.—The Halifax City Council last April decided to accept Andrew Carnegie's offer of $75,000 for a public library building. At a special meeting last night, the Council by a vote of 9 to 6 rescinded its former action.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

U.S. GOVERNMENT IGNORANT.

Has Not Considered Duty on Canadian-Sawn Lumber.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The United States Government has given no consideration to the proposition to levy a duty of $4 per thousand on Canadian sawn lumber. This Government does not propose to enter into a war of tariff retaliation with Canada without a better understanding than it now has of the issue involved in this wood pulp controversy. Moreover, it is the official view that the executive power in itself is insufficient to increase tariff rates upon Canadian products and that legislation in that direction must come from Congress.

ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

Held in George Street Methodist Church Last Night—The Programme.

A very pleasant social evening was given by the George street League last night to the members and friends of the society. The programme arranged proved to be one of excellence and it is to be regretted that the disagreeable weather prevented a larger attendance.

The chair was taken by Mr. E. Doidge. Vocal solos were contributed by Messrs. Mulligan, Bowles, Frank Turner and Herbert Mowat, each of whom was compelled to respond with an encore. Recitations by Master Chalmers Nicholls, Miss Hazel Pentland and Miss White, also drew forth hearty applause. A pleasant feature of the programme, which afforded a great deal of amusement was the composition of telegrams by the audience, the words of the telegram commencing with the letters of a given word taken in order. At the close of the programme hot buttered pop corn was served, and proved not the least enjoyable item of the evening's entertainment.

Commissioner Matthews and Collector Brownscombe Visit Brantford.

RE QUARTERLY PAYMENT.

Mr. Matthews Presents His Report Which is Adopted—Other Suggestions Readjustment of Rates.

Last week Messrs. T. F. Matthews, a member of the Board of Water Commissioners, and F. Brownscombe, Town Treasurer, went on a tour of inspection to Brantford for the purpose of gaining information concerning the working of the Water Works System in that city, and at the meeting of the Water Commissioners held last night, Mr. Matthews presented his report, which was as follows:

Peterborough, Nov. 17th.

Messrs. The Peterborough Water Commissioners;

Gentlemen,—According to the understanding, I went to Brantford, accompanied by Mr. Brownscombe, leaving here Monday evening, 10th inst.

Arriving there on Tuesday, we called at the city offices and found that Mr. Franks, Secretary of the Board of Water Commissioners, was away from town. The town Treasuer, however, took us in hand, treated us exceedingly well, and gave us considerable information, not only in connection with their methods of operating the water works system, but with municipal matters in general. Here, they have adopted the roll system of keeping track of their services, and they collect the rates every six months—in March and September—not in advance. There are a few reasons why this method of collecting is better than the one we have of collecting quarterly in advance, the most important to my mind being that there is no adjusting of accounts after the rate is paid, and there is less clerical labour than by our system.

Parting from Mr. Brownscombe there, I went west on private business, but having a few hours in London I looked up Mr. Little, one of the Commissioners, and Mr. Moore, the Superintending Engineer, and these gentlemen gave me considerable information and were exceedingly obliging. I visited the pumping station at Springbank, and was particularly well pleased with the grounds surrounding the pump house and reservoir, and it is my opinion we should spend a small sum systematically each year on beautifying the exterior of our buildings and on our grounds.

In London the rates are collected quarterly, but not in advance.

After giving considerable thought to the matter, I have decided to recommend that we continue the collection of our rates quarterly in advance, and that the collector be instructed to prepare a roll suitable for our requirements. While this will entail a little more work than the system as adopted in Brantford, it is my judgement that it would be unwise to alter the time for, or the manner of, collecting the water rates, at the present time.

As it will be necessary to make a house to house inspection of each service before the ratings can be readjusted, and it is not possible to complete this inspection before March 1st, as our Superintendent is not at liberty to begin such until the end of the year, it will be impossible to put the above recommendation into effect before the beginning of the second quarter in 1903.

When making the inspection, it will be necessary to procure a new application from each owner or agent for such service, and it is my opinion that the commissioners will make a serious mistake if they recognize the tenant who occupies the property to which they supply the water, in any way.

Yours faithfully,

T. F. MATTHEWS.

The report as to the recommendation respecting quarterly payments was adopted, and also the recommendation that a roll suitable for this system, be prepared by the collector of rates.

HUNTING PICTURES.

Welcome News to Hunters—Laudable Enterprise of Mr. R. M. Roy.

One of the best and most satisfactory means of preserving and recording past pleasures and experiences, which, if left to the memory are apt to become uncertain and obscure, is through the agency of the modern camera. That is the reason that pictures of camp life, and other pleasures, are so highly prized.

For many seasons in the past, deer hunters have been forced to rely on their own descriptive powers, to convey to their friends an idea of the various scenes of the hunt, and on the retentive power of their memory to recall the various episodes of past camps. This year, however, Mr. Fred Roy spent a number of days visiting the hunting camps, and took a large number of photographs. These are of an exceptionally high standard, considering the foggy weather, and the difficulty of working in a bad light, and hunters generally will appreciate the trouble taken.

The camps visited included the following: The Phil Westlake party, at Bottle Lake; the Windover camp; the Winch party and the Parker parker party at Dickson Company's long slide.

At present there is an enlarged picture from these negatives in the window of the Kingan Hardware Co., that is attracting considerable attention.

REV. MR. POTTER DISCUSSES PROHIBITION.

He Replies to Rev. E. A. Langfeldt's Sermon.

HE QUOTES LEARNED MEN.

Against the Gothenburg System—Admires Rev. Mr. Langfeldt's Frankness—Rev. Mr. Potter's Arguments.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—It is from a sense of duty to the people throughout this riding that I desire to refer to the sermon so fully reported yesterday, preached by my friend, the Rev. Mr. Langfeldt. I am sure your many readers will admire the frankness with which the preacher denounces, with very strong language, drunkenness, and the existing saloon or dram shop, and it might be news to the preacher when he learns that the Act upon which we are asked to vote means that we will withdraw our sanction as a Christian people from the open bar-room. Surely men and especially our boys are not enjoying the true Pauline liberty when their Christian fathers, rulers and priests sanction by their prayers, preaching and practice as well as by a printed license the nefarious traffic that turns out the men whom Mr. Langfeldt deplores to see upon the streets of Peterborough.

The introduction of good men into the business as is suggested, will only mean the degrading of them in time. One strong reason we ought to see is that so many of the wives and children of proprietors of drinking places are most anxious to change their mode of life. I can give the names of several families whose heartfelt longing was that some influence might be brought to bear upon their husbands to give up the business that had brought a measure of shame upon them.

Men that are determined to spend their lives in ruining the lives of others will do it under the Gothenburg system or any other system or no system. We ought to lessen the possibility of their injuring with meat or drink their fellow men, and at least not try and make respectable what has become a most disreputable business. As a true friend of many a good fellow who caters to the travelling public, let us make his good work honourable, and his family's life respectable by removing that element which makes it the object of scorn.

Under no system can you make honourable that act against which the Word of God is directed where it says, "Woe be to him who putteth the bottle to his neighbour's lips."

It is no argument to say that the Liquor Act proposed will not stop drinking. We all know old topers will get their drink, but the temptation to our boys is for ever removed and in ten or fifteen years we will have a generation of strong men. At any rate shall we license robbery because in spite of the law men are bound to steal stealthily? Father Matthew for many years the Apostle of Temperance in the Roman Catholic church at one time said:

"The question of prohibiting the sale of ardent spirits and the many other intoxicating drinks which are to be found in our unhappy country is not new to me. The principle of prohibition seems to me the only safe and certain remedy for the evils of intemperance. This opinion has been strengthened by the hard labour of more than twenty years in the temperance cause. When we think that with all our preaching and 'moral suasion' the drink habit has increased twelve per cent. during the last decade we need to change our method and theory of treating with the monster."

Archbishop John Ireland in an address before a Catholic Total Abstinence Union, made the following statement:

"We thought we meant business years ago in this warfare, but I hope God will forgive us for our weakness, for we went into the battlefield without sufficient resolution. We laboured under the fatal mistake that we could argue out the question with the rum-sellers. We imagined that there was some power in moral suasion, that when we could show them the evil of their ways they would abandon the traffic. We have seen that there is no hope of improving in any shape or form the liquor traffic. There is nothing now to be done but wipe it out completely."

His Eminence, Cardinal Manning in a speech on this phase of the question said:

"I impeach the liquor traffic of high crimes and mis-demeanors against the commonwealth, and I ask you in the name of common sense and common justice, can you withhold from those intrusted with the high responsibility of the ballot the power of applying their votes in the form of a veto when it is proposed, without consulting them, to put in the midst of them these places for the sale of intoxicating drinks?"

"It is a mockery to ask us to put down drunkenness by moral and religious means, when the Legislature facilitates the multiplication of incitements to intemperance on every side. You might as well call upon me as the captain of a sinking ship, and say: 'Why don't you pump the water out?' when you are scuttling the ship in every direction. If you will cut off the supply of temptation, I will be bound by the help of God to convert drunkards; but until you have taken off this perpetual supply of intoxicating drink we never can cultivate the fields."

There are thousands of our fellow men under strict prohibition in jails, penitentiaries, reformatories, etc., who would greatly enjoy liberty if this evil were not made lawful by Christian hands.

A Kansas official writes: "When the October terms of court come around, there are thirty-one counties without one criminal case." No saloons, little stumbling into crime. In Finney county, where the laws are enforced, and where saloons are closed, there is a county poor farm for paupers. But men don't stumble into poverty so much when the roads are good, and in fourteen years that county has had only one pauper." We believe that the only way to deal with the great evil is to get rid of the cause. We have too long tried to cure, and warn and educate — meanwhile the amount of drinking is on the increase. We will not lessen the great work of moral suasion, but we ought to stop legalizing a demoralizing traffic, that is able to outstrip any system of education.

Lord Chesterfield said: "Luxury is to be taxed; but vice prohibited. Let the difficulty in the law be what it will, would you lay a tax upon a breach of the ten commandments? Government should not for revenue, mortgage the morals and health of the people."

The Queen of Madagascar said: "I cannot consent, as your Queen, to take revenue from that which destroys the souls and bodies of my subjects."

Canon Wilberforce, one of the noblest of men in the Church of England, was not bound by any ecclesiasticism, when he said: "The deriving of great sums for the revenue from the bitter sufferings and grinding pauperism of the people, is a terrible offence."

Dr. Albert C. Lawson did not compromise his position as a Churchman, when he asserted "That Christian nations should make saloons toll gates for revenue, and sanction crime-breeding, to coin money for current expenses, is unspeakably sad."

The entire revenue from the liquor traffic last year was $829,000. There was paid out for the maintenance of prisons, reformatories, jails, etc., $48,000,000. It is very reasonable to believe that at least one half the amount is chargeable to the liquor traffic.

It is certainly a short sighted business policy that governments are very slow to recognize.

The Hon. W. E. Gladstone said: "Gentlemen, you need not give yourself any trouble about revenue. The question of revenue must never stand in the way of needed reforms. Besides, with a sober population, not wasting their earnings, I shall know where to obtain the revenue."

While the Right Hon. Jos. Chamberlain asserted: "If I could destroy tomorrow the desire for strong drink in the people of England, we should see our taxes reduced by millions sterling. We should see our gaols and workhouses empty. We should see more lives saved in twelve months than are concumed in a century of bitter and savage war."

To refrain from voting on Thursday, December 4th, means—

1. Continuing an enormous public expenditure to get a fraction of revenue.
2. Continuing the miserable existence of many wives and families of the sellers of strong drink whose great wish is to be liberated.
3. Continuing a state of things that Mr. Langfeldt describes as the last kick that lands a man in hell.
4. Continuing a system that means the loss of millions of dollars that could be spent in necessaries for body and home.
5. Continuing the danger and peril of your children.
7. Continuing a breader of poverty, delirium, insanity, imbecility and idiocy, and awful death.

Consider then the greatness of our opportunity, as well as the weight of our responsibility.

The number of votes required is 212,723, and therefore every vote is required. Everyone who withholds his vote helps to defeat this Divine boon to our people in our time.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain, as ever,

Yours sincerely,

JAMES G. POTTER.

ANOTHER HUNTING PARTY.

The Phil Westlake Camp has a Successful Year.

The latest reports to hand in the hunting circles concerns the Phillip Westlake party, who were camped at Bottle Lake. This party consisted of Messrs. P. Westlake, M. O'Brien, W. J. Young, R. Stabler and Jas. Tindle. On the whole the party were very successful and secured altogether nine fine deer. To the regret of the entire party Mr. W. J. Young was forced through illness, to leave camp before the finish of the hunt, but otherwise nothing occurred to mar their enjoyment. They state that the water in the north country is almost six feet higher than in other years and thus filled the marshes and gave the game plenty of opportunity to elude the dogs. For this reason it is not thought that as many deer were taken this year as on former occasions. Another factor that had to be contended with was the warm weather. While in camp they were visited by Mr. Roy of Peterborough, who took a number of views of the camp. In all it was a very successful hunt and all are looking forward to next season's outing.

A NEW CLUB ORGANIZED.

The T. A. S. Will Have a Strong Seven.

An Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Night—The Officers.

Monday evening a largely attended meeting of the Athletic Section of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held in the rooms of the Society for the purpose of organizing a hockey club. Mr. John O'Brien, President of the T.A.S. acted as chairman, and considerable interest was displayed by those present in the business transacted.

The consensus of opinion seemed to be that a first-class hockey team could be placed on the ice during the winter to represent the T.A.S., as the Society had on its roll several fast hockey players, who have signified their willingness to get into the game. The members of last year's Lakeview septette have also thrown in their lot with the newly-organized T.A.S. hockey team, which will tend to strengthen the new organization to a considerable extent. The Lakeviews have a splendid record, but were handicapped every season, owing to the fact that ice was not procurable for them to practice on. After some discussion St. Peter's T.A.S. Hockey Club was organized with the following officers:

Hon. President—Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
President—Mr. Wm. Crowley.
First Vice-President — Mr. Ed. Hickey.
Second Vice-President — Mr. D. J. Devine.
Secretary—Mr. T. J. Begley.
Treasurer—Mr. L. Potvin.
Manager—Mr. L. J. Picard.
Executive Committee—Messrs. W. Crowley, L. J. Picard, R. J. Begley, D. J. Devine, and Captain (when elected.)

The boys decided to place a team in the Trent Valley League, and an adjournment was made until Wednesday evening when the patrons and patronesses of the club will be named and other business transacted in connection with the organization. The captain of the team will not be selected until a later date.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S OPPORTUNITY.

Believed That Chamberlain Intends to Give Her a Free Hand.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 17.—Great interest is manifested here in the new Bond-Hay convention. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's speech in the House of Commons on Nov. 13, is regarded as an evidence that he does not propose to permit Canada to interfere and prevent the ratification of the treaty in the way in which Canada killed the Bond-Blajne convention in 1890.

It is believed here that Mr. Chamberlain realizes how Newfoundland has been hampered by France on one side and by Canada on the other, and that he is determined to give her an opportunity to work out her future by a commercial union with the United States.

Socialism Shows Gains.

New York, Nov. 18.—Socialism has increased its national vote from 86,000, cast for Eugene V. Debs in 1900, to more than 100,000 cast this year. Official returns, when tabulated, may swell this to half a million. Only once since 1860 has a third party made so strong a showing.

AT FIRST GLANCE

It Would Appear That Local Remedies Would be Best for Cure of Catarrh.

It would seem at first glance that catarrh being a disease of the mucous membrane, that salves, sprays, etc., being applied directly to the membranes of the nose and throat, would be the most rational treatment but this has been proven not to be true.

The mucous membrane is made and repaired from the blood and catarrh is a blood disease, and any remedy to make a permanent cure must act on the blood, and when the blood is purified from catarrhal poison, the secretions from the mucous membrane will become natural and healthy.

In this climate thousands of people seem scarcely ever free from some form of catarrh; it gets better at times, but each winter becomes gradually deeper seated, and after a time the sufferer resigns himself to it as a necessary evil.

Catarrh cures are almost as numerous as catarrh sufferers, but are nearly all so inconvenient and ineffective as to render their use a nuisance nearly as annoying as catarrh itself; anyone who has used douches, sprays and powders will bear witness to their inconvenience and failure to really cure.

There are a number of excellent internal remedies for catarrh, but probably the best, and certainly the safest, is a new remedy, composed of Red Gum, Blood Root, and similar antiseptic remedies and other valuable catarrh specifics.

This remedy is in tablet form, pleasant to the taste, and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and anyone suffering from catarrh may use these Tablets with absolute assurance that they contain no cocaine, opiate, nor any poisonous mineral whatever.

A leading druggist in Albany, speaking of catarrh cures, says: "I have sold various catarrh cures for years, but have never sold any which gave such general satisfaction as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. They contain in a pleasant concentrated form all the best and latest catarrh remedies, and catarrh sufferers who have used douches, sprays and salves, have been astonished at the quick relief and permanent results obtained after a week's use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets." All druggists sell full-sized packages for fifty cents.

Law Must Take Its Course.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Attorney-General Gibson on Monday, said that he could not see that anything else could be done other than let the law take its course in connection with Walter Herbert, the self-confessed murderer, who was the chief witness in the Sifton case. "He has confessed himself to be guilty of murder," said Mr. Gibson, "and it does not seem to me that any other course is open than to bring him up for sentence at the next Assizes at London. In fact he will remain in jail and come up, as a matter of routine, to be dealt with by the presiding judge. After he has been sentenced it will be for the Ottawa authorities to exercise clemency if they see fit."

Toronto, Nov. 18.—The Bell Telephone Company's appeal, involving the right of the company to put up poles and lay conduits without the consent of the city was before the Court of Appeal yesterday. The company appealed against the decision of Judge Street, denying their right and the main ground of the appeal was that their Dominion charter gave them the power. The city, on the other hand, claimed that these are local works, and are governed by the act of the Ontario Legislature, and this act gives the city authority in the matter. Judgment was reserved.

"It is hardly possible to believe, in view of the presence of a British Columbia Government official at Port Simpson, that Americans can have occupied this territory without such action having come to the knowledge of the Government agent and by him transmitted to the provincial Government and thence to Ottawa."

Britain Holds Three Kings.

London, Nov. 18.—The King of Portugal arrived at Windsor last night from France to pay a visit to the King and Queen of England. Paine's Celery Compound CURES RHEUMATISM.

The Only Medicine That Prevents a Return of the Terrible Disease.

Rheumatism, which does its terrible work in the muscles, joints and tissues, is caused by uric acid which gathers in the blood. To get rid of this poisonous acid which produces the irritations, pains, agonies, inflammation and swellings peculiar to rheumatism, Paine's Celery Compound should be used without delay. No other medicine gives such prompt, cheering and happy results. It is the only medicine that prevents a return of the dreaded disease. Paine's Celery Compound braces the nerves, the blood is cleared of all irritating poisons, tissue and muscle are built up and the digestive organs perfectly toned. Do not treat with indifference the slightest symptoms; early use of Paine's Celery Compound will prevent weeks and months of suffering. Mr. G. J. McDonald, Cornwall, Ont., writes as follows:

"For three years I suffered terribly from rheumatism. It seemed to me that I was forced to endure all the agonies and pains that a mortal could possibly experience from the disease. While suffering, I tried many of the advertised medicines, also doctors' prescriptions, but never found a cure until I procured a supply of Paine's Celery Compound. It worked like a charm, and seemed to strike at the very root of my trouble. I am now cured; all pains are banished, and in every respect, I am a new man."

A Unique Post.

He finds himself occupying the unique position of being a British peer, but, according to the Lord Chancellor, not a British subject.

Nerve Disorders of Women

Accompanied by Neuralgia, Irritability, Sleeplessness and Depressed Spirits,

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The feminine organism requires an ample quantity of blood, not only to sustain the network of nerves which are found in the womanly system, but also to make good the periodical loss which so weakens the body.

Consequently it happens that just as soon as the blood gets weak and watery, or is deficient in quantity, the nervous system suffers, and in women the effects are most severely felt in the form of irregularities and weaknesses of the feminine system.

At the beginning of womanhood, at childbirth, during the nursing periods, and at the change of life, calls are made for an extra supply of blood and as a result nervous disorders are exceedingly common at these times, and the health and happiness of the remainder of life may depend on the care of the system.
